AMERICAN HEAD OF GUERRILLAS MAKES 'EM JUMP

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE GUERRILLAS on Samar Island, P. I., Nov. 18.—Meet the guerrilla chief. When he says jump, the people jump.

He doesn't look like a guerrilla. He wears a wide mustache. In the bush he lets his beard grow four or five days. Not shaving is one of the joys of being a guerrilla, he says. He wears regular army khaki and heavy Australian boots. He is never without a jaunty fatigue cap turned up all around like a sailor's hat. He speaks quietly and he laughs a lot. But he tolerates no foolishness.

He lived as an American civilian in the Philippines for years and he knows the Filipinos. He evacuated his family early in 1941. When the Japanese struck he became an ex officio army officer. He helped build six air fields on Cebu in less than 10 weeks, laying the rock surface on the sixth just before Cebu was lost.

Led Army Patrols.

He sailed to Mindanao. He led army patrols until the troops disintegrated. When the surrender came he took to the hills. In time he joined with another American and then two more. Together they roamed the islands sleeping in a new place almost every night.

One morning they were having breakfast in a house at the top of a coastal hill when a Jap launch stopped on the beach. While the others packed he stood watch. When the Japs were almost to the summit he ran into the house to tell the trio to hurry but found they had already left. He fled from the rear of the house as the Japs came in the front. They saw him. He ran into some high grass, crawled and hid. For two hours the Japs thrashed thru the grass trying to find him. Once they came within 15 feet of him.

Tries to Go to Australia.

A month wore on. It became more difficult for the Filipinos to hide Americans. In September, with three others, he tried to sail to Australia with a native crew. Five days out the crew refused to go any farther and turned back. "We will get an engine and go by ourselves," he said.

He talked some Chinese out of a motor. He knew of a Jap gasoline dump 150 miles inland. He organized a patrol and stole hundreds of gallons under the noses of the Japs and toted the gas back to his ship.

In December his ship was ready. Jumping from island to island he and his patrol reached a town on the west New Guinea coast which they thought was free of Japs. But as they sailed into the bay the Japs took after them. For the first time on the trip a northerly storm blew up and sails and the engine carried the ship out of the Japs' reach.

Returns as Major.

A week later, exactly one month after leaving, he reached Port Darwin, Australia. He reported to Gen. MacArthur's headquarters. He described his needs. The army asked him to help take in the first supplies by submarine. He agreed. But there was a catch. Civilians are not permitted on subs. So he was commissioned.

As a major, he returned to the islands.

The Japanese have a price on his head. A buddy is worth 20,000 pesos. The chief doesn't know his value exactly. "Frankly," he says, "I am not worried. Nobody is ever going to collect it."

Cat Has Five Kittens; Reward: a New Name!

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 18 (AP).—The Y. M. C. A. Army-Navy club officers held a hasty rechristening when the club's cat mascot, "Yum Causo," became mother of five kittens. Now the cat's name is "Bluebell." "Yum Causo" was short for "Young Man of the Christian association."

Re-enforced Enemy Fights to Hold at All Costs.

BULLETIN.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., PHILIPPINES, Nov. 19 [Sunday]—(AP).—American heavy bombers scored five direct hits on a Japanese battleship and four on a heavy cruiser, leaving both in flames after explosions, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported today. The escorted heavy bombers flew more than 800 miles to attack the Japanese naval base at Brunei bay on the northwest coast of Borneo, dropping 112 tons of explosives on shipping in the harbor. Enemy planes attempting interception were fought off by escorting fighters which probably destroyed one of them. Anti-aircraft fire shot down three of our bombers.

GEN. M'ARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Nov. 19 [Sunday]—(AP).— Battling tough Japanese resistance, American doughboys closed tighter today on Limon village, at the northern end of Leyte Island's Ormoc corridor, headquarters reported.

Limon, four miles by road from Pinamopoan on Carigara bay, was being defended by hundreds of Japanese, entrenched in the mountain fortress town. Evidently, they intended to hold out as long as possible, while Nipponese forces farther south of Ormoc highway rushed defenses for future battles.

Elements of the 24th and 32d divisions "further compressed" the Japanese forces at Limon, today's bulletin reported. A road block south of the town, established by units of the 24th has been strengthened.

Repulse Supply Trucks.

"All enemy attempts to run supply trucks thru to the trapped 1st division troops have failed," said the bulletin.

Elements of the United States 96th division, pushing west of Dagami in central Leyte valley, continue to eliminate Japanese positions in the foothills of Mount Lobi. Activity elsewhere was limited to patroling, the bulletin said.

American bombers attacked enemy rear installations at Ormoc and the near-by northward town of Linao, causing explosions and fires. Fighters, in low level attacks, strafed enemy shipping in Ormoc bay, destroying two small transports.

Down Seven Jap Planes.

Seven of 15 Japanese planes were shot down during a raid by fighters and dive bombers on Tacloban and Dayug air fields.

"We lost one fighter and sustained minor ground damage," said MacArthur.

Anti-aircraft fire shot down the 500th Japanese pilot bagged since the landing on Leyte.

Fight to Hold Limon.

PINAMOPOAN AREA, Leyte, P. I., Nov. 18 (AP).—Japanese troops re-enforced by tanks, and fighting regardless of cost, are bitterly opposing Americans of the 24th division at Limon, core of enemy opposition at the northern terminus of the Ormoc road.

There seems little doubt that the Japanese intend to hold the Limon area as long as possible until the main body of their Ormoc forces can consolidate their positions for a major stand. This probably will come around the hilly region where the road branches off from the Ormoc highway and runs to the west coast of Leyte peninsula.

Bishops Brand Communism a Peril to Peace

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—The Roman Catholic hierarchy of the United States tonight issued a statement calling for a post-war world of "free men and free nations with their freedom secured under law."

The pronouncement assailed communism as a menace to international coöperation and called for the elimination of "monstrous" philosophical principles that brought on the war.

The statement of principles, adopted by 103 bishops at their annual meeting here, was signed by 10 archbishops and bishops, who make up the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare conference.

Freedom from Hatred.

The statement contained the following proposals:

1. Freedom from hatred and greed; 2. The Atlantic Charter without equivocations; 3. Might must yield to law; 4. Strong nations must help weak; 5. Teeth for world court; 6. Insistance on the innate rights of man; 7. Free men, free nations.

In calling for freedom from hatred and greed, the statement said that the present war came largely from improper education and was not brought on by primitives or unlettered people.

"The contemporary philosophy which asserts the right of aggression is the creation of scholars," the bishops said.

While the statement made no mention of Russia specifically, it left no doubt that the soviets were being referred to in the denunciation of dangerous internal ideologies as constituting a menace to international peace. The bishops held that Russia cannot be relied upon to coöperate in world peace unless she grants full freedom at home.

Concern of World.

"The ideology of a nation in its internal life is a concern of the international community," the bishops said. "To reject this principle is tantamount to maintaining that the violations of innate rights of men in a country by its own government has no relation to world peace.

"Surely our nation should know that tyranny in any nation menaces world peace. A nation which refuses to accord to its own people the full enjoyment of innate human rights cannot be relied upon to coöperate in the international community for the maintenance of peace which is based on the recognition of national freedom."

Hits Soviet Stand.

The security council planned at Dumbarton Oaks "must not be an instrument for imperialistic domination by a few powerful nations," the bishops said. "It must not allow any nation to sit in judgment in its own case."

Russia has been insisting that major powers should sit and vote with the council, even if they themselves are accused of aggression.

In calling for a strong world court, the statement said the court's "authority should not be merely advisory but strictly judicial."

Signers of the statement were Edward Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, chairman; Samuel A. Stritch, archbishop of Chicago, vice chairman; Francis J. Spellman, archbishop of New York, secretary; John T. McNicholas, archbishop of Cincinnati; John Gregory Murray, archbishop of St. Paul; John J. Mitty, archbishop of San Francisco; Joseph F. Rummel, archbishop of New Orleans; John F. Noll, bishop of Fort Wayne; Karl J. Alter, bishop of Toledo, and James H. Ryan, bishop of Omaha.

Battle of Midgets Told

AN ADVANCED P-T BASE, Leyte, P. I., Nov. 17 [Delayed]—(AP).—American P-T boats at last have met their Japanese counterpart, and in a sea battle of the midgets have given the enemy a thrashing he never will forget.

The encounter took place last night between the island of Cebu and the town of Ormoc, Japanese port of entry on Leyte Island, when three enemy P-T's undertook to escort four supply laden barges into Ormoc.

The action that followed was witnessed by Staff Sgt. Henry McLemore from the bridge of an American P-T.

Jap Boat Blows Up.

"We were out shooting barges ourselves," he said. "In the distance we saw 'Little Joe,' a P-T commanded by Lt. [j. g.] Don McKillin, of Buffalo, N. Y., make a sweet starboard run on the enemy convoy, he said.

"The first Jap P-T blew up almost in Little Joe's face. Two of the four barges burst into flames and sank. Then McKillin went after the other two Japanese P-T's, which left their escorts and lit out for Cebu.

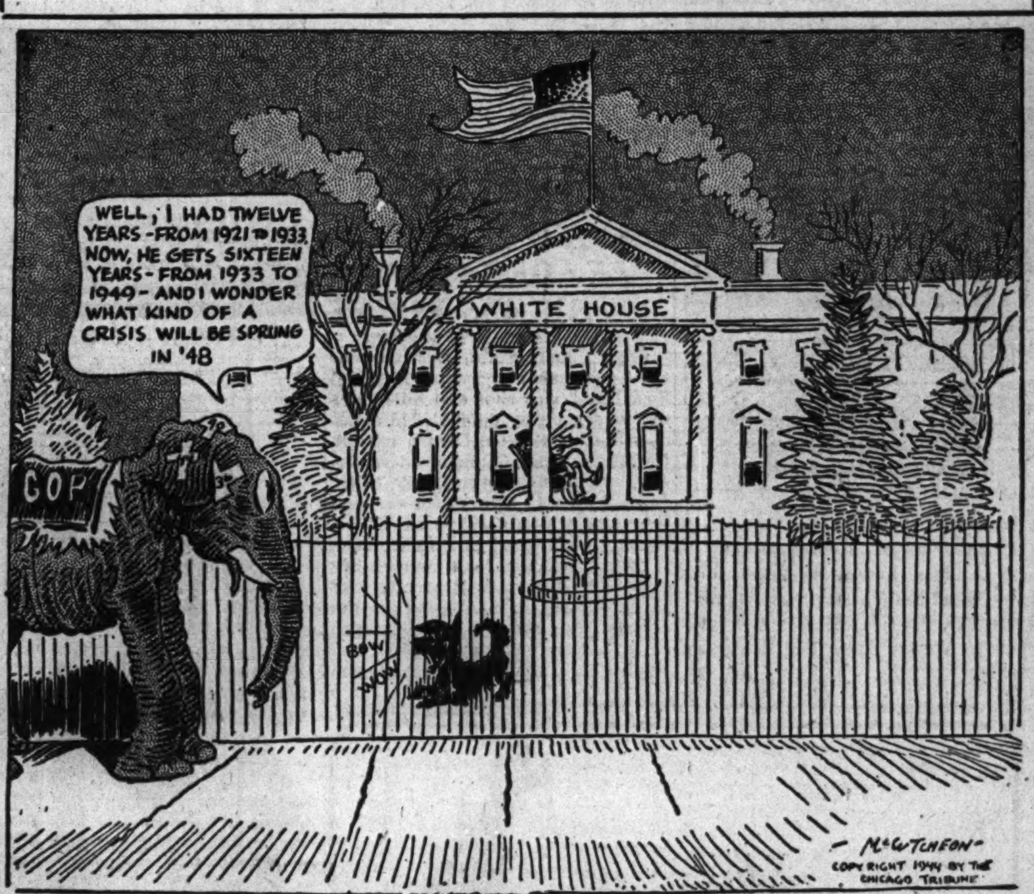
"The whole show didn't last more than 20 minutes. McKillin closed in to 60 yards, firing every gun he had. One of the Japs turned, apparently when he saw he couldn't get away, and tried to make a ramming run.

Jap Gunners Duck.

"He came within 40 yards of McKillin's boat and then seemed to burst aflame from bow to fantail in one great whoosh. Then he sank. Little Joe got out of there fast. It was hot as hell."

Skipper McKillin was proud of his gunners. They kept shooting straight thru it all, while the Japanese gunners were ducking. McLemore said he could tell the Japanese gunners were dodging because their fire went up in the air like ack-ack when they bent low to escape bullets from the American P-T.

AN ECHO OF THE ELECTION



Kills Accused Rapist 'Just as I Did Jap'

Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 18 [Special].—"I killed him just the way I killed a Jap on Bougainville, and with the same knife," Marine Corp. Arthur D. Foster told police today.

Foster, a 28 year old veteran of Pacific warfare, made that statement in explaining the stabbing Thursday night of a man whom Mrs. Foster had accused of raping her last Sept. 16.

Foster was named in a first degree murder warrant sworn to by Dist. Atty. Carl J. Hynes. He is being held in jail and will be arraigned Dec. 8. If ordered held after this hearing he will face grand jury action in January.

Friends and advisers of the corporal said "the unwritten law" will figure in his defense and that a severe head injury he received from Jap shrapnel on Bougainville may be brought up in debating his mental accountability for the slaying.

Father of Five Slain.

Foster's victim was Robert E. Hodkinson, 35, married and father of five children ranging from 4 to 14 years old. Hodkinson, an automobile mechanic, was sitting in a booth with his wife and another woman in Gallo's restaurant when Foster and Mrs. Foster entered at 10 p. m. Thursday.

"There he is. There's the man, right there," Mrs. Foster shouted in the crowded room. The uniformed corporal, 6 feet 2, lunged at Hodkinson, seizing him by the throat and lifting him to his feet. A commando knife flashed twice and Hodkinson sank to the floor. He died 20 minutes later at a hospital. Physicians said his heart had been perforated twice.

Sheathing his knife, Foster escorted his wife from the restaurant, no one attempting to stop him. He then drove his wife to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Docteur, and waited there until police came.

Wife Tells Her Story.

In the district attorney's office, Mrs. Foster repeated the story which had inflamed her husband. Her name is Lilybell and she was 17 when she married Foster here in 1935. They have three children, Beverly, 8, Patricia, 3, and Arthur Jr. 17 months.

She was walking home after shopping on the night of Sept. 16, she said, when Hodkinson, whom she knew, offered her a ride. She accepted, but instead of taking her home he drove her into the country.

"He stopped the car and jerked me out and hit me about the face and head. Then he raped me twice," Mrs. Foster related.

Life Threatened.

"I was going to have him arrested, but he said, 'If you do, I'll take my hunting knife and do away with you and your children.' I never told any one about it. I have been living in fear ever since."

When Foster came home on a furlough last Tuesday, she told him the story. He demanded she point out the man to him and she agreed to do so.

"My husband wasn't that kind of a man," was the only statement made by Hodkinson's widow, Helen, 35. His funeral will be held tomorrow.

SPLASH! AND SPLASH! AS A GIRL REPORTER ENTERS MEN'S POOL

The masculine quarters of the Chicago Athletic association, 12 S. Michigan av., were invaded yesterday by a fire and a girl reporter for the City News bureau.

The reporter, Faith Wilson, conscientiously followed hose lines up to the ninth floor, where she opened a door leading into an expanse of water. Somebody hollered: "Hey!" and 12 unclad men standing at the pool's edge dived in.

Four men [clothed] came up from behind and escorted Miss Wilson to a telephone booth where they stood guard while she telephoned her story to her city desk.

WOUNDED EIGHT TIMES, CAPTAIN DEMANDS ACTION

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY, Nov. 18.—Probably the most disconsolate soldier in this entire theater right now is a captain from Georgia who is being detained at a rest area behind the front much against his will.

Since he came across the Normandy beach he has been wounded eight times, five of them in Germany. This is believed to be a record for this theater, so unusual that when the time came for him to replace the five bronze clusters on his Purple Heart ribbon with a silver one it was discovered there weren't any silver clusters. The commanding officer ordered a thermometer broken and the mercury used to make a silver cluster from a bronze one.

"I'm lost without my gun and my men," he explained. "I have been in the regular army 22 years. When there is something going on I want to be there. Anyway it's only my ear drums that need to get well, and I don't need them to fight with."

2 French Naval Sloops Fight Japs in Pacific

When Nubbins Wakes Today, It's Christmas!

His father, Marshall, trimmed a tree tonight so it will be ready when Nubbins, whose real name is Forest, awakens tomorrow morning.

Santa Claus is coming early for Nubbins because he may not be around the house when Saint Nick pays his call next month. The boy is suffering from a bladder ailment which his parents fear will cause his death before Christmas day, so for Nubbins, tomorrow is Christmas.

Bright, But Not White.

It will be a bright Christmas for Nubbins if not a white one. The weatherman's forecast called for fair weather tonight and Sunday, with no snow.

The lack of snow won't matter too much to the boy, what he wants most is a big and brightly ornamented tree.

The tree trimming took place in the kitchen and when Nubbins awakens in his crib in the living room tomorrow morning, the tree will be near the crib.

Under it will be piles of gifts from sympathetic folks all over the nation.

A Dream Christmas.

"He's going to have a Christmas that little boys dream of having," said Hoffman, gazing at heaping presents which kept postmen and expressmen on the run. And, there are more to come.

"If he lived 99 years he would have a new toy to play with every day," said the grateful father, overwhelmed by the kindness of persons who sent gifts from as far away as New York and Florida.

Gifts include a candy filled toy airplane, locomotive, fire engine, battleship, jeep, building logs, and a wooden freight train. Soldiers in the convalescent training program at Lowry field, Denver, stepped up production of wooden toys they were making for children of soldiers and others. A small plane, on a routine training flight to Cheyenne, delivered the soldiers' gifts.

Nubbins' dream Christmas will be topped off by a dinner furnished by the Union Pacific railroad, of which his father is an employe.

3 ARMIES SMASH AHEAD ALONG 30 MILE FRONT

Air Force Blasts German Forts and Tanks.

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Nov. 18 (AP).—Troops and armor of the British 2d army joined the American 9th and 1st armies at dawn today in a mighty push toward the Rhine along a 30-mile-wide path from the Aachen region. Tonight all three were forging ahead against desperate German resistance in one of the greatest battles of the war.

[Reuter news agency quoted a German front line dispatch last night as saying that the 1st and 9th armies were attacking with 1,000 tanks.]

The best weather since the start of the western front offensive enabled both strategic and tactical air forces to give their strongest support yet to the ground forces. Ninth air force Lightnings and Thunderbolts attacked as close as 200 yards ahead of the troops in bitter fighting east of Aachen.

Fighter-bombers intervened in at least one tank battle in that area, striking German armor at close range.

Capture Two Towns.

The allied troops spread over the Geilenkirchen area, cut the main road to the north, captured Niederheide, reached the outskirts of Prummern, two miles east of Geilenkirchen, and captured Puffendorf, 4½ miles southeast in what was described as "blended operations" by British and Americans.

To the southeast of Aachen American 1st army forces made new gains up to a kilometer against heavy artillery and mortar fire in the Wurselen area and up to two kilometers around Stolberg, while in the Hurtgen forest other 1st army troops advanced slowly thru mine fields and barbed wire.

Battle Inside Metz.

To the south, Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army swept into the reich in force and began house-to-house warfare inside the fortress city of Metz in France.

The 3d army mechanized cavalry which crossed into Germany from the Thionville sector tonight had occupied Perl and Oberperl, and according to a front dispatch had pressed on to Sehndorf, a mile and a half inside Germany.

Other 3d army forces driving squarely eastward from the Thionville region still were on French soil, but entered Lamstroff, a half mile west of the border, also took Halstroff and Ritzing, and were attacking Waldweistroff tonight. According to the front dispatch, this force pushed from 2 to 3 miles ahead along a 10 mile front.

Northeast of Metz the 3d army jumped ahead as much as nine miles in a southeastward thrust.

Still farther south the French 1st army smashed deep into the Belfort gap after taking the strong point of Montbeliard, where 7,000 Germans were captured, and enemy dispositions were upset along a 25 mile sector.

7th Gains Two Miles.

The French tonight were reported to have reached Delle, 10 miles southeast of Belfort on the Swiss frontier. They are less than five miles from Belfort southwest of that city.

The American 7th army in gains up to two miles captured the Muerthe river town of Raon l'Tape, continued pressure at St. Die, and saw nine villages — Moyenmoutier, La Hollande, Etival, Marzelay, Tete-de-San-Roche, Gratin, Rabache, Remenix, and La Planchette—go up in flames as the Germans applied the scorched earth policy before retiring.

British troops in the Venlo sector sped up their advance toward the Maas [Meuse] river as the Germans, now holding only a narrow strip along the river, apparently were pulling out. The 2d tactical air force bombed a bridge at Venlo and other escape spans from the area, and latest reports from the front said land forces were racing toward Helden, 8 miles southwest of Venlo.

'204 Plane' German Ace Killed, Says Nazi Radio

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP).—The German radio said tonight that Lt. Anton Haffner, Nazi ace credited with 204 air victories, had been killed in action.

THREE 3D ARMY COLUMNS FIGHT WAY INTO METZ

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY, near Metz, Nov. 18.—Three American infantry columns have entered Metz, the world's most powerful fortress. Three more of its forts have been captured and several others are surrounded and under attack, and there now seems no doubt that the fall of Metz soon will be accomplished.

The Germans are yielding ground grudgingly, pouring heavy artillery and mortar fire into American positions from such strong points as Forts Driant and St. Blaise, which, while by-passed and outflanked, still are able to use their guns.

Fort Kellerman, Fort St. Lorraine, and Fort Julienne were captured today by the 95th division. Fort Jeanne d'Arc Plappeville was surrounded but is still active. These four forts are close to Metz on the north.

Fight for Two Forts.

Late this afternoon the 11th regiment of the 5th division was still attacking Fort Privat west of Metz while the 10th regiment was fighting for control of Fort Queleu at the city's southeastern outskirts.

Troops of the 95th division advancing from the north have occupied an island lying between the Moselle river and a canal on the north edge of Metz while other units of the 11th regiment of the 5th division are fighting in the western city limits after by-passing an airport for which fighting still was going on late today.

Troops attacking from the south were being fired on by a battery of 88's and by dug-in tanks. In a house on high ground leading to Queleu we found a number of midwesterners including Pvt. Johnnie Martin of Peoria, Ill., whose wife, Helen, lives at Woodlawn, Ill., Staff Sgt. Hartley Johnston of East St. Louis, Ill., and Pvt. Raymond E. Winkler of Kansas City, Mo.

More from Midwest.

Farther on, on the muddy road toward a hill top, we fell in with Lt. Albert S. Russell of Jasper, Ind., whose folks live in Clinton, Ill.

In another house we found Pvt. Owen R. Stuehler, 23, of Elmwood Park, Ill., whose father, Arthur, works in THE TRIBUNE pressroom. Stuehler, also a former TRIBUNE employe, is now a radio operator. At the same time we saw Sgt. Paul Barclay, 27, of Canton, Ill., a farm boy who is now a machine gun squad leader.

In the basement of a second building near-by where a mortar section was taking its ease, we asked, "Any one here from Illinois?" and got a resounding chorus in the affirmative. There were:

Wife Has a Complaint.

Schmidt showed a TRIBUNE clipping about G. I.'s sending back German fur coats to their families, whereupon his wife had written chiding him for not sending her anything. He said to tell her he is trying to find something small enough to mail.

In the same room we met Pvt. Albert J. Sitkiewicz, 28, of 2137 W. Medill av., Chicago; Pvt. Raymond McClaine of Peoria, Ill., and Pvt. Joseph N. Thomas, 20, of Kenosha, Wis.

We also saw Maj. Wilfried Haughey of Battle Creek, Mich., the 1st battalion commander.

That winds up the midwestern roster for the day except for Capt. Jack Gerrie of Ripon, Wis., of the 11th regiment of the 5th division.

WIN STOLBERG HILLS

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY IN GERMANY, Nov. 18.—Lt. Gen. Hodges' troops tonight control important high ground east of Stolberg around which bitter fighting has raged for three days. Inside the town, now two-thirds in the han of Yanks, a battle from house to house still is going on.

Other units in this drive thru mud and cold have punched one salient more than two miles deep south of Stolberg and farther southeast they made another advance of a mile and a half.

In at least one sector there are signs of softening of the German resistance altho along most of the thundering front the infantrymen slugged their way forward against well prepared positions where Nazi mortar crews and machine gunners have literally wired and mined themselves into individual fortresses.

Bombers Aid Ground Forces.

Today the skies were clear for several hours and the sunshine brought forth our dive bombers to attack enemy gun positions and communications. The flyers attacked a flat car supply train as it entered and emerged from a tunnel. The rear cars which hadn't gotten inside were destroyed first then the locomotive was bombed when it came out the other end. Such rail movements by daylight were taken as indication of the German desperation to keep their troops supplied to meet the attack.

There were other signs of the enemy's frantic attempts to stave oz the advance until winter closes in, according to American officers. In the Stolberg area captured pillboxes were manned by only three or four men compared with the usual 24. The Germans also are leaving troops in the front lines longer than usual, conserving the better class of fresh troops for the harder fighting farther back.

Yanks Take Hill.

The sound of battle for a hill in the Gressenich area filled the wide valley as American units encircled the base then mopped up pockets of resistance along the sides. It was not until late this afternoon that word came that the job was completed. The crest had been so hot for days that neither Americans nor Germans could hold a position up there.

From an armored car we saw American tanks roll down the road east of Stolberg spitting flames from their guns while German shells burst around them.

They were shooting just beyond the infantry, softening up the line of German defenders trying to hold the top which gives observation upon the surrounding countryside.

However, the 1st army drive, it was said tonight, is going well despite the desperate stubbornness of the German resistance along most of the positions. The fighting calls for all the versatility the American soldier can muster, ranging from street fighting to the pioneer type warfare of the Hurtgen forest.

NINTH MEETS NAZI TANKS

BY WES GALLAGHER.

WITH THE U. S. 9TH ARMY AT PUFFENDORF, Germany, Nov. 18 (AP).—9th The Germans threw major forces, including armored units, against the 9th army today in an effort to halt the advance which gobbled up three more German towns and gained two miles after American artillery broke the back of German counter-attacks with some of the greatest barrages of the war.

The whole front throbbed with the thunder of thousands of shells as the artillery took over the task of trying to force a major crack in the German defenses guarding the vital Ruhr.

Force Showdown Fight.

Clearing weather allowed maximum air effort, and during every moment of the day scores of fighters and bombers dove and twisted over the German lines thru heavy flak.

It is apparent that the Germans are forcing a showdown battle in this coal mining heart of the Reich. They sent in their crack 9th armored division just northeast of Puffendorf, and brought up great quantities of artillery and anti-aircraft guns. They also have placed dug in Mark VI. tanks along the line in Russian style.

Meets Force with Force.

Lt. Gen. Simpson is meeting force with force and for every gun brought up on the German side, the 9th army brings up two and throws in hundreds of planes for good measure.

Corp. Patrick Brogan of Buffalo, N. Y., and I dug deep into a soggy slag heap from which we were watching the advance when the Germans cut loose on our perch with several 105 shells.

We saw one quick American barrage set fire to Apweiler, east of Geilenkirchen, and leave its church steeple twisting drunkenly in the air. There is scarcely one church spire intact on either side of the line.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 7TH ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 18.—7th Allied infantry, artillery and armor smashed all along the line today in the six day old attack on the Vosges barrier to Germany.

Doughboys slogging thru the mud, particularly near Remoncourt, ran into pillboxes the Germans used in 1918 in World War I., the installations screened and camouflaged by time. Some young Germans defended them as their fathers did, but they were being killed or captured.

Other captured Germans were described as middle aged, ill, and badly clothed. "They'd be classed 10-F in our draft," said an American interrogator.

At one point the Nazis set up a lound speaker and shouted to the Americans, "Come on over, boys; we will feed you well."

At that moment a group of Germans walked into the Yank line. Deserters, they said they hadn't had anything to eat in three days.

More Towns Wrecked.

Seven French towns, including St. Die, bastion of the Germans' main Vosges line, had been set ablaze by the Nazis in the last week. Ten more communities in the St. Die area were observed today to be victims of Nazi arsonists.

These are Estival, La Hollande, Moyenmoutier, Tete de St. Roch, Gratin, Robache, Remomeix, Dijon, and La Planchette.

On Nov. 11 the Germans evacuated women, children, and aged persons from the north bank of St. Die to the south bank, telling them that the Americans intended to fire bomb St. Die. Able men 18 to 45 had been evacuated to Strassbourg.

Town Systematically Looted.

The evacuated neighborhoods were systematically looted by the Nazis under a Capt. Schneider on that day and the next. The burning of the town began at noon the second day. The first to go was a house on the wall of which there had been a plaque commemorating St. Die's sending of the first shipload of men and supplies from France to fight on the American side in the Revolutionary war.

The Germans first burned or dynamited all of the city north of the Meurthe river, sparing only the Chateau de Losseux. On Nov. 15 they crossed to the south bank and burned or blasted the area between the river and the main east-west street. Some homes were in flames 10 minutes after the residents had been ordered out.

It is reported there are 45,000 refugees in the area southwest of St. Die and 7,000 patients in the Foucherupt hospital, which was built to handle 700.

DANISH NAZI LEADER SLAIN BY ASSASSINS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Capt. Johan Stahl, identified as the "pacemaker of Danish National Socialism," was shot and killed Friday afternoon by unidentified assassins in Copenhagen, Danish capital, the German radio announced yesterday. "Pedestrians suddenly heard shots fired out of a street car and they saw a man dashing out of the street car," the broadcast said. "Then a younger man jumped out of the street car firing three to four shots against a man lying in the street. The assassin then jumped on a bicycle, which probably had been held in readiness for him, and disappeared."

ILLINOIS YANK GETS TO HEART OF METZ, BUT IT'S BY MISTAKE

ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF METZ, Nov. 18 (AP).—Five Yanks actually got to the heart of Metz, Europe's most famous fortress city, and got back to tell about it today. They did it by mistake.

Two jeeploads of the 11th infantry regiment's communications crew were trying to find the advance command post in order to string wire. The front jeep was driven by Pvt. 1st Class Eugene S. Tyler of Alton, Ill.

Because of artillery crossfire from the encircled but uncaptured fortresses outside Metz, they roared wide open down the main road to Metz. They were supposed to make a left turn at the city's edge, but missed it and went highballing right down to the main part of the city.

When mortar shells shoelaced the street, Tyler began to think "something must be wrong." Realizing their situation, Tyler turned around with rapidity unusual for a jeep. The second vehicle followed him out of town.

"It's a nice looking town," said one of the Yank later. "I'd like to see more of it."

"We will," said Tyler, "but not alone."

SIX PAIRS OF PANTS STOLEN.

Burglars who entered the tailor shop of Harry Berland at 81 W. Van Buren st., took six pairs of pants valued at $125, Berland told police.

MURRAY GUEST AT DINNER OF CIO GROUP HERE

Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, was guest of honor last night at a dinner in the Stevens hotel, sponsored by the Chicago Industrial Union council [CIO] which marshaled a crowd of 600 to dine with the national CIO chieftain. Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO's PAC committee, also was a guest. Michael Mann, secretary of the council, presided.

Murray's reëmployment plan is expected to be placed before delegates to the CIO's annual convention which opens in the hotel tomorrow. He has urged modernization of transportation facilities, more regional developments similar to the Tennessee valley authority, and steps to expand foreign trade.

Many delegates in the vanguard of convention visitors yesterday disclosed they had been instructed by local unions to back convention action in favor of abandoning the "Little Steel" formula to permit upward revision of wages.

Hospital Vessel Sunk by British, Nazis Charge

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A broadcast by D. N. B., German news agency, said the German hospital ship Tuebingen was sunk by four British fighter-bombers in the Adriatic sea yesterday. There was no allied confirmation.

TURKEY SEEKERS LIKELY TO GET ONLY THE BIRD!

War and, Perhaps, Black Market Cut Supply.

The groaning board will be more than a way of saying the Thanksgiving table is burdened Thursday. Thousands of Chicago turkey lovers will have reason for groaning when they tuck in napkins, pick up knives and forks, and look at what's coming out of the oven. For it won't be turkey.

Turkey growers produced a record crop of 35⅝ million birds, or 8 per cent more than in 1943, and men and women in uniform are assured of generous helpings wherever they are, but shipments arriving in Chicago were described by the Railway Express agency yesterday as "insignificant."

Black Market Hunted.

The office of price administration is investigating rumors of black market activities—reports that side payments in excess of ceiling prices are being made at one end of the barn yard to table chain and that consumers at the other end are being asked to pay excessive amounts.

The side payment reports come from Iowa and the Dakotas and are being sifted by the OPA regional office, which said "few" of the stories had been verified.

Complaints are increasing that some retailers in Chicago are demanding more than the ceiling of 51 cents a pound for dressed turkeys, according to the OPA's metropolitan area office, and Marion W. Isbell, area director, said investigators would concentrate on the situation.

One-Third of 1943 Supply.

John J. Turner, field representative of the Retail Meat Dealers' association, said that less than one-third of last year's supply would be sold in Chicago this year.

"I know of 5,000 turkeys ordered from Michigan that were sent east because the producer said he could get 55 cents a pound there," Turner said. "In another case, 3,000 Illinois turkeys went east for 54 cents a pound plus shipping charges."

George Meyer, Isbell's meat specialist, said he was certain the Chicago supply would be "ample altho not abundant" and predicted that birds that have been held on farms would be rushed to market this week.

Big Wholesaler Has None.

Peter Fox Sons, one of the largest Chicago wholesalers, did not have a single turkey in its refrigerators. Dauber Brothers reported a need for 20 carloads to meet demands and only one carload on hand.

Market experts said the shortage in the retail market was due in part to the necessity of supplying the army and navy, which got first choice. Their needs were not filled until Nov. 5, so that the ban on civilian sales was lifted 11 days later than a year ago, giving farmers scanty time to supply civilians.

Mild weather during the fall also reduced shipments. Turkeys' appetites were not normal and many did not get fat enough to be shipped for the Thanksgiving trade. These birds will be ready for the Christmas market.

Some Chicago area farmers who customarily sell to wholesalers have been selling direct to consumers. The Hawthorne Farm near Libertyville, which raised 4,500 turkeys, its largest crop in recent years, found consumers eager to buy at the retail ceiling.

SANTA ARRIVES; KIDS GREET HIM ON STATE STREET

Enough Toys for All, He Tells Them.

Thousands of snow-suited children bordered State st. yesterday to see Santa Claus as he arrived in Chicago from the north pole to open the 1944 Christmas shopping season in downtown Chicago.

Countless pairs of little mittens were waved wildly in the air as the youngsters stood on tiptoe or were lifted up by their parents to salute Santa as he rode down State st. from Wacker dr. to Congress st. in a navy duck, a war-time vehicle which the old gentleman chose in preference to his reindeer and sleigh.

An amplifying system broadcast Christmas carols as Santa Claus, assisted by two elves from his north pole workshop, passed thru the throng of merrymakers and handed candy kisses down to boys and girls. Santa and the elves were escorted by marines, WAVES, and sailors in jeeps.

Toy Supply Ample.

In a proclamation to the crowd, Santa advised shoppers that, altho many toy factories are engaged in the manufacture of war materials, State st. stores are stocked with an ample supply of playthings for children's Christmas.

At the end of Santa Claus' parade, children and parents who had witnessed the event, as well as many additional thousands who arrived too late to participate in the welcoming ceremony, entered the department stores that line State st. to look thru the toy departments, which were showing for the first time a full Christmas stock. There was a Santa Claus in the stores, too, and boys and girls delivered to him in person lists of things which they hope to find under their trees on Christmas morning.

Displays Cover Counters.

Counters were literally covered with an array of dolls, cut-out sets, pull-toys, miniature jeeps and tanks and guns, while there were floor displays of Indian suits, WAC, WAVE, and cowgirl suits, wooden hobby horses, and even small tents for a tiny Buffalo Bill to use in making his games more life-like.

Youngsters had their pictures taken as they sat beside Santa Claus in a sleigh just like the one he used to ride, and they watched with wide eyes the performances of puppets operated by sales clerks. Altho many of the toys they saw were made of different materials than were used in their manufacture in pre-war days, the children found them just as wonderful and just as desirable.

BELGIUM, HOLLAND LUXEMBURG CLAIM SHARE IN OCCUPATION

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 18 [Reuter].—Belgium, Holland and Luxemburg are each claiming a share in the military occupation of Germany it was disclosed by the Belgium foreign office today. The claims were made in a memorandum drawn up by the three governments in reply to questions raised by the European commission in London as to armistice conditions. None of the three governments has yet received a reply.

The Belgian government has taken note of the French declaration that if a special regime is established for the Rhineland and the Ruhr France should have a privileged position in the administration of these territories.

Belgian diplomatic quarters disclosed that the concept of the dismemberment of the reich has rapidly gained ground in the international negotiations of the last few weeks.

ROARING METZ SENDS A SALUTE TO OUR SUBWAY

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT THE FRESCATY AIR FIELD, Metz, Nov. 17 [Delayed].—We moved along a road at the southern end of this air field, pausing once because an American anti-tank gun firing point blank across the highway almost failed to see us. We found the battalion command post.

Capt. Jack Gerrie, Ripon, Wis., executive officer for the 1st battalion of the 11th regiment of the 5th division, was sitting at a table in a tiny room whose floor was covered with straw. He finished a conversation and then told us to wait 10 minutes or so until 20 mm. German anti-aircraft guns, also firing point blank, died down, then we could walk down a side road to the hangars.

A $25 Bonus Arrives.

We waited and then Gerrie, who formerly was employed by the Corn Products Refining company—from whom he got a $25 bonus check yesterday—took us outside and pointed out the way, adding: "Don't go past the fifth hangar."

We set out—William Reusswig, New York war artist; Lou Hawkins, Associated Press correspondent, and this correspondent—sticking to the right side of the road as Gerrie suggested by his final remark that no sniper would fire at us because snipers didn't fire at groups.

The wreckage of German planes, abandoned German guns, empty German dugouts and a litter of German knapsacks, rifles and helmets was along both sides of the road. Just when we were getting uneasy at the lack of company, we came on some GI's crouching behind earth on the left side of the road. Three were Chicagoans.

Subway, Here's Your Greeting.

They were Pvt. Leonard G. Motta, 3526 W. Harrison st., a former punch press operator for the Chicago Screw company; Pvt. Rudy Gartenberg, 33, of 3044 W. Dickens av., a former show card writer, and a former auditor for the Illinois Central railroad, Paul Lea. All were in need of shaves but cheerful. Gartenberg, as we were leaving, shouted:

"Send my regards to the Chicago subway. I haven't seen it yet, tho I saw them tearing up the streets for it."

We said we would, then went on past an American soldier lying in the center of the road, dead from wounds suffered when his outfit moved in three hours earlier.

Then we reached the first hangar, where Lt. Harland Bach, Toledo, O., a tank platoon commander, was waiting for riflemen to request his services.

He told us 35 prisoners had been taken on the air field, the first two being a major and a first lieutenant who fled from a hangar when Bach's tank threw three rounds into it. They waved a white flag when his tank sprayed the edge of a foxhole in which they had taken refuge with a .30 caliber machine gun.

Sand Fort Built in Hangar.

Inside the hangar, dividing it roughly into halves, were boxes of sand piled 15 feet high that Bach said probably were for protection of the hangar personnel against our planes.

We went on toward the sound of firing, past several badly smashed hangars, and found soldiers in the basement of a house the Germans had used for an aid station and for ammunition storage. When the Yanks took it there was still a fire burning in a stove and a German soldier, neatly tagged with his name, was stretched out dead on the floor.

Sixteen prisoners were taken here, said Pvt. Donald Jones, Palmyra, Wis., a former elevator operator at the Wacker hotel in Chicago. We also saw Pvt. Earl Kidd, Indianapolis, Ind., and Tech. Sgt. Glen Jacobs, Cutler, Ind.

City's Surrender Recalled.

One G. I. casualty called our attention to a brass plate above the door of what formerly had been a room and now was rubble. It said: "Salle de la Capitulation de Metz, 27 Octobre, 1870." This was the date when Metz surrendered to the Germans. Apparently we were in the house where the surrender was concluded. We figured it was a good omen.

POLES BATTLE IN ITALY'S SNOW AND SEIZE TOWN

ROME, Italy, Nov. 18 (AP).—Polish troops of the British 8th army, battling forward more than half a mile thru the snow in the mountains before the Po plain, seized Monte Fortino, five miles south of the highway town of Faenza, a prime objective, allied headquarters said today.

Monte Fortino fell after a sharp struggle and the Poles then fought off two German counter-attacks.

Farther north, but south of highway No. 9 leading from the Adriatic coast to Bologna, other forces were within four miles of Faenza, but they were held up by strong resistance.

LET PRESIDENT DECIDE ON WAR, SENATOR URGES

New York, Nov. 18 [Special].—Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] today proposed that congress delegate authority to "the President, as commander in chief, to use our armed forces at any future date at his own discretion."

Speaking with Sen. Burton [R., O.] before the Foreign Policy association in the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, Ferguson asserted designation of such authority to use "arms and munitions at some future date" would be a "correct thing to preserve the future peace of America."

Ferguson said he saw no Constitutional or other legal barrier to ultimate congressional approval of the Dumbarton Oaks agreement.

"Within the Constitution and without the sacrifice of any sovereignty, we can approve the formation of an organization which can use force to carry out its mandate, and your congress can authorize by resolution, if necessary, the use of such arms and munitions at some future date which your President or your council delegate may designate," said the senator.

"The question is whether the people should so designate such authority. I believe it is a correct thing that they should in order to preserve the future peace of America. If not, civilization is doomed."

REPORT $548 FUR THEFT.

Thieves broke a show window of the Casnow Fur company, 238 Market st., and took a silver fox jacket, three silver fox scarfs, 11 mink skins, and four kolinsky pelts, all valued at $548, the owners told police yesterday.

HOW JAP FLEET STEERED RIGHT INTO U. S. GUNS

Trapped Itself, Says Yank Skipper.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Nov. 18 (AP).—A skipper of one of the United States battleships blames the Japanese defeat in Surigao straits—when eight enemy vessels came thru and eight were sunk—on the incredible coöperation of the Japanese commander in bringing his ships exactly where the Americans thought he would bring them.

The American skipper, Capt. John B. Heffernan of Washington, Ind., was in command of the old battleship Tennessee, one of the six which sank the enemy fleet, with the aid of smaller vessels, in just 15 minutes.

The Japanese force in effect trapped itself, he said yesterday. "If we'd told them just what to do, we couldn't have improved on their disposition. It was as easy as playing a game on a board."

Fleet Lay in Wait.

For days, he said, the American fleet had been lying east of the straits which separate Leyte from Mindanao and Dinagát Islands. The Japanese must have known how big it was and where it was, because their observation planes had been over it almost constantly.

Nevertheless, the Japanese commander obligingly brought his fleet in from the Sulu sea, with his two battleships in front.

All the American battleships—the Tennessee, the West Virginia, the Maryland, the Mississippi, the California, and the old fleet flagship, Pennsylvania—were in firing position. Only the two Japanese battleships—none of the supporting cruisers and destroyers—were within range. They were bottled up in the straits behind each other—and the Americans were the cross of the T famous in naval strategy.

"First Degree Murder."

Thus almost all of the American guns could fire against enemy naval vessels.

"It was murder in the first degree," said Comdr. S. P. Smith, Washington, D. C., who was the Tennessee's executive officer.

The Tennessee, Heffernan said, fired 13 salvos from its 14 inch guns and scored hits with 12 of them—a total of 69 shells from its forward batteries and three more salvoes from its after guns as the battleline turned. Other ships did as well or better. The West Virginia got 90 16 inch shells away.

The Tennessee concentrated on the leading Japanese battlewagon, identified tentatively as the Fuso. The captain said his ship was able to send shells toward other Japanese battleships in the 15 minute battle.

Finishes Damaged Ships.

"It was the most remarkable fireworks I ever saw," he said.

When dawn broke, Adm. Oldendorf took his cruisers in close, found all the Japanese ships apparently abandoned, and finished sinking them—two battleships, two heavy cruisers, and four destroyers.

Squeeze Japs Trapped on Leyte

Action reported yesterday from battle for Philippines.

MOST POPULAR MAN ON LEYTE IS THE BEER GUARD

And He Comes from Milwaukee!

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LEYTE, P. I., Nov. 19 [Sunday].—Here are some news tidbits picked up on the Philippine Islands front:

For months three Chicagoans have been on the crew of a PBY Catalina [navy flying boat]. They have worn out three planes and two pilots. They are Louis Erdelyan, 6625 Drexel av.; Frank Petro, 123 W. 108th st., and Paul Fischkorn, 545 S. Waiola av., La Grange Park, Ill.

Wayne McBride, 3506 N. 20th st., Milwaukee, Wis., is the most sought after man on Leyte. He is a military policeman on guard at a warehouse filled with beer. "You would never guess all the things people will do in an attempt to get some beer away from us," he said. He insists he won't weaken even if it gets his name in the paper, but here's hoping.

Sheldon Uday is a cook with a medical supply outfit. Alex Lloyd, 3740 N. Racine av., is a PT base officer. Rear Adm. F. D. Wagner, who was commander of a PBY squadron in the Philippines, has returned to the islands as commander of aircraft of the 7th fleet. He is especially proud of the Catalina boys who, in the drive back, have sunk scores of Jap ships and rescued more than 100 pilots.

Pvt. Harold Boedecker of Dubois, Wyo., the first barber to arrive in the Philippines, came in on D-day plus two. He got a call one morning to come to Gen. MacArthur's headquarters. Nervously he wrapped his scissors and stuff in a towel.

"I didn't know if I should salute or what. My goodness, I had never even met a general before," he says. But he didn't have a chance to do anything. He just got to the door when the general jumped up and said: "I'm glad to see you," and shook his hand.

"He asked about how long I've been in the army and overseas and where my wife was and how things were in Wyoming," Boedeker said. "I thought I would be nervous, but he put me so at my ease it was just like cutting the hair of my oldest friend." Boedeker said the general has a tough head to cut. His hair is not as thick as it once was, and it's tough to know what to trim and what to leave.

BY PRESTON GROVER.

AN AMERICAN AIRBASE, Northeast India, Oct. 26 [Delayed]—(AP).—For 15 Illinois members of the 7th bombardment group in India this has been a long war without any turning, and it is getting longer every minute.

These men were part of the first combat air group to reach India. They actually started to war before it began. They left the United States for overseas duty on Nov. 21, 1941. While hundreds of other soldiers have come to the theater and gone back home, they have stayed on fighting the war thru three monsoons, three tough malaria seasons, and are still fighting it from an air base in the middle of nowhere.

Under Mosquito Nets.

They are right in the midst of rice paddies at present. They have flown their bombers from a half dozen fields in India and some in China, but always they seem to be right in the middle of rice paddies.

That means sleeping under mosquito nets nine months a year. Sleeping under mosquito nets is almost like sleeping in a furnace.

This correspondent went on a bomb raid over Burma with the 7th bombardiers when their equipment consisted of nine rickety, old fashioned Flying Fortresses. They never could get more than six in the air at one time because parts from three had to be used on the six which flew.

Those things have changed. Now they fly Liberators, with longer range and better maintenance. There is usually plenty of gas in the tanks when they return unless they have been assigned some record breaking mission such as a 2,400 mile raid on Bangkok, Thailand [Siam], or on islands in the Bay of Bengal.

Resigned to Staying On.

Rotation has passed over many of these men [as of Sept. 25, when this list was compiled], but a good many have volunteered for additional service. Many of them seem resigned to finishing the war on this front.

Illinois men who sailed for the Western Pacific zone on that Nov. 21 so long ago and landed in India after Pearl Harbor were:

A DISTINGUISHED First Impression

Inevitably, it is the entrance foyer of a home which creates that important first impression of those who live there.

How inspiring then, to come upon the foyer shown here, which could belong only to those whom it will be interesting to meet.

This foyer is warm, cordial and entrancingly lovely. Walls of flame and smoke gray, one of nature's most delectable contrasts, offer a vivacious welcome.

Clearly, someone with a sophisticated sense of beauty has chosen this wall covering. On the subdued flame ground are posed two large figures taken from Michaelangelo. A youth and a girl, they stand as if in gray stone and nearly life size, in a frieze of wildflowers.

Below the frieze of wildflowers is a dado of simulated marble. Pilasters divide the three circular walls into panels.

The fourth wall, a shining expanse of mirror, reflects any action and adds excitement. Its crystal sweep is softened by two high pedestals of great atmosphere and allure. Their fluted columns of antique gold are striped with mirror. They bear trailing masses of greenery, bringing plant life and freshness.

The Regency table and chairs contribute their share of stimulating flavor. A large Empire seat looks invitingly comfortable.

The foyer promises something for the personalities within, a charm, a distinction. It foretells a hostess equally cordial, lively and lovely.

CHARGES LITHS FACE DEATH AT HANDS OF REDS

Legation Reports Mass Executions, Deportations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—The Lithuanian nation is facing extermination thru the mass murder and deportation of its people by retreating Germans and advancing Russians, the Lithuanian legation reported today.

News from reliable sources out of the Baltic nation should cause gravest concern to Americans of Lithuanian descent and to their friends, the legation said.

"Deliberate annihilation of the Lithuanian nation is taking place," the legation said, "both by mass slaughter and mass deportation. The N. K. V. D., successor of the dread G. P. U., or soviet political police, followed on the heels of the Red army. Immediately mass executions, arrests, and deportations were instituted.

Herded Into Squares.

"The Lithuanian inhabitants of various towns were herded into the public squares. All persons who were indicted by a few local Communists as having participated in the June, 1941, insurrection against the soviets as well as those who had occupied any position whatsoever under the German occupation, even village elders, were executed."

The legation reported that during the first days of the occupation of Siauliai some 400 persons were killed and in Birzai some 250 met death. Executions were carried out by the soviets regardless of age and sex, it was said.

The Russian secret police carried out pogroms in Vilna, Kaunas, Svyriai, Utena, Kedainiai, Mariampole, and other localities, according to the legation. Refugees have reported Russians as boasting that they will annihilate all anti-soviets before allied help can restore any Lithuanian independence.

Regarded as Criminals.

Officers and men of the Lithuanian underground, who fell into soviet hands, were regarded as criminals, the legation said.

Soviet authorities are distributing a questionnaire containing five questions to be answered by the Lithuanian people, according to the legation. On the basis of their replies, individuals are assigned to execution, to deportation, to forced labor, or to service in the Red army.

"A decree demanding the mobilization for military service of all able bodied men between the ages of 15 and 65 was made public," the legation said. "Those incapable of military service are used for forced labor, mainly in the transportation of ammunition and for the digging of trenches."

The Lithuanian legation reported that the Nazis became excessively severe in measures against Lithuanians as they prepared to leave the country before advancing Reds. In addition to slaughtering and deporting the people, they looted the country of materials of every description even to entire factories, it was reported.

Many able bodied Lithuanians were brought to Germany in order to work at various industries, the legation said.

JAPS OPEN DRIVE TOWARD U. S. B-29 BASES IN CHINA

Aim at Cutting Burma Road Supply Line.

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 18 (AP).—The Japanese struck 13 miles closer today to Kweichow province in a drive believed designed to snap the Burma road at Kweiyang and nullify the land supply route the allies are fighting to reopen to China.

Competent quarters estimated that Gen. Shunroku Hata had assembled 250,000 troops in south China for this campaign, which threatens to bring the war to Chungking's front yard and wrest from the American air force its Super Fortresses bases in western China.

The Chinese high command announced that the Japanese were within a few miles of Hwaiyuanchen, 13 miles west of Ishan—captured yesterday—on the railway leading northwest from fallen Liuchow into Kweichow and its capital, Kweiyang.

Call for More Help.

Chinese quarters, taking for granted that the Japanese conquerors of Hankow had embarked on a long-delayed master plan to knock China out of the war, said China never was more in need of help than now.

Maj. Gen. Wedemeyer, commander of United States forces in China, revealed that he had made recommendations to Chiang Kai-shek for "simple, and I hope sound" dispositions to meet the moves of the enemy. Wedemeyer said Hata, whom he styled a "very able commander," might push southward from Liuchow to join Japanese forces in French Indo-China, strike for Kweiyang or drive on Chengtu, in Szechwan province.

Will Get Big Guns.

Altho the Japanese threat and its potential effects on Chungking were the principal topics of conversation in all quarters, Wedemeyer told a press conference he felt "our problems are not insurmountable."

The prospective opening of the Burma-Ledo road, he said, would enable China to receive heavy guns and other equipment which cannot be freighted in by air.

CHINESE TROOPS EXPAND WEDGE INTO JAP FRONT

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, Nov. 18 (AP).—Chinese troops have expanded the wedge driven into Japanese positions along the Namhkam road southeast of Bhamo in the North Burma drive to clear a land route to China, Adm. Mountbatten's command announced today.

Striking from east of Bhamo, the Chinese advanced southwestward across two main roads and reached the Irrawaddy river, cutting off the last Japanese routes to the south out of Bhamo.

On the Chindwin front allied troops pushed southward from Kalemyo for more than 10 miles toward Mandalay.

STEAL 92 CASES OF WHISKY.

Burglars who cut a hole above the door of a food and liquor store at 935 E. 65th st. removed 92 cases of whisky valued at $3,500, police were told yesterday by the owner, Irving Lavin, 7032 Merrill av.

3 BURMA CLANS LOOT JAPANESE SUPPLY TRUCKS

MYITKYINA, Burma, Nov. 16 [Delayed]—(AP).—Three powerful clans of Burmese Kachin and Shan tribesmen have been roving thru north and central Burma for more than a year, looting and hi-jacking Japanese supply trucks and wiping out small Japanese garrisons for their arms and ammunition.

Reports of sabotage far behind the Japanese lines in north Burma for the last eight months now have been accredited to this colorful bandit force. These three armed and mobile columns of fierce mountain and jungle fighters are neither an allied nor a pro-Japanese force, but an independent army fighting for the rights of its people in Japanese-occupied Burma. One of the guerrilla bands active in the area north of Mandalay has been identified as "Maung Chine and his 300 thieves."

RUSSIAN TANKS DRIVE 4 MILES NEAR BUDAPEST

ʼeds Menace Three Big Railroad Centers.

LONDON, Nov. 19 [Sunday]—(AP). – Russian tanks and infantry smashed four miles thru German lines 15 miles northeast of Budapest yesterday, Moscow announced last night. This advance, part of a movement to encircle the Hungarian capital, reached within 19 miles of the highway to Vienna, Austria, along the Danube river north of Budapest.

Hatvan, key to axis defenses east of Budapest, and Aszod and Godollo, junctions on a 26 mile front between Hatvan and Budapest, were under soviet artillery fire and threatened with imminent capture.

The 2d Ukraine army gained all along a 60 mile front extending from captured Valko, near the capital, to within three miles of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city. The Red army is attacking Miskolc on three sides.

Push Nazis into Mountains.

The Russians are hurling the Germans back into the Bukk and Matra mountains between Miskolc and Hatvan, the Russian bulletin said.

A bulletin broadcast by Budapest said strong Russian attacks had been repulsed east of Vecses, five miles southeast of Budapest.

The Russians were said to be attacking Csepel, a 30 mile long island in the Danube whose northern end lies inside Budapest's municipal boundary.

The imminence of a big Russian winter offensive in Poland and East Prussia was suggested by a Berlin broadcast. It said "intensive soviet preparations" were apparent in the north, where the ground was hardening.

GERMAN WAR BULLETIN.

Berlin's broadcast report said yesterday:

"In the battle between Budapest and Miskolc the Bolsheviks are rushing on again and again, vainly trying to break thru. German and Hungarian formations in counterthrusts held the German front. The enemy suffered severe losses."

DEATH HELD A SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide while despondent because of unemployment was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury which investigated the death of Olaf J. Haralson, 50, of Kansas City, Mo., whose body was found Friday at the bottom of an airshaft in the Victoria hotel, 334 S. Clark st.

PUPILS GATHER MILLION POUNDS OF WASTE PAPER

Chicago's 40 public high schools set a new metropolitan one day record in their drive for waste paper Friday, preliminary reports from the schools indicated yesterday. While complete figures on the day's collection will not be available until tomorrow, officials in charge said more than 1 million pounds of waste paper had been collected, breaking the national record set by Chicago schools last spring.

Among the first schools to report was Amundsen High school with a day's collection of 189,739 pounds. Unreported in the early returns was Kelly High school, which had nosed out Amundsen in the spring campaign to establish a national high school record. Among schools reporting early were Harper, with 43,575 pounds, and Marshall, with more than 26,000.

Quota to Be Exceeded

The first group of the 40 schools to report collected 616,000 pounds of waste paper. John Robinson, chairman of the publicity committee of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers association, said the other schools were sure to bring the city-wide total well above the million pound mark, exceeding their quota by more than 200,000 pounds.

The high school drive was conducted under the direction of John F. Cassell, assistant superintendent in charge of high schools, William L. McFetridge, general chairman of the Chicago waste paper salvage committee, and Robinson. The next high school drive on Dec. 15 will be increased to include the city's five vocational high schools with Philip L. McNamee, assistant superintendent in charge of vocational schools, directing the campaign among vocational students.

Other Schools End Drive.

Friday also marked the close of a five week waste paper collecting drive by the 250,000 students in the city's elementary schools. Figures on this campaign will not be completely tabulated until Wednesday, when at special ceremonies awards will be given by the war production board to leading schools in the 25 districts and to students who led in their districts and in the city.

The waste paper collected in Friday's drive was loaded directly into freight cars and started on its way to waste paper consuming mills of the midwest where in less than a week it will be transformed into blood plasma boxes and other material critically needed in the prosecution of the war.

TITO'S MEN CAPTURE CAPITAL OF ALBANIA AFTER FIERCE FIGHT

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP).—German troops have abandoned Tirana, Albanian capital, after a fierce street battle with Partisan units, the Nazi news agency D. N. B. announced tonight. A Yugoslav broadcast by Marshal Tito's headquarters said the battle inside the capital lasted several days. D. N. B. said German rear guards broke out of an encirclement and fled northward toward Scutari. Both Berlin and the Yugoslavs said the Germans still held Durazzo and Scutari.

REPORT REGENCY WILL BE SET UP IN YUGOSLAVIA

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP).—Marshal Tito's national committee of liberation and the exiled Yugoslav government in London were reported tonight to have agreed to establish a regency in Yugoslavia in the near future, with a plebiscite to be held after the war to determine whether King Peter returns to his throne.

Marshal Tito himself was reported to have been chosen to be premier of a new Yugoslav government of 28 members representing both the national liberation movement and the exiled regime. Dr. Ivan Subasic, premier of the London government, is expected to be one of the three regents.

According to this report, a minister of state will be named for each of the six Yugoslav provinces, somewhat corresponding to the prewar governors. Apparently Tito and Subasic in their recent negotiations — which resulted in complete agreement on the future administrative machinery for Yugoslavia—considered it wise to provide for representatives of Serbia, Croatia, Hercegovina, Montenegro, Slovenia, and Bosnia with high status.

U-Boat Warfare Will Be Revived, Says Nazi Chief

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz, supreme commander of the German navy, said today a German U-boat warfare would be revived. A wireless dispatch of D. N. B., German news agency, said Doenitz declared that "if today the U-boat arm shows only occasional successes, the enemy may rest assured that one day this phase will end and the grip at his throat will be increased."

BELGIAN DISPUTE OVER ARMS MAY BE COMPROMISED

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 18 (AP). — Possible grounds for a compromise between Belgian resistance organizations and the Pierlot government in their dispute over the disarming of the resistance forces were presented today in orders issued by both sides.

The government, instead of prohibiting public assemblies thruout the country as had been indicated previously, forbade displays of arms at such meetings and reminded demonstrators they must stay outside restricted zones as fixed by town and local officials.

ARCTIC AIRMAN MAKES HISTORY TO RESCUE SIX

Lands on Wheels on Ice; Lands on Ski on Land.

BY FRANK J. CIPRIANI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN AMERICAN AIR TRANSPORT COMMAND BASE IN GREENLAND, Nov. 18.—In this Arctic region life is a fight for survival rich in tales of heroic rescues.

Today, two unsung American heroes were found, Capt. Joseph A. Burns, 24, of Sierra Madre, Cal., chief of the Arctic search and rescue unit here, and Lt. Howard P. Wurtz, 24, of South Pasadena, Cal., his assistant. Both are flyers.

It was last Oct. 7 that a Douglas C-47 military transport en route from Labrador to Iceland developed engine trouble near the tip of Greenland, quickly lost altitude, and caught fire. Four crewmen bailed out, but three others crashed in the plane on the ice cap. One man was killed, another seriously injured, the third severely burned. This was at 3 a. m.

Earlier the C-47 had sent out distress signals, but nothing could be done until dawn. At 7 a. m. Lt. Wurtz started out. The crash scene was quickly found and rescue kits dropped.

Wurtz then noticed one of the four survivors who had parachuted tramping out a message in the snow. "Man dying," it said. Wurtz hastened back to base, and conferred with Capt. Burns. They considered three courses:

Land a Norseman plane, a medium ship with wheel gear, on the ice cap, and take the men off in two trips.

Choose Perilous Plan.

Dispiatch a navy PBY plane, with floating wings, to a lake 20 miles from the crash scene. Send a sled team out from the plane, and bring the marooned flyers back by sled.

Send a dog rescue team from Cape Adalaer 70 miles away.

The most dangerous plan was that calling for the landing of the Norseman on the ice cap on wheels. No ship on wheels had ever been known successfully to do it. Yet that was the plan Burns and Wurtz agreed upon.

Not long afterward Lt. Wurtz circled over the crash scene. He carefully studied the surface for crevasses. A plane landing on such a spot, covered with snow, would fall perhaps a mile or even two.

Then he landed. The landing on wheels on the great ice cap made aviation history.

With Wurtz were Capt. W. A. Gannon, Pasadena, Cal., flight surgeon, and Master Sgt. Willie Hoskins, Denver, Colo., volunteers. They quickly administered first aid.

Plane Cannot Move.

Then Wurtz prepared for the takeoff. His plane was on the cap at an altitude of 6,500 feet, however, and full engine power at that height was not possible. He cleared a lane of snow in front, but the plane would not move.

To Capt. Burns, circling overhead, Wurtz radioed he could not take off with wheel gear. Burns returned later and dropped by parachute the ski gear.

Next morning the skis were attached. The job took five hours. Meantime, an AT6 advanced training plane equipped with skis and wheels, landed on skis. A two seater, his plane could carry only one man at a time. He made three trips, saving three men.

The rest was up to Wurtz. Speed was more urgent than ever.

Word was radioed to the base to select the best spot for a ski landing on land. This was done. Wurtz took off. He sighted the spot where to land, and—

"I just busted on it," Wurtz said of his landing.

The flyer lived. And Wurtz's plane, which landed on snow and ice on wheels, and on land on skis, is still in use.

Capt. Burns' rescue feat was performed last Easter week when a Boeing B-17 Flying Fortress lost its way, ran out of gas, and was forced down on a fjord 170 miles from base. Bad weather "had socked in," so rescue efforts were delayed three days.

Get Whisky; Don't Drink.

The marooned flyers were young and treated their predicament lightly. They radioed a request for whisky, altho few had probably ever tasted it before. Actually, they did not realize that they were in constant danger of death. But they chirped cheerful over radio, and when five bottles were dropped —whisky is a rescue supply, incidentally—they jocularly complained, "Where's the soda?"

Using a Norseman plane with skis, Capt. Burns dropped beside the Fortress crew and took off half. He flew back, repeated the landing, and removed the remaining half. The two round trips covered 900 miles. None of the men had suffered, and eventually they reached the flying fronts.

What Capt. Burns and Lt. Wurtz did is typical of the entire Arctic search and rescue unit of the air transport command. In about two years, 25 planes have gone down on the great ice cap. Rescues were made in 24 of the forced landings, and 90 per cent of personnel saved.

IS ROOSEVELT AN IMPERIALIST? THE ORIENT ASKS

Rye, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP).—Leaders of the millions in the Orient—the brown skinned 400 millions in India, the yellow skinned 450 millions in China, the Burmese, Indo-Chinese, Javanese — are watching the United States with a worried and skeptical eye, according to Abdul Rahman Siddiqui, Calcutta, India, editor and Indian nationalist leader who represented his country at the international business mens' conference here.

He says a section of leaders in several nations think the United States either is innocently selling itself down the river or silently has adopted imperialism — that is, the policy of using the less developed brown, black and yellow skinned people of the world for the profit of the white.

Siddiqui lists the diplomatic moves of the past three years, and says the reaction of orientals to them is practically the obverse of the ordinary American viewpoint.

A Promise to Orientals.

The first diplomatic move, he says, was the Atlantic Charter, proclaiming a British-American desire for a rising world standard of living, and promising "respect for the right of all peoples to choose their own form of government."

The next step was a bomb shell in the orient, he says, when Churchill told parliament, "I have certainly not become the king's first minister in order to preside over the liquidation of the British empire."

Siddiqui asks how the Burmese, for example, can choose their own form of government if the British do not foresee liquidation of the empire, since Burma is still a dependency. He adds that since the United States has remained silent, Churchill's speech has set the precedent for the French to hold Indo-China, the Dutch to hold Java, the French to hold North Africa, the Belgians to hold the Congo—and what about Singapore and Hong-Kong?

Silence Is Confusing.

American silence is interpreted in the orient—and, Siddiqui says in the middle east as well—Egypt, Syria, Turkey, Iraq—as meaning President Roosevelt didn't actually mean all peoples should choose their own government. Or else, that the United States, worried over the impoverishment of her strongest ally, England, is willing to permit peace deals which will abrogate the democratic intentions of the Atlantic Charter.

The orient, he says, still considers Americans a fair people, but fears that Americans are spilling their blood and riches in a war they do not understand, one which will lead to the old undemocratic set-up of white against the rest of the world.

First Snow of Season Drifts Down on Chicago

Chicago had its first snow of the season yesterday, a few scattering flakes. Its arrival this year was later than customary, said Forecaster O. T. Lay, who pointed out that the city's average date for the first snow for the last 10 years is Oct. 25. In 1928 and 1942 snow fell Sept. 25, and the latest date of its appearance was Nov. 26, in 1902.

VICTORY SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR, ADM. KING WARNS

Sees New Output Problem in Navy Exhibit Talk.

Americans who have been made overenthusiastic by the smashing victories over the Japanese were given a sobering word of warning last night by Adm. King, navy commander in chief. In a speech marking the opening of the sixth war loan exhibit at Navy pier he said the speed of the navy's advance in the Pacific has created new and serious production problems.

Accelerated operations, King said, are placing a heavy strain on reserves of certain vital items, and production of these items is falling behind mounting requirements.

Lists Vessels Needed.

He listed assault transports and supply vessels among the items need to keep up the Pacific pace of victory. Rockets, proving effective from ships and planes, are needed badly, the production program having been expanded from 8 million dollars in the first quarter of this year to 161 millions for the third quarter of 1945.

"We are not getting enough high capacity ammunition—the kind that is used against shore installations," King said. "Experience has shown that extensive pre-invasion bombardment saves American lives, and the navy has stepped up production to a 1945 peak that will exceed the present rate by about 50 per cent."

Speaking on the same program, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau set the cost of the Marianas campaign alone at 997 million dollars. The naval force participating in this single operation, he added, represented an investment by the American people of 5 billions.

He disclosed that the army alone will use 55 per cent more ammunition in December than it did last June.

War Costs to Mount.

"Of course, this investment in ships and planes will be used over and over again, and cannot be charged up as the cost of conquering Guam, Saipan, Tinian, and the other Marianas islands," Morgenthau said.

Morgenthau warned that war costs will mount. "That is why there must be a sixth war loan drive and a seventh and perhaps an eighth before this war is won," he said.

The entrance to the main exhibition hall resembled the opened bow doors of an LST [landing ship, tank]. Inside the hall was the newest type of Grumman Hellcat fighter plane which has made an impressive record against Japanese aircraft.

The Navy pier program during the afternoon included coast guard demonstrations of air-sea rescues with the use of a helicopter. The Chicago airport was used for a demonstration of a jet-assisted takeoff by a Hellcat fighter plane, one of nine navy planes on exhibit there.

Ships Moored at Pier.

A tank landing ship, a medium landing ship, and infantry landing craft are moored at the pier along with a patrol escort, a high speed rescue ship, and the training ship Wilmette.

The natinal quota for the 6th war loan is 14 billion dollars. In the campaign opening thruout the nation tomorrow, Chicago and Cook county committees will have a goal of 836 million dollars.

Adm. King arrived by plane at Chicago airport in mid-afternoon and was driven by automobile to Navy pier for an inspection trip thru the exhibits of modern warfare.

Mystery to the Public.

Navy pier, which has been a mystery to the general public since it became a training center for sailors, opened its gates at noon to a waiting crowd of visitors, thousands of whom streamed thru the exhibition hall to view the displays of the seven bureaus of the navy department and its branches—the marine corps and coast guard.

The exhibit is free to the public, the only requirement being that visitors obtain an invitation from a war bond seller. A war bond booth is located outside the gate on the pier where invitations may be obtained.

The highlight of the navy's exhibit today will be an invasion of the Foster av. beach by a battalion of marines who will be landed from invasion craft anchored a mile and a half out in Lake Michigan.

The landing force will come into the beach in waves under simulated protection of fighter planes from the Glenview Naval air station and engage the defenders who will have the beach mined and who will fire on the invaders from concrete pillboxes and gun emplacements.

LACK OF COTTON AT BOTTOM OF NEW JAP DRIVE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Japanese were summoned yesterday to contribute to a cotton collection drive which promises to make the attendance at shrines, theaters, and banquets a numbing ordeal.

Domei, the Japanese news agency, announced over the Tokyo radio that the cotton would be used to manufacture gun powder "to sink enemy ships" and that "a huge contribution from the people is expected."

Most of the old cotton, Domei said, was expected to "come from the cushions used in cafes, rendezvous rooms, restaurants, banquet rooms and halls, theaters and hotels, as well as shrines, temples, churches and other religious organizations."

FOUR PAIRS OF PANTS STOLEN.

Harry Berland, co-owner of a tailor shop at 81 W. Van Buren st., reported to police yesterday that burglars earlier had taken four pairs of trousers, valued at $100.

ARMY'S FREIGHT STATION HIT BY MAN POWER NEED

'Hot Cars' Held Up Thru Lack of Handlers.

BY CHARLES BALLENGER.

Four million pounds of army and navy material—ranging from vitamin pills to giant bulldozers used in building airports—are passing daily thru the huge consolidating station at 2035 Pershing rd., operated by the army transportation corps.

This station, by far the largest in the world, handles all but a minor part of the tremendous stock of supplies shipped to allied armies in every part of the world.

Each day 160 railroad cars move into the station, which is also the largest freight house in the world, to be loaded with vital supplies. Becoming in railroad parlance a "hot car," the loaded freights are on their way to a port of embarkation by nightfall. High speed freight trains, which have knocked days off the shipping records of peace time systems, bring the supplies to east and west coast ports.

More Speed, Less Cost.

A development of this war, as is the transportation corps itself, the consolidating station has speeded the handling of vital supplies immeasurably, yet has managed to reduce the cost to the government per freight car handled by $550 each.

The shipping of supplies by the transportation corps, however, has become endangered by insufficient man power, Capt. T. S. Peavey, corps administrative officer, said yesterday.

The station desperately needs all the experienced freight checkers and handlers it can get, he said. At times 100 freight cars are held up in the station yards because there are not enough checkers and handlers to handle them, he added, and 40 or 50 trucks occasionally are held up because there are no men to unload them.

96 Cents an Hour Paid.

Since each item brought to the station from the manufacturer is on order, it must be sent on its way to the battlefront immediately. A shortage of man power at this point may nullify the efforts of many other war workers.

Experienced checkers are paid 96 cents an hour as base pay, with many receiving a weekly pay check above $75 with overtime. Freight handlers are paid 76 and 78 cents an hour. Starting hours range from 6 to 11 a. m. and the station closes at night at 10 p. m.

The Pershing rd. signal corps depot also is in vital need of at least 350 workers to keep supplies moving at the proper speed, Maj. William H. Hogeland, man power specialist for the depot, said. Part time help at the depot and the station is welcomed.

Hailed for War Aid

YVETTE.

Certificates of appreciation will be given to six entertainers Tuesday in the Bal Tabarin of Hotel Sherman by the Community and War fund in recognition of their entertainment for service men.

The six are Helen Parrish, movie actress; Jackie Heller, singer; Patti Thomas, singer and dancer; Yvette, radio singer; Lorraine Rognan, dancer, and Lew Parker, master of ceremonies. Yvette and Miss Rognan were aboard a plane that crashed off Lisbon, Portugal, in February, 1943.

All six have been active in United Service organizations camp entertaining, for which money is raised by the Community and War fund, and are members of the Overseas Caravan.

Charles Luckman, vice chairman of the fund's business division, which has raised $9,836,100 of its goal, will present the certificates. The fund maintains headquarters at 111 Washington st.

VOTES FOLLOWED THE JOBS, STATE SURVEY SHOWS

County Ballots Reflect Shift of War Workers.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A breakdown of Illinois' election figures by counties highlights the war time shifts in population. The trends at the Nov. 7 polls depict some of the economic changes due to the war, the migration of workers to war industry centers, the ebb and flow of war workers inside the state and from outside as well.

Downstate counties cast 267,891 fewer votes on the two major candidates for President than in 1940. It was a drop of 12.8 per cent.

Cook county polled a record breaking 92,368 more votes than in 1940, a gain of 4.4 per cent. Of the 101 downstate counties, Du Page was the only one to increase its two party Presidental vote—its gain was 1,036 votes.

Show Old Struggle.

The figures show in bold relief the old struggle on election day between Democratic Chicago and the rest of the state, predominantly Republican.

The drop in voting downstate had wide fluctuations. It ranged from a loss of only one-tenth of 1 per cent in Winnebago county, on the northern boundary, to 30.9 per cent in Pulaski county at the toe of the state. The population changes in war time were one of the great perplexities for politicians, poll takers, and workers in both parties during the campaign.

So was the soldier vote and the effect upon the total voting of the absence from their homes of about 800,000 Illinois men and women in the war services.

Generally speaking, counties with industrial centers and war plants registered the smallest degree of loss from the 1940 vote. So did some of the big agricultural counties in the north and the central corn belt.

Slump Greater There.

Votes, it seems, follow the jobs. Along the Illinois river downward from Pekin, the distillery center, the slump in voting was greater. So it was in most of the counties in Egypt, the southern third of the state. Counties along the Wabash and Ohio rivers and on the Mississippi from Cairo to East St. Louis and in the southern coal mine regions, fell off, in most instances, by 20 per cent or more.

The impact of the war on population due to the absence of men and women of voting age in the services, and to the migration of workers to war plants formed two chief uncertainties in the election. Shifting of population was betokened early in the Tribune poll.

Weeks before the election the registration of voters likewise indicated the changes in population. Downstate tabulations of registration made by the secretary of state, showed the 101 counties outside Cook had 34,000 fewer persons registered than the actual two-party vote downstate cast for President in 1940.

371,285 Greater.

In Cook county, the registration was 371,285 greater than the actual 1940 vote. The bulk of the growth was in wards close to war industries, and in country towns of Cook near great war materials plants. The registration gain was regarded as most largely industrial.

The migration of workers into the war plants undoubtedly was a great factor in the Cook county increase. So was the activity of the CIO political action committee in getting members registered.

In war time the old balance between Chicago and downstate has undergone a change. In the 1940 census Cook county had 51.5 per cent of the state's population. On OPA figures for ration book No. 4 issued last Feb. 1, Cook county was indicated to have 53 per cent of the state's population. This change was reflected in the voting.

Ran 50-50 in 1940.

Four years ago, the Illinois vote on Republican and Democratic candidates for President came about 50-50 from downstate and Cook county. Cook cast 50.1 per cent. In 1936 Cook's share was 50.7 per cent. This year Cook county cast 54.6 per cent of the two party vote on President, and downstate 45.4.

The war time drift of population downstate is shown by a wide divergence between counties in volume of the voting as compared with 1940. Seventeen counties, largely industrial, had a vote decrease of around 10 per cent or less, as against the downstate average of 12.8. Of these 11 are counties clustered around Chicago.

Carried 16 Counties.

Sixteen downstate counties were carried by President Roossvelt. These Democratic counties cast a total two party vote on President which was 12.9 below 1940. The 85 counties carried by Dewey cast a total on President 12.8 per cent below four years ago.

In some rural counties the shortage of farm labor may have cut into the vote. Some have theorized that fine weather on election day may have led some farmers to keep working instead of taking the time to go to the polls.

Many workers, too, in war industries, especially in St. Clair and Madison counties, have come in from Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, and other states. Those who had established a voting residence, tended to keep the vote from dropping as markedly below 1940 as in other counties. In some other regions workers in many instances travel many miles to work daily—50 miles and more in some cases in southern Illinois—and this, it is theorized, may have kept many from the polls.

65,127 Larger Here.

On election day the vote in Chicago, reflecting in a degree the shift in population, was 65,127 larger than in 1940, a 3.7 gain. In the Cook county towns it was 27,241 larger, or 8.1 per cent. In Cook county, the increase was 92,368, or 4.4 per cent. Downstate had a decrease from 1940 of 267,891. This left the total Illinois vote unofficial, 175,523 below that of 1940.

On candidates, President Roosevelt got 58 per cent of the Cook county vote, a gain of 2.7 points over 1940. Dewey got 55.8 of the downstate total, which was 2.8 points higher than Wendell Willkie got. Dewey's gain over Willkie was applied to a decreased voting

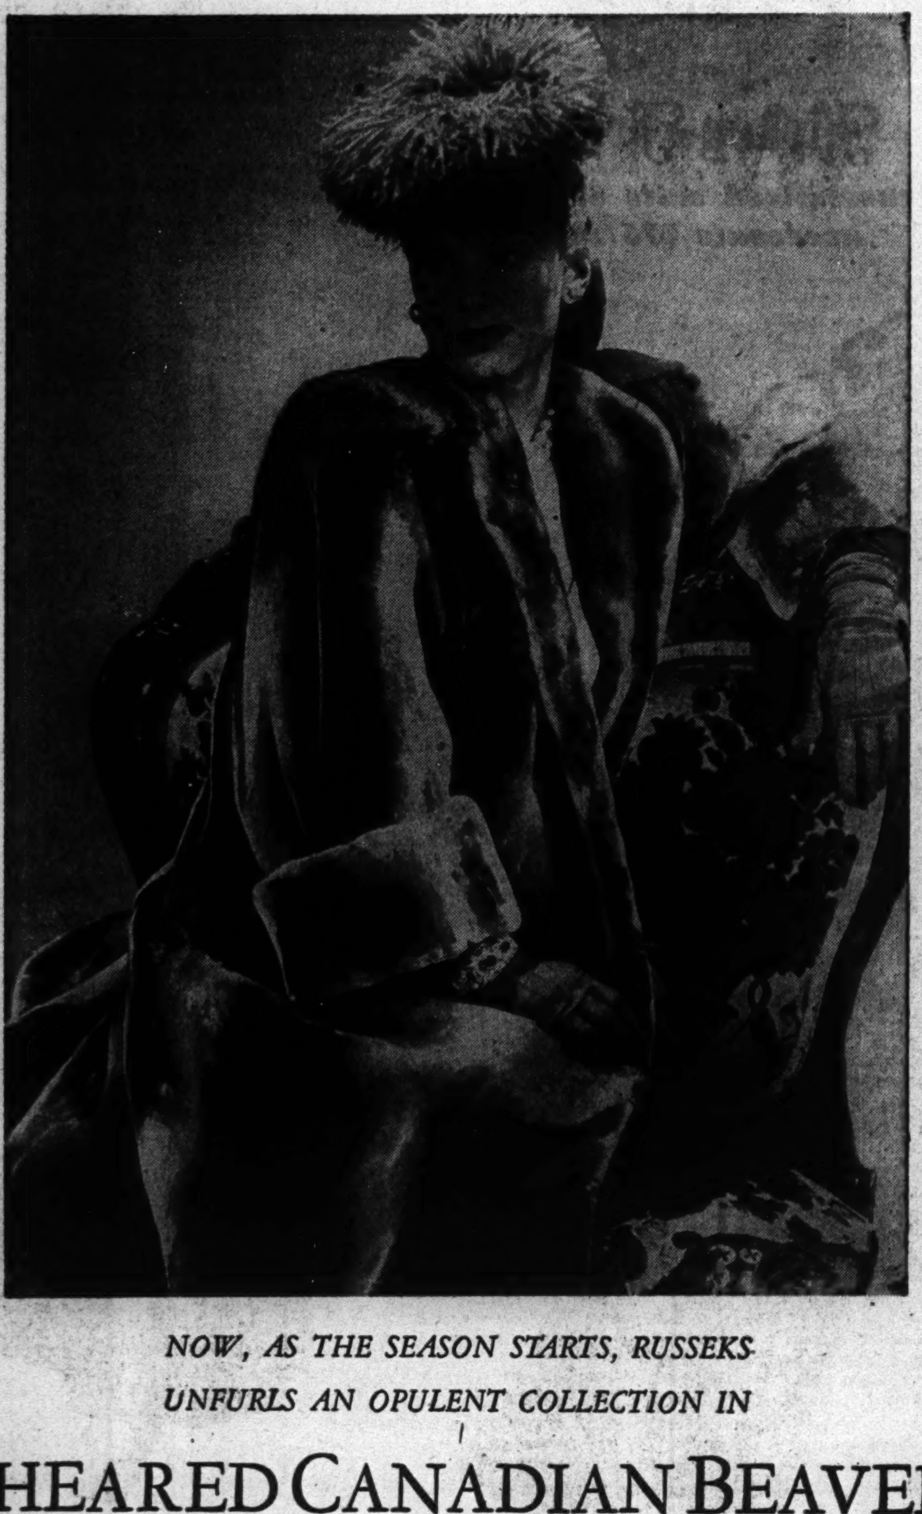
FAMOUS FOR FINE FURS



NOW, AS THE SEASON STARTS, RUSSEKS UNFURLS AN OPULENT COLLECTION IN

SHEARED CANADIAN BEAVER

Because good beaver is so costly, the temptation is to use it oversparingly. But if you feel, as we do, that the only way to handle good beaver is to give it full play, make a point of seeing this collection. To sidestep their inhibitions, our designers first worked out each model in ten-cents-a-yard muslin—and then proceeded to duplicate every double-deep cuff and double-sweep back in fabulous fur! Prices range from $600 to $900, with ample choice at the starting point. Divided payments arranged.

VOTES FOLLOWED THE JOBS, STATE SURVEY SHOWS

County Ballots Reflect Shift of War Workers.

mass downstate, while Roosevelt's gain was in an area where the v t-ing increased. Dewey got a downstate majority of 210,908; Roosevelt had a Cook county majority of 353,549, giving him the state by 142,641.

Gov. Green ran ahead of Gov. Dewey in 80 downstate counties in the percentage each got of the total votes cast for governor and President, respectively. They broke even in four. Dewey was ahead in 17.

Were Aware of Shift.

In their October estimates of registration election officials downstate indicated they were aware of the shifting tides of population. The Tribune poll gave token of drifts and changes in counties. Permanent registration was not fully in effect outside centers with election boards, and many county officers appear to have made guesses. Nearly all the counties looked for losses in voting strength due to men and women of voting age having gone into the services. But the results show wide variation.

A few industrial counties kept their registration estimates close to the 1940 vote, figuring that incoming workers would offset voters gone into service. They show, in general, a small drop from the 1940 vote. For instance, St. Clair, biggest industrial county outside Cook, was only 8.5 per cent below the 1940 vote. The Tribune poll indicated Dewey would have 41 per cent of the vote. He got 41 per cent on election day.

Close to 800,000 Illinois residents were away on military service, and those over 21 were eligible to vote. Men and women in service are figured to be almost equally divided between Cook county and downstate and are close to 10 per cent of the total state population. Their absence was only one factor in the downstate fall off of 12.8 per cent from 1940.

110,000 Absentee Votes.

Judging by Chicago, the soldier vote, it seems, did not materially affect the election results on major offices. About 110,000 absentee votes were cast in Chicago. The election commission said close to 100,000 of these were soldier and sailor ballots.

If the 100,000 soldier vote is deducted from the Chicago vote, on the assumption that 70 per cent of it went to Roosevelt and 30 to Dewey, it would only reduce Roosevelt's share of the total city vote to 61 per cent. His actual percentage on the unofficial returns was 61.3.

How Votes Were Cast.

Chicago voted 90.2 per cent of its registration on election day. The country towns cast 82 per cent; Cook county 88.7. Downstate cast 87.2 per cent of its registered vote. Here again wide fluctuations are shown among downstate counties, ranging from 98.6 per cent in Hancock county to 65.4 per cent in Gallatin county down on the Ohio. This seems most largely due to inaccuracies in estimating the registration by county officers—in counties which made close estimates, the percentage, of course, is highest.

RATION BOOKS STOLEN.

Theft of $20 and two ration books from her apartment at 2217 Jackson blvd. was reported to police yesterday by Mrs. Anna Palmer.

BILLION DOLLAR POST-WAR PLANS TO BE REVIEWED

Recommendations that nearly 1 billion dollars be spent in Chicago for post-war public works projects will be reviewed Tuesday evening by the city planning advisory board, Chairman Morton Bodfish said yesterday.

"The report," Bodfish said, "contains an adjusted inventory of recommendations prepared by each of the city departments, and by other governmental units contemplating post-war construction of public works in Chicago. The list includes proposed new fire and police stations, bridges, lighting systems, street repairs and extensions, water supply improvements, sewers, transportation, and other needed municipal facilities."

Without reserve funds of its own, the city hopes that federal and state treasuries will finance the local improvements.

Executive Director H. Evert Kincaid of the Chicago Plan commission said the public construction inventory would soon be published by the commission under the title "Chicago Looks Ahead—Design for Public Improvements."

STATE AFL EYES OFFICIALS GIVEN HELP BY UNIONS

With the slogan of "watch and wait" the Illinois American Federation of Labor Committee for Roosevelt and Truman voted yesterday to continue as a permanent political organization to observe performance of nominees successful in the November election.

"We do not propose to have pledges to organized labor forgotten," said William A. Lee, president of the Bakery Drivers' union and chairman of the committee, composed of more than 350 officers of AFL unions in Illinois. "We shall keep strict watch on these officials and remind them of their pledges, not only to us but to the citizens in general."

A committee headed by William L. McFetridge, president of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, was named to watch the records and report to Illinois unions. Lee said offices will be maintained at 130 N. Wells st. R. Emmett Kelly is secretary of the committee.

50 SAILORS GET PRISON TERMS IN NAVY MUTINY

Sentences Range from 8 to 15 Years.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 18 [Special].—Fifty navy enlisted men, all Negroes, today were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 8 to 15 years for mutiny in refusing to load ammunition at the Mare Island navy yard, 12th naval district headquarters announced.

The 50 sailors, all survivors of the Port Chicago explosion of July 17 in which 323 navy enlisted men and merchant crewmen were killed when two ammunition ships blew up, were convicted Oct. 24 by a seven man naval court martial after the longest mass trial in naval history.

Some Terms Reduced.

All of them received initial sentences of 15 years imprisonment but Rear Adm. Carleton H. Wright, district commandant, reduced the sentences of 40 of them after reviewing the records. He said he had taken into account their youth, previous good record and the short period of their service before they refused to load ammunition at Mare Island, across the bay from Port Chicago, a few weeks after the Port Chicago disaster.

Adm. Wright ordered 10 to serve 15 years in prison, 24 to serve 12 years, 11 to serve 10 years, and the remaining five were given eight years.

Under navy regulations, the period of confinement may be reduced as much as one-third by good behavior.

To Be Dishonorably Discharged.

In addition to the prison terms, the men were ordered reduced in rank to apprentice seamen. Upon completion of their confinement, they will be dishonorably discharged from the naval service.

The sentences, subject to further review by the navy judge advocate general, bureau of personnel and the secretary of navy, may be reduced further but cannot be increased.

Sergeant Gets Two Years.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 18 (AP).—Staff Sgt. Odus L. West, 34, a former Hermitage, Mo., deputy sheriff, was found guilty last night by court martial of six of eight specifications charging him with mistreating American soldier prisoners under his command.

The court, after deliberatnig one and a half hours, ordered West's discharge and sentenced him to two years at hard labor.

Maj. Walter Jem. Kennedy, president of the court martial, who announced the decision, said a recommendation for clemency would be attached when the verdict is sent for review.

West denied each charge and declared he never had struck prisoners. He said he slapped Pvt. John H. Palmer of Evarets, Ky., "once on the rock pile when he pretended to faint."

New York-Florida Train Derailed

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Thirteen of the 15 cars of the Atlantic Coast Line's West Coast Champion, which were derailed near Hortense, Ga., yesterday.

Waycross, Ga., Nov. 18 (AP).—Fifteen cars of the Atlantic Coast Line's fast New York-Tampa west coast Champion left the rails in swamp country near Hortense, Ga., today, injuring at least 18 persons, none seriously.

Only the three unit deisel engine and three rear cars of the 18 coach train remained on the tracks. Some of the coaches overturned, sprawling to the water bound edge of the desolate right of way.

Most of the victims, a doctor said, sustained minor cuts and bruises when they were tossed about in the steel coaches.

WOMAN FALLS 8 FEET FROM WINDOW.

Mrs. Bernice Sterling, 47, of 1422 Washington blvd., was taken to County hospital yesterday after she fell eight feet to the ground from a window of her first floor apartment.

STRIKE CRIPPLES PHONE SERVICE IN 20 OHIO CITIES

Columbus, O., Nov. 18 (AP).—The strike of Ohio telephone operators spread to the northern industrial belt tonight when Mrs. Lena Eisenhart, president of the northeastern Ohio traffic council of the telephone workers' union, announced that 1,300 Cleveland operators would walk out as soon as picket lines could be established.

Mrs. Eisenhart said that a membership meeting of the Akron council, representing some 380 operators, was in progress and that she expected to receive word "very shortly" from union local meetings at Canton and Youngstown.

Union operators in 20 cities already were out, 19 of them in support of a strike called by the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers, an independent union, at Dayton early yesterday in opposition to use of out of town personnel by the Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Referred to WLB.

R. G. Pollock, president of the federation, told a regional WLB board at Cleveland that he was powerless to order the operators back to work and added that he believed the only solution was for Ohio Bell to remove its transferees out of Dayton. Then, he said, the union would negotiate.

Dayton members have contended that sufficient help could be found locally, but Ohio Bell insisted it could not.

Frederick H. Bullen, regional WLB chairman, telegraphed Leonard Berliner, national WLB disputes director, that the board "unanimously found that no justification exists for the continuation of the strike." He referred the case to the WLB for "appropriate action."

Strike Spreads Fast.

Columbus and Toledo operators walked out immediately after Dayton struck. City by city operators in these communities joined the sympathy movement.

Springfield, Tiffin, Xenia, Findlay, Wellsville, Winchester, Sandusky, East Liverpool, Steubenville, Bellaire, Martins Ferry, Piqua, Bridgeport, Uhrichsville, Dennison, Fostoria, and Miamisburg.

The number of idle thruout the state was estimated by the union to total "at least 2,500."

REVISED CRIMINAL CODE TO BE OFFERED TO NEW LEGISLATURE

A revision of the Illinois criminal code "to deal with the criminal instead of dealing only with crime," will be presented to the forthcoming legislative session, Judge Harry M. Fisher, chairman of the judicial advisory council of Cook county, said yesterday.

The main change in form proposed, he said, is that criminal offenses, now divided as felonies or misdemeanors, be graded in six classifications. In the first classification are the capital crimes of murder, treason, and kidnaping for ransoming with seven other crimes which, Judge Fisher said, "are historically regarded as serious." The lowest class includes 23 offenses now termed misdemeanors.

The revision as it covers substantive law will be the same as was introduced at the 1935 and 1937 legislative sessions. It was defeated then because it also included a section on procedure, which aroused controversy. That will be eliminated this time, Judge Fisher said, and in place of it will be the proposal that the state Supreme court make the rules of practice.

CHICAGO HAILED AS BEST FITTED FOR AERIAL HUB

Hewitt Predicts Rate of 3 Cents a Mile.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Chicago's qualifications as air capital of the country were emphasized yesterday by Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt. He quoted world authorities and cited statistics to show that Chicago, by the great circle routes, is miles nearer to other great cities and capitals of the world than any other center in this country.

He predicted post-war transoceanic air travel at 3 cents a mile—30 to 60 per cent below pre-war first class rail and water rates. Planes, he foresees, will cut 10 to 48 days off round trip time between Chicago and London, Paris, Berlin, and Moscow; ancient Baghdad, Khartoum, Calcutta, and Chungking, and other distant cities.

Engineers Inspect Airport.

Hewitt spoke before more than 100 officers and members of the Western Society of Engineers at the Chicago airport. The technical men later made a tour of the port, which soon will become a world airport of entry. They observed operations and inspected equipment, terminal building, weather bureau, teletype system, control tower, and hangars with an eye to the vast future developments Hewitt had visualized for them.

The following table on great circle distances between Chicago and other cities and comparative costs on air and surface travel was presented to the engineers by Hewitt:

FROM CHICAGO TO:

	Miles	Round trip fare	% surface cost	Hours one way	Days saved, round trip
Greater Europe and Soviet Russia.
Edinburgh	3,706	$200	32	19	11
London	3,962	214	33	20	10
Paris	4,143	224	34	21	10
Berlin	4,412	238	38	22	12
Rome	4,817	260	42	24	14
Moscow	4,967	268	38	25	15
Irkutsk	5,883	318	35	29	23
Jerusalem	6,191	334	66	31	37
Asia, Africa and Oceania.
Baghdad	6,424	347	60	32	41
Khartoum	6,948	375	48	35	51
Chungking	7,421	401	44	37	48
Delhi	7,481	404	33	37	36
Calcutta	7,986	431	35	40	35
Johannesburg	8,695	470	45	43	44
Melbourne	9,669	522	59	48	47
Latin America.
Bogota	2,698	146	25	13	17
Lima	3,785	204	26	19	24
Rio de Janeiro	5,300	286	29	27	27
Santiago	5,314	287	31	27	36
Buenos Aires	5,594	302	29	28	35

Hewitt, like Dr. J. Parker Van Zandt, chief authority he quoted, based all his calculations and predictions on the proposition that Chicago is the natural and logical international transoceanic center of air transport in the United States. He said that "Dr. Van Zandt has selected Chicago as a convenient central point of departure instead of New York."

Dr. Van Zandt, Hewitt pointed out, is consultant at the International Civil Aviation conference of 51 nations in the Stevens hotel, consultant of the civil air board in Washington, D. C., and on the editorial staff of the National Geographic society.

3 Cents a Mile Suggested.

Hewitt told the engineers that Dr. Van Zandt in a book, "Civil Aviation and Peace," published by the Brookings Institution last month, suggests that air fares be fixed at 3 cents a mile.

Hewitt pointed out that Van Zandt contends that the 3 cent fare is practicable "on the basis of 4 million United States overseas passenger trips a year."

Hewitt said that several of the air lines last week published financial statements showing "a reasonable profit" [earnings of 6 to 7 per cent were reported for the first nine months of 1944].

"Air transport is now self-sustaining," he said. "It does not need any subsidy. My authority for that statement is Eugene E. Wilson, board of governors chairman of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce."

In commenting on distances Hewitt said: "Chicago is nearer Istanbul, Turkey, than it is to Buenos Aires. The interoceanic airway between San Francisco and Manila, via Hawaii, is 8,000 statute miles. The great circle distance [from Chicago] is only 6,965 miles. The distance in statute miles between San Francisco and Shanghai, via trans-Pacific airway is 9,150, but via overland airway it is 6,605 miles.

'Typical SPAR'

[Acme Telephoto.]

MARGARET O'CONNOR.

New York, Nov. 18 (AP).—Margaret O'Connor, 21 year old yeoman 3d class of Green Bay, Wis., was "as surprised as anybody" when she learned yesterday she had been chosen the "typical SPAR" to lead the grand march at a ball celebrating the SPARS' second anniversary Monday night.

Selected by a cross-section appraisal of the records of over 1,000 SPARS stationed in the 3d naval district, Yeoman O'Connor, who was a secretary before joining the coast guard, said she hoped to go back to Wisconsin "only when the war is over."

Her partner at the ball will be Coxswain Charles Giammona, 20, 6823 Wood st., Chicago. He said he had undergone many operations for removal of shrapnel received in the landings at Salerno.

G. O. P. TO PRESS STATE GROWTH IN WEAK AREAS

Republicans will keep the Illinois campaign organization intact with every division continuing to function in preparation for the 1946 campaign, State Chairman John F. Tyrrell said yesterday.

Tyrrell said he is now looking for larger quarters than those of the state committee at 160 N. La Salle st., so that offices can be maintained for all divisions, including Young Republicans, veterans, labor, and women. Campaign headquarters in the La Salle hotel were given up after election day.

Final and official figures on all state and county contests will be determined at a meeting of the state canvassing board in Springfield Nov. 27, and, with these results available, Tyrrell said work will be started immediately strengthening the counties where the Republican vote did not come up to expectations.

STAB EXECUTIVE; HE MAKES WAY TO HOTEL ROOM

Stabbed twice in an apparent holdup attempt, Charles Kelley, 52, sales manager of the Stein Hall Manufacturing company, was in a critical condition in Wesley Memorial hospital yesterday.

Kelley told police he was on his way to the De Witt hotel, 244 E. Pearson st., where he resides, when two men attacked him in front of the Seneca hotel, 200 E. Chestnut st. He had no money with him, he said. He had parted from Rollins Smith of the Stevens hotel, with whom he works, five hours earlier.

Police were unable to learn how he reached his De Witt hotel room, from which he was taken to the hospital.

The name of Mrs. Mae Kovar was found in Kelley's pocket. She is his sister, who resides at 9 N. Edgewood rd., La Grange.

URGE AIR POWER BE BUILT THRU FORCED TRAINING

Clinic Delegates Demand Compulsory Program.

BY CARL WIEGMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 18.—Compulsory military training to provide an air force that will make America secure from any future attack was urged today in a resolution adopted at the closing session of the National Aviation clinic, held in the Oklahoma statehouse.

The resolution was proposed from the floor by J. Carlton Ward Jr., New York airplane manufacturer, whose stepson was killed in action in the present war. The motion for its adoption was made by Dudley M. Steele, airport manager of Burbank, Cal., who lost his son, Dudley Jr., an army pilot, in the war.

The resolution urged congress to take "appropriate action for the education and training of our youth for such time and in such manner as to effectuate the principles of air power." In reply to a question from the floor, Ward said this means universal military training.

Consolidation of Services.

Earlier in the day's session, the delegates to the clinic, representing all branches of the aviation industry, adopted a resolution asking for consolidation of the war and navy departments into a single department which would control all of the nation's land, sea, and air forces.

The resolution said such a unified department would make possible a more logical development and command of America's defenses. It urged, however, that the army and navy be administered separately within the joint department in order to preserve the traditions of the two services.

The delegates to the clinic also called for a national air power policy along the lines drawn by the aeronautical chamber of commerce. This includes acquiring of air bases essential to security, expansion of domestic and international air transport and fostering of a strong aircraft manufacturing industry.

Other Resolutions.

Other resolutions adopted by the clinic summed up matters discussed at length during the four day meeting. The delegates urged:

Extension of air transportation to the smaller cities and towns of America.

Expansion of research in aviation by both government and private enterprise.

Building of a vast national system of airports, air parks, and air harbors, with special provisions to foster private airports.

Preservation of private ownership and management of air services.

LOSES WALLET AND $48 IN HOLDUP.

Russell Schafer, 660 Madison st., told police that he lost his wallet containing $48 and personal papers in a holdup at Lake and Paulina sts. yesterday.

ALIEN PLUGGER FOR 4TH TERM QUITS NMU JOB

New York, Nov. 18 [Special].—Ferdinand C. Smith, Negro labor leader and alien who made a national speaking tour in behalf of President Roosevelt's fourth term candidacy, has resigned as secretary of the communist infested National Maritime union, Joseph Curran, NMU president, announced today.

Curran said Smith resigned because he held the office in violation of the NMU constitution, which requires that all national officers be citizens of the United States. Smith is a native of Jamaica, British West Indies, and altho he has lived in this country for 25 years has never become naturalized.

Commenting on his resignation, Smith said, "I must take that step which will make it impossible for this issue to be utilized by forces hostile to the union to split or weaken the union in any way."

Party Law Violated.

Smith's alien status was disclosed several weeks ago when the NMU announced it was sending its national secretary on tour to plug for the fourth term. It was revealed at that time that Smith was a vice chairman of the New York county committee of the American Labor party despite a New York state election law requiring county officers of political parties to be enrolled voters.

Smith went ahead with his speaking tour on behalf of the President without taking apparent notice of objections raised by his lack of citizenship, and clung to his NMU national secretaryship. He was billed as the highest Negro officer in the America labor movement.

Newspapers Assailed.

Curran made public a statement he said was approved unanimously by the NMU's national council which assailed what were described as "reactionary newspapers" for exposing Smith's lack of citizenship.

During his years in this country Smith has been a constant associate of Communists and has been active as a labor agitator. He is a member of the CIO executive committee which sponsored the political action committee in the recent campaign.

AIR CONFERENCE AWAITS ACTION ON COMPROMISE

Begins Drafting Code on Technical Procedure.

BY FRANK HUGHES.

Word is expected from London by tomorrow on the compromise reached by the Big Three nations at the international civil aviation conference in the Stevens hotel on the makeup of a permanent world authority to govern international flying for profit. There was a report last night, however, that the British already had heard from their capital, and that proposed amendments to the agreement would be forthcoming.

Meanwhile the conference committee drafting a code of technical procedure for trans-oceanic aviation held a plenary session yesterday, the fourth such session of the conference.

The United States, Great Britain, and Canada, largest of the 54 nations represented here, got together last week to reconcile their positions. Great Britain and Canada stood on the side of strong powers for the world air authority, while the United States insisted on confining any such body to advisory powers and offered free and open flight between all nations as a concession.

Report Concessions Made.

The British say that the other two nations also consulted their governments on the compromise, but it is known that the British retreat from the plan originally submitted was serious enough to make consultation mandatory on the part of the United Kingdom delegation.

The technical committee received the reports of 10 subcommittees covering topics such as airworthiness, communications, traffic control, and meteorological protection, and appointed Dr. Edward Warner, United States delegate and vice chairman of the civil aeronautics board, to prepare a full draft covering all of the topics.

Plan Wednesday Session.

M. P. L. Steenberghe of the Netherlands, chairman of the technical committee, said he hoped that the body could hold this session next Wednesday and indicated that there is not much hope of winding up the conference, which opened Nov. 1, much before the end of this week.

From the technical committee, the draft—like all other preliminary documents produced here—will have to go before a plenary session of the convention assembly for approval.

LEUKEMIA VICTIM STILL ASKS 'IS DADDY GOING TO BE HERE?'

Patricia Attaway, 6, stricken a month ago with lymphatic leukemia, the usually fatal disease that destroys the red corpuscles of the blood, and kept alive by blood transfusions, looked up yesterday from her bed in St. Charles hospital, Aurora, and asked, as she has done every day for the last several days: "Is daddy going to be here today?"

The answer, likewise, was the same as it has been for several days: "Maybe." Daddy—Petty Officer M. F. Attaway of the Seabees—is on his way to the bedside from the South Pacific. He was summoned by the Red Cross after Patricia was stricken. He has not seen his daughter for more than two years. The day of his arrival is uncertain.

Dr. E. M. Thomas, who is in charge of Patricia's treatment, said her condition had undergone no appreciable change. She will be given another blood transfusion today, he said, but he still refused to hazard a conjecture on her chances of recovery.

SAINT ANDREW GROUP TO FEAST ON HAGGIS DEC. 2

The haggis, a Scottish delicacy consisting of a sheep's stomach stuffed with oatmeal, mutton, spices, and herbs, will be the piece de resistance at the 99th anniversary dinner of the Illinois St. Andrew society Dec. 2 in the Stevens hotel.

The haggis, origin of which goes back into the dim mists of Scottish antiquity, is no stranger to American shores. Prior to the outbreak of war Scottish societies in America imported their haggis from the old country. Now it is concocted here according to the old world recipe.

A guard of honor comprising kilted lassies dancing the Highland fling and similarily caparisoned bagpipers pipe the haggis into and around the banquet hall before the feast is started.

Woman Changes Mind About Divorce; She Loses

Judge Michael Feinberg of Circuit court refused yesterday to vacate the divorce of Ambrose Dombeck, 46, war plant foreman, whose ex-wife, Madelene, 44, of 3515 Van Buren st., mother of six sons, said she had changed her mind about consenting to it because three of her sons objected. "If people could change their minds after a divorce, no decree would have stability; we would have bedlam," the judge commented.

WLB SAYS COST OF LIVING IS UP 30% IN 4 YEARS

CIO Member Tells F.D.R. It's 44% Higher.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—The committee appointed by the national war labor board at the President's request in October, 1943, to investigate the cost of living split four to one in its general conclusions made public today. Four of the committee members accepted findings that living costs had risen about 30 per cent between Jan. 1, 1941, and September of this year, while the CIO member contended the rise to last March was 44.4 per cent.

The cost of living report has been long awaited for its possible influence toward bringing about the discard of the Little Steel formula, which is a wage increase yardstick based on a 15 per cent rise in living costs from January, 1941, to May, 1942. The report was submitted to President Roosevelt and released from the White House.

Members in Agreement.

The members in agreement were William H. Davis, committee chairman and chairman of the NWLB; George Meany, labor member of the board and secretary-treasurer of the AFL; Horace B. Horton, industry member of the board, and George K. Batt, former industry board member. Davis represents the public on the NWLB.

R. J. Thomas, vice president of the CIO and a labor representative on the NWLB, dissented. He concluded the department of labor's bureau of labor statistics index for measuring living costs is unsatisfactory, and asserted the CIO's findings of a 44.4 per cent increase "is in accord with what every housewife knows." His report included a fervent appeal to the President for higher wages.

After the committee report was made public Davis declined to comment on the possible effect the living cost findings might have on wages. All members of the NWLB are preparing the report on wages under the Little Steel formula and stabilization, which will be submitted to the President soon.

F. D. R. Faces Problem.

Labor observers in the capital were divided as to what action President Roosevelt might take on the wage question. Some predicted he will find the cost of living report sufficient reason to grant labor's principal demand and discard the Little Steel formula. Others said that rather than risk inflation attendant upon large scale wage boosts he would pay labor off in promises of higher wages after Germany surrenders.

Much of Davis' report was devoted to a detailed study of the bureau of labor statistics methods in computing its living cost index. He accepted the findings of the Mitchell committee, a group of technical experts whom he consulted, that the BLS index is accurate. Davis disagreed emphatically with a study prepared by Meany and Thomas last January which asserted that the cost of living in the United States rose at least 43.5 per cent between January, 1941, and December, 1943, while the BLS index figure had risen only 23.4 per cent.

Conclusions of Davis.

Summing up his findings, Davis reported:

"The cost of living rose approximately 15 per cent from Jan. 15, 1941, to May 15, 1942. It rose about 2 per cent more from May 15 to Sept. 15, 1942. It continued to rise at about the same rate to April 15, 1943, when it amounted to an increase of about 23 per cent. There was some minor fluctuation but no further significant rise in the 12 months from April 15, 1943, to April 15, 1944. The increase up to Dec. 15, 1943, was approximately 23 per cent. It was 25.5 per cent on Sept. 15, 1944.

"To this figure, 25.5 per cent, should be added the Mitchell committee estimate of 3 to 4 per centage points for the hidden increases in a seller's market [such as quality deterioration in consumer goods], and ½ a percentage point if the index is to be used to represent changes in the cost of living of urban workers in small as well as large cities. The final figures for the overall increase in the cost of living from January, 1941, to September, 1944, would thus be found to be 29 to 30 per cent."

Horton and Batt Agree.

Horton and Batt stated in the summary of their report that they were in "essential agreement" with Davis' findings that the BLS index furnishes a "good approximation" of changes in war-time living costs.

Thomas stood pat on a report he and Philip Murray, president of the CIO, completed last June, which showed the 44.4 per cent increase in living costs from January, 1941, to last March.

Thomas told President Roosevelt in his report that the "necessary and just action required on wages is clear." He reminded the President of his statement on Sept. 7, 1942, that workers have a right to a wage increase when living costs rise.

CLUB ADDS PLEA TO INTERVENE IN RAILWAY STRIKE

Mrs. John A. Garcia, 2204 Old Briar rd., Highland Park, secretary of the West Ridge Community club, yesterday addressed a telegram to President Roosevelt urging his immediate intervention in the suburban electric lines strike. The club members complained that the communities of West Ridge, Briargate, and parts of Deerfield and Highland Park, in which reside hundreds of war workers, were deprived of transportation. Copies also were sent to Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] and Rep. Church [R., Ill.].

Senders of scores of other wires to the White House since the strike was called Nov. 6 have waited in vain for replies or indications of the Presidential action they requested. Every message stressed the hardship the strike on the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin and the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee roads was causing the war workers and the damage which was being done to the war industries. The strike was called when trainmen were refused their demands for a 9 cent an hour raise.

Sen. La Follette [P., Wis.] was in Madison yesterday awaiting data on the impairment to war industry in his state. Three of the largest manufacturing centers, Milwaukee, Kenosha, and Racine are served by the North Shore Line.

2 CIO Unions Offer Vets Membership Without Fee

Union membership without the customary initiation fees will be offered to returning war veterans who obtain employment in any one of the 26 plants whose employes are represented by two CIO local unions, officials of their executive board announced yesterday. The unions are local 1114 of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America and the Amalgamated Machine, Tool and Die union.

URGES JOBLESS AID FOR FIRMS WITH 1 EMPLOYE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—The social security board today recommended the extension of unemployment insurance to employes in establishments having as few as one employe. It also recommended lengthening benefits to 26 weeks and increasing the maximum weekly benefits to $25.

Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer of the social security board suggested that the various states study their laws with a view to providing "adequate protection during reconversion to workers who become unemployed."

All state legislatures meet in 1945 except those of Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Virginia.

In 24 states, including Illinois, unemployment insurance coverage is limited to establishments of eight or more employes. In 14 states coverage is restricted to establishments with two or more employes. Only 13 states cover single employes.

Altmeyer estimated that 3 million workers are denied protection because they work for small firms. Another 15 million workers are not protected, he said, because their kinds of employment are not covered.

The present length of benefits varies from 14 to 20 weeks. Weekly maximum benefits range from $15 to $22. The minimum benefit goes down to $2.

Altmeyer recommended that "every state which feels capable of doing so" amend its laws to include agricultural workers. He also favored the inclusion of state and local governmental employes.

When the 1945 state legislative sessions convene, Altmeyer reported, more than 6 billion dollars will have accumulated in state unemployment funds.

"There seems general agreement," Altmeyer remarked, "that these funds are more than sufficient to withstand the reconversion period and that they are sufficient for a more adequate program in the immediate post-war period."

OPA Charges Two Sold Naphtha for Auto Use

Lloyd L. Dilworth and his wife, Ruth, operators of service stations at 4727 S. Kedzie av., 1001 N. Cicero av., and 1754 N. Central av., were named defendants in a suspension action filed by the office of price administration yesterday with OPA Hearing Commissioner John R. Allen. They are charged with selling naphtha for use in automobiles. It was the first OPA action in this area involving automotive use of naphtha, which goes on the rationed list tomorrow. Hearing was set for Dec. 8.

ARMY FLYER TEARS DOWN PLANT'S SIGN SAYING HE'S MISSING

The notice on the bulletin board of the Western Electric company's plant at 3429 W. 47th st., stating that a former employe, Lt. Clifford S. Lovitt, 23, a bomber pilot, was missing in action, was missing yesterday.

Lt. C. S. Lovitt.

It had been torn down by Lt. Lovitt, who appeared in the plant while on leave at his home at 6636 Yale av., to surprise his former fellow workers.

Lt. Lovitt, son of Mrs. Anna Thornberry of the Yale av. address, said that it had taken a 12 week, 750 mile hike thru enemy territory to convince the army that he wasn't missing in action after his plane, the Agony Wagon, had been shot down last May 18 in the European theater of war.

NAZI SABOTEURS BLAMED IN DEATH OF FRENCH AID

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP).—The German radio declared today that the automobile accident Nov. 10 in which French Finance Minister Aime Lepercq was fatally injured was due to sabotage. At the same time a reliable French source reported that a Nazi resistance movement inside France was headed by 40,000 Germans hiding in Paris. Thousands of French collaborationists, still at large despite roundups by the French Forces of the Interior, were declared to be actively aiding the Germans in espionage and sabotage.

The French source said the Germans had parachuted small arms and food in recent days to bands of German saboteurs based in forests.

Altho the sabotage in the Paris area has been on a small scale, the thousands of Germans who ha e evaded capture and discarded their uniforms for civilian clothes offer a great threat to the allies, he said.

TRIBUNE R. O. T. C. AWARDS READY FOR 78 SCHOOLS

Cadets Will Receive 700 Gold, Silver Medals.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

For the ninth consecutive year THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE will award nearly 700 gold and silver medals to outstanding cadets of the reserve officers' training corps in 78 schools located in eight midwestern states. The awards will go to 30 high schools and one military academy in Chicago and to an additional 47 units in universities, colleges, normal schools, other high schools and military academies in Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Minnesota, Missouri, and Kansas.

Lt. Col. Taylor.

A pioneer in the promotion of the R. O. T. C., THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE also again will salute these lads in a Chicago Theater of the Air performance on W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system on Saturday night, Feb. 24, in the Medinah temple, where 4,000 boys in uniform will be the guests, and next spring will coöperate with the Chicago board of education in the sponsoring of an R. O. T. C. parade up Michigan av. At an impressive ceremony held at the start of this parade two sets of colors, national and school, will be presented by THE TRIBUNE to the two units adjudged first and second in the annual spring federal inspection.

Many Letters Received.

In response to the announcements that Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will award the R. O. T. C. medals again, many letters have been received emphasizing what these recognitions have meant to this military training program.

Lt. Col. Oscar N. Taylor, recently appointed professor of military science and tactics in the Chicago public schools, wrote as follows: "THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE medals awarded each year to outstanding cadets for military merit have been great factors in keeping the morale of the Chicago High School Reserve Officers' Training corps at a high level. I am pleased that THE TRIBUNE again will present medals this year.

Cites Records in War.

"Chicago R. O. T. C. graduates have made good records in the armed forces, according to letters we have received from all theaters of war. Among the outstanding ex-R. O. T. C. men in the service many left Tribune medals at home to which they will some day add their battle won decorations."

Capt. Joseph Elliott, commandant of the unit in Campion High school, at Prairie du Chien, Wis., stated that the Tribune awards were the finest morale booster they had for the R. O. T. C.

Col. William F. Morrison, retired, who preceded Lt. Col. Taylor as P. M. S. & T., has estimated that 10,000 young Chicago men, now in the army, navy and marines, received their preliminary military training while he was R. O. T. C. commandant in the Chicago public schools.

Hundreds Gave Lives.

Hundreds of these boys have made the supreme sacrifice and also hundreds have been cited for valor.

Chicago area junior units to which awards will be made include Joliet Township High school at Joliet, Waukegan Township High school at Waukegan, and the Horace Mann and Lew Wallace High schools at Gary. Evanston Township High school at Evanston, and Glenwood Manual Training school at Glenwood, which are supervised by the government, but not sponsored, also will receive awards.

The medals are awarded in the Chicago schools one to each 50 cadets. In the remaining 47 schools gold and silver medals are given twice each year. The first awarding ceremony will be at Rose Polytechnic institute on Dec. 1. The Chicago high schools will hold special award assemblies beginning early in January.

PALESTINE FUND 1945 GOAL SET AT 30 MILLION

Action of Terrorists Is Condemned.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Jews must raise 30 million dollars in 1945 to provide for immigration of 1 million uprooted European Jews to Palestine after the war, and to lay foundations for developments which will permit a total of at least 4 million Jews ultimately to make their homes there in addition to those now in Palestine. By the end of 1944 more than 12 million dollars will have been raised and spent in Palestine to that end.

These statements were made last night by Dr. James G. Heller, chairman of the United Palestine appeal before 700 delegates to the national conference on Palestine in the Stevens hotel. The U. P. A. is the central agency for American Jews for every phase of the upbuilding of the Jewish homeland.

Points to Terrorism.

While condemning the recent action of terrorists in Palestine, including the assassination of Walter E. Guinness, who is known as Lord Moyne, British minister resident in the middle east, Dr. Heller said such actions also must be judged against proper backgrounds, such as Zionist contributions to the winning of the war and the mass terror launched against Jews in Europe by Nazi oppressors.

Dr. Heller added that "to some extent England, with all her great virtues and heroism during the war, bears the responsibility" for the small handful of terrorists in Palestine.

"All that these men have done must be adjudged the aberration of men driven crazy by suffering, cruelties of our time, and their own festering conviction of injury," said Dr. Heller.

Tells of Development.

Dr. Nahum Goldman, member of the executive committee of the Jewish agency for Palestine, who arrived from Palestine last week, said that the Palestine homeland has "reached a stage, economically, socially, politically, and morally where it regards itself as an autonomous state, able to run its own affairs." He asserted that the Jewish homeland was "the chief production center for the allied armies of the near east."

Judge Morris Rothenberg, president of the Jewish National fund, land buying agency of the U. P. A., told of development studies, such as irrigation and the use of the Jordan valley depression for power, which, he said, assure accommodation for four million more Jews.

NO THANKS, SAYS U. S. TO OFFER OF 2 ROYAL KITTENS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 [Special].—The state department today politely said "no thanks" to an offer that two kittens born in Buckingham palace in London be sent to the White House as gifts. The offer was made thru John Walters, New York correspondent of a London newspaper.

"We had to follow protocol on this thing," said Tom Blake, one of President Roosevelt's secretaries. "I asked the state department to contact our embassy in London and diplomatically decline the offer.

"Besides, how would we get the cats over here? And Fala [the President's Scottie] hates cats."

Cats never have been very welcome in the White House, anyway. The last feline resident there belonged to the McKinleys, early in the century.

WOMAN'S $475 PEARLS STOLEN.

While Mrs. Sara A. Weil of the Shoreland hotel, 5454 South Shore dr., was inside the North Western station yesterday, her suitcase containing two strands of pearls worth $475 and clothing were stolen from the sidewalk, she reported to police.

OTHER AND OLDER IDEAS OF PEACE.

Several fixed ideas regarding peace and war gained political dominance after the other war. They were theories which were supposed to have discovered cause and effect. As usual there was considerable fever in them. The persons who believed in them were able to put them into effect. They were written into laws and treaties. They were, in the jargon of our own day, implemented.

With much conviction it was asserted that wars were caused by international bankers and munition makers aided by producers who found markets created and prices raised by war's extraordinary demands. The responsible figures abroad included, of course, the Krupps and the French comite des forges. Above them hovered the mysterious shape of Basil Zaharoff and around them clustered the money changers. These were the merchants of destruction whose business was first to promote a war and then supply it, serving all customers without prejudice.

The conclusion was that trade with combatants was bad business. War could be stopped by taking the profit out of it. Neutrality was a desirable estate and should be protected at all points. The United States got into wars because it did not stay away from them. This was orthodox peace doctrine. The neutrality act satisfied the peace seekers of the time. It was regarded as an adequate protection, in the fashion of thinking then current. American ships were not to be permitted to enter the ports or waters of belligerents. Traders with cash in their pockets might come to American wharfs and take cargoes of goods ordinarily sold in peaceable commerce.

We sought pre-arrangements which would be sound against malevolent influences at home and abroad. The neutrality act was so far sufficient for its purpose that before we could move into another war it had to be repealed. Repealed it was by people seeking war as a means to peace which they then had and wanted to discard as dangerous to the next peace which they now strive to get.

There were also other fixed ideas. One was that fully armed nations could not be peaceable nations. If they competed in armaments until they bristled, they could not then hope to keep the peace. They must exhibit a better spirit if they were to come to a better end. America reduced its fleet to allay the fears of other nations.

Then there was great trust in treaties—general treaties and specific treaties. One solemn agreement, the Kellogg-Briand pact, bound the nations never to use war as an instrument of national policy. Particular treaties took care of the difficulties which might arise in particular regions. The world was documented for universal and lasting peace.

Fashions of thinking change. The fixed ideas now are different. The fervor is the same. There is the same fever, but other theories, another war and another set of planners. And again the persons with the fixed ideas do not know who will come along 25 years from now, or where, or with what, and the forces of the future know nothing of the persons who are trying to bind them.

SYNTHETIC VETERANS.

L. R. Benston, director of rehabilitation for the Illinois American Legion, has called attention to the existence of hundreds of thousands of what may properly be called synthetic veterans of this war. They are men who went thru the induction process but were discharged before they did any actual soldiering because of disabilities that induction center examiners failed to detect. Mr. Benston, whose job is to see that genuine veterans receive the care they deserve, is alarmed because these technical veterans are legally entitled to, and in some instances are already receiving, the service that should go to the real veterans.

As he explained the situation at a Chicago conference on post-war education, the difficulty arose because the administration, over the protests of the Legion, abandoned the draft induction system used in the last war. In that war a conscript was sent to a training camp and if it was found there that he was unfit for service he was discharged from the draft. He had never been in the army.

In this war men have been sworn into the army at induction stations and if it is found later that the examiners there overlooked a disqualifying physical or mental defect the man has to be given a discharge from the army [or navy]. That makes him a veteran. He is entitled to all of the benefits provided by the G. I. bill of rights, but not to government compensation, since his discharge notes that his disability existed at the time of induction.

Some of these men were in the army only a few days. The disabilities of others may not have been detected for weeks, but in all of the cases referred to by Mr. Benston the disability existed prior to induction and was not developed nor aggravated by any service in the army.

Congress should remedy this situation. The action should be taken speedily. The longer it is delayed and the more of these technical veterans that apply for and receive care in government hospitals the harder it will be to take proper care of the real veterans suffering from disabilities received in service.

The proper generosity of the nation toward the men who are fighting for it is going to mean a tremendous burden in the future. That burden will be borne cheerfully, but if it is aggravated by extending benefits to men who neither fought nor were trained to fight, but got into uniform briefly because some examining physician at an induction station wasn't alert, those who will suffer most will be the real veterans.

CHANGE OF PROPRIETORS IN MARE NOSTRUM.

Harold MacMillan, British resident minister at allied headquarters in the Mediterranean, has taken over control of Italian affairs from Gen. Hugh Maitland Wilson, British commander of all allied forces in the Mediterranean. The transfer of rule in Italy from a military man to a British government agent can be considered a change from a provisional control to one which looks to permanent hegemony of Britain in the Mediterranean basin.

It was planned that way. Barely had Gen. Eisenhower led the American army into North Africa in 1942 than Mr. MacMillan turned up at his side to represent British interests. As Sicily and the lower two-thirds of Italy were cleared, Mr. MacMillan advanced his base. The British civil agents invariably step in when the military has accomplished its job. Mr. MacMillan's function is that of a conservator for Britain.

In time it may be expected that his jurisdiction will be extended. The Germans are now practically out of Greece. A British expeditionary force was sent into that country when the drive of the Russians thru the Balkans had already determined that Germany's occupation of Greece could last no longer. It was evident from the start that the British invasion of Greece had a political motive. That was to forestall any Russian occupation of Mediterranean ports along the shores of Macedonia and Thrace. Later Mr. Churchill and Marshal Stalin came to an agreement on Balkan spheres of influence.

The disposition of Italy's North African colonies is yet to be settled. British officials are on the grounds. Britain has military rights in Egypt, despite the qualified autonomy of that country, and possesses a fleet base at Alexandria. Gibraltar and Malta were secure British fortresses, respectively, since 1814 and 1704, and Cyprus has been held since 1878. The British are now busy mopping up the Aegean Islands and right acquired in them may be expected to be recognized by a friendly Greek sovereign. The war has left British trustees firmly in control of the Suez canal.

Mussolini used to beat his breast on the balcony and rehearse the old Roman claim to Mare Nostrum. His lake has turned into a British pond. The last irony in the career of the old buffoon is that Britain has realized Italy's war aims for herself.

REP. LEA'S ELECTORAL PLAN.

Rep. Lea of California has brought forward a proposal to eliminate the electoral college in the Presidential election. His plan gets around some of the political and practical barriers that were discussed here recently.

He would do away with electors, and have the voters ballot directly for President and Vice President, but would still allocate to each state the voting strength accorded to it under the electoral system. Every candidate would get electoral votes in proportion to his popular vote within the state.

Under this proposal, Mr. Roosevelt, who won all of Illinois' 28 electoral votes in the election, would have received about 14.5 of them to Mr. Dewey's 13.5, while in Wisconsin, whose 13 votes went to Dewey, he would have received 6.6 votes to Roosevelt's 6.4. In the nation, the Roosevelt electoral vote would have been a little more than 280, to a little less than 250 for Dewey.

By retaining the present ratios of electoral representation, Rep. Lea would overcome the objections of small states and the solid south to direct popular vote. The same provision would quarantine election frauds within the boundaries of the state in which they occurred, as they are now quarantined. Stolen votes or swollen canvasses could affect the distribution of the state's electoral votes, but they would have no influence on the vote in other states, as would happen if a mere popular vote were taken. Thus there would be no more necessity for federal election supervision than now exists.

Rep. Lea, however, would do away with the present provisions of the Constitution that throw the election of President and Vice President into the house and senate, respectively, if no candidate gets a majority of electoral votes. He would pick the winner on a plurality, not a majority, of electoral votes, or in case of a tie in electoral votes, on the national popular plurality.

Such an arrangement would be an invitation to artificial splinter parties all over the nation. In the recent campaign, it would have been to the advantage of the Republicans to finance a Constitutional Democratic party thruout the south, to capitalize on southern resentment at the New Deal. Such candidates would have had no chance of election, or even of carrying a single southern state, but they would have taken votes away from Roosevelt without hurting Dewey materially. Similarly, the Democrats could have been expected to finance a nationalist campaign in the middle west, to take votes away from Dewey without hurting Roosevelt.

One great advantage in the present electoral college system seems to have been overlooked. It is that, with rare exceptions, it has produced a President who has been the choice of the majority of the people of the United States. With the splinter parties which Rep. Lea's plan invites, majority Presidents might become the exception rather than the rule. A series of minority Presidents would scarcely contribute to national unity.

The Presidential electoral system deserves further study. Mr. Lea has made progress, but he hasn't the answer.

SCRAP STEEL FOR JAPAN

In a recent issue the newspaper American Metal Market editorially discusses the policy which permitted this country to supply Japan with steel for its war machine almost up to the opening of hostilities.

The occasion for the editorial was one of Secretary Ickes' characteristic preëlection utterances. In the course of a radio program he was asked why, if Mr. Roosevelt knew the war was coming, he hadn't prohibited the shipment of scrap iron to Japan. To that Mr. Ickes deviously replied, "I think the scrap iron should have been barred long before the war, but how about your big industrialists supporting Dewey today? How about Illinois Steel? How about [Ernest T.] Weir [of National Steel corporation]? How about Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel? What is their record on scrap?"

This answer, which was no answer, promptly evoked the reply from Mr. Weir that no company with which he was ever connected had shipped a single ton of scrap to Japan. Asserting that Mr. Ickes was trying "to alibi the shameful record of the Roosevelt administration, which, by permitting the export of millions of tons of scrap steel to Japan, helped Japan prosecute its war against China and prepare for its war against the United States," he pointed out that he had engaged in a number of efforts, without results, to persuade the administration to stop all exports of scrap. The record shows that on March 23, 1939, Mr. Weir publicly stated that because of alarming world conditions the export of scrap should be halted until adequate reserves were built up against the needs of this country.

Metal Market concedes Mr. Weir's position in favor of embargoing scrap exports, but points out that neither he nor any other leader of the steel industry had recommended restriction of the "truly gigantic increase in the shipments of semi-finished and finished steel from the United States to Japan which started in 1937." The newspaper states that it raises this point for the purpose of lifting the onus which has been placed on American scrap dealers.

The policy which permitted shipments not only of scrap but of finished and semi-finished steel was, of course, not fixed by Mr. Weir or any other member of the steel industry. That policy was fixed and pursued by our administration, and it was vigorously defended by Mr. Roosevelt and the state department up to the time war came. For instance, Mr. Roosevelt in explaining a loan of 100 million dollars to China on Nov. 30, 1940, stated that the government had "continued its efforts to prevent a war from starting in the South Pacific, by all possible means—even including the permission of shipment of some supplies to Japan. Up to date," he asserted, "that aim has been accomplished." In August, 1941, he described his policy to Prime Minister Churchill as that of trying to "baby along" the Japs.

Metal Market points out that while Mr. Ickes emphasized scrap shipments to Japan, which in the eight Roosevelt years between 1933 and 1940 amounted to 10,168,701 tons, both he and Mr. Weir overlooked the fact that 2,219,619 tons of semi-finished and finished steel were shipped to Japan in the same period. They also neglected to mention that during the same period Japan was buying from us comparatively more important commodities for war, among them copper, metal working machinery, petroleum products, cotton, etc.

"Had Japan not been able to obtain American scrap," the paper states, "every pound of which was to be processed in Japan in open hearth furnaces, built by American engineers and rolled out into finished products on rolling mills built in Pittsburgh, then the Japs would have erected blast furnaces for treating iron ore which was available to her from many sources, including Malaya, the Philippines, and India. It is a question whether Japan's position wouldn't have been strengthened by increasing its blast furnace capacity instead of depending on scrap."

This is all well and good, as far as it goes. It may be that the total scrap exports were negligible compared with our own domestic consumption of scrap, that American industry was deprived of nothing it needed, and so far in the war has not been seriously hindered by lack of scrap [tho there was a period of acute scarcity], and that Japan might now be more self-sufficient if it had built up its blast furnace capacity before the war, instead of importing the scrap from us. But this argument has no bearing, and purports to have none, on the responsibility of the Roosevelt administration in providing Japan with the sinews of war.

When Japan renewed the attack upon China in 1937, Mr. Roosevelt refused to concede that this was a real war and, by maintaining the fiction that both China and Japan were free to import American supplies, he permitted Japan to obtain every benefit, for China's coast was closed or blockaded in short order and no real aid could reach the Chinese.

Not until July 2, 1940, did he begin hedging by licensing the export of machine tools, various chemicals, and nonferrous metals. On July 25 he licensed exports of oil products and scrap metal. On July 31 he embargoed exports of aviation gasoline to countries outside the western hemisphere. On Sept. 26 he imposed an embargo, effective Oct. 16, on all exports of scrap steel and steel except to Britain and the western hemisphere. But even the embargoes left wide loopholes.

Japan could still get all forms of oil products other than high octane gasoline. Semi-finished and finished steel could still be shipped. Mr. Roosevelt acted late in the day, and even then acted half-heartedly. When his spokesmen now attempt to distort the record and to glorify the statecraft by which he supplied an enemy and deprived a friend, they are guilty of open falsehood, and they know it.

Editorial of the Day

LIMITED FRANCHISE.
[Washington Post.]

A letter from a "Frustrated South Carolina G. I." detailed the difficulties of casting an absentee ballot in his state. The soldier's sense of frustration was, in all conscience, understandable. And it is likely to afford him little comfort to know that almost equal obstacles to independent voting are placed in the way of those who appear at the polls in person. Indeed, the electoral system of South Carolina seems deliberately contrived to thwart any operation of the democratic process.

No official agency of that state gives ballots to the voters who wish to exercise the right of suffrage. Instead, each political party prints ballots and distributes them at the polling places. This means, to begin with, of course, that voting secrecy is gravely impaired—in most instances altogether nonexistent. For any one can see from which stack of available ballots the prospective voter chooses the one he intends to mark. It means also that split ballots are out of the question; the voter must go down the line for the nominees of the party whose ballot he takes.

It is by virtue of this arrangement, no doubt, that the regular Democratic leaders in the state were able to predict that 98 per cent of the ballots would go to President Roosevelt. It explains also why scarcely more than 5 per cent of South Carolina's population bothers to turn up at the polls at all on election day. The election is a mere ritual. To justify this on the ground that South Carolinians make their real choice in the party primary is to gloss over a very serious defect in their electoral process. They share very obliquely, if at all, in the choice of national candidates since these are selected in national conventions. So long as they adhere to the single party system, the residents of South Carolina will remain effectively disfranchised, at least so far as the federal government is concerned.

RELAX AND REBUILD VITAL FORCES.

DURING the day, any one who is active runs down his batteries of reserve. We attempt to replenish them with suitable meals. But it is thruout the hours of darkness that slumber, the great restorer, "knits up the ravell'd sleeve of care."

Now, some of us don't know how to sleep. There are many who have failed to acquire the ability to relax. The only way we can ease tension on muscles, vital organs, and nerves is to "let go." Rest may not be synonymous with a reclining position. If thoughts are allowed to run riot, fibers become tense and the beating of the heart and breathing may be increased. In such a situation, the tissues are working fully as hard as tho the individual were racing around the block.

As every one knows, we cannot keep going all the time. We must have periods of respite wherein accumulated waste will be eliminated and replaced by stores of energy producing chemicals. The blood can carry these elements to various depots and hold them ready for use. But it cannot do so with the high-strung person who jumps in his sleep, who twists and turns all night long. Naturally, he feels worn out with the beginning of each new day.

Tranquility is a healing process. The reason that comfort comes after a tepid to warm bath is because both the fluid and the heat dilate capillaries and alleviate internal congestion. It seems as tho a weight were removed from consciousness. By means of this procedure many a one, unable to obtain the slightest benefit from the hours that should be devoted to rehabilitation, will derive just enough relief from tension to spend a quiet night.

Just as overhead wires will sing in zero weather due to contraction, so nerves will vibrate under excitement. This is the opposite of the effect which we hope will be produced by repose. First, we can direct our reveries to pleasant, satisfying episodes. Then we can indulge in regular deep breathing, with due caution not to boost the rate. A little experimenting will disclose the posture which is most suitable. It makes no difference whether one lies prone, supine, or on either side. Extending the arms above the head will not lead to heart disease, as so many apparently believe.

At the same time, a steady, rhythmic respiration is established, with all muscles and tendons slack and loose. This passive breathing will bring a sense of calm. Soon the sandman will appear, with blissful unconsciousness.

Exhaling thru puckered lips ofttimes is an excellent device. When the air has been squeezed out of the lungs no conscious effort is made to admit a fresh supply. One waits quietly until he feels the need, whereupon inspiration occurs. With the beginning of the intake, the muscles of the diaphragm push downward slowly. A moment later, the expansion is transferred to the chest wall. The plan is so simple that only a little application will be required to accomplish it.

The crux of the matter is that, altho lying down takes the weight off the feet, one's whole being may be just as alert as tho he were engaged in a foot race. We must learn to put up the shutters on alertness and employ every opportunity to restore the forces of nature.

CAN'T TAKE IT.

D. D. writes: Whenever I hear any one describe his operation or illness, I develop a terrific weakness in my left side which later goes into my right leg. What causes this?

REPLY.

This is an emotional reaction which goes under the name "vagotonia." Either immunize yourself to these tales gradually or ask your friends to desist.

LUMP ON CHEST.

E. V. writes: My daughter had a tiny cyst removed from her chest but it has now returned. The doctor said it is a neurofibroid growth. What is the treatment for it?

REPLY.

A neurofibroma is a connective tissue tumor involving a nerve. Ask your family physician about the use of X-ray or radium.

NO SELF-MEDICATION.

D. J. writes: Are the sulfa drugs available in drug stores for the public?

REPLY.

Yes, but their indiscriminate use is not advised. Too many things can happen. Now and then these remedies will injure the blood, the kidneys, or be responsible for severe skin reactions.

RESPITE.

F. R. writes: Do migraine attacks cease after the age of 50?

REPLY.

They may. In fact, such a circumstance may be expected in women who have been afflicted since girlhood. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this distressing disorder.

ALKALIS PREFERRED.

H. M. writes: When fever is present and generous fluids are advised, does it make any particular difference whether the patient is given fruit or vegetable juices, tea, etc.

REPLY.

As a rule, alkaline liquids are desired. Most fruits give this reaction.

ESSENTIAL.

F. L. writes: What causes iodine in the body?

REPLY.

Unless you have it, you are out of luck. It is needed by the thyroid gland as well as other structures.

"IDEOLOGICAL MUSH."

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Yesterday I listened to a radio commentator state that our fellows on the European western front around Metz were advancing and were buoyed by the thought that "by their advance they were creating a new and better world." No sane person can object to the creation of a "new" [which signifies, I presume, the evolutionary process always at work] and better world.

Without stopping to inquire how this commentator knew the thoughts in the mind of the individual American soldier advancing under fire, I emphatically deny that his purpose in Europe is to create a new and better world. Our soldiers, as I see it, are fighting to defeat Germany because Germany declared war on us and because Germany is a menace to our national existence and our way of life. Just as the Russians are fighting for Russia, the French for France, the Poles for Poland, the Greeks for Greece, the British for the British empire, and so on, so the Americans are fighting for America.

When Germany is thoroly licked, she will cease to be an aggressor nation, just as France did when Napoleon was thoroly beaten at Waterloo. Our generals, Grant and Sherman, confined themselves to the immediate and primary job of defeating the Confederacy. After that there was peace on this North American continent. All would-be world conquerors from "Macedonia's madman to the Swede" eventually met their Waterloo at the hands of superior military power, as will Hitler's Germany.

Our brave and competent officers and men know how to fight and what it is they are fighting for. A lot of this ideological mush handed out over the radio can well be dispensed with.

EUGENE MULLANEY.

THE FEARS OF THE UNDERPRIVILEGED.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—I have just finished reading Monday's Voice of the People. If the 6 per cent majority which defeated us is represented by the contributors to today's column whose thinking is so shallow that it seems more important that they receive their bread and butter than that our Republic be saved, then I'm thankful to belong to the minority group.

I don't suppose they would believe, maybe not understand even, that many of us would gladly go hungry if that would cure some of the evils which have made it seem imperative to them that they elect any one man in order that they might eat.

I am not angry, as they seem to be. I am sorry for them and feel very deeply, "Forgive them, for they know not what they do."

That is the one thing I can't forgive in the administration. It has preyed on the fears of the underprivileged until they will sell their souls for a mess of pottage.

CLERGYMEN.

Both the army and navy are desperately in need of a large number of chaplains of all denominations. The navy's requirements are four years of successful college or university work and graduation from an accredited theological seminary. Candidates must be ordained and must obtain ecclesiastical approval and indorsement from their particular denomination before they may be commissioned. Ecclesiastical indorsement does not need to be submitted with the application, but is sent in later by the church officials.

The army requires an A. B. or B. S. degree plus a B. D. or B. Th. degree and one year of pastoral experience. Candidates having only a B. Th. or A. B. degree are required to have had three years of pastoral experience. Application for the navy is made thru the nearest office of naval officer procurement and, for the army, application is made thru the nearest service command chaplain's office. The need is great. Why not give the boys a break?

K. C. asks: "If a sailor names his niece as beneficiary of his insurance on his application, and since she would not be within the permitted class to receive payments, would his divorced mother and father receive the payments?"

The payments would go to the nearest of kin, in this instance payments would be made to the parents if he was single.

FALL FLORA.

Rockton, Ill., Nov. 10.—Replying to B. Hance—"Violets in November" is an old custom in our garden. Every autumn until frost goes deep enough to kill them, we have violets blooming under a yellow rosebush. Whether they are so-called woods violet, or the English type, I don't know, but they are mostly purple in color, with here and there an overtone of sapphire blue. They generally bid us Godspeed for the winter about Armistice day, reminding us that they will be back early in the spring!

ANNA PACKARD.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—It might interest people to know I have a hollyhock bush, poppies, phlox, and dandelions blooming in my yard in Rogers Park.

FRED M. DALIES.

Paw Paw, Ill., Nov. 12.—The first day of November I went into my garden and picked a good peck of lovely tomatoes and coming back beside the neighbor's house I saw two darling dwarf pansies.

MA FROM PAW.

Magnolia, Ill., Nov. 12.—While raking leaves last week I found a tiny spray of perfect forsythia. The frost had taken the leaves from the bush and it was blooming in its natural spring-like setting.

DOROTHY HARTMAN.

Clinton, Ill., Nov. 10.—Last week my little neighbor, Carlene Laws, 5 years old, picked a bowl of red raspberries from the family garden bushes, enough to serve five members of her family. She also handed me violets she had picked, with a dandelion peeping thru.

MRS. FAY M. WATTS.

DOUBTS ABOUT SOCIAL SECURITY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 11.—While holding post-mortems on the whys and wherefores of that slender two and a half million popular vote majority Roosevelt held over Dewey, we should take into consideration the white collar workers who wanted to see Dewey win, but who looked askance at that future he promised us, where all Americans would be guaranteed the benefits of social security.

If Dewey had known the facts, he would have known that large groups of Americans have fought bitterly against the regimentation that offsets the doubtful benefits of being secured socially. There are many of us who feel that we should at least be given the choice of buying our insurance privately. Our experience in having our social security cards used as police cards, the means by which the war labor board inflicts its punishments upon those who chose to change jobs during war time, makes us apprehensive of life in America at any time, when a population, 100 per cent police registered, is subject to the whims of a powerful federal government.

Before extending social security to groups not yet secured, it would be interesting to hold a popular referendum on the desires of the people whose future dignity, freedom of movement, and freedom to work as they choose are at stake.

AMERICAN WOMAN.

PROGRAM FOR '48.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Here is the program for the 1948 Republican convention:

1. Change the name of the Republican party to National party, leaving it to the Democrats whether they want to be the International party.

2. Campaign on the issue America for the Americans and Europe for the Europeans, and all that this issue implies.

3. Make Bricker the standard bearer of the renamed party.

4. Don't again become infatuated with Dewey because he sent some criminals to the penitentiary, as he is not the only honest man in the party.

5. The party can afford to let the me-too men go over to the Democrats. In fact, it cannot afford to retain them in a responsible capacity and continue to represent the 80 per cent of Americans who want to mind their own business, instead of that of others. W. METLEN.

DEMOCRATIC PROMISES.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—A short time before election Mayor Kelly made a statement, promising that if F. D. R. were reëlected the war would be over in three days after the election, but saying that if the Republicans got in, the war would not be over for a long time. It seems to me another Democrat, President Wilson, made a promise, "Vote for Wilson and you will have peace." A short time after he got elected we were at war. F. D. R. promised again, again, and again our boys would not be sent across to foreign soil to fight. I wonder if a promise made by a Democrat means anything.

ESTHER CLARK.

POSTOFFICE DISCOURTESY.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—While at the parcel post section of the postoffice downtown, a mother past middle age with a son somewhere overseas had a package of candy and gum to send to him. She had a V letter to show the request, but had failed to outline the particular spot and had failed to bring her glasses along, so she handed the letter to the clerk, himself past middle age. He wanted to know where it was in the letter the request appeared and his manner in asking was gruff and insulting. The lady told him as best she could and he yelled out savagely "I'm supposed to read this whole thing to find out where the request is." The letter was about three inches long. He handed the letter back and said that if there were any request he couldn't see it, and growled at her to bring her glasses along next time. I asked the lady if I could help her. She was a very calm person, and looked pathetic. Had she been haughty or loud and nasty tempered, my sympathies would probably not have been so aroused, but she had taken this clerk's remarks with a smile. I located the request in about the fourth line from the beginning of the letter. The print or writing was very small and even with glasses hard to read. I showed the clerk, who took it and stamped it, and even then he glared at the woman again and bellowed out for her "to bring her glasses along next time." The lady thanked me and I left. I have a 19 year old nephew in France.

BLANCHE BOWINGTON.

NEW DEAL VOTER'S CREED.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 13.—In reading the pro-Roosevelt letters appearing in the Voice of the People column, I am struck by one thing: That not one can refute any of the charges made against F. D. R., so they take the same route as their candidate and resort to name calling. I think this election is a reflection on the intelligence and integrity of the majority who voted for him, and what we are now witnessing is the corruption and decadence of a nation under the rule of a crafty and unprincipled politician. Those who voted for him are saying in effect: "We do not care how much you deceive us, just so we are fed; we do not care that every dollar in our pay envelopes is borrowed money, jeopardizing the people's savings in every bank in the country, so long as we have a full stomach; we do not care that your course will make more widespread hunger and unemployment than any we have ever known, and that you have destroyed our nation's wealth to the tune of more than three hundred billion dollars [counting taxes collected in the past 12 years], nor do we care that you betrayed our sons, so long as you have given us their jobs, for, like cattle, our main aim in life is not liberty, not good government, not honor and dignity and respect in our highest office, but only the requirement that you give us full bellies. Do anything, so long as we are fed!"

HANNAH S. AUNE.

DEMANDS UPON SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Are the Chicago public schools still financed by the taxpayers of the city? This question arises because I find Chicago school teachers consider every child attending has an annuity from somewhere which will allow him to purchase stamps and candy bars, donate to the Red Cross collection or whatever fund they are taking collections for that week, and contribute for other incidentals on pain of being questioned and ridiculed before the whole class.

Should the child have parents who purchase all they can where they are working, which, after all, is the proper place to show what they can do, and sisters and brothers who attend the school and purchase these things weekly, that still does not take care of him, and, altho just a first grader, he is still forced to go thru this embarrassing and humiliating procedure. Parents everywhere are strictly opposed to this foreign treatment of American children, but fearful to come out in the open for fear of reprisals against their children. Who is it that is allowing or giving orders for our teachers to become dictators of family allowances, while expecting no such treatment from family heads?

UNRECORDED DEED.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—I should like to deed a piece of property to my brother. If the deed is not recorded until after my death, will he run into any difficulties?

W. G.

The use of an unrecorded deed as a substitute for a will invites litigation on the question whether the deed was validly delivered during the grantor's lifetime. Such an attempted arrangement was defeated in the case of Stanford vs. Stanford, 371 Ill. 211.

[ADVERTISMENT] [ADVERTISMENT]

DON'T ALLOW LOST HEARING TO RUIN YOUR LIFE!

Countless people, and perhaps you are one of them, miss more than one-fifth of life's pleasure simply because they refuse to do the logical thing about poor hearing. For, after all, we have but five senses . . . and the sound sense covers almost the biggest scope of entertainment, social life and success of any.

Music, conversation, a whole new life will sparkle before you when you wear one. People who formerly made you self-conscious, unhappy and condemned you as eccentric will welcome you to fun you have perhaps never before experienced.

But here is the first obstacle you must overcome. The choice between society and solitude rests with you! To be ashamed of wearing a tiny inconspicuous instrument is just as foolish as being ashamed of glasses. Rupert Hughes, well-known author and lecturer, says most graphically I think, "Millions of people who are hard of hearing are going through life missing half of it and risking all of it because they are ashamed to wear on one ear a little dingus with a cord. They are afraid that somebody will find out what everybody knows anyway."

Look into this problem thoroughly . . . then go to a company that makes really wonderful instruments . . . each with characteristics of its own to make more accurate compensation of your particular hearing loss possible. This INDIVIDUAL FITTING will be recommended by your physician.

See the inside of this instrument . . . and have explained to you the different stages of its manufacture . . . the rigid inspections each one is given. The entire instrument is hardly larger than a spectacle case and weighs only a few ounces. Standards are extremely strict . . . assuring really high fidelity amplification and long life as well as wonderful service.

Hard of hearing persons (now estimated at about 20,000,000 in the United States alone) have at last been given the attention they deserve . . . by a company right here in Chicago. This concern has produced a newly invented acoustical electronic precision instrument. Compact, easy to wear and sensitive to even a whisper, this INDIVIDUALLY FITTED hearing aid will open new vistas of enjoyment for all who own it.

It's important to remember that this specialized LABORATORY FITTING is exclusive with this company. And here's more good news! You can pay for your instrument on a down payment plan that is easy to handle. And you may have a demonstration and consultation FREE OF CHARGE . . . which will tell you more than anything mere words could possibly say. For further information write David Lorence, 6 No. Michigan, or phone CENtral 0740.

Because Chicago Tribune correspondents in Washington and thruout the world watch day to day developments vigilantly, doing their own fact finding, Tribune readers are fully and immediately informed of every important happening.

U. S. APPROVES WORLD PARLEY ON FREE PRESS

Morgantown, W. Va., Nov. 18 (AP).—The United States has decided to open discussions with other nations looking toward international agreements on world freedom of news exchange, it was disclosed today.

Washington thus would make the first move by any government in history toward achieving a working basis for guaranteeing unhindered interchange of independent news in order to promote better understanding among all nations.

The disclosure was made by Paul Miller, assistant general manager of the Associated Press and chief of the Washington bureau, in remarks at a meeting of the West Virginia State Newspaper council.

Miller said the government's aim to undertake exploratory talks with other countries was outlined to him by Acting Secretary of State Stettinius, who authorized making it public here today.

NO TRACE FOUND OF PLANE WITH LEIGH-MALLORY

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP).—The R. A. F. plane carrying Air Chief Marshal Trafford Leigh-Mallory and his party to India, reported missing last night, may have been the victim of an enemy long range fighter, it was speculated here today. Leigh-Mallory was en route to take up his new post as allied air commander in chief in Southeast Asia.

An air ministry announcement said a widespread search had yielded no trace of his unescorted plane. Missing with Leigh-Mallory is his wife.

The 52 year old British tactician, who as air commander in chief of the allied expeditionary air forces provided the aerial umbrella for the western Europe invasion, flew with an escort to the Mediterranean area. From there he continued alone in a plane flown by a veteran R. A. F. crew.

If Back Aches or Ankles Swell, Flush Your Kidneys

If you're feeling out o'sorts, Get Up Nights or suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles.

Worry, Colds, working too hard, or over-eating or drinking may create an excess of Acids and overload your Kidneys so that they need help to flush out poisonous wastes that might otherwise undermine your health.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess Acids. The Kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the heart pumps blood about 200 times an hour, night and day, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down when overloaded.

Nearly 20 years ago a practicing physician's prescription called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. in these three simple ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To palliate burning and smarting of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy, which may easily make you feel years younger.

Liberal Trial Offer

To prove that Cystex may be the very medicine you need accept this fair-play trial offer: Get a supply of Cystex from your druggist today. Take it exactly as directed and watch for quick help, a rapid increase in pep, more youthful feeling and a new joy in living. You must be completely satisfied and highly delighted or you simply return the empty package and your money back is guaranteed.

Tear this out. Take it to your druggist. Be sure to get genuine, guaranteed Cystex which is scientifically produced under the direction of a licensed physician, and used by millions throughout the world. Three guaranteed Cystex sizes—35c, 75c, $1.50.

WLB HEAD BACKS PEPPER PLEA TO INCREASE WAGES

Asks Lifting of Limits on Low Salaries.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—Encouraged by the testimony of War Labor Board Chairman William H. Davis, Sen. Pepper [D., Fla.] tonight announced he will seek action this session on his substandard wage resolution which would advise the WLB that congress considers any wage less than 65 cents an hour to be substandard.

Davis indorsed the resolution "in principle" during a senate labor subcommittee hearing, but told the senators that if the resolution were adopted, the board would regard it as a guide rather than a mandate.

"You've got to handle increases so industry can handle them and continue to make a profit," Davis said. "We might feel that 65 cents was too high even for a voluntary increase."

A Means of Pressure.

Altho he agreed there would be strong pressure to raise all wages to the 65 cent minimum if the resolution were adopted, Davis said the board would feel no compulsion to go up to that limit.

The concurrent resolution would merely express the sense of congress on the controversial subject and would not have the force of law. Pepper said, however, that as far as he was concerned he would be willing to make the 65 cent minimum arbitrary—"shifting to industry and the general public some of the burden which has been borne by underpaid groups."

The present minimum hourly wage under the wage-hour act is 40 cents but the war labor board now is permitting employers who voluntarily offer to raise wages up to the 50 cent level to do so without consulting the board.

Would Affect Other Groups.

Davis said there was no doubt that increases in living costs bear more heavily on the lowest bracket wage earners who have to cut down on food, clothing, and medical attention, and conceded anything that could be done to lift substandard wages would be "helpful."

He said, however, that any basic increases in low bracket rates would necessitate adjustments in others, with a resultant lifting of the wage level in America.

The subcommittee headed by Pepper heard enthusiastic indorsements of the resolution from high labor leaders and rank and file members of AFL, CIO, and independent unions.

Some of the labor spokesmen declared the resolution didn't go far enough. Lewis G. Hines, AFL legislative representative, in a statement he said represented the views of AFL President William Green, asserted it would be more realistic to permit increases without governmental approval for heads of families earning less than $200 a month and for single persons earning $150 or less.

Plea for $1 an Hour.

J. G. Luhrson, spokesman for the Railway Labor Executives' association, expressed belief the minimum ought to be $1 an hour.

D. P. Loomis of the Association of American Railroads declared that if congress tried to shove wage rates up, solution of the post-war problems of employment and price stabilization would become more difficult.

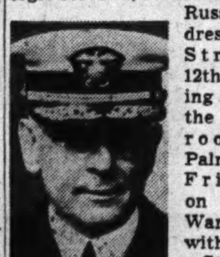
C. A. Miller, vice president of the American Short Line Railroads' association, said half the gross income of the carriers he represents goes for wages and predicted some of them would have to go out of business if forced to raise their minimum wages from 52 to 65 cents.

Home Guard of Malta to Go Off Duty Dec. 11

MALTA, Nov. 18 (AP). — Malta's home guard will go off active duty Dec. 11, Lt. Col. D. C. Campbell announced today.

STATE ST. SENIORS TO HEAR STANDLEY AT ANNUAL DINNER

Adm. Standley of the office of strategic services, former ambassador to Russia, will address the State Street Seniors' 12th annual meeting and dinner in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House Friday evening on "Our Post-War Relations with Russia."



Adm. Standley.

Standley, envoy in 1942-'43, is acquainted personally with Stalin, Molotov, Litvinov, and other soviet leaders. He once asserted that the Russian people were not being told about the extent of American lend-lease aid. The Russians immediately began giving the United States more credit for its assistance.

Standley at various times was acting secretary of the navy, commander of the navy's destroyer squadron, and a member of the Beaverbrook-Harriman war supply mission to Russia.

More than 1,200 reservations for the dinner have been received by the State Street council.

FOURTEEN RECAPPED TIRES TAKEN.

Burglars entered the Hebert-Morgan Sales, Inc., at 6044 Cottage Grove av., and took 14 recapped tires, $18 in silver, $15 in postage stamps, and 24 pay roll checks, totaling $1,375, the manager, Jack Ferris of 8542 Bennett av., told police yesterday.

The Toughest Part is yet to come!

Here's Why! Tokyo Is 7512 Miles Away!

The nearer we get to Tokyo, the harder the fighting! Grimmer! AND MORE EXPENSIVE! It takes twice as many cargo ships to supply a task force in the far Pacific as are needed for the same number of men in Europe. It takes many more Super Fortresses, each costing a half-million dollars. Many more tanks, aircraft carriers, gasoline, landing ships, evacuation hospitals. Far more of the 700,000 items needed by our armed forces to push their way through to Tokyo. Can you deny even one boy who is fighting for you the money for the supplies he desperately needs?

PREDICT PRICES OF HOMES WILL RISE AFTER WAR

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

Continued brisk activity in real estate with residential property prices tending higher was forecast for 1945 in the 43d semi-annual survey of the real estate market by the National Association of Real Estate Boards published yesterday. The survey included 377 cities and was compiled from data and opinions supplied by local member boards of the association.

For downtown business property 97 per cent of the cities expected prices at least at the 1944 level and 44 per cent predicted a higher market. In war factory areas three out of every five communities expected higher business property prices.

Business property rentals were expected to rise in only a few more than a third of the cities, the survey said. The 1944 level was expected to continue in the remainder.

Industries Plan Ahead.

Industries were going forward with plans for new post-war products in 91 per cent of the cities and in 97 per cent of the major war centers, the survey said. In two of five cities and three-fourths of the war centers new plants or warehouses will be required for the new products, it was said.

The association termed it significant that in eight out of 10 cities, local industries, frequently consulting with their real estate boards and local realtors, were making their own programs for conversion of government owned plants to peace time operation without waiting for civic or community "reconversion" plans.

In a study of property deterioration the survey showed the situation was serious in many localities. Eighty per cent of the cities had fallen at least 25 per cent behind in normal repair and maintenance of property. In more than a fourth, upkeep was only 25 to 50 per cent of normal. In 12 cities out of 100 upkeep was 25 per cent of normal or lower.

Deterioration Held Serious.

The association said this deterioration of the country's physical plant was reaching serious proportions. The reporting real estate boards attributed the neglect to scarcity of labor and material and to increased labor and equipment costs, altho rentals were frozen at depression levels.

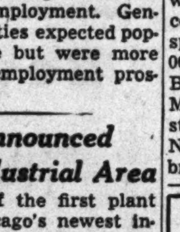
Among comments received from various cities were: "Maintenance only 50 to 75 per cent of normal is costing almost as much as 100 per cent maintenance before the war." "Must depend on part time help." "Plumbers, painters, and paperhangers difficult to obtain." "Government jobs have taken carpenters and plumbers."

Seven out of 10 cities expected population growth in the first five post-war years and 53 per cent expected decreased employment. Generally the larger cities expected population to increase but were more pessimistic about employment prospects.

First Plant Announced for New Industrial Area

Announcement of the first plant to be built in Chicago's newest industrial district, the Addison-Kedzie development, was made yesterday. It will be occupied by Crown Rheostat and Supply company. A one story factory, containing 29,000 square feet, will be built at 3449 N. Kimball av.

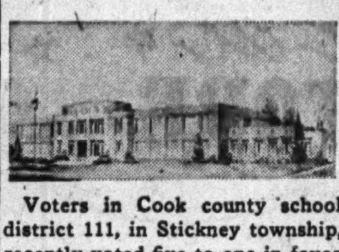
Realty Miscellany



Edward E. Clarke.

Edward E. Clarke was appointed executive director of the National Public Housing conference of Chicago, George L. Quilici, president, announced yesterday. Clarke resigned as assistant to the regional representative of the national housing agency in Chicago to assume his new office. Other officers of NPHC are Thomas L. Slater, Mrs. Wendell Green, and Samuel Smith, vice presidents; James C. Downs, treasurer; the Rev. Daniel M. Cantwell, recording secretary; Harry J. Walker, corresponding secretary, and Jerrold Loebl, chairman of the board. NPHC has its offices in the First National Bank building.

War Workers' School



Voters in Cook county school district 111, in Stickney township, recently voted five to one in favor of a $358,000 bond issue to finance this school building project. Designed by John E. Coyle, architect of Joliet, it will be built early next spring on a 10 acre tract at the northeast corner of Linder av. and 83d st. Forty per cent of the mothers of children who will attend work in near-by war industries.

Lease Adams, State Corner for 99 Years

De Met's, Inc., confectioners, yesterday leased the northeast corner of State and Adams, 76 by 176 feet, from the Lucy J. Rowe estate for 99 years at a term rental of $5,857,500, thru Winston & Co. The lessee is said to have guaranteed extensive remodeling of the present old four story building or its replacement with a modern structure as soon as building materials are available and present leases expire.

De Met's, which has a store on the corner ground floor space, will use the entire building eventually for its general headquarters and executive offices, C. N. Johnson, president, said. The company has 14 stores in Chicago and suburbs.

The lease calls for a net annual rental of $45,000 for the first five years; $47,500 for the next five; $50,000 for 25; $55,000 for 14, and $67,500 annually for the last 50 years.

The building was occupied by Peacock's jewelry store for many years. The property was originally leased by Mrs. Rowe for 99 years from 1888 to the Dakota Building company for $25,000 annually. In 1921 the lease was terminated and a 25 year lease made by the Rowe estate to C. D. Peacock at $105,000 annual rental. In 1926 Peacock moved to the southeast corner of State and Monroe.

WAREHOUSE AT ASHLAND-74TH SOLD: $300,000

The southwest corner of Ashland av. and 74th st., improved with a one story factory building containing 220,000 sq. ft. of floor space, was sold yesterday for $300,000 by Reynolds Metals company to Bert I. Kaplan, vice president of M. S. Kaplan company, iron and steel brokers, for warehouse use. Nicolson, Porter & List, Inc., was broker.

Home Building Gains

Home building in the Chicago metropolitan area increased both in number and value in October compared with September and a year ago, the monthly survey by Bell Savings and Loan association disclosed yesterday. Permits for 561 home units valued at $2,538,489 were issued last month in Chicago, its suburbs, and in the unincorporated zoned areas in Cook, Du Page, Kane, and Lake counties. A year ago 326 permits for $1,263,025 were issued and in September 269 permits for $1,077,389 were granted.

Building of all types in the metropolitan area totaled $8,662,814 last month against $8,277,430 in September, and $13,023,275 a year ago. The largest single permit was for $1,104,900 issued to the Electro-Motive corporation for an addition to its plant near La Grange.

DELLA CHIESA'S VOICE LEASHED IN TOSCA ROLE

Finally Reveals Glory at Last Opera Matinee.

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The season's only "Tosca" came at the last matinée of the Chicago Opera season, and it was an interesting performance despite its weaknesses. It had some true Italian singing, a performance or two of unusual dramatic impact and, above all, it had Fausto Cleva's conducting, which understood precisely how Puccini went about making Sardou's melodramatics an invitation to operatic song. If a singer missed a dramatic cue, it was his own fault, for Cleva's baton was a blueprint in musical histrionics.

The new performance on which major attention focused was Vivian Della Chiesa's Tosca, the role all little girls who want to be opera singers grow up hoping to sing. Vocally, it was a success, tho it did not quite satisfy a few of us who will be content only when Miss Della Chiesa fully realizes her potential gifts. Her voice is not as free to soar as it ought to be. But it is a glorious voice, with that curious and priceless quality of the sumptuous that makes the listener feel pampered, and it has the Italian feeling for curve, cadence, and climax that can mean magnificent Puccini.

First Act in Muted Key.

She sang the first act well, but in muted emotional key that diminished its effect. Her "Vissi d'arte" had a glowing focus that should characterize her whole approach to the role, and her last act took on an authority and charm that again made me remember Muzio.

But before this Tosca comes into her own, she must learn more about the stage. She must speak severely to the costumer and hairdresser who hide her beauty under frizz and fuss. She must learn to use that effective height to advantage, to walk like a queen, and never, never again to miss the music cue when snatching the murderous knife. She must submit to the possibly unfair fact that, the more you have to offer, the more people expect of you, and become the Tosca she has the right to be, in the tradition of Raisa and Muzio.

Artistic Support Given.

Both the gentlemen in her life yesterday were helpful. Frederick Jagel sang with resonant freedom and unusual beauty of tone, and Alexander Sved returned to his finest style as Scarpia, in a performance of magnetic distinction. Vocally, it is no more than adequate, but dramatically, which is where Scarpia counts, it is a stage-wise portrait of a voluptuous vulture, unerringly projected. Vittorio Trevisan's sacristan remains a classic treasured from richer days, and Algerd Brazis' Angelotti holds unmistakable promise for the future.

The staging managed to achieve the broad effect, despite some hazardously improvised detail, particularly in the first act, where no one seemed to have told the new Spoletta what to do. The Te Deum hung in the balance, but finally pulled itself together, and at least the procession was correctly timed to end the act. But why the intrusion of the children's chorus is more than I can tell you.

The season ended last night with "La Traviata," again with Bidu Sayao, Nino Martini, and Robert Weede.

REALTORS DROP BIG CONCLAVE AS CIO MEN POUR IN

Army, Navy Order on Convention Heeded.

BY AL CHASE.

While the National Association of Real Estate Boards has acceded to the request of the army and navy departments and canceled its annual convention, to have been held at the Stevens hotel, where 1,400 rooms were reserved for the week of Nov. 27, CIO members are pouring into Chicago to hold a convention at the same hostelry. The CIO executive committee already is in the hotel and the remaining 1,000 delegates will be here by tomorrow, it was said.

Meanwhile the international civil aviation conference, which began its sessions at the Stevens with 54 delegates, steadily has increased in size with fresh supplies of conferees from England and other countries, until 800 rooms are occupied by air minded visitors.

Equipment from Washington.

When the air conference was scheduled for Chicago, officials said they needed considerable office space and equipment. The Home Owners Loan corporation, it was learned, offered them 25,000 square feet of space and office equipment in the Merchandise Mart. The offer was rejected and 35 loads of office equipment were trucked from Washington to the Stevens at an expense of thousands of dollars, and placed in various rooms there.

As a result, most of the conference rooms in the hotel are jammed with office equipment and furniture of the air group, and the realtors were told there would be little or no space for their minor sessions.

In addition the hotel management told the realty board that if the air conference continues for the next two weeks, as it is believed it will, they could supply it with only 600 of the 1,400 rooms reserved, and possibly not that many.

Army, Navy Takes a Hand.

The office of defense transportation has been trying to get most of the big national conventions to cancel their plans, to relieve traffic congestion thruout the nation. When ODT failed, the army and navy took a hand. Convention managers were told that with the present flood of business gatherings in big cities it was almost impossible for officer personnel to get hotel accommodations.

The realtors at once canceled their big convention, for which 4,000 reservations had been made in virtually all of the leading hotels, with the Stevens leading. Thousands of dollars' worth of advance work was thrown away, including 5,000 expensive programs.

BAX THE Complete* VITAMIN CAPSULE
THE FACT IS many vitamin products are incomplete. They offer only a few vitamins—and often they're below recognized daily requirements in potencies. Fully one-third of the products analyzed were that way in a recent survey by a leading medical authority.
BAX, the Complete* Vitamin Capsule, supplies all the established vitamins, and at least the full adult minimum daily requirement in potencies.
BAX not only provides the important B-complex factors, but other vitamins equally valuable and lacking in many products. A, B_1, C, D, B_2(G), B_6, Niacin, Calcium Pantothenate.
And you don't take 2 or 3 tablets or capsules a day as with many products. Just one tiny BAX daily for all the established vitamins in full measure.
Heed government warnings that most people are vitamin deficient. Don't chance incomplete products. BAX, the Complete* Vitamin Capsule costs so little—less than 2⅔¢ a day in the economy family-size bottle. Get BAX today—at all drug stores. A product of McKesson & Robbins.

Time ran out on Fenger High school's high scoring football team yesterday as Tilden Tech's twice tied Blue Devils amazed 20,000 fans gathered in Soldiers' field by defeating the Titans, 16 to 14, to win the City league title and end Fenger's nine game winning streak.

The victory was Tilden's fourth over Fenger in five city league playoffs since 1938, and gave the Blue Devils the right to represent the public schools in the Kelly bowl game in Soldiers' field on Dec. 2. Tilden, making its third Kelly bowl appearance, will meet the winner of today's Catholic league championship game between Weber and Fenwick High schools.

Safety Is Victory Margin.

It was an automatic safety, scored when Tilden's line swarmed in to block Pete Konyar's third quarter punt, that gave the Blue Devils their margin of victory, and reversed the procedure of last week, when Fenger defeated Lane Tech, 8 to 7, in the semi-final play-off, on the same automatic safety ruling. The safety came when Konyar's kick was blocked, and the ball rolled out of the end zone.

Tilden's line completely outcharged the Fenger forwards, and the Blue Devils had a big edge in the play until the last period, when Fenger, trailing by a 16 to 7 score, came back with a strong passing attack to score another touchdown on a sustained march down the field. And, with but 30 seconds left, Fenger kicked off, recovered a Tilden fumble, and unleashed another passing spree that carried the ball to the Tilden 15 yard line before the game ended.

Tilden Has Statistical Edge.

Tilden gained a total of 310 yards, 296 coming from rushing, to Fenger's 241 yards. The Fenger backs were held to 73 yards thru the line, but the Titans gained 168 yards thru the air as their passing attack netted 10 completions out of 18 attempts. Tilden tried 10 passes and completed three. Each team fumbled twice, with Fenger recovering three times and Tilden once.

After a scoreless first quarter, Mike Swistowicz, Tilden right half back, elected to run on fourth down midway in the second period and gave Tilden a first down on the Fenger 28. Four plays and a Fenger penalty carried the ball to the three, and two plays later, Bob Adams, full back, plunged over. Bob Jaderholm's kick was good and the score was Tilden, 7; Fenger, 0.

Konyar Plunges for Score.

Shortly before the half, Fenger unleashed a drive that started when Tilden punted from its own three, and ended with Pete Konyar plunging thru the center of the line for a touchdown after a Fenger drive had carried 30 yards. Tim Madden kicked the point to tie the score, 7 to 7.

Fenger kicked off to open the second half, and after Tilden's threat had been halted when Madden intercepted Ed Kriwiel's pass, a 15 yard penalty set Fenger deep in its own territory. After failing to gain, Konyar attempted to punt. The

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 18.—Notre Dame's football power plant, altho minus Bob Kelly, its No. 1 dynamo, had no trouble turning on enough juice today to hang a defeat on Northwestern's hapless but willing Wildcats, before a stadium crowd of 48,000. The Irish bounced back from their decisive trimmings at the hands of Navy and Army to register a 21 to 0 success that unveiled another squirming, fancy stepping ball carrier in the person of Jim Brennan, 155 pound freshman from Milwaukee.

The Irish, with everything moving smoothly against a Wildcat defense that was slow in forming, started off as if intent on getting back all, if not more, of the 59 points the Army Cadets assessed them a week ago. They were the proud possessors of 14 points in the first six and one-half minutes of play, but thereafter, they were thwarted in one charge after another until the fourth quarter, the third touchdown compensating for a drive that was broken up on the 3 yard line by the end of the third period.

Brennan Makes 2 Scoring Sprints.

The 18 year old Brennan lad, in his first start and second appearance with the Irish troops, twice caused the Wildcats to demand that searching parties be sent out to determine where he had gone, and how. He put his foes back on their heels in the first three minutes of play when he zig zagged their ranks for a 41 yard touchdown sprint. Not many minutes later he put on the same sort of a six point act, but this time limited it to 29 yards.

The ease with which Notre Dame beat down the Wildcats attack and the difficulties suffered by the latter in trying to slow down the Irish wanderings are shown approximately in the statistics. The Irish rushed themselves into huge total of 324 net yards on the ground and piled on 47 additional yards in four completed passes out of 12 attempts. The Wildcats made 92 yards on the ground and 24 yards on three successful passes.

Brennan Picks up 120 Yards.

In addition to his touchdown dashes, Brennan was otherwise busy to the extent of a net of 120 running yards in 15 plays. This was exactly twice the yardage picked up by Joe Gasparella in the same number of attempts. Marty Wendell fashioned only 36 yards for himself in nine plays but eight of these yards, in two consecutive plays, led the Irish over the Wildcats' goal for the last touchdown.

Benigini took the opening kick-off of the meeting and the Irish proceeded immediately to the collection of their first batch of points. Brennan, Marino, Gasparella, and Dancewicz took turns in riddling the Wildcats' wall, a method of approach that brought them from their own 35 yard line to Northwestern's 41. This was where Brennan took over and concluded the drive without further delay by weaving around the Wildcat defenders to find his way to the enemy goal line. Steve Nemeth, furnished the kick that gave Notre Dame its 7 point edge.

Sullivan Receives Wildcat Fumble.

The Wildcats took the kick-off after the touchdown and hurriedly slipped into Notre Dame territory, but just when things appeared to be going smoothly, Yungwirth fumbled and Sullivan captured the ball for the Irish on Northwestern's 45 yard line. From this point the second touchdown followed the pattern of its predecessor. Gasparella, Brennan, and Marino banged their way a bit at a time to the 29 yard

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 18 (AP).—The leading Toronto Maple Leafs came from behind to score a 5 to 4 victory over the Chicago Blackhawks before 13,162 fans in a National Hockey league game here tonight.

Each team scored twice in the first period and the Hawks' Red Mitchell counted the lone goal of the middle session, but Toronto turned on the pressure in the third period to outshoot Chicago three goals to one.

Dave [Sweeney] Schriner, star left winger of Toronto, was seriously injured late in the third when he crashed into his own goal post. He was taken to hospital where examination will be made for a possible broken leg. Before his injury Schriner netted twice to lead his team.

Chicago outplayed Toronto for the first periods but faltered in the final frame when the Leaf power plays paid off. Toronto outfired the Hawks, 23 to 6, in this period. Altogether Hawk snipers were credited with 25 shots at goal compared to 47 for Toronto.

Bill Mosienko was the star for Chicago, back checking and playing a neat game all the way.

The two teams meet again in Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Iowa Routed by Minnesota Power, 46 to 0

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 18.—Old fashioned Minnesota football power enjoyed a field day this glum afternoon as the Golden Gophers wrecked the hopes of a Dad's day crowd of 11,200 by running thru, around, and over a woefully undermanned Iowa eleven, 46 to 0. As the game progressed the action became a perfunctory sort of business wherein it seemed to be a question of which one of the 35 visiting hands who played would move the ball over the Iowa goal line. Of those 35, 16 were backs, most of whom were having their first real opportunity to get into the scoring column. In spite of their ambitions, two of the touchdowns were scored by ends.

Wayne Williams and Vic Kulbitski, the more reckoned members of the Gopher cast, accounted for the first two touchdowns, then more or less retired in favor of younger commuters between the bench and field. The only solace enjoyed by the Iowans was comprised of the punting of 18 year old Bob Wischmeier and a last quarter stand in Froelich has been attached to a medical battalion at Camp Livingston.

Purdue Takes 32-0 Beating from the Navy

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 18.—Navy's line overpowered Purdue's primary defenses this afternoon as the Midshipmen whipped the Boilermakers, 32 to 0, in Municipal stadium. Thirty-five thousand saw Navy, apparently more concerned with the engagement with Army Dec. 2 on this same gridiron, deny Purdue the consolation of even one touchdown.

Prior to this game Purdue had scored in all its football contests since the last contest of 1942. There was no question of the outcome after Navy paraded 54 yards in nine plays the first time it had possession of the ball, for Navy linemen had absolute mastery.

Dimancheff Is Injured.

A fumble checked Purdue's counter-attack in the opening period that seemed momentarily to tie the Navy. Moreover, the Boilermakers carried well into the third quarter trailing only 14 to 0 and in this time Babe Dimancheff proved himself the most elusive back on either team.

Just before the end of the third quarter, however, Dimancheff suffered a twisted knee and was car-

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 18.—An 84 yard touchdown run by Bill Culligan on the first scrimmage play of the afternoon, a 56 yard dash to the goal line by Don Lund in the seventh minute of the final quarter, and successful kicks by Joe Ponsetto and Ralph Chubb, this afternoon gave Michigan a 14 to 0 victory over Wisconsin. The victory left the Big Nine championship strictly up to the Wolverines, who can win their first unshared title since 1933 if they can whip Ohio State in Columbus next Saturday afternoon.

The Wolverine victory was not the comfortable conquest a two touchdown shutout would indicate. There were long stretches when the Badgers outplayed the Wolverines rather spectacularly. But the snappy lads from Madison suffered badly thru fumbles many times when they were on the march. And some of the tacklers looked not too sharp as they permitted both Culligan and Lund to do tight wire acts on the sidelines to accomplish the game's two touchdowns. Otherwise the Badgers were very tough young competitors indeed.

Statistics Show Badgers Zip.

The fact Wisconsin made 15 first downs to six for the winners is a tip-off on the Badger zip. Wisconsin made 11 first downs from rushing to two for Michigan. Each team made three first downs on passing and one on penalties. Net yards from rushing were about even. Wisconsin got 184 yards that way; Michigan, 188.

But we repeat, Wisconsin may have fumbled itself out of victory, almost surely it let a tie thus squirt away. The Badgers fumbled a dozen times and five times Michigan recovered, generally to upset what seemed a possible Wisconsin scoring project. Michigan fumbled three times and Wisconsin recovered two of these, but the Wisconsin recoveries didn't come in spots that hurt so much.

Wisconsin Makes 82 Yard Return.

There never was a time when the Badger spirit seemed to sag. The fumbles, perhaps, were due to overzealousness, certainly not clumsiness. An 84 yard run on the first scrimmage is the sort of thing which sometimes takes the starch out of young football fellows. Not so the Badgers, who responded immediately with an 82 yard return of the kick-off which followed that

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Nov. 18.—The biggest crowd that has seen a football game in the United States this fall today watched Ohio State defeat Illinois, 26 to 12, for its eighth straight victory. The attendance of 83,627 was the largest in the history of Cleveland's Municipal stadium. The previous record was 80,184 at the baseball game between the Indians and Philadelphia Athletics the day the field was dedicated.

Today's triumph moved the Buckeyes up to their season's final with Michigan next Saturday in position to clinch a clear claim to the Big Nine championship. Ohio State, with five league victories, is the only undefeated team in the Western conference.

Score Tells the Story.

Ohio State's two touchdown margin was a fair index to the relative strength of today's opponents. Illinois, whose Buddy Young, Don Greenwood, and Paul Patterson were constant threats to the Ohio goal, was guilty of costly fumbles and defensive lapses against Buckeye forward passes.

There were moments when the Illinois line outcharged the Ohio State forwards, but the Buckeyes were in command most of the way. Jack Dugger, left end, and Bill Hackett, right guard, repeatedly broke up Illinois plays before they got under way, but the real difference between the two teams was Ohio's Les Horvath. Horvath carried the ball 22 times for 109 yards, the most ground gained by any player on either team. Hi stalents as a forward passer helped his running game.

Les Gets Some Help.

While Horvath was the big man in the Ohio attack, he had plenty of help from his back field mates. Bob Brugge gained 54 yards in eight trips, Ollie Cline got 31 in 14, and Dick Flanagan, 56 in 16. Brugge and Tom Keane shared passing honors with Horvath.

Greenwood was the principal ground gainer for the Illini with 90 yards in nine efforts. Young picked up 61 in nine and Patterson 49 in 15.

Illinois lost no time capitalizing on a break that came its way on the first play of the game. Ohio's Flanagan fumbled the opening kick-off and Ralph Serpico recovered for Illinois on the Buckeyes' 38. Young went thru center for 2. On the next play, Greenwood cut over Ohio's left tackle and crossed the goal line standing up. Bill Willis blocked Orville Hall's attempted place kick.

Buckeyes Take It in Stride.

This inauspicious beginning didn't daunt the Buckeyes. They carried back the next kick-off to their 43 yard line and went on from there to a touchdown without yielding possession of the ball.

Horvath, Cline, and Flanagan collaborated in earning a first down on the Illinois 48. Brugge got around Illinois' right end for a first down on the 24. On a reverse play, Brugge darted around the same flank to the 10. Flanagan, Horvath, and Brugge alternated in cracking the Illinois line, but the Buckeyes still were a yard short of the goal on fourth down. Horvath hit right guard for the touchdown and Dugger added the point from placement to give Ohio State a 7 to 6 lead.

The Margin Grows.

The Buckeyes widened their lead in the second period. A pass, Horvath to Dugger, netted a first down at midfield. Horvath got 5 off right tackle and lateraled to Flanagan who was brought down on the Illini 38. A 15 yard penalty temporarily braked down the Buckeye march but Dugger grabbed Brugge's long pass on Illinois' 17 and ran to

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 18.—Indiana university's Hoosiers bore a marked resemblance today to the machine which earlier this year set Michigan's Wolverines back on their heels.

Indiana's red clad men, civilians all, had a field day at the expense of the youngsters from the University of Pittsburgh and compiled a 47 to 0 triumph before a chilled turnout of 5,000 in Memorial stadium.

A Triumph for Bob.

The game, dedicated to the 38 former Indiana university football players now serving overseas, well could be recorded as another personal triumph for Bob Hoernschemeyer, the leading passer of the Western conference, were it not for the excellent ball handling of his receivers, principally Ted Kluszewski, a freshman end from Argo, Ill., and Dick Deranek, freshman half back from South Bend. Hoernschemeyer passed for three of the Hoosier's seven touchdowns and he set up a fourth with another while scoring once himself.

The Hoosiers ran up 16 first downs this afternoon, 11 by rushing and 5 thru the air, while the Panthers made 10, six of which came thru the passing of Paul Rickards, a freshman from Wheeling, W. Va., who spent a busy and quite profitable day aiming at another pair of freshmen, Ed Zimmovan and Bob Hawkins. Rickards played most of the game and the net gain on passes was 167 yards as compared to 195 recorded by the Hoosiers. Indiana outgained Pitt by rushing, 215 yards to 62.

Panthers' Threat Fails.

While the Hoosiers dominated play in the first quarter, the Panthers presented one sustained drive of 65 yards, during which they ran up five first downs, moving from their own 22 to the Hoosiers' 13 before running out of steam. The action was spearheaded by Rickards, who completed four passes.

The Panthers had little else to cheer them, however, for before the period was two minutes old the Hoosiers had crossed their goal line. Pitt took the kick-off to its 26, but a holding penalty set it back to the 11 and, on the third play of the game Hoernschemeyer intercepted a pass by Rickards on the 30 and ran it to the 8, then passed to Deranek in the end zone for a touchdown. Tavener's kick was wide.

Fumble Leads to Score.

Pitt lost the ball on a fumble by Louis Yakopec on its own 36 two plays after the next kick-off. Duranek made a first down and Hoernschemeyer completed a pass to Kluszewski on fourth down on the Pitt 5. Hoernschemeyer then skipped around right end to score. Tavener made his try for the extra point good.

Indiana added 13 more points in the second period, again mainly thru Hoernschemeyer's passing efforts. The Hoosiers started on their way to the goal with a pass, Hoernschemeyer to Kluszewski, good for 55 yards. Harry Jagade plunged to a first down on the 10 and Hoernschemeyer passed to Addams for the third Indiana touchdown. Tavener's kick was wide.

Addams Goes Across.

Matthews took Tavener's kick-off to the Pittsburgh 30, and, after the Panthers failed to dent the Hoosier line, Yakopec punted to Hoernschemeyer, who ran the ball back from his own 30 to the Pitt 37. Bill Armstrong, a freshman from Evansville subbing for Deranek, went to a first down on the 26 in three plays. Ralph Thompson picked up 3 and Hoernschemeyer hit Addams with a screen pass. Addams ran 23 yards to score and Tavener added the extra point.

The Hoosiers maintained their scoring pace in the third period, scoring their fifth touchdown early and their sixth just a couple of minutes before the quarter's end. A few seconds before the final gun Ben Raimondi passed to Jack Congdon of Chicago's Taft High school for an Indiana touchdown. Tavener kicked his fifth point.

WILBERFORCE WINS, 25-12.

Wilberforce, O., Nov. 18 [AP].—Wilberforce came from behind today to defeat West Virginia State, 25 to 12. Trailing 6 to 0 at the half, the Ohioans surged on top with a three touchdown outburst in the third period. Freshman Half Back Bee Taylor scored twice.

line for a first down. Brennan again took over, running wide to his right and then swinging back into the cover of a series of blockers to reach the goal line. The score became 14 to 0 when Nemeth provided another placement.

The Wildcats stirred up some trouble for the Irish late in the first period when Conners intercepted a pass by Dancewicz and squirmed around until downed on the Irish 30 yard line. With the help of a pass, some leg work and an offside penalty against Notre Dame, the Wildcats traveled to the 16 yard mark, but in the last play of the period, Yungwirth, attempting to pass, was nailed for a 14 yard loss by Waybright. Then a Wildcat pass was allowed at the start of the second quarter because of interference by Endress, leaving the Wildcats 9 yards to go. But despite a seven yard thrust by Funderburg, the Wildcats lost the ball on downs.

Clock Halts Irish Advance.

With time running short in the second quarter the Irish formed on their 29 yard line for another touchdown surge, but were nosed out by the clock. In various ways, including a couple of passes by Dancewicz, they proceeded to the Wildcats' 12 yard line. Dancewicz shot thru for 4 yards and a similar contribution came from Nemeth. Then Brennan skipped thru to the 3 yard line for the last play of the period.

The Wildcats were strictly on the defensive in the third period, their success in this particular branch of the football art forcing the Irish to wait for the arrival of the final quarter for their third touchdown. In the last two plays of the third session Dancewicz passed to Skoglund and Wendell ripped thru for four yards, shoving the Wildcats to their 14 yard line as the period ended.

Wendell Scores Final Touchdown.

Marino peeled off 6 yards in two attempts. Wendell charged thru his right tackle to the 3 yard line and then repeated the play for a touchdown, Nemeth again kicking the extra point.

After taking the touchdown kick-off the Wildcats moved from their 40 yard line and hustled up field in sprightly fashion but their party was broken up when the Irish took the ball on downs on their 22 yard line. They followed with a punt that Dancewicz aimed out of bounds on the Wildcats' 6 yard line. The Wildcats were able to pick up 5 yards in two plays by Schadler and Doyle before the game ended. which they wrested possession from the Gophers on the Hawkeye 8 yard mark.

Gophers' 30th Triumph.

The victory was the 30th scored by the Gophers in the 38 year series with Iowa and gave them a conference record of two won and two lost as they prepare for their finale against Wisconsin in Madison next Saturday.

The first of the seven Gopher touchdowns required only five minutes, the entire transaction traveling 68 yards from the opening kickoff. Half Back John Lundquist returned same 23 yards to his own 32 yard stripe. Kulbitski and Williams then did a ball carrying duet climaxed by a 48 yard sweep of the defensive left end by Williams. The red head was tackled by two Iowa men and fumbled, Right Tackle Bill Aldworth recovering for the Gophers on the Iowa 6 yard mark. Kulbitski scored on third down, Merland Kispert adding the extra point.

A Hawkeye fumble on the first down after the subsequent kickoff to the Hawkeyes soon led to another Minnesota score. Rudy Sikich, 210 pound left tackle, the game's outstanding lineman, retrieved the bobble on the Iowa 19 yard line. Williams could eke out only 2 yards in as many attempts, and the Gophers were set back 5 yards on a time penalty.

A Good Block Helps.

The alert Sikich then scooped up another Iowa fumble on the Hawkeye 17 yard line, and the Gophers proceeded to move backward two penalties, one for excessive time and another for holding, ultimately shoving them back to the Iowa 34 yard line. On the first play thereafter Bob Kasper faked an end run, then flung the ball to Dick Schmitz, freshman right end, who juggled the ball briefly on the Iowa 4, then strolled over the goal line. Kulbitski delivered the extra point with less than two minutes of the first period remaining. Iowa made its only move after taking the kickoff, driving from its 30 to the Gopher 41 yard line, largely off a 20 yard end dash by Freshman Dick Woodard.

Iowans Fight Back.

The second quarter found the Iowans fighting back and restraining their foes to a paltry 6 points therein. Williams and Kulbitski had left the game and the Hawkeye kids forced Minnesota to punt. Woodard then picked up a first down, but again Iowa fumbled, and Guard Bob Jensen of Minnesota hopped on the ball at the Iowa 31 yard mark. Kasper and Full Back Tom Cates then drove to the Iowa 4 in three plays, and two more sufficed to send Dale Rappanna, frosh quarter back, over for the touchdown. Hudson Mealey missed the try for extra point.

Early in the third quarter Wischmeier punted to the Iowa 44 yard stripe. Kulbitski picked up a yard in a routine smash at tackle, and on second down, Williams hurled the ball to Bill Juhl, freshman end, who accepted it on the 30 yard line and proceeded to a touchdown. Williams ran the score to 34 to 0 with his successful conversion. Toward the end of the same third period the Gophers organized a 68 yard drive which finally saw them score again early in the last quarter.

A Long Pass Clicks.

A holding penalty had set them back on their own 17 yard line, but once again they clicked on a long pass. This time it was Matt Nolan pitching to Juhl on the Iowa 29 yard line. The latter appeared to be in the clear for another touchdown run, but a diving tackle by Quarter Back Jack Stewart of Iowa detained him as the quarter ended. Matt Sutton then contributed a 12 yard thrust at tackle and collaborated with Mealey and Cates until the last named youth found a hole at the defensive right tackle and sauntered thru from the Hawkeye 10 yard mark. Mealey's try for the extra point missed.

Bud Gullickson, 165 pound freshman back, then joined the Gopher fun. After George Moore, Iowa's Negro back, had toted the kick-off back, he fumbled when tackled and Kasper rushed up to take the ball on the fly, returning it to the Iowa 26 yard line. Gullickson then chipped in with a 19 yard smash and finally scored from the 3 yard line. Rappanna's attempt for the point was blocked by Al McCord, Iowa quarter back.

Illinois Man Wins Ball in Bond Contest

Charles S. Kirkpatrick of Bloomington, Ill., with two extra kicks just before the deadline at midnight on Friday, won the 1930 Knute Rockne-Notre Dame football, which was presented to him yesterday between halves of the game between Northwestern and the Irish at Notre Dame.

His combined total of $151,000 in war bonds just topped the $150,000 bid submitted by South Bend's Sig Welber. Mr. Welber, who led the Indiana contingent in the sixth war bond contest, thus won the ball which was to be autographed by members of the Notre Dame team which won yesterday's game.

The contest led to the purchase of $529,000 in war bonds, with Indiana's fans gaining an edge of $280,000 to $249,000 over the Illinois contestants.

Bidding for footballs is old stuff to Mr. Kirkpatrick, who is described by his Bloomington friends as a civic leader and sports enthusiast. He finished second in the bidding for the football which was used in the 1942 College All-Stars-Chicago Bears' game. Mr. Kirkpatrick was leading in that contest until the final minutes with a bid of $50,010 in war bonds. Then I. M. Bilderback of Champaign came up with a total of $60,000.

Mr. Kirkpatrick is a retired business man. The Indiana pacesetter, Mr. Welber, is a merchant.

CLOUDBUSTERS UPSET, 19-7, BUT GRAHAM STARS

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—Camp Peary unleashed its power in the final quarter today and defeated the North Carolina Navy Preflight, 19 to 7, canceling a great performance by the Cloudbusters' Otto Graham.

Graham threw 26 passes and completed 14 for 127 yards and intercepted three Peary aerials and ran them back for 68 yards, but the Seabee power held the Preflight team, which previously had lost only to Bainbridge Navy, to a minus 55 yards on the ground. The lone Preflight touchdown came in the first period on a 10 yard pass from Graham to Melbourne Sheehan.

the goal. Dugger added the point and the score was Ohio State, 14; Illinois, 6.

A fumble by Young which was recovered by Warren Amling on Illinois' 47 gave Ohio State opportunity for its third touchdown soon after scoring its second. Cline and Horvath earned a first down on the Illini 36. Keane passed to Traian Dendiu, right end, who was downed on the 15. Keane ran to the 9 before he was crowded out of bounds. Flanagan plunged to the 5. Cline was stopped on the 2, but on the next play Brugge broke off his left tackle for a standup touchdown. Dugger missed the point and the half ended with the Buckeyes in front, 20 to 6.

Horvath Is Hard to Stop.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but Illinois got back in the ball game with a touchdown early in the final period. On a quick opening play over center, Greenwood broke away for 27 yards and a first down on Ohio's 15. Patterson slipped inside the Buckeye's left tackle for 11 and Young moved the ball to the 1 yard line. Greenwood scored on a quarter back sneak. His try for point was wide.

Les Bingaman intentionally kicked off short and the ball was smothered by the Buckeyes on their 43. Horvath appeared to be trapped trying to pass, but he ran for a 3 yard gain. He whipped a pass to Dugger for a first down on Illinois' 37. It took two plunges by Flanagan and two by Cline to give the Buckeyes a first down on the 25. Horvath, who always delivered when the chips were down, sped around Illinois' right end to the 8 yard line. Cline banged center for two and Horvath stepped thru his left tackle for a touchdown. Dugger's kick was wide and the scoring for the day was over.

Illinois had another chance in the fourth quarter when Lou Agase intercepted Keane's pass and ran to Ohio State's 22. Three line plays and an incomplete pass netted only 2 yards and Ohio took over on its 20. The statistics:

INDIANA WINS IN CROSS-COUNTRY; NOTRE DAME 2D

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 18 [Special].—Freshman John Mitchem paced Indiana university to the state cross-country championship here today, covering the four mile course in 22:26.3. Two other Hoosier runners, Bob McGee and Martin Norton, finished third and fourth, to hold the Indiana score down to 28 points. Notre Dame, the defending champion, with Ken Muening finishing second, had 41, and Purdue totaled 53. Ray Helsing led the Purdue runners, finishing in sixth place.

Campbell, Former Illini End, Promoted to Major

Robert A. Campbell, left end on the 1940 University of Illinois football team, has been promoted to the rank of major in the marine corps. Bob received his commission in May, 1941, three months after being graduated from the university. He left the United States in January, 1942, and has since fought in the Bougainville and Guam campaigns. At present he is on the island of Guam.

STATE WINS, 39 TO 0.

Purdue's undermanned squad, by comparison to Navy's galaxy, had the satisfaction of gaining 177 yards by rushing, a total which exceeded the yardage Navy had yielded to all previous opponents.

While Navy scored twice on well executed passes, the story of this game is Navy power. The sailors ripped huge holes from tackle to tackle regardless of whether Purdue used six or seven front line defenders.

Navy's single wingback formation permits far more deception than was demonstrated this afternoon, but the occasional spins, one double reverse with an end carrying, as well as delayed plunges were review for the battle with the military academy.

Hal Hamberg, side lined in recent games by injury, returned to action and, while his reputation as a passer is his primary claim to greatness, he proved equally proficient today as a runner.

A Touchdown Pass.

Hamberg attempted five passes this afternoon in Navy's total of 18 and completed three for total gain of 45 yards. His second toss in the opening period to Ben Martin accounted for 18 yards and Navy's second touchdown.

Al Walton, Bill Barron, and Clyde Scott assisted Hamberg in rushing, but these ball carriers had benefit of a pair of exceptionally fine tackles, Don Whitmire and Gail Gilliam. Their superior blocking was the key to all-rushing plays.

Purdue won the toss and chose to receive but was unable to make distance from its 23 yard line. On fourth down Bill Canfield's kick was grounded on Navy's 46.

Hal opened with 13 yards thru the line and Scott plunged for 5 yards. Scott got 17 yards on a second drive over guard with the deception of a flanking left end and a decoy back in motion to the right. Barron then plunged for 4 yards Hamberg made first down on Purdue's 5 yar dline on a plunge.

Scott went over on his third consecutive smash despite an eight man Boilermaker line. Vic Finos then entered the game to kick the point for Navy's 7 to 0 lead.

Purdue received and after gains of 14 yards on plays by Dimancheff and Bob Pfohl which put the ball on Purdue's 48, Pfohl fumbled and Leon Bramlett, Navy end, recovered on his own 47.

Gains on Fake Pass.

Hamberg swept around Jack Morton on a fake pass for 14 yards. Scott hit the line for 9 yards and then made first down on Purdue's 24 on the favorite fake reverse and plunge. Hamberg again swept defensive left end for 5 yards. Two more thrusts netted a yard and on fourth down Hamberg threw to Ben Martin who took the ball on Purdue's 5 yard line and continued to the goal, unmolested. Finos again added the point, his last, however, for he missed the next three times.

Purdue had the ball for only five more plays in the first period, but the last of these signalled the Boilermakers' best attack of the game. Four first downs by rushing were linked together, with Dimancheff setting pace, but Purdue, after reaching Navy's 36 yard line, bogged down and Canfield, on fourth down, lost 10 yards trying to pass.

Pat O'Brien, Purdue tackle, stole the ball from Hamberg on Purdue's 12 yard line to end Navy's first attack in the third period. Momentarily the Boilermakers' quick opening plays bothered Navy, for despite a holding penalty, which set Purdue back to its 1 yard line, Purdue still got a first down. After working out to their 37, however, the Boilermakers were penalized for offside and Canfield's second down pass was intercepted by Walton.

Score in Five Plays.

Walton returned 20 yards to Purdue's 30 yard line and Navy went on to score in five plays. Hamberg plunged for 13 yards in two tries and Walton matched that distance on a straight smash over guard. Walton then took two more lunges to get the touchdown.

Navy began its fourth scoring march just before the end of the third quarter, a drive of 43 yards. After reaching Purdue's 9, Navy was set back to its 30 for roughness so Bruce Smith passed to Ben Martin uncovered in the end zone.

Two minutes before the end of the game, Navy made final taubulation after traveling 44 yards. Fred Earley, Charley Riehl, and Ellsworth were the ball carriers, with Earley contributing a run of 14 yards.

Hunters Get Good News—Ducks Arrive

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Havana, Ill., Nov. 18.—The ducks are down. That's the good news for hunters that has been spreading thru the Illinois valley since yesterday. After waiting a long time for the big flight of mallards from the north they've now taken over the refuges, sloughs, and lakes down here in one of the most pronounced flights ever recorded by game technicians of the Illinois natural history survey. Frank Bellores Jr., the game technician who checks the duck migrations for the survey, says that more than 2,000,000 water fowl swept into the valley in about 48 hours, which is a record flight.

Today there are approximately 900,000 mallards alone on the Chautauqua wild life refuge near Havana, whereas just a few days ago only about 250,000 occupied this sanctuary. Swan lake near Henry, Ill., had only a handful of ducks a few days ago when we looked at the birds thru Bellrose's telescope. Yesterday between 900,000 and 1,000,000 were on that lake. Included in this total were 75,000 ringnecked ducks or blackjacks, the biggest single flight of these birds that game technicians ever have seen come to that lake in recent years.

Had Limit Before Noon.

We've been lucky in hitting the jackpot on the duck business down here because we've had the chance to see the thrilling spectacle of a great migration flight and also enjoy some topnotch mallard and pintail shooting. Within a few hours after we had looked at the concentrations of ducks on different bodies of water along the river valley we moved into a duck blind with Ed Long, a veteran waterfowl hunter.

The greenheads and sprigs immediately put on a show for us by swinging around our blind and decoys in such numbers that shortly after noon found us in the boat headed for home with our limit. Nearly all of the ducks, that were lured to our stool of decoys by Othal Lovells duck calling music, had been in the corn fields all night, for we watched them come in by the thousands around sunrise.

Dogs Put On Show.

Today we had a front seat where we could see the hundred of thousands of ducks flying in and out of Chautauqua lake when we sat in a blind on Mud lake with Jim Raker, Liverpool, Ill., and George Graham of Canton, Ill.

The expert calling of these experienced mallard hunters fooled the birds so many times that all of us had several hours of unusual pass shooting. Nipper and Bowser, two keen nosed Chesapeake bay retrievers in the party, put on an exhibition of finding crippled ducks that had us cheering nearly every minute. They retrieved at least two dozen mallards that sailed down far across Mud lake and hung up a record of not losing a single wing tipped duck during the whole hunt.

On that Michigan kick-off Joe Campbell took the ball on his 10 yard line and ran obliquely for an advance of 10 yards before handing the ball to Jerry Thompson. Jerry galloped along the right side line before Culligan, not the least winded by his touchdown run a few seconds previously, overtook Jerry and knocked him out of bounds on the Michigan 8 yard line. Wisconsin ran four plays, including the first of its dozen fumbles, and then Michigan took over on its own 7 yard line.

Fumble Play Stops Wisconsin.

The next biggest scoring threat by Wisconsin came late in the game when Wisconsin ripped from a kick-off to a first down on the Michigan 6 yard line. This march included a pass, Johnny Fee to T. A. Cox, which carried to the Michigan 17. After that Cox fumbled but recovered on the Michigan 10; then Cox went to the 6 yard line for that first down. Then what happened? You guessed it—Wisconsin fumbled and Howard Yerges recovered for Michigan on the Michigan 12.

Busiest men on the field, from the standpoint of tries from scrimmage, were Thompson and Cox. Thompson, in addition to his 72 yard sprint the first time Wisconsin had possession of the ball, made 20 rushes for gains of 73 yards. Thompson rushed 19 times for 65 yards. Other Wisconsin backs who negotiated gains were Nick Holmes, Fee and Dick Botham.

Derricotte, Ponsetto Play Briefly.

Michigan kept Gene Derricotte and Ponsetto under wraps. Each of these Wolverine stars made only one rush. Ponsetto appeared briefly at the start of the game and Derricotte went in in the third period for a gain of 4 yards. Chubb, Lund, and Culligan each carried the ball a dozen times from scrimmage. Chubb accounted for a net 16 yards, Lund for 88, and Culligan a net 68, his net being cut down by losses aggregating 34 yards. Statistics:

Louis Bouts Adds Zest to Stadium Card

Sgt. Joe Louis will arrive from the east Wednesday for a three round exhibition bout with Dan Merritt of Cleveland in Chicago Stadium Friday night. The heavyweight champion's appearance was made possible by the extension of his furlough.

Louis' appearance takes much of the gamble out of the show, which is made up largely of small club stars with substantial Chicago followings. Most prominent of the 12 fighters appearing in the six contests of eight rounds on the card is Sgt. Lou Woods, 153 pound boxer of Fort Sheridan and Detroit.

Woods, who lost on a ninth round technical knockout but scored a moral victory when Ray [Sugar] Robinson was unable to register a single knockdown over him in their engagement in the Satdium last month, is paired with George Costner of Cincinnati.

Costner is the newcomer who has taken the fans by storm as a result of scoring four straight knockouts, three in Chicago and one in Indianapolis. There is one change in the remainder of the card.

The Great Lakes football powerhouse, its reserves sharing honors with the regulars, disposed of Marquette university's undermanned eleven without too much trouble on Ross field yesterday, running up a 32 to 0 count on the Hilltoppers before 25,000 cheering sailors.

It was the Bluejackets' eighth victory in 10 starts this fall and their second over Marquette. They beat the Hilltoppers in Milwaukee two weeks ago, 45 to 7. The game concluded a luckless season for Marquette, but Great Lakes has yet to meet Fort Warren here next Saturday and Notre Dame at South Bend Dec. 2.

There were many stars for the Bluejackets, and among these was Quarter Back Al Vogt, one time Marquette ace, who put on a brilliant demonstration of blocking, passing, punt returning, and field generalship against his former mates.

Rees Recovers Fumble.

The game was only six minutes old when the Bluejackets scored their first touchdown after Tackle Jim Rees had recovered a Marquette fumble on the Hilltoppers' 12 yard line. Eddie Saenz ran around left end for four yards, and then followed the same route on the next play to reach the end zone. Jim Mello failed to add the extra point and the Sailors led, 6 to 0.

Later in the quarter, Vogt returned a punt to his 49 to set up another scoring drive. Saenz, Mello, and Jim Youell collaborated on a lateral to the enemy 37, and Don Mangold and Saenz punched out another first down on the 19. From there Mangold lateraled to Mello, who scored but failed to kick the extra point.

A blocked Marquette kick put the Sailors in position on the Hilltoppers' 18 before the end of the quarter and, after two plays lost three yards, Youell, on the first play of the second period, passed 21 yards to Jim Keane for a touchdown. Mello's kick was wide and the score was 19 to 0. Another fancy punt return by Vogt set up Great Lakes' fourth marker, the former Hilltopper going from midfield to the Marquette 24. Don Lesher lateraled to Harold Duddridge for a first down on the 8, and on fourth down Gene Delaney scored from the 1, making the half time score 25 to 0.

Sailors Score on Kick-Off.

The highlight of a rather unusual second half was the opening kick-off which provided Great Lakes with the final score of the game. Mel Mochalski of Marquette booted to Gene Delaney, who took the ball on his 10 and ran diagonally to the Hilltoppers' 45. There he was surrounded by the enemy but succeeded in lateraling to Keane, who broke loose and went the rest of the way. Mello came in to add the point that rounded out the 32 to 0 final count.

Marquette succeeded in reaching the Great Lakes' 29 yard line in the last few minutes of the play when Bluejacket substitutes yielded ground but a series of incomplete passes and an interception ended the game.

4 TEAMS ENTER C. Y. O. RUN IN JACKSON PARK

Cross-country teams from Great Lakes Naval Training station, University of Chicago, University of Illinois, and Wheaton college have entered the 10th annual C. Y. O. cross-country and Central A. A. U. championship run, which will be held on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 23. Great Lakes will be defending the C. Y. O. championship won last year.

The race, which is open to all amateur athletes, will be run over a 5,000 meter [3 miles 188 yards] course in Jackson park. Medals will be awarded to the first 20 runners to finish. The winning five man team will receive the C. Y. O. championship trophy.

Western Pennsylvania Title Is Won by Donora

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 18 (AP).—Capitalizing on two long runs, the Donora Dragons today beat Ellwood City High school, 13 to 0, to win the Class AA W. P. I. A. L. football crown. On the fifth play of the game Donora's Roscoe Ross, a half back, scored on a 56 yard run.

TODAY'S GAMES.
Brooklyn at Boston.
Cleveland at Card-Pitts, Comiskey Park.
Chicago Bears at Detroit.
Green Bay at New York.
Philadelphia at Washington.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Card-Pitts, who are strangers to Chicagoland professional football fans, except for weekly telegraphic reports, will play their first of two successive games in Comiskey park this afternoon. Today they will lineup against the Cleveland Rams and next Sunday their opponents will be the Green Bay Packers, who could be needing a victory at that time to clinch the western championship of the National league.

Gone from the local scene after five straight Sundays in Wrigley field—during which stretch they won four and tied one—the second place Bears will defend that position today in Detroit against the Lions. This is the team which severely bruised the Bears' western title ambitions last month in Wrigley field with a 21 to 21 tie.

Bears Sign Plasman.

The Bears forward wall was strengthened considerably yesterday when Ralph Brizzolara, secretary and business manager, signed Capt. Dick Plasman, veteran end who joined the army air forces prior to the start of the 1942 campaign, for the remaining games on the schedule. Plasman is on a furlough and will be available for the game today and those with the Eagles next Sunday and the Card-Pitts in Pittsburgh on Dec. 3.

Green Bay's small town boys will be in the big city today for a game with Steve Owen's New York Giants in the Polo Grounds. The Packers, by winning, will become the 1944 western champions, thus officially bringing to an end the Bears' four year reign. By tying, they will be sure of at least a deadlock with the Bears for honors in their sector. By losing, they will prolong the race, which would give some importance to their battle with the Card-Pitts, providing, of course, the Bears win today.

The Giants will be fighting to stay in the three cornered race for the league's eastern title and a loss will virtually eliminate them, since they already are burdened with one defeat and a tie. In another big eastern game, the Philadelphia Eagles are meeting the Redskins in Washington. Each is unbeaten and in an earlier game the rivals tied, 31 to 31. The Giants held the Eagles to a 21 to 21 draw last week while the Redskins were winning their fifth game.

Both Teams Interesting.

Before today's game in Comiskey park the Card-Pitts and Rams can get together and have a good cry. Last Sunday the Rams were beaten by the Redskins, 14 to 10, tho gaining 407 yards to the Redskins' 199. The Card-Pitts' yardage superiority over the Lions that same day was almost as great, yet Gus Dorais' athletes won, 27 to 6.

Despite their lowely records, the Card-Pitts and Rams have interesting teams, Cleveland, in the same number of games as their opponents —six— has scored 131 points while the Card-Pitts have made 74. Johnny Grigas, the big fellow from Holy Cross who belongs to the Cardinals, is the workhorse of the combined eleven and will be defending his lead as the league's top ground gainer. In each of the last three games, he has made more than 100 yards, in addition to doing most of the passing. The Rams, who whipped the Bears in Cleveland, 19 to 7, later lost to the Chicagoans in Wrigley field, 28 to 21.

Jim Benton's Back.

Jim Benton, Cleveland's lanky end, will be making his third Chicagoland appearance. As a 1943 lendlease Bear star he played with the champions in Dyche stadium against the All-Stars last August. Then he appeared in Wrigley against the Bears. Benton trails Green Bay's Don Hutson in pass catching, having taken 31 throws for 377 yards and six touchdowns. Hutson has tucked in 49 for 739 yards and seven touchdowns. Tom Colella is the Rams' No. 1 ground gainer with an average of 5 yards in 38 rushes. Cleveland's Albie Riesz ranks fourth among the passers with 35 completions in 76 throws for 426 yards and two scores.

Several of the Bears will be well taped today because of an assortment of injuries. Sid Luckman is expected to arrive in time to throw some footballs in Briggs stadium. Sid, tho he has missed three games, is closing in on Washington's Frank Filchock. He's completed 51 of 97 passes for 747 yards and eight touchdowns. Filchock's 67 completions in 112 tosses have been good for 959 yards and 12 touchdowns. Frankie Sinkwich will try to counter Luckman's passes today by doing some pitching, in addition to more than a little running. Lineups at Detroit:

Army Powerhouse Rolls Over Pennsylvania Eleven, 62 to 7

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 18 (AP).—A crowd of 65,000 today watched Army's unbeaten football machine gain a 62 to 7 victory over Pennsylvania.

The Cadets, a bit ragged in their play execution as compared with a week ago when they mauled Notre Dame, needed almost the entire first quarter to get started. But once they found their direction, they couldn't be stopped.

By half time it was 27 to 7, and a 28 point third period made a rout of the contest.

Glenn Davis was the scoring hero with three touchdowns, and Dick Walterhouse converted five touchdowns to tie the national record of 44 in a season.

YALE REMAINS UNBEATEN.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 18 (AP).—Yale turned back North Carolina, 13 to 6, today in a furiously fought intersectional battle for its seventh straight triumph, with one more to go for a perfect campaign.

Paul Walker, Yale's big end, was everywhere as he set up the Bulldogs' first touchdown late in the opening period and raced across for what turned out to be the decisive tally in the final on a pass. The Tarheels gave Yale tough competition before bowing before better all-around performance for the seventh time in their series, which began in 1919.

BROWN, 12; COLUMBIA, 0.

New York, Nov. 18 (AP).—Two perfectly executed plays in the midst of a comedy of football errors gave Brown a 12 to 0 victory over Columbia today and brought the Bruins their second triumph of the season.

One of these shook Quarter Back Paul O'Brien loose for an 83 yard scoring run in the third quarter and the other sent Charley Tiademann back 50 yards to tally with an intercepted pass in the fourth period.

SYRACUSE UPSETS COLGATE.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP).—Syracuse piled up seven touchdowns here today to upset Colgate in the teams' 45th meeting, 43 to 13.

Eddy Dolan carried away honors for Syracuse with a 25 yard touchdown run in the first period and a 55 yard dash for a score in the second.

CORNELL BEATS DARTMOUTH.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 18 (AP).—Cornell squeezed out a photo finish, 14 to 13, decision over an underdog Dartmouth eleven today at Schoellkopf field on the trusty toe of Paul Robeson Jr., and the touchdown sprints of Alex Drogin and Allen Dekdebrun before about 13,000 fans.

2 TROJAN STARS LEARN BROTHER MISSING AT SEA

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 18 (AP).—Two Callanan brothers, Left Half George and Right End Jim, battled for Southern California against California today, but not many in the crowd of 40,000 knew they had heard sorrowful news a little earlier.

Their older brother, Ensign Howard Callanan, had been reported missing in action off the Philippines. Howard was engineering officer aboard the U. S. S. Hoel, one of two destroyers officially reported sunk in the battle off Leyte.

Howard starred as right half with U. S. C. last year and on the same turf where his two brothers played today scored the only touchdown to enable the Trojans to defeat California. The Callanan family, now residing in Los Angeles, formerly lived in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Treasury to Sell Service Game Tickets

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—It's the treasury and war finance committee of Maryland that you're looking for, if you want a ticket to the Army-Navy football game in Baltimore, Dec. 2.

The line is forming rapidly, for the tickets may run out along about the time the 30,000th customer puts his money down. And don't forget to bring along enough cash to buy at least a $25 bond.

This meeting of war time's great service elevens has been designated as the "Sixth War Loan game." So the lucky ticket holder will be expected to hold a bond in his hand also when he walks in for the kick-off.

Depends on Location.

The size of the bond which must be purchased in order to get a ticket will depend on where the seat is located, but at least half of the treasury's tickets will go with $25 bonds. Tickets will cost the established price of $4.80 plus the bond, of course.

There, insofar as John Henry Public is concerned, is the substance of an announcement made today by the navy after a conference of navy, war, and treasury officials.

Take Care of Army, Navy First.

The announcement also said ticket needs of the army and navy, including their athletic associations, will be taken care of first, with the remaining tickets going to the treasury for disposition to the public.

The army cadet corps, as well as the navy's midshipmen, will attend the game. This insures a colorful war time setting for what many persons predict will be the greatest of service games.

Whether President Roosevelt will attend is not yet known, it was said today at the White House.

Approximately how many tickets will be available to the general public is any one's guess, officials said as they refused to make an estimate. Observers made their own calculations, however, and arrived at something around 30,000.

Honor Earlier Sales.

Ticket applications already received for the game when it was scheduled for Annapolis, instead of Baltimore, will be honored. All such tickets and those going to meet army and navy needs will be independent of the purchase of bonds, the treasury said.

The treasury will reimburse the navy athletic association for the number of tickets it receives. These tickets will be available for issue Nov. 27 by the Maryland war finance committee.

L. S. U. LOSES TO GEORGIA TECH ELEVEN, 14 TO 6

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 18 (AP).—Georgia Tech stayed in the bowl race tonight with a 14 to 6 victory over a Louisiana State team that kept the outcome in doubt until late in the last quarter.

Successful passes and tricky ground plays were the order of the evening for both teams despite a soggy field and a light drizzle.

Tech's Frank Broyles heaved his team's two scoring passes to George Mathews and Willard Landry scored L. S. U.'s marker in the first period with a drive off tackle. Gene Knight missed the try for extra point.

ALABAMA WINS, 19 TO 0.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Nov. 18 (AP).—Alabama's Crimson Tide got the jump on Mississippi State here today in the first minute of play and were never threatened as it rolled to a surprise 19 to 0 victory to knock the Maroons off the unbeaten list.

The Maroons, last southern college team to be beaten, were never in the game, and had only one scoring opportunity.

GEORGIA ROUTS AUBURN.

Columbus, Ga., Nov. 18 (AP).—Georgia overwhelmed the highly regarded Auburn Tigers for a 49 to 13 victory in a Southeastern conference football game today. Billy Hodges, George Skipworth, and Kenneth McCall, the three Georgia quarter backs, gave an amazing passing exhibition to roll up one of the largest scores in the long Auburn-Georgia series which began in 1892.

TENNESSEE WHIPS TEMPLE.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 18 (AP).—The unbeaten Tennessee Volunteers gave their bowl chances another shove forward today, coming from behind in the last quarter to defeat Temple university, 27 to 14.

Getting off to a slow start, the Vols were trailing, 12 to 14, when they turned on the steam in the final period to out-dazzle the Owls with two touchdowns and a safety.

KENTUCKY BURIES W. VA.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 18 (AP).—The Kentucky Wildcats turned loose their most powerful offense of the season today to bury the West Virginia Mountaineers, 40 to 9.

Little Jimmy Howe, freshman from Fort Thomas, Ky., celebrated his return to the Wildcat lineup by scoring three touchdowns on runs ranging from 9 to 66 yards.

TULANE WINS, 36-20.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 18 (AP).—Tulane discarded its power plays to outscore Clemson, 36 to 20, today.

The Tulane touchdowns ranged from reserve Harry Robinson's 85 yard trip in the third period to Robinson's 20 yard pass play to end Alvin Dews in the second.

DUKE WINS, 34 TO 7.

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—Duke university swamped the University of South Carolina, 34 to 7, today and remained unbeaten in the Southern conference.

St. John's Military Hangs 41-13 Defeat on Kelly High

Delafield, Wis., Nov. 18 [Special].—St. John's Military academy closed its 1944 football season this afternoon by defeating Kelly High school of Chicago, 41 to 13. Dick Headbloom, St. John right half back, led the attack by passing for one touchdown after scoring three others, and kicking five extra points.

Bowl Bound Trojans Beat Bears, 32 to 0

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 18.—Southern California's Trojans brushed aside another football rival in their drive toward the Rose bowl with a 32 to 0 victory over the California Bears today.

Functioning smoothly and swiftly behind their T-formation plays, the Southern favorites snatched a touchdown when the game was five minutes and a few seconds old. It was the start of a rout that tumbled the Bears to a one sided defeat and evened up matters so far as U. S. C. rooters are concerned.

Last October a stronger California eleven held the Trojans to a 6 to 6 tie.

The Trojans came back in the first period for another counter; scored a third touchdown in the second quarter, and charged off the field at half time with a 2 to 0 lead.

With substitutes largely manning the team in the second half, the visitors scored touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters. California barely held its own against second and third string players in the latter phases of the competition.

U. C. L. A. TROUNCES PACIFIC.

Los Angeles, Nov. 18 (AP).—In a warmup for next Saturday's important rematch with Southern California, U. C. L. A. today walloped a pitifully outmatched College of Pacific team, 54 to 7.

Altho Coach Babe Horrell made generous use of his reserves, U. C. L. A. amassed one of the biggest scores in the school's history.

In the first three quarters, the Bruins rolled thru the Pacific line almost at will, altho they were held pointless in the last period.

Amos Alonzo Stagg's eleven, riddled by the transfer of 20 naval trainees, made its lone score in the middle of the second period.

SUPERBOMBERS ROUT HUSKIES' ELEVEN, 47 TO 6

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 18 (AP).—The Second Air Force Super-Bombers, paced by Half Back Ray Evans and Full Back Bill Prentice today rolled up a 47 to 6 football victory over the University of Washington Huskies.

Prentice and Evans scored three touchdowns each, with Evans making two scoring runs of more than 75 yards and one of 34 yards. Prentice drove across 2 from within the 1 yard line and scored 47 yards for another.

The Washington touchdown came in the final quarter when End Jack Roderick took the ball after a reverse and crossed up the entire Super-Bomber defense as he sprinted 61 yards for the score.

The final Air Force touchdown was made in the last quarter by Half Back Steve Sucic from the 6 yard line.

SWARTHMORE IS HAPPY; BEATS PRINCETON, 3 TO 0

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 18 (AP).—A third period field goal by Tackle Dave Work gave Swarthmore college a 3 to 0 victory over Princeton university today and its first triumph in a 42 year old football rivalry with the Tigers.

The winning kick climaxed a 70 yard drive by the Little Quakers which started a few seconds after the start of the second half and ended just five minutes later.

Castilloux Gets Offer to Fight British Champ

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 18 (AP).—Dave Castilloux, Canadian lightweight and welterweight boxing champion, has received an offer to fight Ronnie James, British title holder, for the British empire lightweight championship, it was learned here today.

IOWA PRE-FLIGHT TRIUMPHS OVER MISSOURI, 51-7

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 18 [Special].—The Iowa Seahawks used their own discretion in rolling up their ninth straight victory here today at the expense of Missouri, 51 to 7, in a game dominated principally by reserves, before 3,000.

Pre-Flight piled up a 32 to 0 half time margin, then turned the job over to its deep reserves. While the Seahawks were presenting 51 players, the Tigers also used most every one in a uniform.

Fumble Sets Up Score.

Don Samuel and Bob Smith sparked the decisive early Cadet marches with a pair of touchdowns each. Charley Woodward, starting his first game at full back, combined with the free wheeling half backs to crash consistently for long gains down the middle and scored the other first half points. In the erratic second half, Lloyd Barron contributed another and Wesley Williams closed the scoring on a 44 yard pass from Bob Dionne for one touchdown and a 10 yard end run for his second.

Missouri's only tally resulted from a fumble by John McCullough, which was recovered by Ambrose Pirtle for Missouri on the Seahawk 16 early in the final period. Noel Hall passed to Len Brown, who was crowded out on the 1, from where the former went over. A 37 yard pass, from Hall to Harry Exler placed the ball on the 1 as the game ended, however.

Statistics Tell Story.

The statistics best reveal the Seahawk supremacy, the Cadets amassing 460 yards running and 112 yards passing for 19 first downs, while only 25 of the Tigers' total of 140 yards resulted from rushing. Individually, Smith stood out for the naval eleven with 94 yards to show for five trips with the ball while Hall sparked the Big Six representatives with his 12 passes for 110 yards.

FENWICK FRIARS FACE WEBER FOR CATHOLIC CROWN

Coaches—Fenwick, Tony Lawless; Weber, George La Cognata.

Officials—Ike Craig [Illinois Wesleyan], referee; Bill McHugh [De Paul], umpire; Ed Fendt [Illinois Tech], head linesman.

Time of kick-off: 2 p. m.

The Red Horde of Weber High school, surprise team in state prep circles, today meets Fenwick's Friars in Soldiers' field with the Catholic league championship and a bid to the Kelly bowl at stake.

The "Little Giants" of Weber will be bidding for their first Catholic football trophy. George La Cognata, in his first year as Weber's coach, will be seeking the culmination of the league season that has been marred only by a 6 to 6 tie with St. Rita, the same squad that handed Fenwick its one tie.

Coach Tony Lawless has sent one Fenwick squad to the Kelly bowl, in 1936 when it tied Austin, 19 to 19. The Friars, strong title contenders each year, in 1936 won its last league title. Lawless, therefore, is just as hungry for a repeat as is La Cognata for Weber's initial triumph.

Weber Line Has Answer.

Today's game will probably resolve itself around the question of whether or not Weber's line, which has been responsible for most of the Red Horde victories, can check the Fenwick offensive, which can be lauded for the Friar victories.

The Weber line will be outweighed about 10 pounds per man. This weight advantage, tho can be countered by the fine record of the Red Horde forwards against more weighty opponents. The Fenwick line, on the other hand, has not been as impressive. Actually it has not had to hold down the score, but has been more content with blasting away openings for Coleman Caron, Roger Brown, Dick Martin, and Harold Abbinanti.

In league play, Fenwick yielded 37 points to opponents, while scoring 156. Weber yielded but 19, and scored 80.

Punting Duel in Prospect.

If the line play is equal, and the teams rely on punting to gain an advantage, that advantage should come on a break since Hermie Miscowicz of Weber, and Rog Brown of Fenwick are both rated as the best in the league.

Fenwick has the edge on reserves. The Friars have not had to bear up against competition as much as Weber. Weber has played eight games with a squad of about 24 players, and La Cognata, in making a substitution, resorts to a shake up maneuver that resembles a square dance. When one substitute goes in, the rest of the squad switches around, in and out, until the backs have gone into the line, the linemen changed sides, and it all ends with 11 men on the field in vastly different arrangement than when they first started.

Weber Ready to Go.

On the other hand, Weber did not play last week, and has had an extra seven days to recover from any injuries. The squad is now in top shape. Fenwick's victory last Sunday was gained despite the absence of Roger Brown, his place being capably filled by Justin Caron, twin brother of Coleman. Brown had been injured but should start today's game.

Weber has checked high scoring backs all season and it might hold Fenwick Sunday. If this happens, it will bring up the point of Bob Hanley, senior end, who has played outstanding ball for Fenwick all season. He has caught several touchdown passes thrown by Brown and is one of the Friars leading scorers. Hanley, therefore, might be Fenwick's answer if Weber ties up the Friar running attack.

RED CLOUD WILL FACE CHRISTIE IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Chief Red Cloud, Detroit lightweight, last night was substituted for Pete Bolos, also of Detroit, in an eight round bout against Ted Christie in Marigold Gardens tomorrow night. Bolos asked to be removed from the card because of a face cut he suffered in training. Red Cloud is an unknown quantity in Chicago, but reports from Detroit are that he is a capable performer.

Christie, hard hitting New York fighter, will be making his first start in 10 weeks. The personable Ted was kept out of action because of a broken hand suffered while knocking out Jimmy Calhoun in the Marigold outdoor arena last Aug. 28.

After his hand was put in a cast, however, Ted couldn't stay away from the gymnasium and worked as an elevator operator in the building during his period of recovery.

Dan Merritt, Cleveland heavyweight, is matched with James Williams of the south side in an eight round co-feature on the card. Williams, who beat John Hubbard last month to score his sixth straight victory, will displace Merritt against Joe Louis in the Stadium Friday if he wins decisively.

In six round preliminary events tomorrow Jimmy Sherron, Indianapolis junior welterweight, will face Robert Fowler, and Benton Cobbins, Cincinnati 140 pounder, will oppose Walter Holba. Mike McKissick, middleweight, also of Indianapolis, is paired with Mickey McKiness, and Johnny Hernandez, Detroit light heavyweight, with Al Sheldon in four round contests.

DISCUSS STRATEGY FOR TITLE GAME TODAY

The 1944 Catholic league football title will be the stake for which Weber and Fenwick elevens battle this afternoon in Soldiers' field with the winner also advancing to the Dec. 2 Kelly bowl game. Bill Higgins, right guard and Fenwick captain, receives final instructions from Coach Tony Lawless in the team's last workout of the week.

Coach George (Zeke) La Cognata of Weber discusses some changes in strategy with Capt. Stanley Wojcik, right half back, as the team goes thru its final workout in Humboldt park.

BOXERS TO OPEN ACTION IN C. Y. O. MEET TOMORROW

Candidates for the 16 1944 open and novice amateur boxing titles of the Catholic Youth organization are marking time for the opening of the fourth war time tournament in C. Y. O. center gymnasium, 31 E. Congress st., tomorrow night.

Only two of last year's title holders are back for the impending meet—Ray Lonergan, novice bantamweight winner, and Joe Lindsay, heavyweight, who is the sole defending champion. Majority of the others are in the service. Lonergan will compete as a featherweight in the open class this time.

See New Team Champion.

Lindsay, light heavyweight finalist in the 1943 city Golden Gloves tournament in the Coliseum, by his dethronement of Eddie Kaminski in the C. Y. O. finals a year ago, helped Corpus Christi capture the team trophy. Joe is representing Holy Name of Mary parish in the forthcoming event and is a reason Corpus Christi is not expected to retain the honor.

Leading contenders for this year's team prize appear to be St. James [29th st. and Wabash av.] and St. Anselm. St. James' outstanding boxers include Johnny Tenorio, bantamweight, and Joe Plummer, featherweight. The latter won the Golden Gloves novice bantamweight medal last February. Art Raby and Curtis McDaniel, middleweights, are St. Anselm's foremost challengers for the middleweight title vacated by Collins Brown. McDaniel is a former C. Y. O. title holder, having captured the 160 pound belt in 1937 and again in 1941.

Spicer's Back Again.

A late entrant in that weight class is Ted Spicer of St. Sabina, thus assuring tough competition for McDaniel and Raby. A last minute team entry was sent in by Lt. Martin Lewandowski, boxing coach at Glenview air station. The group includes Seamen Gene Field, heavyweight; Robert Green middleweight; Allen Hills, welterweight; Dave Horstman, lightweight, and George Cole, flyweight.

One of the largest teams enrolled in the meet will represent St. Mel's High school, Brother Daniel, coach of the student boxers from the west side school, naming 17 for the novice division competition. It is the first time a high school group has been entered in the 14 year history of the C. Y. O. tournament.

Finals Listed for Dec. 6.

Tickets to the three night preliminary show—Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday—are 60 cents. Proceeds of the meet, finals of which will be in Ashland auditorium Dec. 6, will go to the Bishop Sheil Underprivileged Youth fund.

SPOTTING THE PINS

BY ROBERT BEACH.

NO longer is it a fantasy of the imagination, nor an item for the probable odds board—Lou Petersen has decided to add a doubles tournament to the long list of bowling spectacles which he presents each year for the enjoyment, entertainment, and pecuniary welfare of tenpin addicts of the upper strata.

This doubles tournament is scheduled to run on Saturdays and Sundays during the winter version of the Petersen individual classic, which itself will last from Jan. 27 thru Feb. 11. This means the playing dates of the doubles event will be the Saturdays and Sundays of Jan. 27 and 28, Feb. 3 and 4, and Feb. 10 and 11.

Many, in fact most of the 1,728 who will comprise the entry list for the classic are expected to enter the doubles event. In fact, says Pete, the event has been designed at the request of those whose long hops to Chicago for the classic constitute a drain on resources which will be offset partly by success in the doubles.

The doubles tournament will be conducted in two sections at Gateway Recreation, 6432 W. North av., and each participant will be allowed to bowl twice in the event. Section 1, to be run on alleys 1 to 8, inclusive, will be entirely separate from section 2, to be staged on alleys 9 to 16, inclusive. Four games will comprise each series and the entry fee will be $25 per team, or $12.50 per man. Top prize will be $2,000, second $1,000, with a graded list following. In addition there will be some 30 squad prizes.

Spitfires Retain First Place in Junior Traffic Club League.

CHATTER—Another strong candidate has been entered in the field from which will be chosen the new secretary of the Chicago Bowling association. He is Hal Totten, former newspaper bowling columnist and radio sportscaster. . . . There was a lot of action around Marigold Arcade during Buddy Bomar's tournament but perhaps the busiest person in the place was Marge McCauley, whose duties ranged from finding hotel accommodations for visiting bowlers to checking 'em in and keeping score. She was even spied behind the soda fountain. . . . The Spitfires are setting a 17-10 pace in the Junior Traffic Club of Chicago league, with the Currier Lees and the Stingers a game behind. Bill Kleinschmidt is leading the averages with 173, followed by Paul Swingle with 172 and Bill Schmidt with 168. Leo Hunter of the Speedways and Bill Schoenberg of the Cardinals each topped last week's single game scoring with a 226 game. . . . Bill Shaul is back in town to give exhibitions and instructions. Tomorrow he'll be at the Ridge lanes in Gary; Tuesday at the Bowlera in Hammond; Wednesday at Hegewisch lanes, 13338 Brandon; Friday at Chayken Recreation, 12951 S. Western in Blue Island, and Saturday at Pla-Mor, 1935 E. 79th st.

Michigan Has a Solution to Pin Boy Problem.

Seems they can't break that tie for the lead in the N. E. Traveling. The Gold Crowns and the Marigolds are still on top. Tomorrow night the Marigolds face the tough Keeleys and the Gold Crowns meet the Art J. Williams five. . . . Michigan has solved the pin boy problem by employing high school youngsters for staggered hours of work. It's a feeder system which is working out admirably and has the approval of the Michigan state labor commission. . . . The fire at Gold Coast caused postponement of the Classic sweeper, scheduled there today. The next is due Dec. 17 in Bennett's Bowl. . . . Henneberry Roto is leading the pack in the Printcraft Major with a 20-10 mark, one game ahead of the Baseball Boosters and 944 Playhouse. . . . The Dixie Specials are now leading the C. & E. I. R. R. league standings all by themselves. . . . Edelweiss and Keeleys share the top spot in Samuelson's Major with a 19-14 record. Mee and Ramme are one game behind. Matt Simmons' 638 topped the firing last week. . . . The girls in the Bowling Lanes Ladies Major had a big night with Dorothy Miller leading the point parade with a 610 series which included a 243 game. Others near the top were Lillian Koehler, 248—581; Mildred Reid, 212, 234—577; Helen Hopper, 227—575, and Edna Schelter, 231—564.

Standings May Be Shaken Up in Nitehawk League.

A lot could happen in the Chicago Tribune Nitehawk league Wednesday morning when all five second division teams meet first division opposition. The Longmores are on top, six games ahead of the tenth place Browns. . . . Dom Fazzio, a New Orleans proprietor, has offered a $25 award for the best 150 word statement on "Why I bowl at a spot" or "Why I aim at the pins." . . . Charlotte Caswell's 207—552 led the girls in the Schalk Evergreen Towers Mixed. Helen Nagle was runner up with 201—541. . . . A team of the Buffalo Tank company league in Dunellen, N. J., won its first game by three pins and its second by two. Then the competition got hot and they took the final by one stick. . . . The Hamiltonian league of Brooklyn has mailed a dozen Christmas packages to its members who are prisoners of war. It was accomplished thru the Red Cross. . . . Frank Baker, A. B. C. director from Salt Lake City, has left the newspaper game to enter radio with KDKL of the same city. . . . The Rowing club, probably the oldest bowling league on the Pacific coast, has just begun its 24th season. . . . Brooklyn Tech High school awarded letters to members of its bowling team. . . . Item of comfort: Charley Rabaut of the Detroit All-Star Classic league, recently shot a 94 game and, of all places, right in his own establishment!

KRUMSKE PILES UP HUGE LEAD IN MATCH WITH DAY

Paul Krumske, the newly bespectacled challenger for Ned Day's national individual match game bowling championship, set the windows of Bowling Lanes rattling last night as he opened his campaign for the title by blasting out a 2268 total for the first 10 games of their 60 game home-and-home match, defeating Day in nine games and accumulating 54.18 Petersen points, the system upon which scoring for the series is based.

Day shot an aven 2000 and had a total of 41 points. Their individual game scores, totals, and points:

Krumske exhibited remarkable control at all times and only in the final game did he drop below a 214 level, taking a 182. His ninth game was highest by either bowler for the evening, the Chicagoan turning in a 265, striking out with a seven bagger. Day's high games were 234 and 225 and his low was 170.

In the 10 games Krumske had just three open frames, including two blows, while Day was guilty of two blows also and was handicapped by eight rails. Neither of his blows was the single ten pin, however.

The match will be resumed today in the same establishment, 5221 Broadway, with 10 games carded for 2:30 and the final third of the Chicago portion of the series carded for 8:30 o'clock. Next week-end they will move to Day's alleys in West Allis, Wis., where the match will be concluded on the same block schedule as in effect here.

BREEZING ALONG

PAVOT, the sensational 2 year old colt, has outshone his famous maternal grand sire, Man o' War, in at least two respects. . . . He finished his first racing year undefeated, whereas Man o'War was beaten once by Upset. . . . Man o' War's earnings as a 2 year old were $83,325. . . . Pavot in eight races has earned $179,040 in purses. The unbeaten colt will not be nominated for the 1945 Kentucky Derby but has been named for the 1945 Arlington Park Classic and American Derby. . . . Jockey Ted Atkinson, the nation's leading rider, was employed in a factory in Brooklyn four years ago. . . . Gulfstream Park, which will open the Florida racing season on Dec. 1, has a bleacher seating capacity of 2,000. . . . Eddie Arcaro will resume riding during the Tropical Park meeting.

Tribune Handicapper Led in Picking Long Priced Daily Doubles.

The Chicago Tribune race handicapper led all of the Chicago and New York experts in picking the longest priced daily double of the season. . . . During the spring meeting at Sportsman's Park he picked Free Style and Gay Thorn, which paid $188.60. . . . No other newspaper expert in town topped it during the entire season. . . . At New York during the Aqueduct meet he selected Insolate and Noview. . . . That combination paid $628.50. . . . No other newspaper handicapper in Chicago or New York exceeded it.

There was more money bet on Frank's Boy, 8 year old veteran, when it won the other day at Hollywood Park than any other horse that ever went to the post at a California track. . . . The crowd at the Inglewood track bet $114,946 thru the board on the horse, $55,552 to win. . . He won by five lengths. . . . The horse is owned by the Coward & Dupuy stable, a couple of gents who also own a horse you may know about. . . . That is Marriage.

Ned Day (left) of West Allis, Wis., national individual match game bowling champion, and Paul Krumske, Chicago, challenger for Day's title, hold a preliminary inspection of the pins used in the opening block of their 60 game home-and-home series, contested last night in Bowling Lanes, 5221 Broadway. Two more 10 game blocks will be bowled at the same site this afternoon and tonight, before the match moves to Day's establishment in West Allis next week-end.

MEMORIAL FOR SHAFER PLANNED AT WISCONSIN U.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 18 [Special].—President C. A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin today appointed a committee of seven to consider suggestions which have been made in connection with establishing a "living memorial" in honor of Allen Shafer Jr., who was injured fatally Nov. 11 during the Wisconsin-Iowa football game here.

A scholarship trust fund has been suggested, Dykstra said. University regents will act on the proposal Nov. 25. Named to the committee were Coach Harry Stuhldreher, Dr. W. F. Lorenz, athletic board chairman; John Berge, alumni association secretary; F. O. Holt, university public service director; Willis Jones, Madison West High school grid coach; Judge Fred Evans, Madison, and William Rodiger, Chippewa Falls, student board president.

Conzelman to Address Illini Gridiron Dinner

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 18 [Special].—Jimmy Conzelman, vice president of the St. Louis Browns and former coach of Washington university in St. Louis and the Chicago Cardinals, will be the principal speaker at the Illinois university football banquet in the Champaign Country club Monday, Nov. 27. The event is being sponsored by the Champaign Rotary club.

POT O' LUCK WINS PIMLICO EVENT IN PHOTO FINISH

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 18 (AP).—Trainer Ben Jones came up today with a strong contender for next year's 3 year old stake classics when his Calumet farm's Pot o' Luck closed with a stretch drive to win the 22d running of the important Pimlico Futurity by a head in a photo finish over George D. Widener's Plebiscite.

Recovering from the next to the last position, Jockey Doug Dodson smartly rode the son of Chance Play into the picture on the far turn and in a thrilling stretch battle brought the favorite home to grab the winner's share of $35,130 for Pot o' Luck's owner, Warren Wright of Chicago.

Recce Is Third.

Col. C. V. Whitney's Recce, setting the pace for the first mile, was third, a length behind Plebiscite, with Col. E. R. Bradley's Buymeabond fourth in the field of nine 2 year olds seeking a claim on the 1944 juvenile honors.

The familiar devil's red and blue silks of Calumet farm had only Pot o' Luck to uphold the Wright honors today, when shortly before the race Jones scratched Hail Victory, who had been a high favorite of the crowd of 17,325, because of a bad leg.

The victory, second in eight starts this year for Pot o' Luck, boosted his year's earnings to $53,180. He paid $5.10, $3.10, and $2.50 for a $2 mutuel ticket. His only other victory was the one mile Champagne stakes at Belmont Oct. 7, and his time of 1:46 2-5 today equalled the fastest time for the mile and sixteenth distance in the current Pimlico meeting.

Takes Recce to Front.

Ted Atkinson took Recce to the front and had a two length lead at the stretch, where Plebiscite trailed by a half length with Pot o' Luck coming up fast on the outside two lengths further away. Plebiscite, with Warren Wright up, caught Pot o' Luck about a sixteenth of a mile from the wire, but the Calumet colt wouldn't be beaten in the final drive.

Christiana stable's Alexis, after moving to a neck behind Recce at the far turn, faded fast and finished fifth three lengths back of Buymeabond, followed by Col. Whitney's entry of Hindu Kush, L. J. Lepper's Chronofilte, Brookfield farms' Brookfield, and Pentagon stable's The Doge, a disappointing last.

SET DATES FOR 11 ICE SKATING TITLE EVENTS

Dates for 11 ice skating Derbies were approved by the board of control of the Illinois Skating association, including the city, state, tri-state, and western open meets. Events will be held for all classes of skaters from the senior divisions, both men and women to the beginners just learning how to skate.

The Chicago Sports association is coöperating with the clubs conducting the Derbies by sponsoring a series of races for beginners in connection with each racing meet. DETROIT WILL FIELD FOOTBALL TEAM NEXT YEAR

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18 (AP).—The University of Detroit again will field a football team in 1945 after a two year absence from the gridiron, its president, the Rev. William J. Millor, S. J., announced today.

The Rev. Millor, who came here last June from Loyola university of Chicago, where he headed the department of classical languages, said that he already has advised Athletic Director Lloyd Brazil to work on a schedule for next fall. He expressed hope that a representative schedule could be arranged, including games with Michigan State and Marquette university.

OKLAHOMA WINS 20 TO 0 TRIUMPH AGAINST KANSAS

Lawrence, Kas., Nov. 18 (AP).—Oklahoma, Big Six defending champions, scored a 20 to 0 triumph over the Jayhawkers of Kansas today and assured itself of a first place tie in the conference.

Sooners Score Early.

The Sooners scored the first time they got possession of the ball in this 42d meeting between the two state universities. Dub Wooten, Oklahoma end, blocked Leroy Robison's punt and Coach Dewey Luster's stalwarts advanced to the goal from Kansas' 33d yard line.

Oklahoma's running attack went into high gear in the third period after the half ended, 7 to 0. The Sooners went 92 yards from the kick-off after the intermission and Homer Sparkman sneaked across the final yard for the Oklahoman's second touchdown.

Meason Runs 52 Yards.

Oklahoma's most impressive thrust came in the final quarter when Tom Meason raced 52 yards from his 30 to the Kansas 18. John Wright, fullback, sped around Kansas' left end for a touchdown on the following play. Lineups:

SCHICK INJECTOR BLADES ARE BACK!

No need for Schick Injector owners to settle for a less-than-perfect morning shave . . . now that Schick Blades are back again in force.

Although we still can't get the material for new razors, except for the Armed Forces, we're now able to supply civilian as well as military demands for keen-edged Schick Blades. So tomorrow morning, re-discover real shaving comfort and ease . . . and the revolutionary Schick Injector features. They are the only basic safety razor improvements in over 40 years.

AUTOMATIC BLADE CHANGE

. . . an exclusive Schick Injector feature. A pull and push on the Injector shoots out the old blade, slides in a fresh one instantly. Nothing to take apart or re-assemble. No fumbling with sharp blade edges or messy paper wrappers.

SOLID GUIDE BAR

. . . has a sure-grip surface that stretches and flattens the skin just ahead of the blade. Popsup whiskers for closer, more comfortable shave. Corner guards protect against nicking and scraping.

DOUBLE-THICK BLADES

. . . just as long but twice as thick as ordinary blades. 3 times as thick as paper-thin ones. So they take and hold a really keen edge. Oil packed in special cartridge, their cutting edges are suspended in space.

JACOB SPARKS NEW TRIER TO 27 TO 7 VICTORY

Evanston Is Beaten by Suburban Champions.

New Trier's power house football team, which clinched the Suburban league championship two weeks ago, closed its season yesterday by gaining a decisive 27 to 7 victory over Evanston, in Winnetka. New Trier led, 13 to 0, at half time.

It was the play of Bill Jacob, left half back, who is a strong candidate for all state honors, that sparked New Trier to its fifth straight suburban league victory of the season, and left New Trier undefeated in the league.

Jacob Scores Two Touchdowns.

Playing before a homecoming crowd, Jacob scored two touchdowns and set up another when he ran 35 yards in the second quarter. This scoring splurge by Jacob gave him a total of 30 points for the league season. He finished second on the list of leading scorers, 14 points behind Ferd Nadherny of Morton, who scored seven touchdowns and two extra points for a 44 point total in five games.

Larry Lauer, New Trier center, kicked the three extra points.

Evanston's score came in the fourth period after New Trier led, 27 to 0.

Beaten Only Once.

In winning the league title, New Trier rolled up 115 points, while holding its opponents to 38. The New Trier eleven lost only one game during the year, an early season contest with Fenger, City league finalist, by a 32 to 13 score.

The lineups:

New Trier [27].		Evanston [7].
Ely	L. E.	Johnson

Tackle Is Hero as T.C.U. Beats Texas, 7 to 6

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 18 (AP).—Texas Christian's fighting Frogs, with Tackle John Cooke in the hero role, beat Texas, 7-6, on a rain-swept field today to remain at the head of the Southwest conference football race.

Cooke, a chunky-swarthy 60 minute fighter—he was one of eight Horned Frogs who played every second of the game—partially blocked a punt to put Texas in the hole, then blocked another to bring the score with T. C. U., Right End Chronister falling on the ball.

TEXAS AGGIES BEAT RICE.

Houston, Tex., Nov. 18 (AP).—Bottling up the Rice offensive in its own territory for three quarters, a fine Texas Aggies team today gained a 19 to 6 victory over the owls.

Playing what virtually amounted to a 10 man line and aided by Bobby Goff's long punts, the Aggies prevented Rice from crossing midfield until they had a 19 to 0 lead in the fourth quarter. Then a pass from Bill Scruggs to Bob Smith netted 56 yards and the Rice touchdown.

S. M. U. BEATS ARKANSAS.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 18 (AP).—The Southern Methodist Mustangs came to sudden life in the mud here today to upset the University of Arkansas Razorbacks, 20 to 12, for their first conference win and stop cold an Arkansas eleven that had turned the conference race into a five team affair by defeating the Texas Aggies and the Rice Owls.

The star of the game was 17 year old Bob Folsom, at right end for the Methodists. At the start of the fourth period he ran back to the S. M. U. 25 yard line to intercept an Arkansas pass and then, with good blocking, raced 75 yards for a Mustang touchdown.

E-BS RUN LEAD OVER STROH PIN QUINTET TO 178

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18 [Special].—The Stroh's hold on the state match game championship of Michigan was threatened for the first time tonight when they lost their fourth straight block to the E. & B. bowlers to trail by 273 pins with six games left to bowl.

Behind 178 pins when tonight's match started, the Strohs appeared headed for a series that would erase the deficit. They cut the margin by 65 pins in the first game, cut 89 more off in the second and then hit the skids.

The champions bowled only 859 in the last game while E. & B., coming from behind, shot a closing 1108, to win the game by 249 pins and the block by 95.

The grand finish gave E. & B. a 3069 count, while Stroh hit 2974. Even in defeat, Joe Norris, Stroh captain, was the star with a 662, the high series of the night.

The two closing blocks will be bowled tomorrow afternoon and evening.

OBERLIN FINALLY WINS.

Oberlin, O., Nov. 18 [AP].—Oberlin scored its first football victory of the season today, defeating Ohio Wesleyan, 26 to 0.

ball rolled out of the end zone for an automatic safety, and Tilden was in front, 9 to 7.

Tilden came back immediately after taking Fenger's free kick and returning it to the Fenger 38 yard line. On two plays, Mike Swistowicz gained 9 yards, and after a first down, Tilden was forced back to the 30 on a penalty. On the next play, Swistowicz took the ball from Kriwiel on a reserve and ran 29 yards before going out on the 1 yard line. On the next play, he plunged for a touchdown. Jaderholm's kick was good and the score was Tilden, 16; Fenger, 7.

Fenger Puts on Rally.

Late in the fourth quarter, Fenger, sending in its second string line, rallied after halting a Tilden drive on the Fenger 10 yard line. Fenger advanced to the Tilden 30, but Konyar was trapped on the 20 when he attempted a third down pass. On fourth down, Konyar passed to Jack Gray, who took the ball on the 45, ran to the Tilden 45, and lateraled to Kornieck, who was run out of bounds on the 35. Gray took Konyar's pass on the 5 yard line, and then Tony Moncardo, taking Konyar's short pass, scored from the 1 yard line. Konyar passed to Tim Madden for the extra point and cut Tilden's lead to 16 to 14.

With less than a minute remaining, Fenger kicked to Tilden. After two plays, Swistowicz fumbled on his own 49, and three Fenger men recovered. Tilden was penalized 5 yards, and Konyar passed to Moncardo for a first down on the Tilden 15. Konyar's next pass was incomplete as the game ended with Tilden a 16 to 14 winner.

Gay Leads Ground Gainers.

Quarter Back Bill Gay carried the ball five times for 41 yards to lead the Tilden ground gainers. Kriwiel carried the ball 20 times for 82 yards, and Swistowicz gained 72 yards in 19 attempts. Bob Adams gained 91 yards in 12 attempts.

Madden led the Fenger ground gainers, averaging 6½ yards in two attempts. Konyar gained 35 yards in 14 attempts, and Bob Carlson was held to 6 yards in six tries. Bob Biolchini gained 18 yards in 17 attempts. Statistics:

Spartas Face Hakoahs in 2d Soccer Replay

Today's Games

KEY BRANCH STADIUM.

Hakoah-Centers vs. Spartas, 3 p. m. Referee—Robert Jones.

WINNEMAC PARK STADIUM.

Hansas vs. Swedes, 3 p. m. Referee—Eli Korer.

Vikings vs. Schwabens, 1 p. m. Referee—Joe Cibulka.

LANE TECH STADIUM.

Italians vs. Kickers, 1 p. m. Referee—Fred Linstow.

Norwegians vs. Necaxa, 3 p. m. Referee—Rudolph Basek.

JUVENILE LEAGUE.

Franklin Park vs. Smith Field, Key Branch stadium, 1 p. m. Referee—Otto Lenker.

Portage Park vs. Hamlin Park, Portage park, 1 p. m. Referee—Arnold May.

BY OFFSIDE.

The Hakoah-Centers and Spartas, who have battled to ties in their last two meetings, will meet for the third time in their state cup match today and officials have been instructed to continue play until a decision is reached. The contest is scheduled for 3 p. m. in Key Branch stadium, 5400 Roosevelt rd., and one of the season's largest soccer crowds is expected.

The replay match heads today's schedule, which includes a return engagement in an unfinished game and replay of a protested contest. The Kickers and Guisti-Italians will complete their unfinished game of two weeks ago in Lane Tech stadium, Western av. and Addison st., at 1 o'clock and the Hansas and Swedes will clash in a replay of their protested game in Winnemac stadium, Foster av. and Leavitt st., at 3. The Hansas won the first meeting, 1 to 0, but it was ordered replayed when league officials discovered they had violated a state cup rule.

Bank on Starting Lineups.

Neither the Hakoahs nor Spartas will have much in the way of reserve strength today, and as a result each will have to depend on its starting lineup.

Eric Klaber, who was injured in Sunday's game, is the only doubtful starter for Hakoahs. The team's hopes for a victory ride with the play of Eli Field and Maxie Grunner, who were outstanding in last week's tie. Field successfully checked the scoring of Jimmy Wolf, Sparta star, and Grunners made several bids for goals.

The Spartas were strengthened yesterday when Laddi Mrnka informed Manager Charles Fencel that he'll be available for service. Sailor Joe Silovsky also will be in uniform and is expected to start at right wing.

Swedes Face Hansas.

Two state cup matches will be played in Winnemac Park stadium with the Vikings meeting the Schwabens at 1 p. m. and the Swedes facing the Hansas at 3 o'clock. The Hansas have five regulars on the injured list and may have trouble fielding team while the Swedes have signed five players from the Milwaukee Falk squad, which disbanded several weeks ago.

The double header in Lan Tech stadium, Western av. and Addison st., finds the Kickers meeting the Guisti-Italians at 1 and the second round state cup match at 3 p. m.

The juvenile division schedule in Key Branch stadium has an unusual attraction in the opening game at 1 between Franklin Park and Smith Field since two members of the Franklin starting lineup, Ronald and David Linderman, are sons of State Commissioner Jack Linderman. Lineups:

The Home Front

BY WILLIAM BAYLISS.

PROBLEMS and achievements of Chicago industries in the fields of sports and entertainment will be discussed Wednesday afternoon at one of the special group sessions scheduled during the 10th Chicago recreational conference, in the Sherman hotel. All industrial recreation leaders have been invited to attend this session, as well as any others of the all-day conferences in which they may be interested.

The industrial angle of the recreation program is the most rapidly expanding branch of the entire field and for that reason has more than its share of new problems. Likewise since industry will be affected tremendously by reconversion from war time to post-war production, the future of the recreation side also will provide an interesting matter for discussion.

Ray Millard Expects Plenty of Discussion from Group.

The industrial forum will be in charge of Ray Millard, executive secretary of the Industrial Recreation association and will be held in room 106 at the Sherman at 2:30 p. m. The conference program lists as "resource personnel" for this group Lyle Bennett of the Illinois Tool works, Eric Stubbs of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, Wayne Lemmon of Bell & Howell, and the conductor of this department. However, Millard says that he expects most of the discussion to come from other folks who will bring forward their own particular problems for discussion and there should be plenty of these to take up the two hours allotted to the session.

The conference as a whole covers the entire recreational field, from pre-school days up thru youth to manhood and womanhood. The morning will be given over to a display of workshops and demonstrations, followed by a luncheon at noon in the grand ballroom, at which Dr. Harry A. Overstreet will speak on "Recreation—New Obligations and New Approaches," which is the general theme of the conference.

There will be 14 special group discussions at 2:30 p. m. and a general night session at 7 o'clock with Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern university presiding and Dr. Howard Y. McClusky speaking on "Youth and Community Recreation."

Make Preliminary Plans for State Industrial Tourney.

Another basketball organization meeting was held Tuesday, when recreation directors of Chicagoland industries interested in joining the new Illinois Industrial and Commercial Recreation association held a preliminary session. The backers of the idea of a state-wide tournament program, to start with basketball this winter, report they are pleased with the interest shown and a metropolitan division of the association will be formed at a meeting to be held Dec. 5.

Organization of the North Avenue Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball league for the season which is just around the corner will be completed at a meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the association building. Eight teams already are definitely lined up as members, with the applications of two others due for consideration. The season will open the first week in December.

Competition continues as hot as ever in various industrial basketball leagues. In the Women's Radio Industries league the Motorolas, leaders since the start of the season, dropped three straight to Crescent Tool and slipped to a tie for third place, Crowe Plate and Chicago Transformer being deadlocked on top. In the Industrial Traveling league Revere Copper and Brass dropped two to Lindberg Steel but still holds a four game margin over its closest rivals, Motorola and Quality Hardware. The Division Street Y Industrial league leaders remained unchanged when both the Thordarson Flashtrons and Chicago Rawhide won three straight.

THE annual national conference of the Industrial Recreation association will be held in Detroit April 3 to 5. The dates were decided upon at a recent meeting of the conference committee, which includes Ed De Grotte of Evansville, Ind., I. R. A. president; Ray Millard of Chicago; secretary; Jim Walsh of Detroit and Harold Mayfield of Toledo, O., vice presidents, and L. C. Wittenberg, committee chairman. The 1944 annual meeting was held in Chicago.

Seeburg Corp. Employes Busy with Winter Sports Program.

The winter sports program now is under full steam at industrial plants in the Chicago area. A good example is the setup at the J. P. Seeburg corporation, 1510 Dayton st., where men's and women's basketball, bowling, table tennis, and horseshoe pitching all are on the list. Erv White is the leader in the men's bowling league with an average of 179. The girl bowlers are paced by Jayne Kasper, whose average is 142. This fall Vince Infante, recreation director at Seeburg's, has installed horseshoe pitching courts at each of the company's four plants and all are proving popular.

Out at the Illinois Tool Works, Ed Lipinski, secretary in charge of the four I. T. W. bowling leagues, is able to catch his breath again after all the hustling and bustling incidental to getting the leagues going. The job is a new one for Ed this season and he came in for some unexpected worries when fire destroyed the roof and four alleys at the Kraft recreation, where two of the leagues were to operate, making it necessary to postpone the opening of the season. The four leagues include 32 teams.

Illinois Tool Starts Practice for Basketball Campaign.

Coach Marion Podraza and Manager Lyle Bennett are looking for talent for the Illinois Tool basketball team, which already has started practice. The squad will have a great record to uphold, I. T. W. quintets having won championships in the Tri-Y Industrial league for the last three years. Several star players no longer are available, but there are enough veterans to form the nucleus of a strong team—Podraza and Bennett hope.

NEWS FROM ARMY AND NAVY POSTS

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Iowa Pre-Flight.

DICK RAMLOW of Kenosha, Wis., may represent the wrestling team of this navy pre-flight school in Iowa City, Ia., after the Seahawks conclude their football schedule against the University of Iowa next Saturday. . . . Dick, who replaced George Strohmeyer as first string center in the Seahawks' 33 to 7 conquest of Bunker Hill eight days ago, competed as a heavyweight on the mat squad at the University of Wisconsin last year. . . . Both the wrestling and track teams are bidding for the services of Vic Schleich, giant tackle who wound up his football season against Bunker Hill. . . . Vic prefers track because of his fine shotputting ability, but Lt. Comdr. Archie Mathis is trying to interest him in competing as a wrestler. . . . Gene Pinter of Washington High school in South Bend, Ind., and John Smith of St. John's High in Jackson, Mich., both of whom are members of the Pre-Flight eleven, served more than a year as sailors before becoming cadets.

Dick Ramlow.

Fort Sheridan.

A COMBINATION boxing and wrestling show for entertainment of wounded war veterans at this camp will be held in the post gymnasium Nov. 29, headed by a four round exhibition between Sgt. Lou Woods, professional 153 pound boxer of Detroit, and Jimmy Hunt, Chicago. . . . Woods will meet George Costner, Cincinnati, in Chicago Stadium Friday. Pvt. Al Salas, San Francisco lightweight, who is a prisoner of war guard, is paired with Tommy Graham of Wichita, Kas., on the program here, while Johnny Flanagan, Chicago heavyweight, who is managed by Eddie Eiegel, is matched with Lindy Elliott, New York.

Gardiner General Hospital.

THE basketball representatives of this army hospital on the south side will open the season in the Midwest Service Men's league against 87th st. navy in the University of Chicago's Bartlett gymnasium tomorrow night. . . . The Gardiner quintet originally was scheduled to make its debut against the Loyola V-12 medical players last Friday, but the contest was canceled when Loyola withdrew from the circuit. . . . Recent nonleague games added to the Gardiner schedule will be against Illinois Tech and Conlin Ironers corporation, the latter an industrial quintet.

CARTEL SYSTEM GETS QUALIFIED U.S. APPROVAL

British Win Again at Trade Parley.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rye, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Cartels, outlawed in the United States as illegal restraints on trade, won the qualified approval of the international business conference at its final session today.

John W. White.

The position taken on the most controversial question before the 350 delegates from 52 countries was considered another diplomatic victory for Britain, whose representatives have clashed with American delegates on several other topics on the agenda, including the release of shackles on free enterprise.

Accept Without Dissent.

United States business men, represented on the cartel discussion group by John W. White of Westinghouse Electric International company, in accepting the report thus gave their tacit approval to restraints subject to anti-trust law prosecution in this country.

Clive L. Baillieu, British delegate who previously had come to the defense of cartels and similar schemes to divide production and markets, presided over the final session. Altho United States business men had expressed their private opposition to cartels in "off the record" discussions, they and the other delegates accepted without dissent the conference report which said:

"It is essential to preserve the benefits of such agreements and to avoid their use in a manner which is contrary to the public interest of any nation."

Differences Are Acknowledged.

Acknowledging the sharply opposing opinions on the subject, the report recommended: "That the governments concerned, in association with their respective business interests, should immediately take steps, continuously to study and consult together on the various issues raised and, in particular, to consider the effect of such agreements in relation to: employment, standards of living, industrial development, prices, and volume and flow of trade."

Except in the title, the word cartel did not appear in the conference report, which refers to "agreements" among private interests, governments, or both, that result in "regulation of production, orderly marketing, coördination of prices, and the exchange of technical knowledge and patents."

It made no reference to the Kilgore senate committee report issued earlier this week, urging elimination of all cartels after the war.

Approve Aldrich Election.

The conference report said that an undetermined but substantial part of world trade was conducted under cartels before the war. In accepting it, the American group failed to hold to the aggressive stand adopted previously in favor of private enterprise and in opposition to government controls.

Council members of the International Chamber of Commerce attending the conference approved the election of Winthrop W. Aldrich as president to succeed J. Sigfrid Edstrom, a Stockholm, Sweden, utility executive who had headed the world trade body since 1939. Aldrich is chairman of the board of the Chase National bank, New York.

Edstrom said the international chamber was prepared to become the "suitable organization" proposed to act as a clearing house in breaking down world trade barriers and otherwise facilitating increased international commerce.

Progress Made, Says Grady.

Altho the conference failed to reach agreement on many broad questions, Henry F. Grady, president of the American President Lines, San Francisco, Cal., and chairman of the United States delegation, expressed belief that important progress had been made toward world business amity.

He told the delegates that "America's vital part in the post-war world can be played only if the United States dedicates itself wholeheartedly to a world system of economic unity."

The delegation from India, which frequently has clashed with the British group over policy, declared itself opposed to government subsidies as a means of disposing of surplus commodities, and asked release of India's portion of the dollar-sterling pool to facilitate purchases in the United States.

Inspects U. S. Machinery for Soviet Buying Group

Dr. Moe Sherman, American chemical engineer who worked in Russia in 1935 and 1937, said yesterday he had visited the National Chemical exposition at the Coliseum for the soviet purchasing mission in Washington, D. C., to acquaint himself with the newest chemical fabrication equipment. He said no machinery was bought, but that his report to the mission may form the basis for future purchases.

British Assail Cotton, Wheat Subsidy Order

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Financial interests this week assailed the United States' decision to subsidize cotton and wheat exports and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's failure to confirm the report the American government had decided to hand Britain a 5 billion dollar reconstruction loan. Some observers did not regard the loan question as completely buried, but none had a good word for subsidies, which would enable American exporters to sell cotton and wheat at competitive world prices.

The London Times said subsidies might be used to force foreign producers into a series of world cartels. It warned, in any case, international "dumping" is a two edged weapon and "once the United States starts on such a practice other countries may follow and the effect could be sabotage at the very start of endeavors to reduce world tariffs and establish international trade on an expanding basis after the war.

Termed "Mischievous Device."

The Liverpool Post denounced subsidies as "a mischievous device."

Lancashire cotton traders were reported concerned about the effect of subsidies on India whose cotton growing industry is seriously handicapped by the loss of export trade to Japan. Some doubts were expressed as to how much American cotton is likely to be exported under the subsidy. Lancashire lend-lease imports of American cotton continue and the opinion was that shipments to liberated Europe also may be provided by lend-lease administration or UNRRA.

Trade interests seemed to conclude that America will have to find outlets for commercial exports of cotton in Canada and neutral European countries such as Spain, Sweden, Portugal, and Switzerland.

Altho financial writers were soft pedalling discussion of the loan question, heavy emphasis was laid early in the week on the argument that Britain without dollars could not pay for raw material imports from America which it needed to revive civilian industry and it was up to the United States to do something about it.

American Interest Claimed.

"As a matter of national policy the United States has as much interest in making it possible for us to buy American commodities as we have in buying them," the Manchester Guardian said. The British empire spent all its dollars on the war to benefit the United States as much as Britain, he contended.

The British empire spent all its dollars on the war to benefit the United States as much as Britain, he said.

"It spent them in sound venture which will pay dividends for a long time to Americans as well as to ourselves—and it had spent them largely in the United States," was the conclusion.

SEC APPROVES STANDARD GAS SIMPLIFICATION

Distributes Interest in 5 Utilities.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 18 (AP).—The securities and exchange commission today approved the recapitalization of Standard Gas and Electric company under provisions of Standard's amended plan.

Holders of more than 52 million dollars in notes and debentures are to receive $304.95 in cash and 40 common shares in five subsidiary operating companies in exchange for each $1,000 principal amount.

The shares, with an assigned value of $695.05, are: 18 of Wisconsin Public Service corporation, 12 of Oklahoma Gas and Electric company, five of California Oregon Power company, three of Pacific Gas and Electric company, and two of Mountain States Power company.

Market Value Increases.

Originally assigned a value of $690, with $310 to be paid in cash, the shares were given an upward adjustment because their market value has increased since Aug. 15, the date the plan was filed.

Standard will issue 5,020,134 shares of new common stock to retire its outstanding prior lien stock, and distribute it as follows: 10½ shares for each outstanding $7 prior lien preferred share, 9 for each $6 prior lien share, and 1 for each 3 shares of $4 prior lien stock.

About 95 per cent of the new stock will go to holders of $7 and $6 prior lien preferred.

The commission ruled that the present common stock has no equity and that its holders are not entitled to participate under the plan.

Estimate Profit at $1.12 a Share.

Probable earnings of the company which will result from Standard's reorganization are estimated by the commission at $5,800,000, or about $1.12 a share on new common stock.

The company has asked the commission to appeal to the federal District court in Delaware for an enforcement order which will make the recapitalization proceedings mandatory.

After the recapitalization, Standard's principal assets will be its interests in Louisville Gas and Electric Company of Delaware and the Philadelphia company, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Standard holds 97 per cent of Philadelphia company common stock—the only interest it was permitted to retain under the SEC corporate simplification order.

Sale to City Expected.

Negotiations for sale of Louisville of Delaware's only holding, Louisville Gas and Electric Company of Kentucky, are under way with the city of Louisville as the prospective buyer.

Should the negotiations be unsuccessful, Louisville of Delaware will be liquidated and Standard will receive its proportionate share of the assets of Louisville of Kentucky. Louisville of Delaware would be required to dispose of any common stocks it might receive in Louisville of Kentucky.

After these transactions Standard is to be merged with the Philadelphia company.

NON-FARM LABOR FORCE SMALLER THAN MONTH AGO

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—Secretary of Labor Perkins today reported that nonagricultural workers numbered 38,481,000 in October, 110,000 less than in September and approximately 1,250,000 less than in October, 1943. The services have taken almost 2 million men and women in the last year, she said.

"Employment in each of the major industry divisions, with the exception of trade, decreased during the month," Miss Perkins said. "The increase of 176,000 employes in trade was forced primarily by increased retail sales volume resulting in part from gift buying for servicemen."

Curtailment of production by many war industries was primarily responsible for a decrease in the durable goods employment, she said. Employment in bituminous coal mining was 343,000 in October.

Oil Industry Materials Curb Relaxed by PAW

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—The petroleum administration for war today relaxed controls over materials for petroleum production, transportation, and refining operations. Operators may use up to $25,000 worth of materials without obtaining PAW authorization. Previously, a limit of $10,000 had been in effect.

Crude Petroleum Stock 427,000 Barrels Lower

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—The bureau of mines reported today that stocks of crude petroleum were 222,467,000 barrels on Nov. 11, a net decrease of 427,000 barrels for the week.

Foreign Gold Holdings Set All-Time High

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—Despite the United States' fabulous buried treasure at Fort Knox, foreign governments own more gold than ever before, the federal reserve board said today. This gain, coupled with the rapid expansion in foreign holdings of American dollars, is a promising sign for post-war trade, the board said.

This country's volume of exports after the war depends on many things, the board emphasized, but this abundance of foreign reserves, if coupled with other favorable factors, promises "more orderly financial relationships in the post-war world."

Foregin Reserves at Peak.

Foreign governments have 17 billion dollars of gold and dollar reserves. Even in 1928, before the world financial crisis, the total was only 7 or 8 billion. The United States has 20 billion 800 million dollars of gold. Foreign countries have 14 billion

On Jan. 1, 1941, the United States had more than 22 billion dollars of gold. Other nations had less than 9 billion. Since then foreigners have acquired more than 5 billion while the United States has lost more than a billion.

Federal reserve explained the reversal in trend this way:

"After lend-lease went into operation in March, 1941, the foreign world as a whole ceased to lose gold. The mounting tide of American exports was handled by book entries. By Dec. 31, 1942, the balance of international trade outside lend-lease operations had turned adverse to this country."

Pay Cash for Goods.

Building up stock piles, the United States imported heavily from Canada, Latin America, Africa, India, and other areas, and paid for the goods in cash.

The reserve board said two major forces have caused world gold holdings to increase. One was gold mining, which expanded at a phenomenal rate until slowed by war time shortages of man power and equipment. The other was "revaluation," thru which countries made their currency less valuable in terms of gold and thus automatically made gold more valuable in terms of currency.

FIRM RETURNS 1½ MILLIONS TO U. S. UNASKED

New York, Nov. 18 [Special].—Voluntary refunds to the United States treasury of more than 1½ million dollars, representing profits on war contracts, have been made by International Latex corporation as a contribution toward winning of the war, it was announced today.

The company manufactures specialized and secret war material, the inventions of its president, A. N. Spanel.

AMENDMENTS TO LAW ON SURPLUS PROPERTY SALE ASKED BY LYON

The surplus property act of 1944 should be amended because certain sections appear contradictory and others apparently dispose of surpluses without charge, Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said yesterday at a meeting of Promat Processors, Inc., in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

"Section 16 gives war veterans preference in the purchase of surplus, section 17 gives farmers and farm coöperatives preference, and section 18 appears to give small business preference," he said. "It would be interesting to see how a conflict over a truck, for example, between a veteran, a farmer, and a small business man would be resolved."

Lyons said the manner in which surpluses are disposed of is of major importance to every business man and that their effect will be felt many years.

CONTRIBUTIONS.

Apprehensions of many educational, religious, and charitable organizations that contributions to them may decrease under the individual income tax act of 1944 are based on an assumption which may be open to doubt, in the opinion of the trust department of the Harris Trust and Savings bank. This assumption is that because of the introduction of the optional standard deduction individuals will not make contributions as freely as heretofore, since, if the optional standard deduction is availed of, the donations will not reduce their taxes.

An individual who benefits from the optional standard deduction in lieu of nonbusiness deductions generally gets the same deduction regardless of whether he actually makes contributions. The bank's view is that this change in the law should not necessarily cause taxpayers to withhold donations which they formerly made.

Moreover, Harris Trust asserts, many individuals will not elect to take the optional standard deduction [the maximum of which is $500], because deductions computed in the regular way by listing actual deductions would result in a smaller tax. This would be true in the case of many individuals who own their homes and are entitled to substantial deductions in the form of interest on mortgages and real estate taxes.

"Those who do not claim the optional standard deduction will find that the net cost of a charitable gift is not greater, and may be substantially less, than the cost of a corresponding gift in 1943," the bank says. The net cost is the difference between the amount of the gift and the tax saved by the additional deduction. The explanation for the decrease in net cost is the increase in tax resulting from changes in the law.

The optional tax table for incomes under $5,000 automatically makes allowance for a deduction of about 10 per cent of adjusted gross income [generally gross income less business expense], for charitable contributions, interest, taxes, medical expense allowance, and miscellaneous deductions. For incomes of $5,000 or more, the standard deduction for such credits is limited to $500. Under a new provision the 15 per cent maximum deduction allowed for contributions is now based on adjusted gross income instead of net income as formerly. This as a rule permits a larger maximum credit for contributions.

U. S. SHORTENS FOREIGN TRADE BLACK LISTINGS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—The United States today removed 160 names from the black list of axis and axis affiliated firms in Latin America, in apparent preparation for return to more normal commerce. The list for Argentina was the only one which had more additions than deletions in the western hemisphere.

Eighty-four additional companies in the rest of the world were added to the group with which American buisness men may not deal and 62 were removed.

The list tended to carry out the American policy of continuing restrictive measures against companies in neutral European countries and in Argentina, while loosening up on the other American republics in accordance with the progress of the war.

WAR GAS NEED SPIKES HOPES OF 'A' DRIVERS

Vast Battle Supply Made in Texas.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., Nov. 18.—Holders of gasoline A cards have little chance of getting larger supplies for their automobiles soon, H. C. Weiss, president of the Humble Oil and Refining company, said today. He verified recent statements that so much gasoline is being made for allied war planes that no extra production is in sight for the average motorist.

Before the war, out of 100 barrels of oil the refiners made 40 barrels of automobile motor fuel, the remainder going to lubricants, naphtha, kerosene, and other products, Weiss said. Today 100 barrels produce 20 barrels or less of motor fuel, the remainder going into high test fuel.

Consumption for Rubber Small.

Weiss said the amount of petroleum used in making synthetic rubber is negligible. War planes are consuming a large part of the excess petroleum being brought from the ground—an amount so large some operators are concerned over possible damage to their properties.

The fact the petroleum industry and military authorities standardized military fuels at 100 octanes has been of immense value in maintaining the country's gasoline based economy, Weiss said. Had there been frequent changes and demands for super fuels automobiles and trucks would have been apportioned less.

The refiners are producing more than 500,000 barrels of high octane gasoline a day and a surplus is accumulating. With demands for 100 octane fuel being met the refiners say they can turn their attention to the production of super fuels. Possession of a 115 octane fuel would give allied pilots a bigger combat advantage over enemy planes.

Idle War Planes a Problem.

Meantime, all the fighting planes the United States has built will create a fuel problem just after the war which may delay increasing the amount available for private automobiles. All these planes will have to be moved somewhere, it was said, and just putting the planes in storage centers will take a lot of high octane fuel.

The task of meeting military requirements increases as the horsepower of plane engines is stepped up, producers said. The B-29 Superfortress, secret new pursuit planes, and other planes in which performance is being improved, consume far more gasoline than the planes used early in the war.

Explosives Plant Inspected.

Newspaper men from all parts of the country are making a quick inspection of some of the plants in the Houston industrial area which is leading an industrial revolution in Texas. How much some of these plants are doing in the war drive was illustrated at the big Toluene plant at Baytown operated for the ordnance department by the Humble company. This one Texas plant has produced from petroleum by chemical synthesis the explosives for two of every three of the bombs used by the allied nations.

The ship channel from Galveston to Houston is lined with large, new plants, including a big steel operation, ship yards, and other industrial activities. Many of them are expected to be retained after the war.

CHARGES LUMBER RULING BOTCHED BY OPA AND WPB

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18 (AP).—Rep. Arnold [R., Mo.] contended today that the lumber business had been "mishandled' by the WPB and OPA.

"There are men at the top in WPB and OPA handling the lumber industry regulations who have had no experience at all in the business," the Kirksville, Mo. lumberman said in an interview.

"If there had been experienced men in charge, I believe we would have more lumber available now for civilians and we could have taken better care of the farmers' urgent needs. It is in such a mess now that I don't see how it can be straightened out before the end of the war."

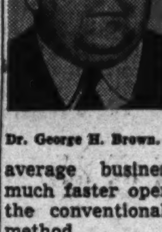
New System Speeds Output of Penicillin

Development by Radio Corporation of America of an all-electronic system of drying in the production of penicillin, which will speed output of the drug, was disclosed yesterday by Dr. George H. Brown of R. C. A. Laboratories, Princeton, N. J. He said the installation, which takes up less space than an average business office, permits much faster operations than under the conventional "freeze drying" method.



Dr. George H. Brown.

He told an audience at the National Chemical exposition in the Coliseum that the rate of output of one installation would exceed the combined production of all the penicillin plants in the country six months ago. The system has a potential hourly capacity of 200 million Oxford units [a unit of potency developed especially for penicillin], enough for an average treatment for 400 persons.

Bulk Reduction Speeded.

Brown said that last June he built and installed at the penicillin plant of E. R. Squibb & Sons the first part of the new system, an electronic dehydrator, which completed in 30 minutes an operation that required 24 hours by the usual method in bulk reduction of penicillin solution, a vital step in production.

Brown said the chief advantages of the system were that it affords continuous production at a fixed speed, uses only a fraction of the floor space required by the usual freeze drying systems, and operates at far less cost than the other system.

Radio Frequency Used.

The electronic bulk reducer used in the first step consists of three large glass bulbs, connected in vertical series, and attached to a pump that maintains a low vacuum. To this is connected a 2,000 watt radio frequency generator.

Electrodes carrying the output of the generator are attached to the base of the lowest glass bulb which holds about 2,000 cubic centimeters of liquid. From the base a glass tube extends downward for several inches, so that it almost reaches the bottom of a beaker of penicillin broth placed below it.

As the vacuum pump starts, the suction draws the solution into the base of the lower bulb. The radio current is turned on and as the current passes thru the solution heat up to 50 degrees is developed and the liquid boils. This causes evaporation at the rate of 2 liters an hour.

WEST. CARTRIDGE AND OLIN CORP. AGREE TO MERGE

East Alton, Ill., Nov. 18 (AP).—An agreement between Western Cartridge company and Olin corporation, both of East Alton, to merge into a new corporation, Olin Industries, Inc., was announced today.

John M. Olin, vice president of both companies, said the merger would unify management of 12 affiliates, subsidiaries, and divisions of the two companies, and enable them to give more attention to post-war activities.

The agreement authorized immediate issuance by Olin Industries of 155,624 shares of preferred stock, and 2,130,300 shares of common stock to be exchanged for outstanding stock of Western Cartridge and Olin corporation. The exchange has been approved by Olin corporation stockholders and will be voted on by stockholders of Western Cartridge Dec. 11, Olin said.

CANADA EASES TAXES TO AID RECONVERSION

Rise in War Goods Output Expected.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 18 [Special.]—Finance Minister Ilsley today disclosed a double depreciation provision on new capital investments to encourage reconstruction projects became effective Nov. 10 and will continue until Dec. 31, 1946, or until two years after the cessation of hostilities with Germany, whichever is the earlier.

The taxation concession was contained in this year's budget before the house of commons.

Certification Is Required.

A condition of obtaining the double depreciation benefits requires a certificate be issued by Reconstruction Minister Howe certifying that, having regard to war or reconstruction needs, it is desirable in his opinion that the project be allowed double depreciation.

Ilsley said the measure was being implemented immediately to assist certain projects which would result in increased war production and also, later, would have a post-war use and contribute to maintaining employment when war production falls off.

Early steps should be taken to meet the problem of conversion to peace time production before the actual cessation of hostilities in Europe, he said. Plans must be made and much preparatory work done, if industry is to be ready to proceed with reconversion or expansion projects immediately on cessation of active hostilities in Europe.

Need Basic Preparation.

There are instances "where producers should be allowed to prepare in advance to meet the basic demands which will arise when industry generally is able to undertake a complete changeover to full time operations," Ilsley said.

"For example, there will be a heavy demand for various kinds of building materials when peace time construction gets under way," he added.

CORN FUTURES LEAD PRICES OF GRAINS HIGHER

Heavy week-end short covering and buying of corn futures by a cash firm advanced grain prices rapidly in the late trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Corn led the upturn and closed 1 to 1⅜ cents a bushel higher. Wheat gained ⅞ to 1¼ cents, rye 1⅛ to 1⅜, oats ½ to ⅞, and barley ¾ to ⅞.

Commission houses with southwestern connections bought wheat futures which caused reports of purchases of wheat for flour and shorts covered when corn turned strong. Ceiling prices are being paid in Minneapolis for spring wheat testing 12 per cent or more protein.

A government loan on the 1944 corn crop is expected to be announced late this week and brokers believe it will be set at 90 per cent of the Nov. 15 parity price, which will be announced later this month. The loan is expected to be about 98 cents a bushel, national average, equal to $1.05 for No. 3 yellow, Chicago basis.

American Stores company yesterday reported sales in October were $20,571,669, a rise of 3.1 per cent from a year ago.

■■■ Will your "post-war car" for many months, perhaps years, be the one you're now driving? Or will you get a new one like the last '42 jobs to leave the line?

Or . . . will you really get that wonder car of your dreams?

These are questions The Wall Street Journal has been asking itself. And you'd have been interested in reading the facts uncovered in a recent Wall Street Journal survey and in other W.S.J. articles on automobile prospects.

You would have received a clear picture from which to draw your own conclusions about the future of America's No. 1 peacetime industry—and your chances of buying a car.

For instance, you would have learned that old customers have been "pestering" dealers to put their names on priority lists in an effort to get cars early. The dealers have been taking orders only reluctantly.

That's an example of the kind of information, geared to the minute, to industry and to you, that you get when you read The Wall Street Journal daily.

For The Wall Street Journal brings you the news that matters—briefly, accurately, interestingly. To read it is to protect yourself against loss of time, loss of money, loss of indispensable information.

TAX HEADACHES NEAR AGAIN FOR MANY EARNERS

Altho the mathematical complexities of making out income tax returns are a thing of the past for the majority of the country's tax-payers, a substantial group still faces the prospect of wrestling mentally with the complex "schedules," "lines," and "notes" which are crammed into income tax blanks.

For all practical purposes, income tax payers now are divided into two groups—the withholding or pay-as-you-go branch, and the "estimated tax" unit. If you belong to the first group, there will be little to fuss about because in most cases you will need only to file a simple form provided by your employer and the government will do the tax figuring for you. Most persons are in this classification.

Paper Work in Second Group.

If you are in the second group, however, you still have some paper work to do. This classification includes individuals whose income is not covered or is only partly covered under pay-as-you-go, such as recipients of wages or salaries above specified amounts, investors, physicians, lawyers, and others in business for themselves. Farmers generally are in this bracket, altho their estimates and payments fall due on different date.

For these individuals the tax calendar reads this way:

Jan. 15—Persons who did not or could not file correct estimates of their 1944 income must file corrections and pay the final instalment on their 1944 tax liability.

Persons under the withholding provisions who filed correct estimates, but who owe amounts in excess of withholding credits make final payment of 1944 taxes.

More Work March 15.

Farmers file estimates on income for all of 1944 and make payment thereon.

March 15—All of the aforementioned groups except farmers file estimates of income for 1945 and pay first quarter taxes.

Persons wholly under pay-as-you-go file employer receipts.

Persons claiming more than the blanket 10 per cent deduction for contributions, taxes, and other credits provided under pay-as-you-go file on form 1040.

[The March 15 tax bills also will include the remaining half of the unforgiven portion of the 1942 or 1943 taxes, as the case may be. Taxpayers were required to pay the first half last March.]

CHICAGO PRIVATE AMONG 8 KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Tonopah, Nev., Nov. 18 (AP).—The names of four officers and four enlisted men killed in the crash of an army bomber near the air field here yesterday were announced today.

They included Corp. Allen W. Gransee, 22, son of Mrs. Anna Gransee, Wauconda, Ill.; Corp. Harold A. Ellis, 24, husband of Mrs. Gertrude Ellis, Belmond, Ia., and Pvt. Edward E. Zimmerman, 19, son of Mrs. Eleanor Zimmerman, 1436 Melrose st., Chicago.

FORMER FOUNDRY EMPLOYE.

Corp. Gransee, who had been in the army a year and a half, had been stationed at the Tonopah air base. A former Wauconda High school student, he was employed by the Chicago Hardware foundry in North Chicago prior to his induction. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anna Gransee; four sisters, and a brother.

Pilot Dies in Crash.

Lawrenceville, Ill., Nov. 18 (AP).—Lt. Irving A. Johnson of Cannon Falls, Minn., was killed and his co-pilot Kenneth H. Klinger of Herndon, Pa., suffered major injuries in the crash of their C-47 plane at George field near here last night, Col. Tracy K. Dorsett, commanding officer at the field, reported.

Iowan Dies in Crash.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 18 (AP).—Eight airmen were killed today when a Flying Fortress from MacDill field crashed 45 miles southeast of Tampa while on a training flight, the commanding officer at the field announced. The dead included Corp. Lynn H. McClurg Jr., Pierson, Ia., aerial engineer.

CHICAGOAN RESCUED AFTER HE WANDERS IN WOODS 36 HOURS

John Huber, 55, of 7410 N. Damen av., was safe yesterday in Powers, Mich., after having been lost for more than 36 hours in the north woods while on a deer hunting expedition. Huber, a janitor, had been the object of a search by a posse of 100 men. An airplane also was employed as fear grew for his safety.

Mrs. Lee Schenk, Huber's daughter, who lives at the same address, said she was advised he was none the worse for his experience except that he was tired out, hungry, and thirsty. He was found at 10:30 a. m. yesterday on a road near Marinette, Wis., by a member of the searching party, who took him to Powers.

Before he became lost Thursday afternoon Huber separated from a friend, Claude Lawrence, 49, of 1271 Ardmore av., also a janitor, and another companion when they decided to hunt along adjacent lanes. Huber failed to show up later at a given meeting place.

Huber said he found his way back to a highway by applying a hunter's axiom—find a stream, follow it, and it will lead to a road or some sort of habitation.

Frank Gotthart, 55, of 1229 Bosworth av., who failed to return from a pheasant hunting trip he took Nov. 10 to Antioch, Lake county, was still missing last night. Gotthart, a barber, had planned to return home in two days.

Cigaret Fires Her Bed; She Leaps from 2d Floor

Mrs. Marion O'Leary, 30, of 1542 N. Artesian av., suffered severe burns on her legs, hands, and face yesterday when a sofa on which she had been sleeping caught fire from a cigaret. Aroused by the flames, Mrs. O'Leary leaped from a second story window, but was uninjured by the fall. She was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital. The fire damaged the living room.

This is the United States navy's giant battleship Missouri. It is of the Iowa class of capital ships, recognized as the most powerful vessels now afloat. Other vessels of the class are the name ship Iowa and the New Jersey, now serving in the Pacific fleet, and the Wisconsin, which, like the Missouri, has been commissioned and presumably is headed for action in the Pacific. Still two more ships of the class, the Kentucky and the Illinois, are under construction. Eight hundred eighty feet long and 108 feet of beam, vessels of the Iowa class displace 45,000 tons of water each. This is before fuel, ammunition, and supplies are placed aboard. Fully loaded they displace 52,600 tons. These great ships are armed with nine 16 inch guns, placed three to a turret in three turrets, with two turrets forward and one turret aft. In addition each has 20 5 inch dual purpose guns and 128 light anti-aircraft weapons, including 20 and 40 millimeter guns. Armor plate of the powerful Iowa class ships is 16 inches thick. Each carries a crew of about 2,500 men and four airplanes, and, despite its great size, can steam at a speed of more than 30 knots.

PORTABLE BRIDGE TAKES RIVERS IN STRIDE!

By JOHN A. MENAUGH

RIVERS and streams in previous wars have presented obstinate barriers to the rapid advance of an army, but today, as has been shown by the remarkable slash thru France from the Normandy coast to the German frontier, American army engineers have solved that problem.

Streams and even sizable rivers are taken in their stride by our engineers, with delays here and there of only a few minutes or a few hours, as compared with delays of days in previous wars. With two types of standard sectional bridges available to them for emergency crossings of tanks and other heavy vehicles, and possessing the knowledge of how to build permanent timber bridges in a remarkably short time, the engineers have "grasshoppered" across northern France at a speed never before equaled in warfare.

As one engineer unit throws a sectional bridge across a river for the immediate advance of motorized equipment, another unit is coming up or already has come up to begin the construction of a permanent bridge, often from material at hand or near-by. As soon as the permanent bridge is built the sectional bridge is disassembled, removed, and carried forward to the next river or stream.

The two types of sectional bridges used by the engineers to provide for lightning drives of American armor are the Bailey bridge, developed in 1940 by an English engineer, Donald Bailey, and the American-designed steel treadway bridge M-2. Information concerning both of these, because of their tactical importance, was restricted until recently.

The Bailey bridge, component parts of which now are built in Chicago by the Ceco Products corporation and by other companies in this country as well as in England, was found to be so much superior to any similar bridge that it was adopted by the United States army. Whether made in America or in England, the component parts all are interchangeable.

A welded steel truss panel 10 feet long by 5 feet 1 inch high is the primary unit member of the Bailey bridge. These units are joined end to end by inserting pins at top and bottom thru matching holes. Bolting is reduced to an absolute minimum by substituting fixed lugs, recesses, and dowels for uniting the various members.

Each truss panel is carried by six men and held in place by them while others drive the pins. Another group of men brings up a 10 inch I beam that fits across the bottom chords of the trusses and is secured by clamps. Steel stringers fit into lugs on the I beams without the necessity of bolting. When the floor planking and curbing are placed, eight bolts to the 10 foot section hold them all in position. Even the minimum amount of bolting is made simple by the employment of T-head bolts. Nuts never are removed. The T-heads are inserted thru slots in the curbing plank and engage with recesses in the stringers by means of quarter turns. Two or three turns then tighten the nuts.

To secure a pair of diagonal braces four more bolts are used, that, with the previously described operations, being all the nut-turning necessary in a 10 foot section unless additional tiers of panels are required for extra strength. Turnbuckles are employed to tighten sway braces underneath.

With sufficient space available, a whole Bailey bridge is built and pushed across a gap. This naturally is done upon and from the near bank of the gap. Lacking sufficient space, the engineers may add a section at a time as the bridge is pushed out over the gap. At any rate there always must be sufficient weight back of the rollers under the front end of the bridge to keep the structure from falling.

The whole bridge structure rests upon rollers while being put together. Launching is accomplished by keeping the greater weight always to the rear. The front end of the bridge is provided with a launching nose consisting of skeleton sections. It is curved upward to allow for a possible sag as the bridge is pushed forward. The skeleton nose is dismantled when the front end of the main part of the bridge reaches the far shore of the river or stream and is safely anchored there.

The Bailey bridge is designed upon a principle identical with that of the well known sectional construction toys so popular with small boys. It can be thrown across a stream or ravine in a single clear span up to 240 feet in length, floated upon pontoons, or supported by intermediate trestles. For additional strength to support extraordinary loads one or two trusses are used outside the single truss, or even two tiers of trusses are placed above the initial truss.

Variously assembled Ba'ley bridges are termed single-single, double-single, triple-double, and so forth, depending upon the multiple of truss panels added along the sides or in tiers. The I beams are so notched as to receive three rows of trusses on each side.

A span of 40 feet can be completed by a crew of 37 men in an hour and a quarter, while a 180 foot span can be assembled by a crew of 148 men in seven hours. Such structures can be dismantled as easily as erected, altho they are sturdy enough to serve as permament bridges if the necessity arises. Component parts of the bridges are transported upon large trailers towed by motor trucks.

In the operations in France the American army engineers put the Bailey bridge to virtually every possible kind of use. Masonry bridges partly destroyed by the Germans were patched together with Bailey sections to make them usable structures. One engineer unit actually used French canalboats as pontoons to support a Bailey bridge.

The American steel treadway bridge M-2, sectional parts of which are manufactured by the Detroit Steel Products corporation, Detroit, Mich., and other American companies, was designed especially for carrying medium tanks, and it is transported and erected by special engineer treadway bridge companies, each company provided with enough trucks and equipment to construct 864 feet of bridge.

Altho the steel treadways may be used upon fixed trestles, they ordinarily are supported by pneumatic floats made of rubberized canvas, 33 inches in diameter and formed into elongated rings 33 feet long by 8 feet wide. When deflated each of these floats can be packed within a carrying case 4x4 feet. Inflated by the engineer mobile air compressors, each float has a maximum displacement of more than 17½ tons. Saddles made up of steel beams and plates transmit the weight of the steel treadways uniformly to the floats.

The treadways are transported on special six ton treadway bridge trucks which are provided with power cranes operated by the truck engines. One complete unit of the bridge requires 36 trucks.

Actual count shows 2 to 1 vote for soap that cuts grease off dishes in a flash—yet helps keep hands soft and smooth

American Family Flakes Preferred By Twice As Many Women As Any Other Package Soap, Independent Dishwashing Survey Shows

"Everyone says my hands look smoother now that I'm using American Family Flakes," says Mrs. M. B. Vaughn, 1752 W. Monroe St. . . . And here's the reason. Today's American Family Flakes are milder than any strong granulated soap—so they are far kinder to hands.

"You never saw greasy dishes come clean quicker" says Mrs. S. Brandenberg, 2943 N. Avers Ave. . . . It's true. Tests prove no soap in the world cuts grease faster than American Family Flakes.

"More suds faster—and how they last" says Mrs. E. J. Bertram, Jr., 7846 S. Euclid Ave. . . . Just think of it. American Family Flakes make more suds faster than any leading strong granulated soap—and those suds stand up 'til the last dish is done

Girls! Don't waste soap
It's made of war materials
1 When doing dishes, run water in empty dishpan first. Then add Flakes, swish vigorously, do dishes.
2 Wash less greasy dishes first; then do greasy things.

LOOKING AT HOLLYWOOD WITH HEDDA HOPPER

"ROBE" MAKES HISTORY

(Copyright: 1944: The Chicago Tribune.)

Hollywood.

A GUY HERE turned down $1,000,000 the other day, and he's not having his head examined. He is producing a picture.

He's Frank Ross, who was offered $1,000,000 for something he paid $100,000 for. That is $900,000 profit on anybody's comptometer, but Frank Ross doesn't want it. He wants to add $3,900,000 to his original investment and complete a picture.

If all that seems astronomical and a trifle goofy, consider the property this chap has got hold of. All studios agree that nothing like it has come along in ages.

Frank is living proof, incidentally, of the value of the "help thy neighbor" policy. One day in 1942 he was helping Richard Halliday, literary agent, to cut his lawn, when Halliday happened to mention a book his client, Lloyd C. Douglas, was writing. The book was half written; the subject fascinated Ross. As soon as the last blade of grass had been trimmed both men were on their way to Dr. Douglas' house to talk a deal.

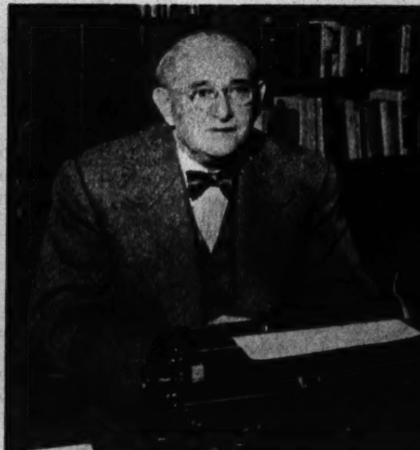
It was estimated as early as that that the latest of the Douglas novels, called "The Robe," might sell as many as 400,000 copies, based on the popularity of his previous books. Nobody hazarded the guess that it would sell any more than that. The latest report from the publishers shows it's sold 1,500,000 copies, and after two years of publication is still the fastest selling thing on the book shelves.

Whatever foresight Mr. Ross may have employed, he certainly got himself a tiger by the tail. The book has more readers than "Gone with the Wind" ever had—and no end of sales in sight. A polling organization reported that for every 100 persons who have read the book there are 67 waiting to read it.

Mr. Ross, among the younger and less flamboyant producers, takes what may be considered a unique approach to his work. His associates will tell you that producing money-making pictures is not his first concern, and five minutes' conversation with him will prove it to you.

It's his belief that good pictures make money, and if you make good pictures the box office will respond, so why think of the box office first? And he has proved that he has something on the ball. When Columbia, after searching for a story for his wife, Jean Arthur, revealed its dilemma to him, Ross offered to write an original. The result was "The More the Merrier." Before that, with Norman Krasna, he produced "The Devil and Miss Jones" for Miss Arthur, and since then has produced "The Lady Takes a Chance."



Dr. Lloyd Douglas, the author.

To a man with this record any studio in town would be ready to entrust a group of its high-budget pictures, but Ross, a Bostonian by birth, is independent by preference. To keep faith with the millions of readers of "The Robe," which becomes an increasing responsibility, he early had inserted in each copy a questionnaire asking the reader to advise him on the attached postcard what portions of the book made the greatest impression. The replies were to guide the writers of the screen play in choosing and dramatizing scenes.

A tall stack of replies comes in daily. People of all walks of life write that no book in their memory has laid such definite hold upon them, brought them such faith and understanding.

Recently when Mervyn Le Roy, who will direct the film for Ross, visited the aircraft carrier Saratoga to be guest at a luncheon in his honor, a chaplain told him that every member of the ship's company had read "The Robe." The government not long ago printed 200,000 copies at its own expense and distributed them free of charge thru Armed Services Editions.

In his search for new faces to play roles in "The Robe" Frank Ross is using this sketch as a guide for the girl he wants to portray Salome. It was drawn by Ensign Jay Robinson, who won a $500 contest with this entry.

Frank Ross, right, and Mervyn Le Roy discuss "The Robe."

If anything more were needed to make Ross acutely aware of his responsibility to this huge body of readers, the daily flow of letters would do it. Dr. Douglas wisely used his novelist's flair for dramatic color and action to put over the philosophy and insight he has developed over a lifetime.

The first offer made to Ross for the property was $400,000. It is hard to toss aside a 300 per cent profit when you know that by doing so you are not only sacrificing a neat $300,000 but persisting in assuming the greatest headache any producer ever acquired. Ross let the offer go by. As the circulation climbed the ante went up, until a little less than two years after publication the price quoted would have given him 900 per cent profit at a figure which anybody would consider a tidy fortune. But Ross stuck to his intention to produce the picture.

His best critics have called him a chump for this. But he has an

VOICE OF THE MOVIE FAN

Letters published in this department should be written on one side of the paper. If you wish a personal reply please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Miss Tinée: Would you please print a picture of Marsha Hunt and also give me her address? I've seen her lately in "Lost Angel" and "None Shall Escape," and she is my very favorite movie star.

JANE.

Marsha Hunt

Dear Jane: A letter addressed to Marsha Hunt in care of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Culver City, Cal., will reach her. Here's her picture—and a lovely one, I think!

Dear Miss Tinée: We have been trying to settle a discussion as to whether it was Dana Andrews or Preston Foster who played opposite Gene Tierney in "Belle Starr." Whichever it was, would you please give me the name of all the leading characters in that picture? Could you also tell me what year Dana Andrews made his first appearance in movies? Thank you. Yours truly,

ROSEMARY M.

Dear Rosemary: Dana Andrews played opposite Gene in "Belle Starr." He made his first screen appearance in "Lucky Cisco Kid" in 1940. Also playing in "Belle Starr" were Randolph Scott, John Shepperd, and Elizabeth Patterson. You're welcome.

Dear Miss Tinée: I have been tempted many times to write in to your column to inquire the name and a few personal remarks about a fellow I have seen in many pictures, yet whose name I have never seen mentioned in the cast. He played the part of Private Kelly in "The Gang's All Here." I think I fell for him the first time I ever saw him on the screen, and despite the fact that I never knew who he was, I always got a thrill when unexpectedly he'd pop up in one of those small unbilled parts he does so well.

I should like very much to have you print a small picture of him in your column. However, if this is not possible, please do tell me a little something about him.

Thanks a million, and orchids to your column! M. FLEMING.

Dear M. Fleming: I'm sorry, but I haven't a bit of information regarding "Private Kelly." Should any come in—or a picture of him—I'll remember your letter and print either or both. (Like Dunninger, I'm only 90 per cent on the beam—IF that.)

Dear Miss Tinée: I have been reading your column and have enjoyed it. Will you please help me in a little argument I am having with my mother about the movie star Joseph Cotten? I say my uncle looks like him and my mother says that he doesn't. Will you please tell me where I have to write in order to get a picture of him to prove to my mother that he looks like my uncle? Thank you, and good luck.

JOAN KELLY.

Dear Joan: Usually mother knows best. Address Mr. Cotten in care of United Artists, 1040 Los Palmas, Cal. I'm glad you like our column.

COLLECTING HOT? HERE IS JAZZ A LA 1944!

Jack Teagarden . . . the jazz of 1944.

WHEN JAZZ blew its way north from New Orleans to Chicago's Austin High and the south side jam spots . . . to Reisenweber's in New York . . . to Europe . . . it emerged as an art form—as a purely American music. The long-hairs to the contrary notwithstanding, jazz is authentic, it is important for something more than an invitation to calisthenics on a juke box Saturday night. In its pure form—and you don't hear much of that today—it is individualism set to music. At its best that individualism is miraculous, impelling.

Swing has overtaken hot jazz in mass appeal, and yet it is preserving jazz for us. The men of swing are for the most part devotees and in some cases expert practitioners of the more unadulterated jazz. CAPITOL records has put into a magnificent album one of the finest collections of modern jazz you'll find in a long search of the music counters. It is called "New American Jazz." These eight sides were recorded on the west coast by a group of our greatest jazz men. No arrangements were used. The red light flashed and the boys dug in.

Idol of the autograph fans in Chicago this week is Gene Krupa, who is a terrific come-back star with his 35 piece, 3 string band. Is he yours?—W. D.

"Clambake in B Flat" is a museum piece if ever there was one. It is, in the words of Dave Dexter Jr., who wrote the notes that accompany the album, "righteous jamming." Consider: Jack Teagarden, trombone; Joe Sullivan, piano; Jimmie Noone, clarinet; Dave Matthews, tenor; Billy May, trumpet; Dave Barbour, guitar; Artie Shapiro, bass; Zutty Singleton, drums. The same crew cut "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry," which features an ad lib fourth chorus that is splendid, brothers; and changed pace for a unique "In My Solitude." Then the same boys waxed a magnificent blues classic, "Casanova's Lament." The anthology also includes "Sugar," "Ain't Goin' No Place," "Some Day, Sweetheart," with Les Robinson starring on alto and Pete Johnson on piano, and "That Old Feeling," which is hot jazz under wraps. In the latter numbers you'll hear other modern jazz greats such as Shorty Cherock, Nappy La Mare, Barney Bigard, Nick Fatool, and Joe Sullivan.

By MAUREEN DALY
(Author of "Seventeenth Summer" and "Smarter and Smoother.")

AND THIS is what the girls have to say about it. The gals have gone into a serious harpy huddle and have come out with a list of qualifications for the ideal boy, whether he is to fit into the picture as a Friday night date, just a good friend, or something more permanent in the moonlight and roses department. The composite picture of opinions adds up to some one who looks like Van Johnson and acts like some one the gals just haven't met yet. And the picture pieces together this way:

"Personally I like a boy with some depth and foresight. It is not enough to look ahead from day to day no farther than the evening date or the great decision about what plaid shirt is to be worn tomorrow. Those who know that Picasso isn't a wind instrument, that watermelons grow in hills, that Fred Waring and Fra Melius Christianus have something in common, and that Gilbert and Sullivan are not just a team of Hollywood song writers can still be hep to the jive. It is a particularly satisfying friendship when two people mutually enjoy such things as opera, ballet, good books, high school basketball games, and Harry James' music. And I like a boy who likes to work. A sense of humor still rates high. In short, give me some one who is fun to work with, think with, and laugh with, too."

"Let him know how to beat the books without being stuffy about it. Physical appearance doesn't matter so much; just let him be neat. If I found a boy who thought I was almost perfect I could easily overlook his faults."

"My idea of a slick fellow isn't one who is handsome but one who has a winning personality and is a good athlete and a better dancer. Above all, he must be honest and courteous. He should be able to keep up an intelligent conversation without bragging about himself or the other girls he has dated. The boy I'm dreaming of will look neat in anything from his basketball uniform to a sharp sport coat. Maybe I'm asking for too much, but I can always dream, can't I?"

"I left school last year without finishing my education, but with that mistake behind me and with a year of hard experience on my record, I am more than ever certain of what I am looking for in a boy. I am just 17, but know that the boy I choose must be clean, honest, and willing to learn new things to better himself and help others. He need not be handsome or have much money, but he should be upstanding and willing to stick by his principles. I would like him to dress well, but he should not be a spendthrift. I would like him to have a special courtesy and respect for women. He would enjoy doing almost anything; every day would be a special occasion to him. And I know there are such boys."

"I think every girl yearns at some time or other for a big and beautiful hunk of man. But in actuality that kind of dream is extremely hard to find and is usually booked up anyway. So when I come down to earth this is what I get for my ideal man: I want some one who has been raised in a good moral atmosphere, with sound religious training. He should be thoughtful of my feelings but willing to stand up for his own ideas when he feels I am wrong; he should be frank and honest, with a sense of humor. This may seem strange, but I always have a great admiration for a boy with an extensive vocabulary—it shows an alert and interested mind. I have not mentioned physical appearance because I do not put that foremost in my mind. Any girl likes to date an attractive boy, rather from a sense of pride, but there are few ugly ducklings among fellows, because if they are neat and clean they are almost automatically attractive. My ideal man would enjoy sports as much as I do; the boy I like would not have to be well off financially, for I believe that if a boy and girl like each other well enough they can have a good time on friendship alone."

"Make him tall, not handsome, some one with whom I can have clean fun, some one who has high ideals and practices them, a fair ration of brains, and the courage of his convictions. Above all, he must not be selfish and self-centered, but must have that rare quality of liking other people. And even above that, he must like me!"

"I don't have a blueprint for my model man, but I do have some ideas about him. He should have a good disposition and a good sense of humor; an above average student with an interest in world affairs. No snob fits in my picture. He should be truthful, friendly, and without racial or religious prejudice. He should be a fair dancer, a good conversationalist, and thoughtful on a date—and if he manages to show himself in church every Sunday he would certainly head my list. There's my perfect specimen—and you can understand why I have never found him!"

"The ideal high school boy should be popular with both boys and girls. If he doesn't take part in the sports of the school he should he interested in them. He doesn't have to be a Joel Kupperman in his studies, but he shouldn't have a head like Charlie McCarthy, either. That would suit me."

This is just a quick cross section of what some of the gals are thinking. In judging a boy they usually prefer brains over brawn and would choose a walk around the block with some one thoughtful and attentive rather than a bright lights evening, backed by plenty of folding lettuce, with some one who spent the night looking in other directions and reminiscing about other girls he has known.

So next time you take your honey child out for the evening, just try to be thoughtful, attentive, humorous, good-natured, honest, neat, stimulating, and interested in your date, music, good books, politics, and world affairs all at the same time! It may take two heads, four hands, and more ingenuity than you have on hand at the moment—but that's what the girls are looking for.

Because we saw this and because, at the same time, we knew what wonderful things B vitamins could do, we asked vitamin authorities and doctors to tell us why. Here's what 30 of them replied.

What these Experts Approved

People who suffer from nervousness, tiredness, irritability, mental depression, lack of sleep and a generally rundown feeling, and many other conditions, due to an acute B-Complex deficiency, may quickly and easily be helped right in their own homes. BUT THEY MUST LEARN TO TAKE THESE VITAMINS PROPERLY.

With the help of these 30 vitamin specialists and doctors, we bring you the authoritative Stan-B Way of taking vitamins. This is fully described in an amazing, new booklet, The Stan-B Way to Better B Vitamin Health. Now, if you are in poor health because of an acute Vitamin B-Complex deficiency—if you sleep poorly—if you're nervous and irritable—if you're easily tired—if you lack that feeling of well-being, which is nature's gift to every healthy person—you should actually feel better in as little as 10 days—gain new vigor by following the Stan-B-Way.

Let this Amazing Booklet Help You

In this sensational booklet are listed the symptoms you may be suffering from. And, with each, is listed how you can relieve that symptom if due to an acute B vitamin deficiency.

We have printed this wonderful booklet compactly. You may obtain it, free, by mailing in the order blank at the right or simply ask your druggist for a copy. But act now. Get Stan-B tablets at your drug store, or mail in this order blank, today. Don't wait a minute to get your feet more firmly on the right road to B vitamin health.

Can we know our past lives?

Does personality survive death? Do experiences of past lives cling to our consciousness—as the scent of a flower lingers on? There are mistakes you could avoid—things you could do differently—if you could be certain. Have you felt strangely unlike yourself—more like someone else—with different inclinations and personality? Do new places and faces seem oddly familiar?

WHEN YOU SEE a woman in the army walking down the main street of any town near a post you may know these things about the girl:

She passed inspection that morning, with all her gear in perfect order and ready to wear. Her extra uniforms are hanging neatly buttoned in their specified place in the wall locker. She was not out of line in any respect during the preceding week, or she would not be away from the post on pass.

Why bring that up? you ask. For a couple of reasons. First, to ask ourselves, as civilians, how many of us could have our bedrooms inspected any hour of the day; our bureau drawers and closets; our shoes, to see if they shine; our laundry bag, to see if it is regularly emptied; the way the clothes hang in our closets. The army, you know, prescribes the exact location for each garment in the locker, each item in the foot locker; where hats, gas masks, canteens, and other equipment will be kept. This means that a woman in the army could almost find things in the dark—no stoop, no squint. Could you?

Secondly, we bring up this subject because it is predicted that after the war army women will take better care of their clothes. "Being so finicky about neatness now," one officer explains, "we'll automatically go on being fussy about our appearance. It will come naturally now, for we've had tidiness instilled into us. We'll want to go on passing inspection for the rest of our lives. Habit makes us want to press our uniforms after each wearing. We're more concerned with eliminating creases in our skirts and blouses than in our faces."

This army tradition of neatness is going to mean more than you may think in civilian woman appraisal after the war. As for personal grooming, never a single day goes by without attention to its details, which is something for the civilian to note and one good reason for the general attractiveness of the group. We could learn from them how to speed up the morning program, including the shower, putting on makeup, combing hair, and dressing completely in the given 15 minute interval.

The WAC assembles all toilet articles in a handy case or bag which can be snatched from the foot locker when the rising bugle sounds. There's no time lost looking around for soap, towel, tooth brush, tooth powder or paste, shower cap, bath talc. They're all in one compact kit.

Her makeup routine is simple—a powder base of cream or liquid, face powder, lipstick, powder brush to remove excess powder from eyelashes and hair line. A neat little matchbox or pillbox for bobby pins in which pins out of hair go without a minute's waste. The clothes, shoes, hat, gloves, as said above, are all ready for donning, and the girl is ready for the day's work in 15 minutes.

YOUTH ON THE CAMPUS

By ELEANOR NANGLE

Northampton, Mass.

WHEN scarlet and gold threads first appear in the green carpet of the woods, the hills, and the not too distant mountains, Smith students begin to think of "mountain day." This is one of Smith's oldest traditions, a day of freedom when the foliage is at its most glorious. No one knows the exact date on which the wild ringing of bells at 8 will announce its arrival, so student anticipation is always spiced with the element of surprise.

The last group of WAVES accepted in the naval reserve midshipmen's school (WR) is now completing its training program on the Smith college campus.

Traditionally, mountain day is one spent energetically, climbing Lookout or Mount Tom in an orgy of exercise and enjoyment of nature, but it is the freshmen for the most part who keep this tradition to the letter. Almost to a woman the freshmen pour themselves into blue jeans and lumberjack shirts—a costume students love and faculty loathes but countenances with good grace on mountain day—and set off for the mountains, usually by bicycle, for picnics and prowls in the woods.

Freshmen, spurred on by the thought of a college adventure brand new to them, go at it furiously. Sophomores are a shade more temperate. Where freshmen pedal off to the hills, sophomores will hike leisurely. Juniors are even more moderate. They're apt to spend some of the day in the library, the rest lolling on the shores of Paradise pond.

Seniors are the most blase of all. They might catch up on sleep that day, or bail out for New York or Boston. Mountain day, being one day of complete freedom from classes, takes on a special pattern for each student; each utilizes the luxury in her own way. And every girl on the Northampton campus finds mountain day quite a wonderful tradition.

The blue jean, flapping shirttail costume, by the way, is not quite so popular as it used to be at Smith. A big favorite this year, especially with upperclassmen, is the substitution of tailored shorts on "pedal pushers," usually of gray menswear flannel, for the disreputable jeans. These have hems that hover about the knee line and are at least trim, which can never be said of the flopping jeans. And more often than not shirttails are worn tucked in with these, much to the relief of the onlookers. All campuses are divided these days into two camps—the blue jean wearers and the blue jean disapprovers.

Dec. 26 will mark the end of a war time chapter of Smith college history. On that day the naval reserve midshipmen's school (WR), the officers' training school for WAVES, will be closed. The uniformed women now on the campus constitute the last group of service women to make use of the college facilities that were turned over to the navy department in October of 1942. Capen, Northrop, and Gillette houses will once again be student dormitories, and the Northampton hotel will again provide accommodations for visiting parents and dates.

The campus will be changed when the marching, singing WAVES no longer trot to classes or do calisthenics on the playing field, but the freshmen can at last find out if all the wonderful tales seniors and juniors tell of the food at Wiggins tavern are really true! The tavern, a WAVES' mess for the last two years, was long a hallowed spot for Smith students; even the most sophisticated Smith senior is apt to get a dreamy look in her eye when she speaks of its peppermint ice cream.

interesting philosophy. It's his belief that no social system, no schemes for post-war happiness and peace, can work until people are a little better. It is the greed, the suspicions and treachery within people themselves that cause social systems and reforms to fail. People must somehow, sooner or later, be brought to the realization, he declares, that they must individually improve to have the world improve.

"If this picture can help people to be even a little better, as the book seems to have done in thousands of cases," he says, "I will have performed the greatest function I can ever perform as a producer."

He approaches the task without any illusions. He knows he must make an engrossing picture to reach the largest number of people. And he's spent 18 months preparing.

He's just back from New York, where he and Mervyn Le Roy tested new faces for the picture. So far they've got only one that they both agree upon. And I'm hoping, with all this care, the picture of "The Robe" will be as good as we all expect, 'cause that's the kind of story the world is waiting for.

Ross' casting views are a little quaint, too. In most pictures familiar faces are an asset, but this is not one of them. His whole success in re-creating the Roman era and the characters of "The Robe," he feels, is dependent upon audiences believing that the players are actually the people of the past whom they are supposed to be. To have audiences recognizing familiar players thruout the film would be, in his own words, fatal. You remember how many months De Mille worked looking for a man to play Christ in "The King of Kings." Then he chose H. B. Warner, and during the making of that film the Warners had a bit of domestic upheaval, and De Mille insisted Mrs. Warner sit on the set with her husband to quiet the rumors. After the picture they divorced.

"The Robe" will be in technicolor, which adds a third to its cost. Sets, makeup, and wardrobe have to be more realistic than is necessary in black and white. The color camera picks up only too quickly any cheating in quality.

I'm hoping that with all this care it will be as good as "Going My Way." It it's not it won't be because Ross and Le Roy didn't try.

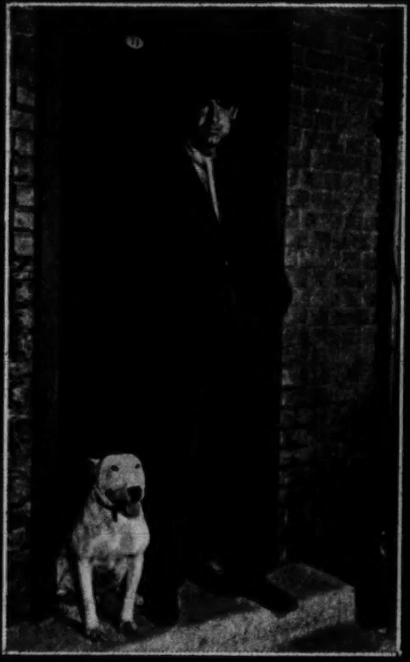
GRAPHIC LITTLE THEATER presents Ethel Barrymore and Cary Grant in "None but the Lonely Heart"



1 Ernie Mott (Cary Grant) is a shiftless, embittered young cockney. He cadges what little money he can, spends it on tawdry pleasures. His shiftlessness causes many quarrels with his mother, Ma Mott, who runs a second hand store.

2 One night Ernie meets Ada (June Duprez), cashier at a cheap neighborhood amusement arcade. It is Ernie's first exciting romance, but Ada is only slightly interested.

3 Ernie and Ma (Ethel Barrymore) quarrel again shortly after this, and when he threatens to leave home she tells him to stay away until he has settled down.

4 To earn money Ernie repairs some watches for a pawnbroker, who tells Ernie that Ma is incurably ill and is dying. It is the first time Ernie has heard the truth.

5 At right: Shocked by the news, Ernie goes home, tells Ma he is going to help her in the shop. Their relationship improves, and their lives are frequently brightened by visits from eccentric Henry Twite (Barry Fitzgerald).

6 At right: Ernie has discovered a rival for Ada's affections in the owner of the arcade, Jim Mordinoy (George Coulouris). Jim offers Ernie easy money if he will join Mordinoy's gang of thieves. Determined to give Ma as much as he can in her last days, Ernie does.

7 Celebrating his new affluence, Ernie throws a street party for the residents of the Road, the dingy street where he and Ma live. She is suspicious and worried about this wealth of his.

8 Ada, now in love with Ernie, learns of his tie-up with Mordinoy and confesses she is the gangster's ex-wife. She begs Ernie to take her away, but he won't leave Ma.

9 Ernie thinks he sees a way to end Mordinoy's menace by killing him during a fight between two gangs. But on the way to the melee Ernie's stolen car is wrecked and he is arrested. He is bailed out by the pawnbroker.

10 Returning to the Road, Ernie learns that Ma has been arrested, too. Desperate, she finally had stepped outside the law herself and accepted stolen goods in her second hand shop.

11 Ma dies in jail. As Ernie and Twite leave the letter hands Ernie a letter from Ada saying that she had taken the easiest way and gone back to Mordinoy.

12 Crushed by events, very much alone, Ernie wanders thru the night. Finally, looking at the dark waters of the Thames, he realizes that before there will ever be for him or any one a really better life he and the others must fight for it. (THE END)

Will that little boy of today be a credit to you, his family, his country in the years to come?

NEW EASY-MIX SPRY

How to get Flaky Pie Crust—easy 2-Step Way

GATHER in sheaves of compliments on your cooking this Thanksgiving . . . Let New Easy-Mix Spry help you get an extra big hand for your fluffy biscuits, your poultry stuffing and the delicious pie that crowns the feast. See how your folks enjoy this new kind of Apple Pie:

Priscilla's Deep Dish Apple Pie

Here's Spry's easy 2-step way to get pastry that's both flaky and mouth-meltingly tender: Mix 1¼ cups sifted ALL-PURPOSE FLOUR and ½ teaspoon SALT. Measure 7 tablespoons SPRY and divide in 2 equal parts.

STEP 1 for Tenderness—cut in first half of Spry until as fine as meal. See how easily creamy Spry cuts in—you don't have to refrigerate it to keep it fresh.

STEP 2 for Flakiness—cut in remaining Spry until size of large peas.

Add 3 tablespoons cold WATER, mixing thoroughly into a dough . . . Then make the spicy apple filling:

5 cups sliced apples
½ cup each white and brown sugar
⅛ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup thin cream

Arrange apples in oblong baking dish. Mix sugars and spices and sprinkle over apples. Roll pie dough into rectangle and cut 6 little openings. Fit over apples, turn under edge, flute rim. Brush with milk, sprinkle with sugar.

Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 30–40 minutes. Such fragrant, golden-brown crust . . . no off flavors with pure, all-vegetable Spry! Pour cream into pie through openings. Serve warm in squares. So digestible even the children can have their full share. Serves 6.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

Jellied cranberry and turkey (or chicken) mold is a delightful salad which may cost you a few blue ration points.

By MARY MEADE

BECAUSE more turkeys are going overseas for fighting men's Thanksgiving dinners, we'll not have quite so many at home. After Thanksgiving there are likely to be more available for civilian consumption. There are chickens and ducks galore, tho, so no Thanksgiving table need suffer for want of a turkey.

Turkeys and chickens are roasted a bit differently from ducks and geese, for they're lean-breasted birds and haven't all that fatty protection in the oven. Usually it's well to rub the breast of a turkey or roasting chicken with an unsalted fat before it goes into the oven; a salty fat causes the skin to shrivel; sometimes a fat-saturated cheesecloth is placed over breast and drumsticks.

Roast the bird uncovered in a 325 degree oven, basting occasionally with unsalted fat. If you have an oversize turkey, roast it at a lower temperature—275-300 degrees. The average roasting time for a 15 pound turkey is four hours.

You won't need to baste duck or goose at all, for as these birds roast their own fat keeps oozing out and basting the skin. Prick the skin of these birds around the leg and wing joints to allow excess fat to run off. Drain off the fat occasionally so that there's not too much in the roasting pan. Duck and goose may be roasted uncovered also at 300-325 degrees. Any roasting fowl should be placed on a rack in the roaster.

Cranberry sauce is going to be something of a problem this holiday season, because fresh berries require a large amount of sugar for sweetening (tho sirups may be used), and canned cranberry sauce will take about four stamps from the blue pages of your ration book.

Left-over turkey or chicken and a can of jellied cranberry sauce make a delicious party salad for the week-end after Thanksgiving or any other time you have the ingredients.

Fewer turkeys for civilians mean more for the boys overseas. If you can't buy turkey, you'll find ducks and chickens.

MOLDED TURKEY SALAD
(Serves six)

CRANBERRY LAYER

1 17 ounce can jellied cranberry sauce
½ cup water
1 tablespoon (envelope) plain gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water

TURKEY LAYER

2 teaspoons plain gelatin
½ cup cold water
2 cups cold diced turkey or chicken
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup finely diced green pepper
½ teaspoon salt

Crush cranberrry sauce with a fork; add water and heat thoroly. Soak tablespoon of gelatin in cold water and add to hot cranberry sauce. Pour into large mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. To prepare turkey mixture, soak gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add turkey, celery, green pepper, and salt. When cranberry mixture is firm, pour turkey mixture on top. When firm, unmold on lettuce. Garnish with curled celery, carrot chips, ripe olives. Serve with mayonnaise.

Romantic Figures of American History

The illustration above, by Clara Fargo Thomas and Alexander Vamak, is another of the series appearing currently in this section with biographical sketches.

EIGHTY YEARS AGO last Oct. 19 Jubal Early's Confederate troops surprised the Union Army of the Shenandoah at Cedar creek, Virginia, and all but routed it. Twenty miles away at Winchester, Va., at the time of the attack was the commander of the Federal troops, Philip H. Sheridan.

Springing to his horse, he rode at breakneck speed to the scene of the battle, arrived in time to re-form his retreating lines, and snatched victory from defeat. This famous exploit was immortalized in verse in 1865 by Thomas Buchanan Read. Many a school boy has recited the thrilling lines of "Sheridan's Ride."

Sheridan was one of the outstanding military leaders of the Civil war. He was born in Albany, N. Y., March 6, 1831, and taken as a small child by his parents to Perry county, O., where he grew up. His early education was of the most rudimentary kind, and at the age of 14 he found employment as a clerk in a country store. Accepted as a cadet at the United States military academy at West Point in 1848, he made an unimpressive record there. In fact, he was suspended for a year, but finally managed to get his diploma in 1853.

After having seen service along the Rio Grande and against hostile Indians in the northwest, he was made a captain in the spring of 1861 and began his Civil war service as quartermaster of a Union force in southwest Missouri.

Early in 1862 he was appointed colonel of the 2d Michigan cavalry under General Halleck in Tennessee, and in July of that year he was elevated to brigadier general of volunteers for his distinguished conduct in the battle of Booneville. In command of a division of the Army of the Ohio at the battles of Perryville and Stone River, he won promotion to the rank of major general of volunteers.

In the autumn of 1863, as a corps commander in the Army of the Cumberland, he again distinguished himself at the battle of Chickamauga. At the battle of Chattanooga his command took Missionary ridge by assault, thus helping Grant to achieve a victory there. When Grant was promoted to lieutenant general he made Sheridan commander of all the cavalry of the Army of the Potomac.

Sheridan's cavalry took part in the battles of the Wilderness, Todd's Tavern, Spotsylvania Courthouse, Cold Harbor, Hawes' Shop, and Trevilian Station. In August, 1864, he was given command of the Army of the Shenandoah, with which he laid waste the valley of that name and defeated the enemy at Winchester and Fisher's Hill. In September of that year he was made brigadier general in the regular army, and after his victory at Cedar creek he was promoted to major general of the regulars.

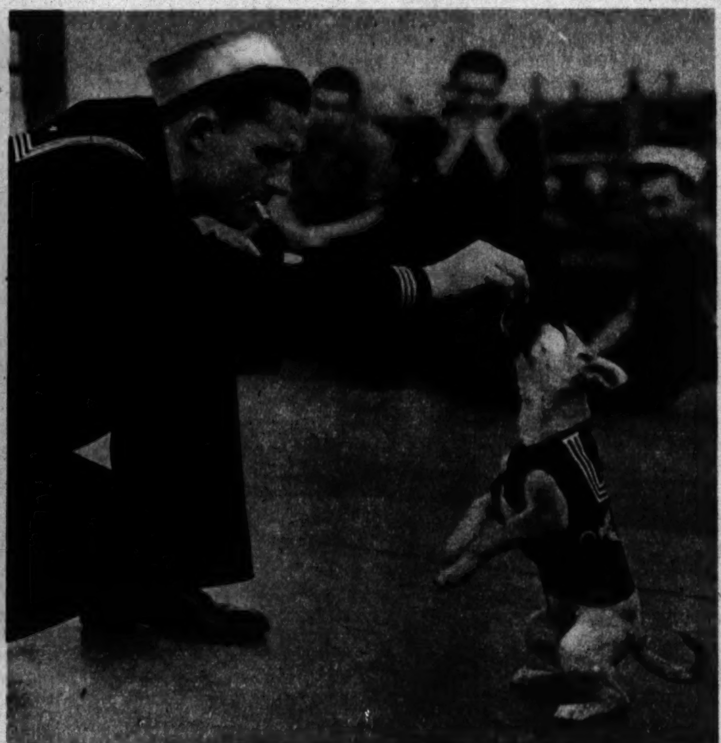
In the spring of 1865 he conducted his famous raid from Winchester to Petersburg, defeating Early again at Waynesboro. It was his strategic concentration in April of that year at Five Forks that forced the Confederates to evacuate Petersburg. When Lee retreated in the last days of the war it was Sheridan who blocked the Confederate line of escape and forced the southern leader to surrender.

After the war Sheridan for a while was in command of troops along the Rio Grande, and it was his display of force there that caused the French government to withdraw its support from the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian. Sheridan was made military governor of Louisiana and Texas in 1867. Later he was transferred to Missouri, from where he conducted campaigns against the hostile Indians of the southwest. In the spring of 1869 he was promoted to lieutenant general.

In 1870 and 1871 he was in Europe, and as the guest of the German army in the Franco-Prussian war he witnessed the great battle of Sedan. On his return to the United States he was reinstated as a military division commander, with headquarters in Chicago. From here in 1875 he was sent to New Orleans, and in 1878 he was placed in command of the western and southwestern military divisions. In 1884 he succeeded Sherman as commander in chief of the army. Four years later, June 1, 1888, he was elevated to the rank of general.

He occupied the last few months of his life in the preparation of his "Personal Memoirs." He died in Nonquitt, Mass., Aug. 5, 1888.

Watch for this series of sketches and stories every Sunday.



Wherever possible men in service have dogs for company. On ships, in foxholes, and in camps fighting men around the world find time between battles to play with their pets. This smart little pet is named Salty, and he lives aboard a Coast Guard-manned destroyer escort. Salty wears the rating of cook third class, but his pals say he really should be rated cook watcher first class.

MOSTLY ABOUT DOGS

By BOB BECKER

FROM battle fronts all over the world are coming stories of mascots and pets being kept by the boys under all sorts of conditions. Dogs, cats, parrots, and many other kinds of pets are affording men in service companionship and amusement when off duty. Even a pet duck traveling with the marines made the news when Tarawa was in the headlines.

Flyers returning from their rest periods in Australia were reported buying cocker spaniel puppies for pets and taking them back to Pacific bases. Thus dogs are doing their bit as morale builders all over the world today.

And dogs are not only traveling with men in service on land but also going to sea with the boys. From Boston to Biak, from Norfolk to Normandy, from Greenland to Guam you'll find the Coast Guard's seafaring pooches sailing the seven seas. These salty, colorful characters serve as ships' mascots aboard combat cutters, invasion transports, LST's, LCI's, destroyer escorts, landing barges—on anything the Coast Guard mans; and the Coast Guard mans a lot of ships.

This pet of the Coast Guard is named Blackie. He has hit three European invasion beaches (Sicily, Italy, Normandy), so he wears a life jacket, just in case.

The Coast Guard's mascots are enlisted from every strain in the canine book—snooty Chihuahuas to Great Danes, cockers, and terriers—but most of them are just plain dogs.

Spar is on sea duty as mascot aboard a Coast Guard-manned assault transport in the South Pacific. In this picture she is shown being given her "Saturday night."

Most fabulous of the Coast Guard's sea dogs is that salty critter, that old campaigner of the stormy North Atlantic and the stormier taverns of the world's water fronts—Sinbad. Sinbad has been to sea for nine years as mascot for the United States Coast Guard combat cutter Campbell. Sinbad was at his battle station when the Campbell stalked and battled a pack of six U-boats and, with his shipmates, knew the thrill of ramming one of the raiders and sending it to the bottom.

Holding a rating of chief sea dog, Sinbad observes all codes of the service—reports for muster, stands at rigid attention during inspections. He is known in scores of ports. Sinbad has not just one but many sweethearts in every port!

There are other famous dogs on the Coast Guard's muster rolls. Nora, an 8-month-old shepherd dog, wears the John P. Haines medal for saving the life of a stricken mate. Cherbourg joined the Coast Guard under fire on the Normandy beach, when from nowhere he suddenly darted up the ramp of a landing craft and found a haven in the arms of a coxswain.

Bunky, mascot of a Coast Guard-manned invasion transport, hit the beach at Aitape, Dutch New Guinea, and, his shipmates will swear, barked the Japs out of a machine gun nest guarding an important air strip. Sparky was wounded in the assault on Kwajalein in the Marshalls and stayed gallantly at his post in the command until he was moved to sick bay for bandaging.

There are scores of other Coast Guard sea dogs, sharing the life of the fo'c'sle, helping to win the war as tail-wagging morale builders. This they do by bringing a touch of home to the crew's cramped quarters on the fighting ships.

MEN and women all over the country report remarkable results in losing weight easily. Many report losing 20 pounds a month and more. They are following the Easy Reducing Plan of Dr. Edward Parrish, well-known physician and editor, former chief of a U. S. military hospital and a state public health officer.

Dr. Parrish's Easy Reducing Plan makes reducing a pleasure because it has absolutely NO STRICT DIETS, requires no exercises. HARMLESS, too, because it calls for no reducing drugs.

Here is Dr. Parrish's Easy Reducing Plan EXACTLY as given over the air to millions: For lunch take 2 teaspoonfuls of CAL-PAR in a glass of juice, water or any beverage. Take nothing else for lunch except a cup of coffee if desired. For breakfast and dinner EAT AS YOU USUALLY DO, but eat sensibly. Don't cut out fatty, starchy foods—just cut down on them. By following Dr. Parrish's Easy Reducing Plan, you cut down your daily caloric intake thus losing weight naturally. You needn't suffer a single hungry moment. CAL-PAR is not a harmful reducing drug. It is a special dietary product, fortifying your diet with certain essential minerals and vitamins. Most overweight people are helped by Dr. Parrish's Easy Reducing Plan. Try it. You and your friends will marvel at the vast improvement in your figure.

TWICE the Wear with Ivory Flakes Care!"

1. "OUR DREAM HOUSE PLANS even include a hangar," beams war bride Mrs. Terry Allen of Brooklyn, N. Y. "My job at the airline terminal has certainly made me air-minded. The big slices of Terry's and my hard-earned cash going into War Bonds will help our postwar dreams come true. 'Course that means a slim budget for new clothes, but I've learned about twice the wear with Ivory Flakes care—and Terry says my duds look dandy!

2. "GIVE SUDSABLES BABY-GENTLE CARE with mild Ivory Flakes. You'll see why wash tests on dresses, housecoats, undies prove pretties give as much as twice the wear with Ivory Flakes care. So, with nice clothes as expensive and hard to find as they are, don't risk treating your precious washables roughly with the wrong kind of soap!

3. "YOUR WASHABLES CAN LAST LONGER— if you trust the flake form of baby's mild Ivory to help keep 'em bright and proudly wearable! That goes not only for stockings and undies, but for ALL sudsables from girdles to slipcovers."

WAGE WAR ON WASTE! A little Ivory Flakes goes a long way. Remember, all soaps are made of vital war materials. Help conserve 'em!

You're lovelier...

Your Skin's Softer, Smoother

with just One Cake of Camay!

Tests by doctors prove... Camay is Really Mild

Oh, how happy you'll be... to see the fresher, softer look that comes to your skin... with just one cake of Camay! Simply change from improper care to the Camay Mild-Soap Diet. Doctors tested this care on over 100 complexions ...on girls with skin like YOURS! And the very first cake of Camay made most complexions simply bloom! Made them softer!—more delicate! Even younger-looking!

... it cleanses without irritation

"Camay is really mild," reported the doctors, "it cleansed without irritation." With such striking proof that Camay can benefit skin, don't you want to try this mild care? Surely you can expect your skin to glow with new loveliness! So start tonight with Camay.

Go on the Camay Mild-Soap Diet

Take just one minute, night and morning. Cream Camay's lather over your face—nose and chin especially. Rinse warm. If your skin is the oily type, add a lively C-O-L-D splash.

That's all you do! And with just one cake of Camay—your skin will glow with radiant new freshness, feel softer to touch!

Be wartime-thrifty—make each cake of Camay last and last! Precious war materials go into soap.

Mrs. Frederick C. Wieting
NEW YORK CITY

Lovely Camay bride! Take her tip on complexion care... "My skin simply sparkled—fresher, softer—with my first cake of Camay! I'm sure you'll soon be hearing compliments, too, if you'll just start on the Camay Mild-Soap Diet."

WALNUTS ARE HERE AGAIN!

Ready to give your meals this 2-WAY PUNCH

Now dish up flavor—and nourishment, too! While they last, make the most of walnuts. "Diamonds," of course—for plump, fresh, usable kernels every time!

You'll be delighted with the two new dishes pictured here. But you don't need new recipes. Just add walnuts to any old favorites—salads, desserts, or main dishes. And always, put a handful in that lunchbox!

PUNCH-1 EXTRA FLAVOR

WALNUT APPLESAUCE CAKE

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. cinnamon or allspice
- ½ tsp. cloves
- ¼ tsp. nutmeg
- ½ cup shortening
- 1 egg or 2 yolks, unbeaten
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup fairly thick strained applesauce (unsweetened)
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. soda
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- ¾ cup halved raisins (may be omitted)
- 1 cup coarsely chopped Diamond Walnuts
- Diamond Walnut halves

Good? Delectable! A perfect example of the way walnuts enrich any baked dish with distinctive new flavor.

Mix sugar and spices, add gradually to shortening, creaming thoroughly. Add egg and beat well. Stir in vanilla and applesauce. Add flour sifted with salt, soda, and baking powder; beat smooth. Add raisins. Then crunchy chopped walnuts, those crisp-fresh flavor-full morsels! Have you tried 'em in "soft" desserts, too...custards and puddings? Nothing better!

Bake in greased 8x8x2 inch square loaf pan in moderate oven (350°) 50 to 60 minutes. Cool, frost with favorite icing, decorating with big golden Diamond Walnut halves.

PUNCH-2 EXTRA NOURISHMENT

MEAT ROLL DE LUXE

- 2 thin slices veal round (about 1½ lbs.) or 1 thin slice beef round, or 1 flank steak
- 8 cups soft white bread crumbs
- 1 cup coarsely chopped Diamond Walnuts
- 1 cup chopped celery tops
- ½ cup chopped parsley
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1 tsp. poultry seasoning
- Salt, celery salt, and pepper to taste
- 3 tbsps. melted margarine or bacon drippings
- 1 egg, beaten
- ¾ to 1 cup water
- Diamond Walnut halves

Plenty of proteins, no matter how little meat... with walnuts in the makings!

Pound meat thin. (If veal is used, remove bone and overlap slices slightly to make one large piece.) For stuffing, mix remaining ingredients in order given, adding egg mixed with water at the last. Spread about ⅓ of stuffing on meat, roll up, fasten with toothpicks and string. Place roll in greased roaster, brush with margarine or drippings, pour 1 cup water around roll, cover, and bake in a moderate oven (350°) 1½ hours, or until tender; uncover to brown.

Shape remaining stuffing into balls. Top with golden Diamond Walnut halves, for a proud finishing touch. Bake in greased shallow pan, last 30 minutes. Arrange on platter with meat roll and vegetables, such as carrots, if desired; garnish with parsley. Serves 6.

Servants from the Seven Seas

The fleets of Defoe-built Destroyer Escort ships, PC boats and landing craft which have sailed the seven seas with the Navy have taught Defoe engineers many things in compact, functional design which might well be applied to create smart, new servants for dwellings of tomorrow! . . . These ideas are suggested by Defoe as typical of the many manufacturing possibilities that may be expected from industry to make America more livable and to help maintain a high level of employment in the future. Until Victory, of course, every one of Defoe's workers—there are now nearly 4,000 of them—will be engaged in building fighting ships for the Navy. And only craftsmen who build well can measure up to the shipbuilder's standards. For these reasons, whatever Defoe produces after the war will embody exceptional quality and value for peacetime America.

EXCITING AS THE RACE IN "BEN HUR"!

THERE was an expectant hush. Then, out of the darkness of this June night in 1908, flashed a breath-taking scene.

A "spectacular" sign had been erected on the old Wonderland Building, to give Detroit its first glimpse of the Model "T" Ford.

"Watch the Fords go by!" the message read. And in the light and color of 2000 twinkling electric bulbs, a Ford touring car appeared to race along the Grosse Pointe shoreline. The wheels turned, scuffing up clouds of dust. The scenery shifted constantly. The veils of the women passengers streamed in the breeze. The crowd in the square began to cheer. "It's as exciting as the race in 'Ben Hur'," said an onlooker. The newspapers thought so, too.

"Hour after hour," wrote one reporter, "the auto hurried, defied speed and natural laws alike, every instant seemingly on the verge of tipping into the street below."

From that far-off day to this, people all over America have continued to "watch the Fords go by". They have watched the total mount to 1 million in 1915—to 15 million in 1927—and on up to 30 million.

They have seen these Ford cars and trucks shrink distances and help increase the productivity of the nation. They have seen them wipe out the traditional barriers between city and country, between mountain and plain, and help spread the advantages of American culture and opportunity.

One day, there will be new Ford, Mercury and Lincoln cars. Like their predecessors, they will benefit by the energetic skills and resourceful engineering which are a Ford trade-mark. They will be exceptionally comfortable cars, reliable and economical . . . priced within reach of the greatest number. But beyond that, their styling will be so advanced that it will be a perfect match for their quality leadership.

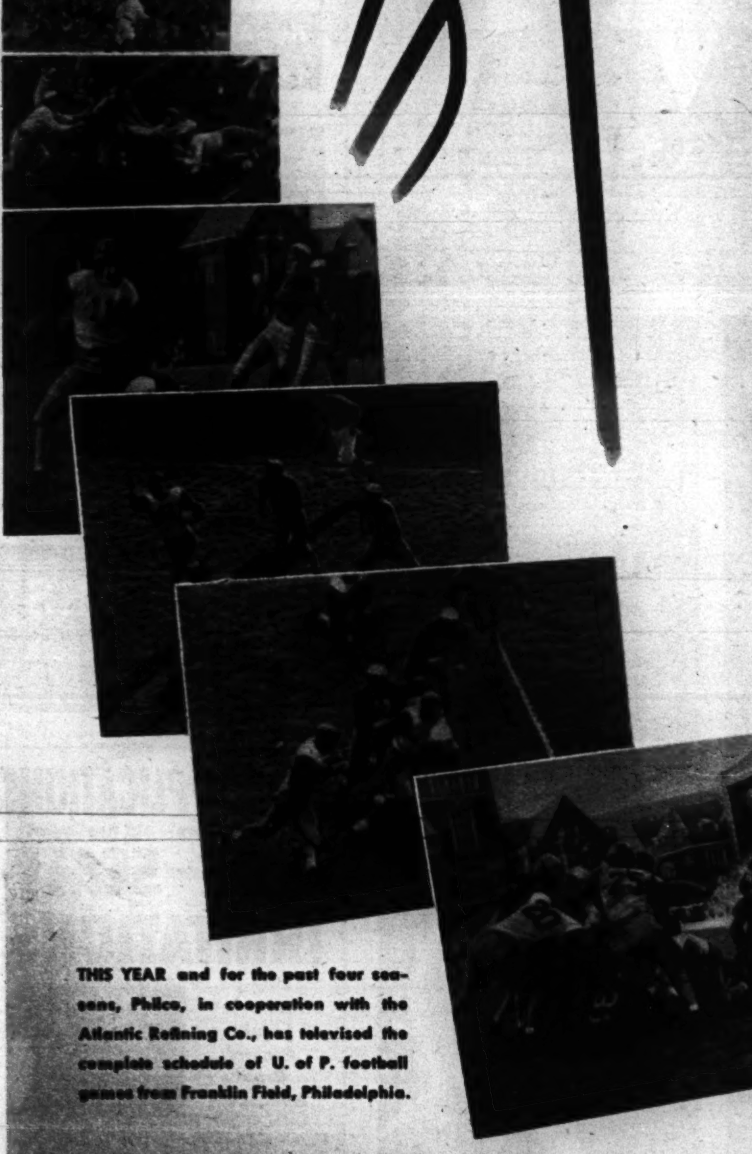
FOOTBALL BY TELEVISION



Philco Television Station WPTZ has made history by telecasting complete football schedules for the first time. For four years, Philco has televised every Penn football game from Franklin Field as part of its television research program. Each year, the experimental television audience in the Philadelphia area has seen exciting gridiron action more clearly, with greater detail and definition . . . thanks to Philco research. Now this Philadelphia audience is part of America's first television network, extending to New York and Schenectady, again due to Philco pioneering. After Victory, Philco will continue to lead in television progress . . . speeding the spread of nationwide television chains . . . improving the quality of television pictures and the value of television receivers . . . bringing the thrills of football by television to your home.

PHILCO

Famous for Quality the World Over

THIS YEAR and for the past four seasons, Philco, in cooperation with the Atlantic Refining Co., has televised the complete schedule of U. of P. football games from Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

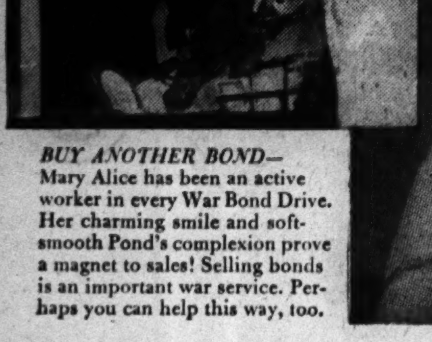
ENGAGED TO WEST POINT CADET

Mary Alice Maxwell of Columbus, Ohio, fiancée of Cadet Robert Northrup Ives of the prominent Army family . . .



BUY ANOTHER BOND—Mary Alice has been an active worker in every War Bond Drive. Her charming smile and soft-smooth Pond's complexion prove a magnet to sales! Selling bonds is an important war service. Perhaps you can help this way, too.

SHE'S ENGAGED!

SHE'S LOVELY! SHE USES POND'S!

She has a rare sculptured beauty that is completely irresistible—this auburn-haired girl with breath-taking eyes and a complexion smooth, cool and fine as alabaster.

Mary Alice is still another engaged girl with that delightful soft-smooth "Pond's look."

"I'm certainly keen about Pond's Cold Cream," says this lovely young bride-to-be. "It's so exactly right for me—and it leaves my face with such a clean, smooth feeling."

At least twice each day, Mary Alice slips the soft, snowy cream over her face and throat and pats briskly to soften and release dirt and make-up. Tissues off.

She rinses with more Pond's Cold Cream—working this second creaming all around her face with little whirls of her white-coated fingers—for extra cleansing—extra softening. Tissues off again.

Give your face her Pond's beauty care—every night, every morning—for in between clean-ups, too! It's no accident so many more girls and women use Pond's than any other face cream at any price.

Ask for the big luxury jar when you buy your Pond's Cold Cream. Buying large sizes helps save glass and manpower. And, it's so pleasant to be able to dip the fingers of both your hands in this wide-topped big Pond's jar. You'll find Pond's at beauty counters everywhere.

HER RING—a "miniature" of her fiancé's class ring, is set with a diamond and small rubies.

GINKY HAS AN IDEA

WHILE some of the Teenie Weenies can understand a little of what Ginky says, it is the Chinaman who understands mouse talk best, and so it is only natural that Ginky calls on the Chinaman when he wants to give a message to the Teenie Weenies.

One morning Ginky stopped at the old teapot, where the Chinaman lives, and asked him to translate a message to the General. So they went to the town hall where a meeting was being held. The policeman went in and told the General that Ginky wanted to talk to him, and the General stepped out onto the rim of the felt hat which served the little people for a town hall and school house.

Ginky began waving his paws and squeaking a great deal of mouse talk, but the General could make out very little of what the mouse said, and so he asked the Chinaman to translate it.

"He say," translated the Chinaman, "that he have great idea. He want to work for Teenie Weenies. He say he work hard if you let him sleep in Teenie Weenie jail."

"You tell him," smiled the General, "that he's a no account mouse and all he wants is to get us to support him thru the winter."

The Doctor nodded his approval of the General's words, for the Teenie Weenies all knew how lazy the mouse was. They had let him stay in their jail, which was a comfortable pint glass fruit jar, and all he did was to sleep and expect the Teenie Weenies to bring his meals to him.

Now Ginky is not stupid, and he understood just what the General had said even before the Chinaman told him. He began chattering loudly.

"He say," translated the Chinaman, "that all he ask is to sleep in jail and let him have Teenie Weenie garbage to eat."

"Why, we don't have more than a thimbleful of garbage a week and that is hardly enough to make a mouthful for Ginky. No," said the General, "we don't want him hanging around here. We've helped him before, but he does nothing but sleep and eat our food without ever lifting a paw with the work."

When the Chinaman translated the General's message into mouse talk Ginky flew into a rage that was more rat like than mouse. He made threats and cursed the Teenie Weenies, but the little people only laughed at his temper and paid no attention to his threats until he began throwing stones at the town hall windows. Then several of the Teenie Weenie men chased the mouse away and he hasn't been seen since.

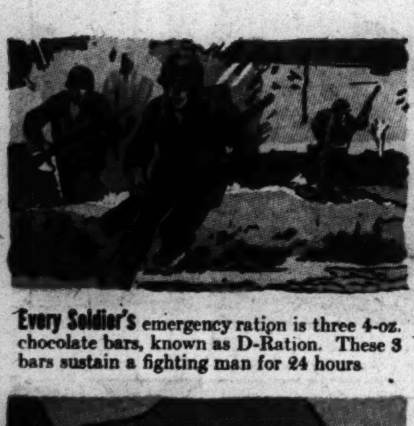
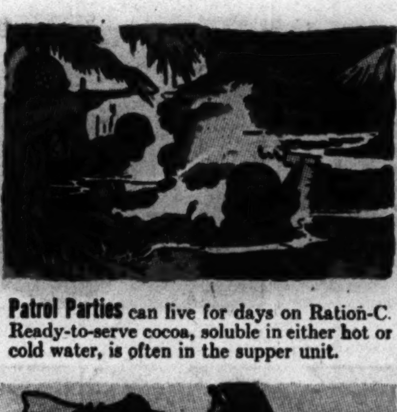
But Where Does It All Go?

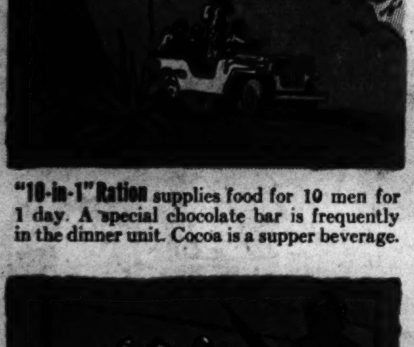


Every Soldier's emergency ration is three 4-oz. chocolate bars, known as D-Ration. These 3 bars sustain a fighting man for 24 hours.

Food for the Battlefield is the Army's Field Ration-K. A special 2-ounce chocolate bar is a part of the supper unit. Millions are used.



Patrol Parties can live for days on Ration-C. Ready-to-serve cocoa, soluble in either hot or cold water, is often in the supper unit.



"10-in-1" Ration supplies food for 10 men for 1 day. A special chocolate bar is frequently in the dinner unit. Cocoa is a supper beverage.

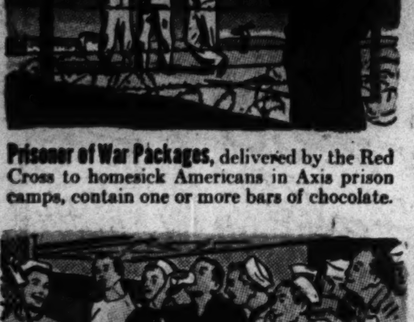
Many Merchant Marine Life Boats carry 14-oz. of chocolate per person. Stocking one life boat (31 persons) takes 27 lbs. of chocolate.



Prisoner of War Packages, delivered by the Red Cross to homesick Americans in Axis prison camps, contain one or more bars of chocolate.

Hot Cocoa Is served regularly by the Army and Navy. Tons of it are used. Every ton leaves 2,000 1-lb. packages less for grocers

At Ships Service Stores and Post Exchanges chocolate bars are tops. There never seems to be enough to satisfy the demand.

So supplies of chocolate products for those at home are limited.

If you can't always get your favorite Nestle's Chocolate Bar, Semi-Sweet Morsels or Ever-Ready Cocoa, remember your dealer's supply is restricted. The needs of our armed forces come first.

Chocolate is a Fighting Food!

Gee, a hot drink is what I like at Breakfast

MOTHERS, your children want a hot breakfast drink—just as you do.

Give them a happy start with a cup of Hot Nestle's. It's a nourishing warming beginning for their hours of play.

Kids love Nestle's EverReady Cocoa. You don't have to coax them to drink it. They say, "Mmmm! It's swell-tasting—just like Nestle's Chocolate Bars!"

Prepared in a jiffy too. This delicious blend of cocoa, whole milk and sugar is ready to serve instantly. Just add hot water. No pans to wash.

Super-goodness and delicious warmth make Hot Nestle's the breakfast drink for your children. When you are able to get Nestle's EverReady Cocoa at your grocer's, save it for the youngsters. Help them start their day the Happy way.

MANY SERVICES ARRANGED FOR DAY OF THANKS

Faiths to Unite on North Side.

Men and women on world battlefronts will be uppermost in the thoughts of north siders as they attend Thanksgiving services this week. Union services will be held in several communities, and the 60 year old Lake View Presbyterian church will mark the day by burning its mortgage.

The Catholic Casino chorus, oldest Catholic male choir in Chicago, will sing for the mass at 10 a. m. Thursday in Holy Name cathedral for its 25 members in service and one member who was killed in action. The Rt. Rev. Joseph P. Morrison will be the celebrant, assisted by the Rev. James Brett and the Rev. John S. Quinn.

Will Sing Gruber's Mass.

Dr. Edmond Tardy will direct the choir in Gruber's mass. The group was organized 72 years ago and has held a Thanksgiving service in the cathedral for the last three years. After the mass, booklets giving names and military records of the absent singers will be distributed.

In St. Andrew's church, 3046 N. Paulina, Thanksgiving masses will be said at 6, 7, 7:30, 8, and 8:30 a. m. From 5:30 to 8 p. m. there will be the exposition of the blessed sacrament, with special prayers for men and women in service at 8 p. m. The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil is pastor.

Eleven Churches to Combine.

Eleven north side Protestant and Jewish churches will hold a union service at 11 a. m. in Wellington Avenue Congregational church, 617 Wellington av., with Rabbi Felix Levy of Emanuel congregation as the principal speaker. The Rev. George E. Hemme of the Immortality Research society will read the President's Thanksgiving proclamation.

The Rev. John Heyworth, chairman of the Lake View Council on Religious Action which has arranged the service, will give the invocation and the Rev. Harold Kelley ow Wesley Methodist church will offer a Thanksgiving prayer. Rabbi Solomon Golman of Anshe Emet temple will read the scripture.

Moody Choir to Sing.

Other clergymen taking part include Rabbi Abram Hirschberg, Temple Sholom; the Rev. Donald Wenstrom, Wellington Congregational church; the Rev. J. C. Brown, Broadway Methodist church; the Rev. David R. Thomas, Creative Science church, and the Rev. Ronald Kuhl, Endeavor Presbyterian church.

The choir of Moody Memorial church, Clark st. and North av., will present its traditional Thanksgiving concert at 7:45 p. m. Thursday under direction of Gilbert C. Peterson. Dr. Samuel R. Burkholder, organist, will accompany the choir of 125 voices. Guest soloists will be Beverly Shea, bass, Lorrayne Benson Hockman, soprano, and Jo Ann Welsher, marimba artist.

Plan Evanston, Glencoe Services.

Union services also will be held in Glencoe and Evanston. The Rev. Robert L. Stubbs of the Glencoe Union church will speak on "Men of the Pilgrim Heart" at 11 a. m. Thursday in the North Shore Congregation Israel. The temple choir will be directed by Benjamin Landsman in a special program. Assisting pastors will be the Rev. Robert B. Pierce, Glencoe Methodist church; the Rev. Richard C. Talbot, St. Elizabeth's Episcopal church, and Rabbi James A. Wax of the host church.

The Evanston Ministerial association will sponsor a service recognizing the 90th anniversary of Garret Biblical institute at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in the First Methodist church, Church st. and Hinman av. Dr. John C. Irwin, member of the Garrett faculty, will be principal speaker and the Methodist church choir will sing. A Thankgsgiving offering will be taken for the Evanston-Northwestern Community clubs and the United Charities of Chicago.

Rockies in Color.

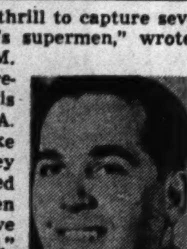
CAPTAIN THRILLED WITH CAPTURE OF HITLER SUPERMEN

"It's quite a thrill to capture several of Adolph's supermen," wrote Capt. Anthony M. Tooley in a recent letter to his father, Frank A. Tooley, 1260 Lake Shore dr. "They look pretty scared and timid when they don't have the upper hand."



Capt. Tooley.

Modestly disclaiming knowledge of the reason, Tooley has been awarded the bronze star for heroism in action. Tooley was with Gen. Patton's forces in the invasion of North Africa and participated in the battle of Kasserine pass and in the Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns. He also took part in the Normandy invasion, and the dash of the 1st army across France, Belgium, and into Aachen, Germany. He commands a heavy field artillery unit.

Capt. Tooley is a graduate of St. Thomas Military academy, St. Paul, Minn., and was called to active duty in February, 1942.

North Siders Join 10,000 Mates in Marking 2d Anniversary of SPARS

Pat Byrnes, SPAR seaman 1st class and daughter of Mrs. Patrick Byrnes, 857 Eastwood av., takes her turn in the lookout tower of the Key West, Fla., Coast Guard section base and flashes signals to approaching ships. She is one of more than 10,000 SPARS who will mark the 2d anniversary of the women's reserve of the Coast Guard Thanksgiving day. The group, which is nearing its authorized strength of 11,000, is the smallest in number of the women's reserves. SPARS perform the equivalent of 76 civilian jobs and hold 26 different ratings.

Bass drummer in the SPAR band of the Palm Beach., Fla., Coast Guard training station is Delora Isbell Colnan, musician 3d class, of 1131 Ainslie st. Band members spend half their time rehearsing and playing for station functions and perform other duties the rest of the time. The name SPAR is formed by the initials of the Coast Guard motto, "Semper Paratus," and its translation, "always ready."

[Coast Guard Photos.]

Mary Lee Holmquist, radioman 3d class, of 430 Diversey pkwy., is a radio operator in the Coast Guard air station, Miami, Fla. SPARS have served in most of the Coast Guard stations in the United States and will be assigned to duty in Hawaii and Alaska early in 1945. To qualify for overseas duty a woman must have been in the service a year. Seventy SPARS are on duty in Chicago.

American Women at War

Genevieve M. Dooner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dooner, 921 Washington st., Evanston, has been commissioned as second lieutenant in the marine corps women's reserve with her graduation from officer candidate school at Camp Lejune, N. C. A graduate of St. Scholastica High school, she attended Mundelein college, the Loyola university school of medicine, and the University of Chicago.

Lt. Dooner.

The promotion of Margaret M. Scofield, 3702 Lakewood av., to first lieutenant in the army nurse corps has been announced at Gardner General hospital.

Ensign Sallie Ellen Welsh, Winnetka, is stationed at the Philadelphia navy yard. She was graduated last month from midshipmen's school, Smith college, Northampton, Mass.

At an army hospital in England is Lt. Bonnie A. Haggard, 659 Wrightwood av., who was an industrial nurse in a Chicago plant before entering the army.

Lt. Grace K. Puppel is assigned to the army nurse corps at Northington General hospital, Tuscaloosa, Ala. She studied nursing in a Glendale, W. Va., hospital. Her husband is Dr. John D. Puppel, 830 S. Michigan av.

WAC Sgt. Gracia Harpold, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Harpold, 4538 Clark st., is a telephone operator on one of the largest military exchanges in an Italian city. A telephone operator in civilian life, she joined the WAC in November, 1942, and went overseas with the signal corps a year ago. She also has served in North Africa.

Lt. Janet B. Hole, Winnetka, is assigned to the army supply depot, Memphis, Tenn. She was graduated from New Trier High school and attended the Northwestern university school of music before entering the WAC in January, 1943.

STUDENT NURSES WILL WELCOME NEW STAFF HEAD

Miss Frances V. Brink, new director of the school of nursing at Children's Memorial hospital, 707 Fullerton av., will be guest at a welcoming tea Nov. 28 in the lounge of the nurses' residence. Members of the woman's auxiliary board, headed by Mrs. James C. Hutchins, president, are arranging the tea. Miss Brink, a graduate of Philadelphia General hospital school of nursing, formerly was superintendent of nurses and director of the school of nursing at the Milwaukee County hospital.

N. U. WILL GIVE ORIENTAL PLAY 2,000 YEARS OLD

A play written by Hindu King Shubraka more than 2,000 years ago, "The Little Clay Cart," is the next production of the Northwestern university theater, opening Nov. 29.

A successful hit on Broadway, the production has not been seen in the Chicago area for more than 15 years, Theodore Fuchs, director of the theater, said.

Edward Crowley will direct the production, with Joe Zimmermann as technical designer and Grace Newell in charge of costumes.

SENN HIGH PICKS WINNING V-DAY SLOGAN, POSTER

Two Marilyns Top Field of 4,000.

To promote the idea of marking V-day with Thanksgiving rather than vandalism and to remind Americans that victory in Europe does not include victory in the far east, Senn High school has conducted slogan and poetry contests suggesting appropriate celebrations.

Prizes worth $25 for the winners were awarded by the Edgewater-Uptown Civic council, which suggested the competition. Approximately 4,000 students submitted slogans and 800 art students entered posters the best of which were selected last week by a council committee. Dr. O. R. Engelmann is council president.

Marilyn Talbot Gjerset, 5918 Kenmore av., wrote the prize winning slogan, "Save your celebration, please, till we defeat the Nipponese." Marilyn Cunow, 5921 Magnolia av., received $15 as first prize for her poster.

Among the slogans winning honorable mention were "V-day minus vandalism equals true Americanism," by Marilyn Weiberg, 1265 Early av.; "Thanks, not pranks, on V-day," by Dorothy Sparberg, 6210 N. Washtenaw av.; "He won't quit on V-day; why should you?" by Ainslie Ferdie, 5608 Kenmore av., and "When V-day comes don't blow your top; the Germans are beaten but the Japs are not," by Jack Lipmann, 2544 Morse av.

With AMERICA'S FIGHTERS

The air medal has been awarded to Tech. Sgt. Robert Georgi, son of Mrs. Mary Knollmeuller, 1950 Henderson av. An engineer and top turret gunner on an 8th air force Flying Fortress, Georgia has participated in raids over Berlin, Leipzig, and Meresburg. His unit received a Presidential citation for the England to Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt aircraft factories.

Sgt. Georgi.

Capt. Thomas Comeford, 6334 Sheridan rd., has been assigned to the supply division of the Middletown air service command, Olmstead field, Pa. Capt. Comeford recently returned from 24 months overseas duty during which he served in England, Africa, Sicily, and Italy.

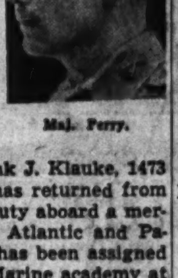
Cadet Richard J. Brown, son of Mrs. W. C. Mayborn, 2000 Lincoln Park west, recently was appointed to the United States Coast Guard academy, New London, Conn. He enlisted in the army air forces in February, 1943, and was stationed at Randolph field, Tex., when he received his appointment to the academy.

Cadet Brown.

Brown is a graduate of De Paul academy, and attended De Paul university and Amherst college, Amherst, Mass. A brother, Robert E., is a navy V-12 student at Northwestern university.

Pvt. Hugo Schramm, 1419 N. Clark st., is serving with the army service forces in southwest China.

The bronze star has been awarded to Maj. Brewster Perry, 908 N. Michigan av., for "meritorious service in direct support of combat operations of the 4th army corps in pursuit of the enemy north of Rome, Italy." Maj. Perry is with the 5th army.



Maj. Perry.

Cadet Midshipman Francis J. Klauke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Klauke, 1473 Summerdale av., has returned from seven months of duty aboard a merchant ship in the Atlantic and Pacific theaters. He has been assigned to the Merchant Marine academy at Kings Point, N. Y. Klauke is a graduate of St. George High school, Evanston.

THESE CHILDREN TO GIVE THANKS TWICE THIS YEAR

Two Turkey Dinners Will Be Served Orphans.

Children of the Methodist Deaconess orphanage at Lake Bluff will bedoubly thankful this week for they are to have two Thanksgiving dinners.

The first turkey dinner will be served at noon tomorrow when 105 orphans join 200 representatives of the Chicago Preachers' association. The group assembles annually at Lake Bluff.

The association sessions will open at 10:30 a. m. with Bishop Magee of the Methodist churches of the Rock River conference as speaker. Included on the day's schedule is a tour of the orphanage, which recently launched a campaign to raise $500,000. The fund will be used to building a dining room and residence for administrative help.

Orphanage 50 Years Old.

For half a century the orphanage has been caring for and training boys and girls between the ages of 3 months and 15 years. In that time more than 2,700 have passed thru the home, and the orphanage has outgrown two frame buildings donated by Mrs. Mary M. Hobbs in which the institution was founded.

Children in the institution are given as nearly as possible the benefit of a home atmosphere. They live in unit buildings, where a house mother plans recreational activities and menus and directs the health and vocational habits of her family.

35 in Private Homes.

The orphanage administration was among the first to employ the foster home plan, where children are placed with private families and foster parents are paid for care of the youngsters. With the exception of 35 orphans in private homes, all are sent to Lake Bluff grammar school or Lake Forest High school.

The committee in charge of the 50th anniversary fund raising campaign is Oliver A. Blackburn, chairman; Mrs. Alden B. Swift, vice chairman, and H. O. Barnes, Miss Margaret M. Brooks, Rockwell F. Clancy, Carl H. Gutmacher, Thomas Harwood, Mrs. Vilas Johnson, Henry V. Loepport, Bishop Magee, Edward A. Schlewe, Mrs. A. E. Swanson, Thane T. Swartz, and Forrest N. Williams.

SHOW OPENING WILL BENEFIT N. SIDE COLLEGE

The opening performance of George Gershwin's operetta, "Porgy and Bess," at the Civic Opera house Monday evening, Dec. 4, will be sponsored by the National College of Education, Evanston.

The entertainment, planned as a benefit for the school's endowment fund, is being promoted by members of the Parent-Teacher council of the children's school, and the alumnae association.

Mrs. James B. Hoalston, Evanston, and Miss Martha Springer, Winnetka, are co-chairmen of the event.

PILOT CALLS ATTACK BY 90 NAZI PLANES HIS BIGGEST THRILL

First Lt. Marshall R. Sutter, son of Mrs. Marie H. Sutter, 1457 Carmen av., has completed 50 combat missions as pilot and assistant operations officer of a 15th air force Liberator heavy bombardment squadron based in Italy.

Lt. Sutter.

The 28 year old airman describes the attack on the rail yards at Bucharest, Romania, for which the group received the distinguished unit citation, as the "greatest excitement" he has had. When his formation, flying without escort, was attacked by more than 90 Nazi fighter planes, the ensuing battle looked like an aerial circus, Lt. Sutter said. The Nazis lost 40 planes.

Sutter has been in Italy since last February and wears the air medal and three clusters. His wife, Helen, lives at 2046 Berteau av.

STUDENTS COPE WITH PROBLEMS OF RADIO IN LAB

N. U. Playshop Opens 6th Season.

An interesting experiment in radio, the Radio playshop of the Northwestern university school of speech, has opened its sixth year with the appointment of new members, which lifts the total membership near the 100 mark. Of this enrollment, 20 are from the north shore area.

Launched by Albert Crews in 1939, the playshop was created to experiment with plays, methods of production, and new literary forms. All plays are written, acted, announced, and produced by student members. Thus an opportunity is afforded to cope first hand with the problems of radio production, including engineering and sound effects.

Aim at Practical Values.

Playshop assignments are designed to give the student an understanding of the background of radio, its advantages and difficulties, and to provide practical experience under conditions which are likely to be met in professional radio work.

Members are allowed to accept commercial assignments, both as actors and writers, while working along with the class. The playshop has accepted radio assignments on local stations, and in 1939 opened a half hour series over a Chicago station.

Pioneered in Television.

In February, 1940, the playshop presented six televised dramatic productions which are believed to be the first television productions ever to appear under the direction of an American university.

Playshop Director Armand Hunter, chairman of the radio department of the school of speech, is planning a series of half hour plays for radio production this year.

Following the rules for selection of professional radio actors, members of the playshop are chosen thru auditions consisting of four or five 32 second characterizations. Members are auditioned for parts in broadcasts to be produced.

List North Siders.

North siders recently admitted include Joan G. Harris, 1260 N. Dearborn st.; Virginia M. Lee, Wilmette; Saralee Pilot, 507 Briar pl., and Mary J. Rupe, 1930 Orrington av., Evanston. Other north siders working in the group are: Arlene B. Becker, Glencoe; Muriel Bowman, 1445 Farwell av.; Barbara Brewer, 802 Ingleside pl., Evanston; Kay M. Christopher, Orrington hotel, Evanston; Jeanne S. Eisen, 7714 Haskins av.; Barnhard J. Burwood, 3755 Pine Grove av.

William C. Lantz, 831 Hamlin av., Evanston; John J. Mortell, 1605 Cullom av.; Barbara S. Crear, 2127 Ridge av., Evanston; Hilliard N. Rose, 1246 Pratt blvd.; Claris A. Ross, 5454 Lake Shore dr.; Florence L. Schwartz, 1555 Hollywood av.; Jean Titus, 2055 Jarvis av.; Angele N. Akopian, 842 Wolfram av.; Gloria Le Vine, 6807 Sheridan rd., and J. Elliott McCauley, Winnetka.

Evanston Church Group Will Hear Boy Soprano

The Woman's society of the Second Presbyterian church of Evanston will present Andre Aerne, boy soprano, in a concert at 8:15 p. m. Friday. Aerne, who sings in four languages, will be heard in selections by Mozart, Haydn, Schubert, Delibes, and Debussy. Mrs. Thomas B. Black and Mrs. Joseph P. Curry have charge of the program.

ALPHA DELTA PI UNIT WILL HOLD ANTIQUE TEA FOR N. U. CHAPTER

Heirlooms and other antiques owned by North Shore Alpha Delta Pi alumnae will be on display at a tea honoring members and pledges of the newly established Northwestern university chapter from 2 to 5 p. m. tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Albert E. Jenner Jr., 1513 Fargo av.

Mrs. Kenneth Ramsay.

The display will include pieces dating from 1851, when the sorority was organized at Wesleyan college, Macon, Ga. Mrs. Kinsey O. English, co-hostess, will wear a costume typical of college women at that time. Mrs. Kenneth S. Ramsay, Glenview, wearing a wedding dress of the period, will pour tea from an heirloom service and will present the exhibit.

Dorothy Jane Munz, president of the Northwestern chapter, and Lynne Milles, social chairman, will be welcomed by Mrs. G. Preston Kendall, Wilmette, alumnae president, and Mrs. Andrew Lenz, Glencoe, vice president. Mrs. Carl J. Nelson, Northbrook, province president, will report on province chapters and will announce installation plans for the new chapter.

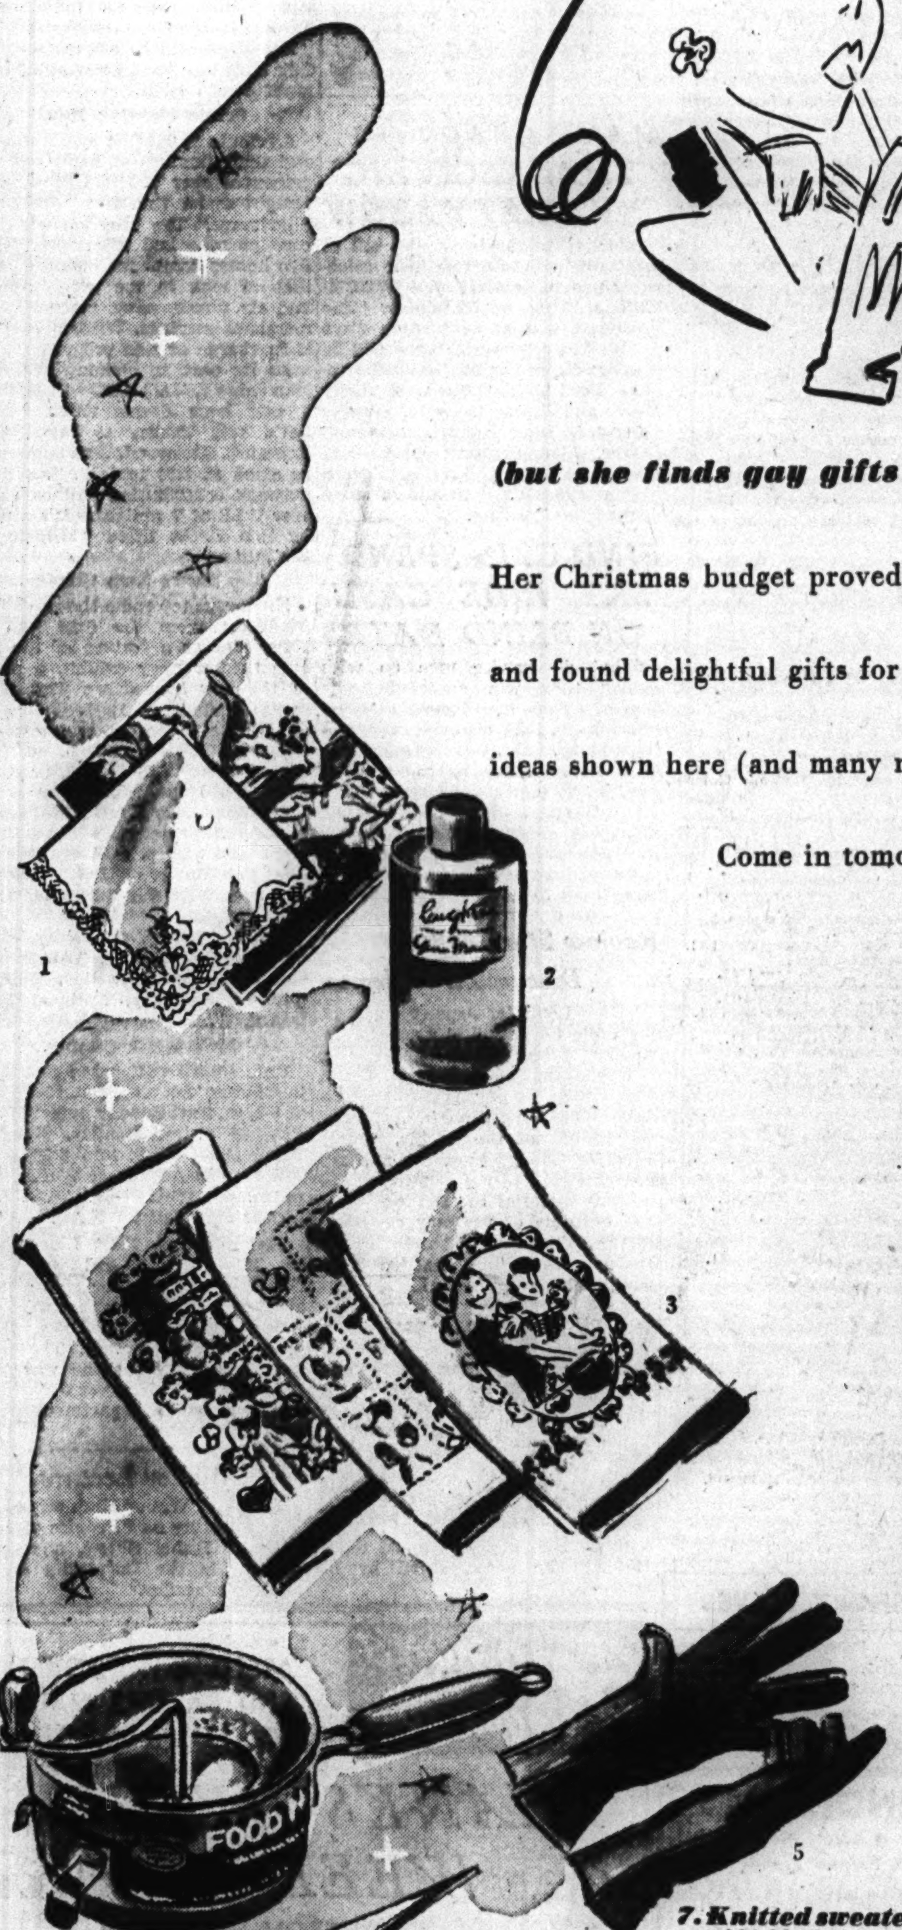
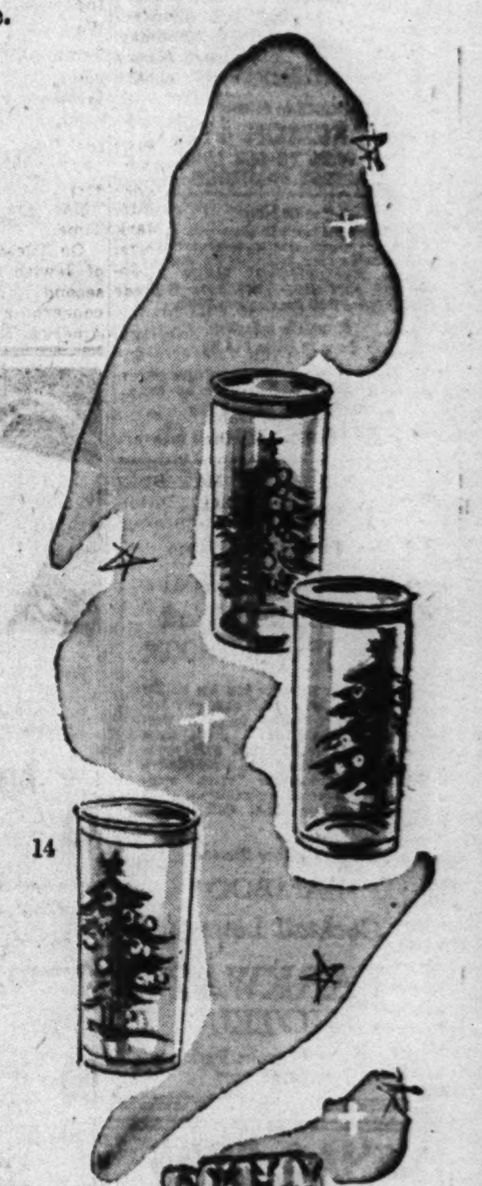
Bernice is on a Budget

(but she finds gay gifts just the same . . . and naturally she finds them here!)

Her Christmas budget proved no stumbling block to Bernice. She just brought her list to us and found delightful gifts for everyone—with no strain on the purse strings! All the bright ideas shown here (and many more) she discovered on her tour through the store.

Come in tomorrow—you'll be just as successful as Bernice!





1. Pretty hankies to peek jauntily out of her pocket! Flower printed linen, $1. Lacy white handkerchief, $1.25
Handkerchiefs—First Floor

2. "Laughter" toilet water, by Germaine Monteil. A gay and lighthearted scent to match a woman's laughter. Flattering gift to put under a woman's Christmas tree! $2.50 plus federal excise tax.
Cosmetics—First Floor

3. Gay Nineties towels. Bernice knows some young marrieds who will love these amusing additions to their kitchen. Printed cotton with applique border. 16x28. Each, 65c
Linens—Third Floor

4. Foley food mill, a blessing for the friend who does her own cooking (and who doesn't these days?). Mashes, rices, strains, makes apple sauce, tomato juice. $1.25
Household Utilities—Fifth Floor

5. Wool broadcloth gloves. Bright idea for any gal on your list—and just look at the colors! Gold, Kelly, red, fuchsia, purple, brown, black! $1.50
Gloves—First Floor

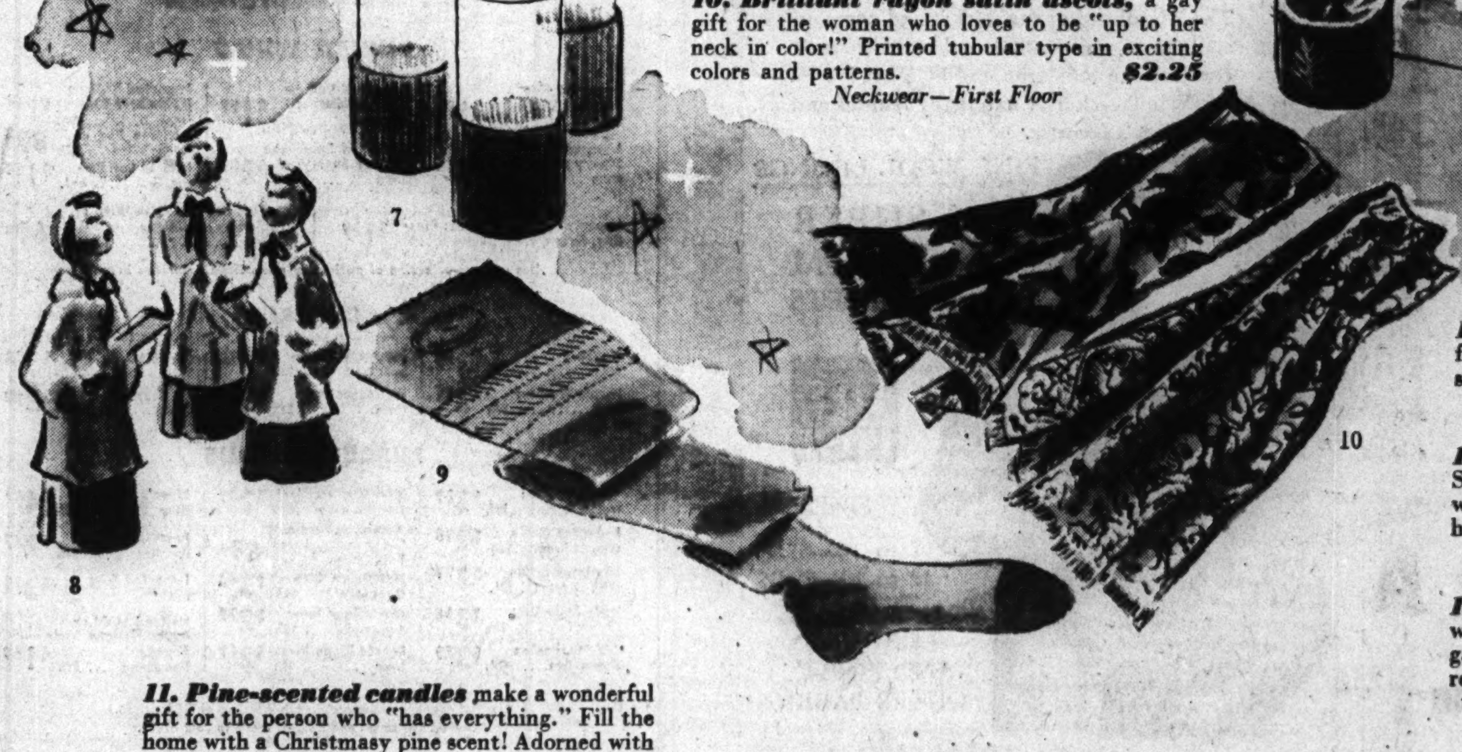
6. Bath mitt. Bernice knows a college girl who will be delighted with this enchanting aid to femininity! In pink, blue, yellow or white. Complete with supply of Marshall Field & Company talcum. $1, plus 5c federal excise tax.
Cosmetics—First Floor

7. Knitted sweaters are a clever way to guest-proof highball glasses. Do wonders for the host's peace of mind! Box of eight in assorted colors, $1
Linens—Third Floor

8. Choir boy candle holders. As full of Christmas spirit as a carol! Bernice fell in love with them and bought some for her own home too! Box of three, $1
Household Utilities—Fifth Floor

9. Kant-Run hose. Bernice wears them herself and knows how wonderful they look—how long they wear! $1.16
Hosiery—First Floor

10. Brilliant rayon satin ascots, a gay gift for the woman who loves to be "up to her neck in color!" Printed tubular type in exciting colors and patterns. $2.25
Neckwear—First Floor



11. Pine-scented candles make a wonderful gift for the person who "has everything." Fill the home with a Christmasy pine scent! Adorned with gay green Christmas trees. Two for $1
Household Utilities—Fifth Floor

12. Gay tiles to put under teapots. Perfect gift for any tea lovers on your list. Bernice knows several! $1
Household Utilities—Fifth Floor

13. Wool skating socks. Any would-be Sonja Henie on your list? Bernice thought these warm socks in white with red were perfect for her skating friend. $1.95
Hosiery—First Floor

14. Christmas tree glasses. For the friend who will be entertaining during the holidays. A gay way to drink a toast to Christmas! Green or red border. $4 dozen
Household Utilities—Fifth Floor

Be sure your gifts arrive on time—Mail them before December 1st!

Greetings

Over 300 years ago, American Indians and the Pilgrims, in a joint celebration of feasting and fellowship, founded our tradition of THANKSGIVING DAY. The Red Man and his White Brother, each in his own way, together expressed their Gratitude to the ONE GREAT SPIRIT . . . the Giver of all good gifts.

As this THANKSGIVING SEASON approaches, how much more cause have we Americans to be deeply and devoutly grateful. Our country's foes are faltering . . . our granaries and storehouses are bursting with bumper crops . . . our ships are hurrying overseas with food and goods from our superabundance to cheer the oppressed and desolate.

How richly has our land been blessed! How great before us lies the opportunity to assist our brothers abroad! How better can we show our Thankfulness to Almighty God than by unselfish service to the poor and needy nations!

Your tolerance and considerate patience with our prevailing service is one of many reasons at this Thanksgiving Season for us to be very thankful.

Furthermore, we feel very grateful in knowing that when the conflict ends, our department heads and most of all our employees in our Country's Service will return to us, which again will make possible our past high-grade service.

Gratefully Yours
Chief Wash Co.

POSTERS SHOW FIGHTING FRONT FOR BOND DRIVE

Sixth War Loan Will Open Tomorrow.

leather, the Glencoe war loan officers ask citizens of the suburb to call on their war bond salesman tomorrow night. "Most sales workers have done a hard and effective job thru five past campaigns," declared Mrs. Abel Davis, chairman of the suburb's war finance committee. "Now we're going to get the buyers out to make one call on one evening."

Each war bond purchaser in previous campaigns has received a card from his salesman with a plea to follow the committee's plan. Chairman of the Glencoe sixth war loan is Raymond F. Smith, who announced that the village's quota is $750,000. He pointed out that the goal is lower than in previous campaigns because only subscriptions directly solicited by Glencoe workers will be counted in the total.

Y.M.C.A. COLLEGE NAMES NEW VICE PRESIDENT, DEAN

Dr. Edward J. Sparling, president of Central Y. M. C. A. college, 19 S. La Salle st., has named William D. Gilliland to the newly created post of vice president of the college. He also appointed Dr. Wayne A. R. Leys as dean of the school of arts and sciences.

Read this message carefully..because it means opportunity. It may mean a profitable lifetime career for you. But you must act at once if this opportunity is not to be wasted.
After the war, aviation will be one of the major industries in the Chicago area. Airlines, aircargo carriers, maintenance and operations shops, and aircraft plants will have good jobs for workers who are properly trained. Prepare for your career in aviation NOW by working in the Chicago plant of Douglas Aircraft Company. No "cutbacks" or "layoffs" in sight here. Douglas employes will work at full capacity building vitally needed military transport planes until Japan is defeated. Then they will build planes for the airlines on orders already booked this far ahead.
You can get expert training here in aircraft skills that could well qualify you for profitable employment building peacetime airplanes or in the huge maintenance and operations plants which the airlines and aircargo enterprises will set up all over the country after the war. And you can be trained in working with the lighter metals such as aluminum and magnesium which will be used in the manufacture of so many postwar consumer goods.
Meanwhile you will be well paid for enjoyable work. Experienced or inexperienced . . . we train you so that you are bound to make good in fabrication, shop, assembly and installation work . . . what we term "beating on the airplanes." As interesting work as you'll ever find.
If you want to serve your country, learn a new business, make good money and really enjoy your job, don't delay. If not already engaged in essential industry, come to

CHURCHES PLAN JOINT SERVICES TO GIVE THANKS

Follow Traditions of Pilgrims.

Thanksgiving, a day set aside more than three centuries ago by the Pilgrims for community prayer and giving thanks, will be observed at three community church gatherings on the south side Thursday.

The Rev. W. R. O'Neill.

The south shore community's 23d annual inter-faith Thanksgiving service will be held at 10:30 a. m. at the synagog of the South Side Hebrew congregation, 7359 Chappel av. Speaker at the service will be the Rev. W. R. O'Neill, pastor of the South Shore Presbyterian church. His topic will be "The Lord's Song in a Strange Land."

Reflects Tolerance Principle.

"Established originally to unite the citizenship of south shore in the praise of God, the event reflects the historic principle of tolerance and religious freedom on which the nation was founded," said the Rev. Wilbur M. Childress, pastor of the Southfield Methodist church, 1750 E. 78th st. He is president of the South Shore Ministers' association which sponsors the community service.

The order of service will include the call to worship in Hebrew, followed by an invocation by Rabbi Morris Teller of the host church. Rabbi G. George Fox of the South Shore temple, one of the founders of the community service, will read the President's Thanksgiving proclamation. A Thanksgiving prayer will be offered by the Rev. Charles Hubert Stem, pastor of the South Shore Community church.

Other Pastors to Assist.

Other pastors taking part in the service include the Rev. A. M. Pennewell of St. John's Methodist church, the Rev. E. Lester Stanton of the Southlawn Community church, and the Rev. Ray Freeman Jenney of the Bryn Mawr Community church.

Other participating groups include the members of Avalon Park Community church, Church of the Messiah, Essex Community church, St. Luke's Lutheran church, and South Shore Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Pennington to Speak.

A service will be held at 11 a. m. at the Rockefeller Memorial chapel on the University of Chicago campus under the auspices of the Council of Hyde Park and Kenwood Churches and Synagogs. It will be preceded by a 15 minute carillon concert by Frederick Marriot.

Dr. Leslie T. Pennington of the First Unitarian church will deliver the sermon on "Thanksgiving: The Pilgrim Roots of Our Destiny." Music for the service will be provided by the combined choirs of St. Paul's Episcopal church under the direction of Fred Cronhimer.

COL. I. J. FRISCH WILL SPEAK AT HYDE PARK POST

Lt. Col. Isaac J. Frisch of the medical staff of the veterans' administration, Downey, Ill., will speak on "The Soldier and His Doctor" before the Hyde Park Legion post at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow in the post hall, 1506 Hyde Park blvd.

Col. Frisch is one of 33 members of the post with records in both World wars. He was regimental surgeon, 108th combat engineers, 33d division during the last war. He has been awarded the international gold medal of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States for research in military medicine.

His talk is one in a series by different speakers on the problems of the medically discharged veteran and his family. The post has invited all medical men from the community to attend.

PLAN SESSION OF WOODSHORE WOMAN'S CLUB

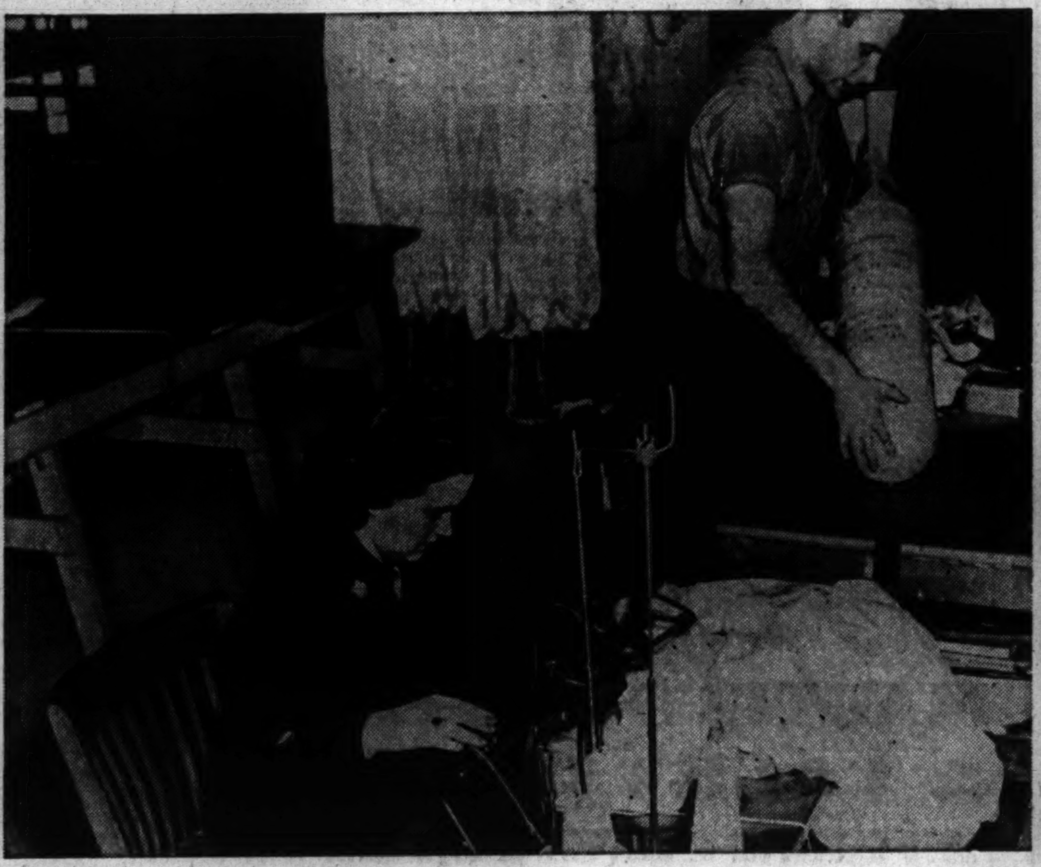
The Woodshore Woman's club will celebrate Federation night at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday in the Plaisance hotel. Guests will include Mrs. Warren H. Lutton, 2d district president, and her board of directors.

Mrs. William C. Dickson, program chairman, will introduce Germain E. Feldkramp, book reviewer. Crystal Porter will present piano selections. Mrs. Thomas Field and her committee will preside at the tea tables. Members in the receiving line will include Mrs. Hugh Dunlop, Mrs. H. W. Hosutt, Mrs. Esther Jennings, Miss Lee Knowles, Mrs. Walter Nelson, Mrs. Lloyd Setnan, and Mrs. J. S. McCullan.

Scout Troop 500 Formed by Grand Crossing Legion

Sponsored by the Grand Crossing Legion post, 621 E 75th st., the 12th Boy Scout troop in the Triangle community, troop 500, has been formed. George Nissila, 7914 Michigan av., is Scoutmaster, while Henry Ohman, 7109 Champlain av., is assistant Scoutmaster. Committee members include Walter E. Gabler, 7126 Champlain av., chairman; F. K. Van Hay, 7111 Champlain av., and Bud Singman, 7453 Cottage Grove av.

South Siders Among 10,000 Marking Second Anniversary of SPARS



Edith Craveness, Hammond, Ind., a parachute rigger 3d class, repairs torn silks at the air station at Elizabeth City, N. C. She is one of the more than 10,000 SPARS who will celebrate the second anniversary of the women's reserve of the Coast Guard Thanksgiving day. Intensive recruiting for the service has ended, as it is approaching its authorized strength of 11,000. The first drafts for overseas duty, restricted to women who have completed one year of service, are expected to leave early in 1945. They will be assigned to Hawaii and Alaska. [Coast Guard Photos.]

Kennedy Stanbeck, formerly of 5436 Cornell av., a storekeeper 2d class, works in the pay and accounting office in St. Louis, Mo. Her husband, Howard, is an army pilot serving overseas. SPARS perform the equivalent of 76 civilian jobs and hold 26 ratings. Most are yeomen and storekeepers who work at desks, but others work as pharmactists' mates, motion picture operators, radio technicians.

Margaret T. Viszneki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Viszneki, 13231 Carondolet av., was a seaman 1st class when this picture was taken showing her at her desk in Boston, Mass. Since then she has been promoted to yeoman 3d class. A former secretary, she completed her first year in the SPARS Nov. 13. Her brother, Staff Sgt. John Jr., an aerial gunner, is a prisoner in Germany.

"Try this pea coat for size," says Ruth H. Bauer, 7548 Saginaw av., storekeeper 3d class, as she fills a small stores order in the Chicago base office clothing locker, 610 Canal st. The Coast Guardsman replenishing his sea bag is Eugene Bandyga, motor machinist mate 2d class, who is stationed at the Coast Guard garage, 1201 E. 47th st.

With AMERICA'S FIGHTERS

An oak leaf cluster to the air medal has been awarded to Sgt. Stuart T. Raney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Raney, 4463 Woodlawn av., tail gunner of an 8th air force Liberator bomber based in England. He has completed 13 combat missions, including attacks on Stuttgart, Ludvigshaven, Berlin, Saarbrucken, Hamm, and other military installations in support of allied ground forces now fighting in Germany.

Sgt. Stuart T. Raney.

Staff Sgt. John H. Larson, 7343 Langley av., is crew chief for a Thunderbolt fighter plane which flew 412 hours and 5 minutes in completing 109 combat missions before having its first engine change. Ninth air force headquarters believe this to be the record for one plane flying the most combat missions and total operational hours on one engine. Originally assigned to the plane in England eight months ago, he landed with the first fighter group to operate from French bases and followed the plane thru France into Belgium.

The air medal has been awarded to 2d Lt. Howard Haas, son of Mrs. Adolph Haas, 5242 Hyde Park blvd., Liberator bombardier in Italy. Overseas four months, he has completed more than 25 missions over Europe, including several raids on the Ploesti oil fields in Romania. A former student at the University of Chicago, he has two brothers also in service, Albert, a storekeeper 2d class, stationed in New Guinea with the Seabees, and Robert, who participated in four major invasions in the Mediterranean theater with the navy and is now studying at Western Michigan college, Kalamazoo, Mich., under the V-12 program.

Lt. Howard Haas.

Pvt. Joseph J. Colella, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Colella, 10619 Hoxie av., who was wounded in the shoulder with shrapnel while serving as a machine gunner near Percy, France, is recovering at an army hospital in England. His brother, Evandro, is with a field artillery unit stationed at Camp Howze, Tex.

Wallace G. Kilinski, 8439 Brandon av., was graduated from recruit training recently as honor man of his company at Great Lakes Naval Training center. He has been recommended to attend aviation ordnance school.

Wallace G. Kilinski.

Albert M. Wellnitz, son of Joseph Wellnitz, 4314 Berkley av., gunner on a Liberator bomber based in Italy, has been promoted to staff sergeant. Holder of the air medal, he has completed 14 missions against targets in Austria, Germany, Italy, and Hungary. He is a graduate of Tilden High school.

Pvt. Thomas J. Leonard, whose wife, Ruth, lives at 4000 Drexel blvd., is a member of a signal company stationed at the headquarters of the air service command of the strategic air forces in England.

The silver star has been awarded to 1st Lt. Charles H. Usvolk, son of Mrs. Sophie Usvolk, 1446 E. Marquette rd., who is serving with the 5th army in Italy. When an enemy

PRIZE PAINTING OF NEGRO LORE TO BE UNVEILED

Ceremonies Open at 8 P. M. Tomorrow.

A mural, "The Negro in Professional Life," by William Carter, 3416 Michigan av., winner in a $300 prize contest, will be unveiled in the lobby of the Professional Arts building, 2 E. Garfield blvd., at 8 p. m. tomorrow. The mural is approximately 10 feet square, and depicts Negro professional men at their work.

Michael Braude, representing owners of the building who offered the prize, will preside at the ceremonies which will include speeches by Dr. William Prince on the mural, by Frayser Lane, head of the civic education department of the Chicago Urban league, on the significance of art, and by the artist.

Hostess to Unveil Mural.

Mrs. Mary Garden Williams, hostess at the South Side Community Art center, will pull the cord which will reveal Carter's work.

Carter, native of St. Louis, studied at the University of Illinois and at various Chicago art academies. He has made his home in Chicago for 10 years, and has won several art prizes, the most recent for an oil painting in a national show at Atlanta university.

Name Contest Judges.

Guests at the ceremony will be the judges who chose Carter's mural. They are Oskar Gross, 19 E. Pearson st.; William Farrow, 6038 S. Hayakawa, 1715 E. 67th st.; David Ross, 5400 Michigan av., and Mrs. Alexander Langsford, 5725 Kimbark av.

Also on display at the Professional Arts building tomorrow will be a series of photographs depicting the influence of Negros in shaping American culture. The exhibit was arranged by Miss Vivian Harsh of the Cleveland Hall library, in cooperation with the Council Against Intolerance in America.

2 SOUTH SIDERS SEEKING FUNDS FOR VAUGHAN

Capelle Damrell, 7439 Yates av., of the Cook county council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Mrs. Mary O'Brien, 8009 Harvard av., president of the Cook county council, American Legion auxiliary, are members of the committee seeking to raise funds to beautify the grounds at Vaughan General hospital, Hines.

The goal of the committee is $65,000, which will be spent to plant evergreens, hawthorne, crabapple, and elm trees; lilac bushes, and vines on the 72 acres of hospital grounds. The funds are being solicited from individuals, organizations, and firms, and are being channeled thru the camp and hospital committee and the Red Cross.

DEARBORN CLUB WILL HIKE, SEE MOVIES TODAY

Members of the Fort Dearborn Hiking club will leave headquarters at 6307 S. Western av. at 3:30 p. m. today for a five mile hike thru Marquette park and along near-by boulevards. They will return about 5:30 p. m.

After the hike Mrs. Leona H. Byrne of the Fox Valley Hiking club of Aurora will show motion pictures taken on outings of the Aurora group. She also will show colored films which she took in northern Europe a few weeks before the outbreak of World War II.

Woodlawn Church.

Dr. John W. Holland, conductor of radio's Little Brown Church, will be guest speaker at the Woodlawn Methodist church at 7:40 o'clock tonight.

KELLY PUTS WAR FIRST IN PLANS FOR CONGRESS

He's Freshman Despite Previous Service.

Edward A. Kelly, congressman-elect from the 3d district, said last week his plans for the next two years come under two headings.

First, he said, is "anything and everything which might tend to help us win the war quicker."

The other concerns the post-war period and what must be done then, and what should be done to prepare for that time.

Kelly served for 12 years as the representative of the district, but was beaten for reëlection in 1942. Consequently, he explained, when he returns to Washington in January he will have no seniority rights. Kelly, a Democrat, defeated Rep. Fred E. Busby [Rep.].

He's Freshman Again.

"I'll have to start all over again in working my way up on committee assignments and towards chairmanships," the congressman-elect said. "I'll be a freshman once more. But in view of my previous service I believe I may be able to get better assignments than if I had not been a member of congress previously."

Kelly said he hopes to be put on the appropriations committee. He said he is confident he can get back on the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, on which he previously served, if he does not get on the appropriations committee.

At the time of his defeat he was chairman of two sub-committees of the commerce committee. He was also chairman of a select committee on oil and petroleum.

Puts Soldiers First.

"Regardless of committee assignments I'll be in there fighting for the welfare of the soldiers, during and after the war," he said.

"We must win the war first and anything we can do toward that end must come first, and must be done. Then, when time for reconversion comes, we must be ready to give any aid necessary to private industry."

Congressman-elect Kelly is the proud father of Bob Kelly, star half back of the Notre Dame football team. He went to New York for the Army-Notre Dame game which the Army won 59 to 0, and Kelly said he had not yet recovered from the shock. Bob, his father explained, had been injured in the Navy game, but his injury was kept secret and he was in the Army game only as a decoy.

CHURCH HOLDS 50 YEAR RITES IN BROOKFIELD

3 Congregational Founders Living.

The village of Grossdale, now Brookfield, was in the process of development in 1894 and lacked many of the refinements of more settled communities, but the pioneers were determined not to do without worship. The First Congregational church was organized and Sunday will celebrate its 50th anniversary.

Of the 15 charter members only three still are living. Two of the number, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Melville, have continued as residents of Brookfield. The third is Jessie C. Bowers who was clerk at the meeting of the religious group that held its first meeting on Thanksgiving evening, Nov. 23, 1894.

Founder's Daughter to Preside.

Mrs. Josephine Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville, will preside at the anniversary dinner, Nov. 27. Mrs. Myers and her sister, Mrs. Jessie Kinne, twins, were participants in the first double baptism held in the church.

The speaker next Sunday morning will be the Rev. Glen A. Rowles, who became pastor in 1919 and now holds a pastorate at Ripon, Wis. Dr. Albert Buckner Coe, pastor of the Frst Congregational church of Oak Park, will be guest speaker at the evening service.

Buy $20,000 Pipe Organ.

The Rev. Wilfred Wakefield, pastor of the church since 1938, will preside at the communion service Dev. 4, which will bring the anniversary activities to a close. It was the Rev. Mr. Wakefield who suggested that a pipe organ be purchased for the improvement of the worship service. The organ was installed at a cost of $20,000, and led to a general remodeling program, the over-all debt for which has now been reduced to $2,500.

Among those to be honored at the anniversary celebration are Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Nelson, who have been associated with the church from the beginning and are still active members. Mr. Nelson made the pulpit, still in use, 50 years ago.

First Building Still Used.

When Mr. Melville made a motion in 1895 that the church proceed with plans for a building to cost not less than $1,500, the sum at that time represented a sizeable investment for the small group. During a delay in building plans, the Ladies Aid and other societies held innumerable oyster suppers and harvest home banquets. By 1896, the congregation decided on a building to cost not less than $3,000.

The building that materialized has been in service without any important alteration for five decades and today essentially is its original design. With astonishing speed, explained by the fact that a nationwide depression had left large numbers of laborers unemployed, the building was ready for dedication in May, 1897.

The furnace seems to have come in for considerable attention in the deliberations of the church board. Proper stoking of the furnace required an artistic touch and, along in 1919, it was customary for young men of the church to take turns in serving as janitor. A series of "furnace parties" were held to help raise funds for new heating equipment.

Sell Cars of Potatoes.

The Rev. Mr. Rowles also initiated a new method of fund raising by selling several cars of potatoes, with young men of the church mobilizing available trucks and wagons. The project was not only successful financially, but is said to have meant great fun for the workers.

Ministers who have served the church during its half century of history and the years of their arrival are the Rev. C. A. Smith, 1894; the Rev. J. C. Myers, 1895; the Rev. George Grannis, 1896; the Rev. J. U. Stotts, 1899; the Rev. George Mitchell, 1902; the Rev. Edwin T. Sherman, 1907; the Rev. John Allworth, 1910; the Rev. H. Briscoe Hall, 1915; the Rev. Avery Brugh, 1917; the Rev. Glen A. Rowles, 1919; the Rev. Thomas McCamat, 1928; the Rev. A. P. Bell, 1929; the Rev. Omar J. Flugum, 1935; and the Rev. Mr. Wakefield, 1938.

ARMY APPROVES R. O. T. C. CADETS AT MOOSEHEART

Mooseheart's R. O. T. C. unit has been recognized and approved by the war department, according to an announcement by Supt. W. J. Leinweber. Recognition was given after representatives of the war department had investigated the course of instruction by the commandant of the cadet corps, Col. R. A. P. Holderby, and upon inspection of facilities and equipment.

The Mooseheart cadet corps was founded in 1914 thru efforts of Justice Ralph W. E. Donges of the Supreme court of New Jersey and a Mooseheart governor.

More than 600 graduates and former students of Mooseheart, all of whom received training in the corps, are now in service. More than two-thirds already has attained commissions and ratings.

St. Mel's High Students Will Hold Homecoming

St. Mel's High school will hold its homecoming at 8:30 p. m. Friday in the school's gymnasium, 1 N. Kildare av. The dance is sponsored by the senior class.

West Siders, the Nation Over, Help Coast Guard Mark Anniversary

SPAR Jean Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Carlson, Elmhurst, will join with more than 10,000 mates all over the country in the celebration on Thanksgiving day of the second anniversary of the women's reserve of the United States Coast Guard. Miss Carlson is a yeoman 1st class stationed with headquarters public relations in Washington, D. C.

SPAR Caroline B. Mommsen, yeoman 3d class, Glen Ellyn, serving in the personnel section of the Coast Guard's Chicago base office, checks the papers of John W. Skrablex, combat correspondent, who has a story to tell of the invasions of Normandy and south France. The SPARS are making plans for the assignment of members to stations in Hawaii and Alaska.

SPARS Marion R. Mackey and Theodora L. Mackey, daughters of Mrs. Grace Mackey, 101 Harrison st., Oak Park, have been on a tour of duty that has taken them to the Pacific coast for the first time. Both are yeomen 3d class, and are assigned to the intelligence office of the Coast Guard in Long Beach, Cal.

[Coast Guard Photos.]

SPAR Avis L. Klausing, seaman 2d class, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Klausing, 932 N. Laramie av., has found her abilities valuable in the communications office. It takes a lot of communicating to keep ships and men of the Coast Guard always ready to do their jobs.

With AMERICA'S FIGHTERS

Lt. Lee E. Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar E. Webster, Wheaton, is now stationed as an instructor at the army air field, Waycross, Ga. A veteran of more than 200 hours of combat duty, Lt. Webster recently returned to the United States from service as a Mustang fighter pilot with the 9th A. A. F. in France. He wears the air medal with eight oak leaf clusters and has recommendations for three more. Lt. Webster is officially credited with the destruction of four enemy aircraft in the air.

Lt. Webster.

Lt. Lawrence A. Dietz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph H. Dietz, Cicero, has been transferred from the advanced pilot school at Foster field, Tex., to Laughlin field, Del Rio, Tex. Lt. Dietz was assistant school secretary following his arrival at Foster field last February.

Sgt. John M. Choate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Choate Sr., Melrose Park, has been awarded the distinguished flying cross for extraordinary achievement in aerial combat. Sgt. Choate has made 32 missions as a gunner on a Liberator. He joined the army in March, 1943, and has been stationed overseas since last May. He also wears the air medal with three oak leaf clusters.

Sgt. Choate.

For meritorious service at Guadalcanal, Bougainville, and the Solomon Islands, a commendation has been given to Capt. Byron L. Gundlach, son of Mrs. Lillian Gundlach, Clarendon Hills, bearing the signiture of the commanding general of the American division. Capt. Gundlach entered the service in April, 1941, and has been overseas 30 months. He wears five foreign service bars, the theater ribbon with two battle stars, and the combat infantryman's badge.

Winston Ferris Crum, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Crum, 734 Wenonah av., Oak Park, recently was appointed a cadet at the United States Coast Guard academy, New London, Conn. Cadet Crum was graduated from the Oak Park-River Forest High school where he was a member of the chemistry and debating clubs, the visual education staff, a commencement speaker, and an honor roll student.

Cadet Crum.

Sgt. William H. Boor, husband of Mrs. Anne M. Boor, 1823 S. Union av., has been awarded the bronze star for gallantry in action with the 37th Infantry division in the Southwest Pacific. Overseas for more than two years, Sgt. Boor has

WEST SUBURBS TELL REASONS TO GIVE THANKS

Plan Union Services at Churches.

"Things to be Thankful For in Wartime" will be the theme of Dr. G. J. Schillerstrom, pastor of the Community Presbyterian church, at the Thanksgiving day service in Clarendon Hills. Music for the morning service will be provided by the junior choir of the church directed by Mrs. Fred Shepherd.

"Many people wonder, with the world in the condition it is in and with the sorrow and suffering entailed, what they could hear that would be new and applicable to these times," said Dr. Schillerstrom, "but the Christian religion was born and grew in worse times than these."

Church Must Coöperate.

Necessity for the church, out of a feeling of thankfulness in coöperating with all church and other agencies in the ministry of healing for the victims of war, will be emphasized in the sermon this morning by the Rev. Edward F. Manthei, pastor of the First Congregational church of Western Springs. A thank offering devoted to the Congregational Christian Committee for War Victims will be taken.

The union church service in La Grange will be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the First Methodist church. whose pastor, Dr. Blair Sumner Latshaw, will be in charge. The speaker will be the Rev. Thomas LeRoy Crosby, pastor of the First Congregational church of La Grange. The Epworth choir and the chancel choir of the Methodist church will present the musical program.

Brookfield to Hold Service.

Union Thanksgiving services in Brookfield will be held at 9:30 a. m. Thursday at the Evangelical Lutheran church of which the Rev. George Vulgaris is pastor. The Rev. John L. Cheek, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the sermon. The Rev. Wilfred Wakefield, pastor of the Congregational church, will assist. Music will be provided by the host church choir.

The community Thanksgiving service, an annual service of worship sponsored by the Hinsdale Ministerial association, will be held at 10 a. m. Thanksgiving day in the Unitarian church. The Rev. Robert E. Koenig, pastor of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Lutheran church, will give the sermon.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at the First Methodist church of Downers Grove of which the Rev. Harold K. Taylor is pastor. The Rev. A. J. Pitman, pastor of the Congregational church, will give the sermon. The Methodist choir, under direction of William G. Pohlmann, will sing. Coöperating pastors include the Rev. W. A. Giese of the Evangelical church, the Rev. Dan Schlinkman of St. Paul's Lutheran church, the Rev. W. H. Sinclair of the Baptist church, and the Rev. Harry Turner of the Presbyterian church.

Berwyn Plans Service.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at the Presbyterian church in Berwyn with the Rev. Donald N. Duncan, pastor of the First Baptist church,

LAGRANGE CHOIR TO GIVE SPECIAL FALL PROGRAMS

Will Sponsor Organ Recial Today.

Five special programs for this fall and winter have been planned by the combined choirs of the First Congregational church of La Grange. The first will be an organ recital at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon by Dr. William H. Barnes, organist and choir director of the First Baptist church of Evanston.

Dr. W. H. Barnes.

Dr. Barnes is known as an organ architect and player. He has acted as an organ architect for more than 70 churches within the last 10 years, and is equally in demand as a recitalist.

Public Invited to Series.

All Sunday afternoon programs will be open to the public without charge. Future programs under auspices of the combined choirs, of which George Howerton is director, are:

Dec. 17, sixth program of "Christmas Carols by Candlelight" by the combined choirs.

Feb. 4, concert by the Northwestern university A Cappella choir.

March 4, Mozart's "Requiem Mass" by the combined choirs.

April 29, Haydn's oratorio, "The Seasons," by the combined choirs.

List Choir Officers.

Officers of the combined choirs are Martin C. Olson, president; Mrs. C. E. Smith, secretary; John C. Fraser, treasurer; Mrs. E. C. Young, librarian, and Mary McReynolds, assistant librarian for the senior choir.

High school choir officers are Myra Stewart, president; William Knowlton, vice president; Betsy Vial, secretary, and Burtis Casler, librarian.

Other officers are Mrs. J. W. Mahan, chairman; Mrs. A. D. Swanson, social chairman; Mrs. Martin C. Olson, publicity chairman, and Mrs. W. G. Simenson and Mrs. C. G. Stewart, robing chairmen.

SCOUT GROUPS TO HEAR PATRI IN LA GRANGE

Angelo Patri, educational consultant and author, will be the speaker at the 25th anniversary program of the West Suburban Boy Scout council, to be held Dec. 5 in La Grange. Council officials are inviting the general public to attend, as well as those connected with scouting and cubbing.

Mr. Patri's talk will deal with boys in the 9-15 age group, which is the cub and Scout range.

Announcement of the speaker for the anniversary dinner was made by Carl D. Smith, La Grange, district chairman, who is in charge of the annual meeting, and by N. W. Symonds of Hinsdale, council president. Arrangements for Mr. Patri to address the council were made nine months ago by John Rowe of Western Springs.

FOLKS, BET YOU WON'T BELIEVE WHAT FOLLOWS

Play Cards 20 Years and Never Fight.

As proof that their school friendships were the kind that endured, four west suburban women recently celebrated the 20th anniversary of their card club. Joining in the observance were four husbands who later joined the group and who likewise have remained congenial during most of the two decades.

Members of the card club, which has doubled in numbers since it was organized, are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Ramm, 723 N. Stone av., La Grange; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hoffman, 512 S. Spring av., La Grange; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flaherty, 8501 Washington av., Hollywood, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schmidt, 847 S. Lyman av., Oak Park.

Girls Meet in High School.

The club had its beginning when the four women attended Morton High school. Once a month during the winter season they met at each other's home to play 500. Later, the game became bridge. One by one, the girls married, and when all four were wed the men were included in the club.

Members of the club insist that there never has been any quarrels as to whether or not a hand was properly played, nor has conversation been barred while a game was on.

Club Holds Annual Picnic.

Every summer the club holds a picnic at Batavia along the Fox river, and the outing also is enjoyed by the seven children of the couples.

"Perhaps we have made sort of a record," agreed Mrs. Flaherty, who entertained the octet at the 20th anniversary party. "It so happens that we have all remained in the west suburban area. Anyhow, the Saturday night get-togethers have continued unbroken, and as new interests have come along we have found that we still had much in common.

"We may have differences of opinion in our discussion of current events but our friendships have strengthened despite the fact that we compete with each other at bridge."

PROVISO TO BE HOST DEC. 5 TO IEA WORKSHOP

Proviso High school will act as host for one of the Illinois Education association's workshop meetings on the evening of Dec. 5.

The association has arranged for a series of 46 of the workshop meetings to be held at selected centers thruout the state so that all teachers may attend without the inconvenience of war time travel.

Purpose of the workshop is to give IEA members a broader opportunity to assist in professional and public relations and in discussion of proposals for school legislation.

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

MISS MARY VAN LIEU PIKE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pike of Aurora, senior at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., has been initiated into the honorary science sorority, Delta Sigma. Miss Pike is a member of Tri Alpha, social sorority, and has served as vice president of the student activity board.

Michael E. Bafaro, Berwyn, received a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering at the fall commencement exercises of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

MR. AND MRS. VALENTINE PATELSKI of Downers Grove, both deaf-mutes, recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a dinner party and reception for relatives and friends. The couple was married in Holy Trinity church shortly after coming to the United States from Poland. Mr. and Mrs. Patelski are the parents of five children, the grandparents of 14, and the great-grandparents of six. They are members of the deaf-mute society, Knights and Ladies of d'le Pee.

WHEN Raymond H. Lips, Maywood, recently began his 32d year as a mail carrier it was estimated by Richard Mahler of the parcel post section that Ray had walked almost 150,000 miles on his route. Ray keeps in touch with most of the boys on his route now in military service. He knows what it means, for he was a sergeant in the Prairie division overseas in World War I. As a mailman the veteran has done more than just pile up mileage. Fine tribute to Ray was paid by Mrs. Ralph Harris in a poem which contains the lines: "He knows most all our Jimmies and most of our Marys, too; because he watched them all grow up, they make up his 'Who's Who.'"

Thadd J. Lubera, principal of Marshall High school, and Mrs. Frances Ferrell, history teacher at Marshall, recently were commended by the University of Illinois Bulletin for their organization of an experimental class in American history at the school.

While on the subject of statistics did you know that a juke box needle plays about 2,000 records before it is worn out? Herman Duenisch, successful operator of the boxes with four offices in Illinois, brought out the bit of data at a recent demonstration before the Glen Ellyn Lions' club.

THOSE who attend programs of the Legion Sunday Evening club in La Grange have become accustomed to the remarks by Marshall Mathews, master of ceremonies, that lead up to the taking of the collection. Over many years, Mr. Mathews has had a different anecdote for the audience just before the ushers start to pass the plates. The Burton Holmes lecture last Sunday night packed the house, and on this occasion Mr. Mathews told of a collection being taken in a church. A parishioner came across with a $100 bill and, simultaneously, a chunk of plaster fell from the ceiling and struck him on the head. Observing the double action, and looking upward, the minister called out, "O, Lord, do it again."

REDOUBLE WORK TO REACH QUOTA FOR FUND DRIVE

Women Continue Canvass of West Side Homes.

West side women are continuing their house-to-house drive for the Community and War Fund as the campaign effort is concentrated on raising the last 15 per cent of the goal of $12,980,000, Mrs. Violet Lewis, 3037 Washington blvd., regional chairman of the women's division, said.

The women's division has raised $408,610 or 68 per cent of its quota of $600,000. Mrs. Lewis said the clubs and organizations group has brought in $19,560, the special gifts committee has reported $259,080, and the residential solicitation so far has been responsible for $129,969.

Group Tops Quota.

Recognition was given by Mrs. Lewis to Mrs. Joseph Mahoney, 2220 South Bell av., chairman of the section which includes the Upper West side, Medical Center-West side, and Lower West side districts. Mrs. Mahoney, her captains and workers, have brought in contributions totaling $1,608 or 160 per cent of quota.

Mrs. Mahoney, who is also chairman of the Lower West side, reports pledges amounting to $1,366, and gives credit to the following captains whose reports were the highest: Mrs. Bernice Marusak, 2138 W. 18th pl.; Mrs. Fred Zender, 2141 W. 22d pl.; Mrs. Caroline Fikar, 1900 S. May st., and Mrs. William Stoll, 2120 W. 23d st.

In the North Lawndale and South Lawndale districts, Mrs. Frank Radvanovsky, 4249 S. Cullerton av., announced that 86 per cent of the quota or $4,302 had been raised.

Volunteers Aid Drive.

Mrs. Lewis said two groups of young women, the Home Front cadets and the Institute War service, have been giving volunteer aid to the Community and War Fund drive in the North Lanwdale district.

Ray F. McCarthy, 4005 W. Washington blvd., chairman of the west side in the Fund's city division, reported that $69,644 had been raised so far in the region.

High district honors in the west side region are held by a portion of the West Side-Medical Center section under chairmanship of Herman Ballis, 1253 S. Halsted st. Ballis reported that a total of $9,330, or 123 per cent of the quota, had been subscribed.

Money Used Many Ways.

The Community and War Fund represents the National War Fund thruout Cook. Lake and Du Page counties, raising money for the U. S. O., U. S. O. camp shows, United Seamen's service, War Prisoners aid, American Field service, and 17 allied relief and refugee rescue agencies.

In Chicago, funds also are collected for the 188 health and welfare agencies of the Community Fund and for the 11 overseas rescue and relief organizations of the Jewish Welfare Fund. Money collected in the suburbs goes only to the war related programs and to suburban chests and charities.

War On? Ask These Auto Dealers

Gas rationing, lack of tires, and shortage of parts have caused John Mahoney, left, 49 Washington blvd., Oak Park, and Joseph Bartell, 919 N. Marion st., Oak Park, to resort to miniature motorized vehicles in traveling to and from their homes. Both are competitors in the automobile business in Cicero. The distance from homes to businesses is five miles.

PLAN VESPERS FOR FIGHTER KIN FOR RIVERSIDE

A vesper service for parents, wives, relatives, and friends of service men from the congregation will be held at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Riverside Methodist church. There will be a candle lighting service, prayers, and appropriate music.

Names of those on the honor roll will be called and parents or relatives will answer for them. The service will be open to all.

NUT AND SLACK FIRING METHOD IS FUEL SAVER

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

If you are burning soft coal in your home there is a simple method of hand firing which has been developed and tested at the University of Illinois.

This method is called the nut and slack firing method and it is being advocated by fuel merchants' associations, coal dealers, and furnace men. It is claimed the method will save as high as one-fifth of a home owner's fuel pile and also reduce smoke.

Glowing coals are kept at one side of the firepot and fresh fuel on the other side, with a cap of slack on top of the fresh fuel so that smoke from it will go sideways into the glowing coals instead of straight up and out the chimney. This arrangement also makes the fire easier to control.

Poker a Useful Tool.

Prof. Fellows of the university advises converting the furnace poker into a more useful tool. Take a hammer and straighten the present right angle bend at the end of the poker and then bend the last foot of the tool to an angle of about 30 degrees.

Then with this improved tool move live coals to one side of the firepot and poke into the cleared area to work fine ash thru the grate. Next place fresh nut coal into the cleared part of the firepot and cover it well with slack so the draft is deflected into the burning coal.

"Don't fire fresh coals on top of hot coals," advises Prof. Fellows. "If hot coals remain over all the grate, probe the thinnest section and if practicable wait until this has burned out before refiring.

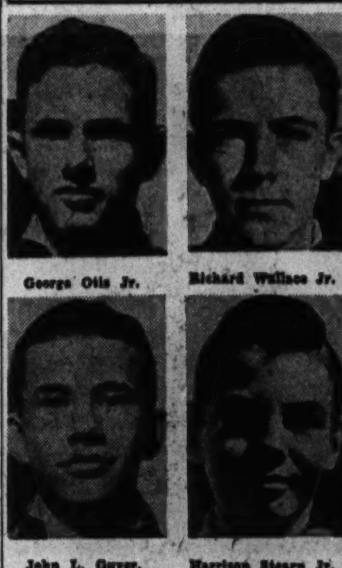
Check Fire Early.

"If a flame does not start immediately after firing, use a few crumpled papers to start a blaze. Failure to establish a flame may cause an explosion.

Check as soon as the fire gets a good start. Don't wait until the house is thoroly warm or it will become overheated. Another common error is to fire too often. With the nut and slack system the fire will start from only a handful of glowing coals."

Other advantages of this system are these: Soft coal of any grade can be used; fire starts easier, responds quicker, controls better, requires less attention, and holds longer; room temperature is steadier, explosions are eliminated, and the grate requires less shaking.

Win Eagle Rank



George Otis Jr. Richard Wallace Jr.
John L. Guyer. Harrison Stearn Jr.

Monday, Nov. 20.

Cold frames should be ventilated on sunny days, especially when perennials and semi-hardy plants are stored in them. Too little fresh air may cause heating with subsequent rotting of the plants. There are a great number of gardeners who have the space to install a coldframe, and a hotbed too, if they only will realize how valuable the coldframe is and what fun may be had when conducting experiments. It is a miniature greenhouse and when its value is known the gardener always will have one.

Tuesday, Nov. 21.

Fill all depressions that are likely to hold water. Grub out all poison ivy plants now that the foliage has fallen. Pile and allow to dry out; then burn. Place a windbreak around rhododendrons before the ground freezes. Burlap frames will be sufficient protection, or corn stalks will suffice. A mulch of leaves will offer considerable ground protection.

Wednesday, Nov. 22.

The value of a compost heap is often mentioned in these notes because such a heap, properly made, provides much valuable humus for the garden and for pot plants. A 10 by 10 foot area is sufficient and if a fence can be erected around it so much the better.

The materials used in a compost are leaves, preferably from hard wood trees, strawy manure, especially cow manure, and waste garden matter. First, pile one layer about 10 inches thick and tamp it down firmly, sprinkle about five ounces of superphosphate over it, then wet it down. A little soil over the surface may be of value. Repeat with additional layers until the heap is about four feet high leaving the top concave to catch rain water. Water down during dry weather to hasten decomposition.

Thursday, Nov. 23.

Much work can be done during winter months in preparation for spring gardening. Seed flats may be constructed to have on hand when the first sowings should be made. Any firm box can be cut down to about three inches deep. A few holes should be bored in the bottom of each box or flat to allow for drainage. Lay in a supply of suitable soil for the seed flats; this soil may be half sand and compost or a well drained vegetable soil.

No fertilizer is necessary for the seed flat for the seedlings will be transplanted as soon as they are large enough to handle.

Friday, Nov. 24.

Be careful to keep all labels on outdoor plants firmly fixed in the ground or varieties may become mixed. The terrarium is one of the most interesting forms of gardening for a large number of persons, and especially for apartment house gardeners. It may consist of only a glass covered dish, a large bowl, or an elaborate glass garden.

The practices incident to the care are the same in all cases. When planting has been completed the soil should be moist thruout but not saturated and it should not be watered again until the soil is dry. In some cases, watering is not necessary for several months.

Saturday, Nov. 25.

There are many kinds of plants that may be used in the terrarium, such as tiny plants from woodlands, the African violet, small begonias, holly and other ferns, partridge berry, trailing arbutus, wintergreen, and many others.

A soil mixture consisting of half peat and sand is suitable for many kinds of plants, but if a layer of gravel is placed on the bottom it will provide drainage and thus avoid a perpetually saturated soil, which often is fatal. A mixture of about two parts garden loam, one part leaf mold, and one part sand is excellent for general use.

Boxes of different flowering begonias, such as the small flowered semperflorens types, President Carnot, argentea guttata, and others never fail to appeal. Begonias do not like too much water. Boxes of cacti are interesting the year 'round and with plenty of sunshine some will send out colorful flowers.

DOWNERS GROVE FIRE CHASERS TO DANCE THIS WEEK

They Will Carry On a 46 Year Old Custom.

"Why not make up a party from your neighborhood or bridge club to go as a gang?" asks the committee in charge of the 46th annual Downers Grove Volunteer Firemen's dance to be held Wednesday night at the Masonic Temple hall in Downers Grove.

Grant E. Dicke, fire chief, is chairman of arrangements for the dance that has become a tradition in the west suburb. Other members of the committee are Ed Landorf and Clarence Pelling.

Attends 35 Dances.

Chief Dicke has attended 35 of the annual dances, having joined the department when he was 17. He has been chief for 18 years. There are five Dicke brothers in the department, Grant, Leonard, who is acting assistant chief, Clarence, Arthur, and Elmer. The latter is in war service at this time as a tester of fire equipment for the army with heaquarters in Atlanta, Ga.

For many years there were seven of the family active in the department. Henry Dicke is now retired chief. George Dicke was accidentally killed Sept. 24.

Officers of the department include Reed Loy, president; L. W. Dunn, vice president, and C. F. Barkell, secretary and treasurer.

"Best Time to Relax."

In calling attention to the dance thru which funds are raised for the general expenses of the department, the committee has addressed the neighbors as follows:

"Here we are again. Yep, in spite of the fact that it seems summer is still with us, Thanksgiving eve is 'just around the corner.' And it has been the custom of Downers Grove people to relax on that night for a half century. In these days of war work, of drives and bond buying, we all have been doing our share. We need a little relaxation to keep up the grind. What better time to relax than on the occasion of the real American holiday—Thanksgiving."

Members of the department announce that the band will swing the modern and also play the old time waltzes and two-steps. It is explained that, with most of the young crowd in the service, the old time tunes will probably appeal to more of the folks still at home.

WEST SIDE COUPLE OBSERVES GOLDEN WEDDING AT MASS

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Chiletti, 2435 S. Western av., recently celebrated their golden wedding at a mass said for them at St. Michael's Italian church, 24th pl. and Oakley blvd. A dinner and reception for relatives and friends held at the Windemere East hotel followed the church ceremony.

James P. Chiletti.

Mrs. Chiletti.

Mr. and Mrs. Chiletti were born in Italy and married in France. Shortly after their marriage, they came to Chicago.

They are the parents of three sons and a daughter and the grandparents of six. The children are Michael L. Chiletti, 5841 Kirby av., Albert Chiletti, Nicholas Chiletti and Mrs. Lena Baldi. The latter three make their home with their parents.

Engaged to Sailor

ELIZABETH ANN FISHER.

Mrs. M. Allen Fisher of La Grange announces the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth Ann, to David B. MacFarland, radio technician 3d class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. MacFarland of Dearborn, Mich. Miss Fisher, daughter of Lt. Col. Frank F. Fisher, stationed at Truax field, Wis., has returned to Randolph Macon college, Lynchburg, Va., where she is a senior. Mr. MacFarland attended the University of Michigan prior to his enlistment in the navy.

WEST SUBURBS TELL REASONS TO GIVE THANKS

Plan Union Services for Churches.

presiding. Coöperating pastors of the Berwyn Ministers' association will include the Rev. Gilbert T. Bremicker of the Presbyterian church, the Rev. Henry C. Hoover of the First Congregational church, the Rev. Adam Baum of the Oak Park Baptist church, the Rev. John F. Plummer of St. Michael and All Angels' Episcopal church, the Rev. J. J. Hitchens of the First Methodist church, and the Rev. Alexander Ferguson of the North Berwyn Congregational church.

Union Thanksgiving services in Maywood will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday at the Presbyterian church of which the Rev. John Ekstrom is pastor. The speaker will be the Rev. Joseph Sittler of the Maywood Lutheran seminary. Previous to the union service, members of the Maywood Ministerial association will conduct a Thanksgiving service at Hines hospital.

In Riverside the union Thanksgiving service will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday at the Presbyterian church. The speaker will be the Rev. Roy Grobb of the Episcopal church. The Presbyterian choir will furnish music.

SERVICES IN CHICAGO

West side church and synagog members will unite in a service of thanksgiving at 10 a. m. Thursday in the First Church of the Brethren, Central Park av. and Congress st.

The annual community service is sponsored by the West Side Ministers' association, representing churches and synagogs mostly located in the east and west Garfield park area. The Rev. David M. Jordan, pastor of Gammin Memorial Methodist church, is president of the association.

The Thanksgiving day program has been prepared by the Rev. Charles C. Hoskinson, pastor of the Warren Avenue Congregational church, and will feature the First Church of the Brethren choir of 60 voices under direction of Alvin Frantz Brightbill.

Participating will be the Rev. Harper S. Will, who will preside at the service; the Rev. George Carlson, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, who will give a sermon on "The Thanksgiving of the Soul"; the Rev. George C. Crowell, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian church, and Dr. Samuel Schwartz, rabbi of the Washington Boulevard temple.

CICERO TO ERECT PLAQUE IN HONOR OF SERVICE MEN

Board Appropriates Sum as Fighter Tribute.

In recognition of its service men and women, numbering thousands, the town of Cicero, thru its board of trustees, recently voted that $1,000 be appropriated toward the erection of a plaque in their honor.

Action was taken as the result of a resolution offered by Jerry Dolezal, and request was made that patriotic, civic, and business organizations of the community be solicited to coöperate in the project.

Authorize Board of Five.

In a resolution submitted by Trustee Jerry Holecek, Town President Henry J. Sandusky was directed to appoint a committee of five members from the board of trustees to formulate plans for the plaque.

"This issue is nonsectarian and nonpolitical," said Sandusky in praising the board for its action. "It is the least we can do for our fighting heroes and for those who die on the field of battle. Now is the time to make post-war plans of rehabilitation for our returning heroes as well as erect a suitable memorial for those who will not return."

Forest Park Plans Marker.

In Forest Park, a memorial to service men and women also is contemplated, and the Forest Park Hospitality center is endeavoring to make a complete list of every man and woman from the community in the service. The center already has a list of the men who were drafted, but does not have a full list of the men who enlisted or the women who entered various branches of the service. The list also does not include names of men who were drafted by other than the Forest Park board.

A preliminary marker containing names of Forest Park service men and women has been set up in the office of Fred Rose. It is hoped that those who note missing names will supply them, so that when the permanent plaque is dedicated no one will have been overlooked.

At a later meeting attended by community leaders, it was agreed that the memorial should be erected on the town hall grounds at an approximate cost of $20,000.

NEW PLASTICS STUDY OFFERED IN W. SUBURB

An evenini course, plastics engineering II., is being organized at the Oak Park-River Forest extension center of the University of Illinois. The class will meet two hours on Monday and Tuesday nights for 12 weeks. Those who wish to attend the class which will start Nov. 27 must register by tomorrow night.

The course objective is to provide training in the present methods of molding [including the design of molds], laminates, and fabricated parts made of plastics. Special study will be devoted to selection of specific plastics for practical application, and the use of engineering data and other source materials.

The prerequisite of the course is high school graduation with one year of mathematics and chemistry, or the equivalent in appropriate industrial experience, and the completion of plastics engineering I.

J. C. Louer, assistant engineer of the Elmer E. Mills corporation, will instruct. Additional information about the course may be obtained from L. H. Fritzemeier, local administrator at the Oak Park-River Forest Township High school.

PASTORS UNITE TO GIVE THANKS ON THREE DAYS

Plan Special Music for Services.

In their Thanksgiving sermons this week, pastors of northwest side churches will tell of the responsibilities which accompany the privileges every American enjoys. In many of the services, planned for either today, Wednesday, or Thursday, special music will include classic Thanksgiving anthems.

Grace Evangelical church, Kimball and Wrightwood avs., will hold three services today in observance of its 24th Thanksgiving tithe festival. The Rev. William A. Grote, superintendent of the Peoria district church conference, will speak at the 11 a. m. service. There will be music by the vested choir, directed by Merlin Clark, with Miss Christine Queseld at the organ.

Grace Church Has Program.

A fellowship program is planned for the congregation of Grace church at 6 p. m. today. Reports from heads of various church units and impromptu entertainment will be given. The Rev. Mr. Grote again will be the speaker at the evening worship. The Rev. Edward R. Henninger is pastor.

Young people from Baptist congregations thruout the northwest side will join with other youth groups from churches in the northern district in a sunrise service at 7:30 a. m. Friday in North Shore Baptist church, 1311 Berwyn av. Choral music and an address by the Rev. Carl Winters, pastor of the First Baptist church of Oak Park, are scheduled.

Residents of the Sauganash community will hold a joint Thanksgiving service at 11 a. m. Thursday at the Sauganash Community church, 4541 Peterson av. Coöperating will be the Billy Caldwell American Legion post and Girl Scout and Boy Scout troops and cub packs in the community. The sermon will be given by the Rev. C. K. Richards, pastor, and Miss Jane Nelson will be vocal soloist.

Bethel Services Thursday.

Bethel Lutheran church, 2101 N. Humboldt blvd., will hold its annual worship at 10:45 a. m. Thursday, with the pastor, the Rev. Joseph B. Shefveland, delivering the sermon. Choral music will be directed by Miss Pearl Gran. An offering will be taken for local charities.

The Albany Park Presbyterian church, 4850 N. St. Louis-av., at 11 a. m. today will take an offering for the Presbyterian war time service commission, which aids work among prisoners of war, industrial workers, and refugees. The Rev. Carl T. Michel will give the sermon. Miss Marcia Sandahl will direct the choir in singing Handel's "Thanks Be to Thee, O Lord," and Miss Betty Condy will present a vocal solo. The annual Thanksgiving eve services will be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday, with the Rev. Mr. Michel speaking on "Thanksgiving Day as a Forerunner of V-Day." Music will include the anthem, "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem," by Maunder.

Three special services will be held today at the First Methodist church of Irving Park, Keeler av. and Grace st. The Rev. L. R. Minion will speak at both morning services. The junior choir will sing at the 9:45 a. m. service, and the senior choir, under direction of Harry S. Walsh and with Miss Lois Wallner as soloist, will present Thanksgiving music at the 10:45 a. m. service.

10 Churches Join Crusade.

This evening the First Methodist church of Irving Park will be host at a "Crusade for Christ" rally, in which 10 northwest side Methodist churches will participate. Speakers will be Dr. John E. Simpson of the United Presbyterian church of Oak Park, and Dr. George A. Fowler, district superintendent of Methodist churches. The Albany Park Methodist church choir will sing.

Participating churches and their pastors include: Albany Park, the Rev. M. D. Bayley; Aldersgate, the Rev. G. A. Eckstrand; Avondale, the Rev. F. D. Shandorf; Bethel, the Rev. C. M. Smith; First Immanuel, the Rev. H. W. Harshman; Humboldt Park, the Rev. H. W. George; Mayfair, the Rev. Armand Guerrero; Portage Park, the Rev. J. E. Lantz and Second Methodist of Irving Park, the Rev. E. J. Westerberg.

At the Thanksgiving morning service Thursday, both the senior and junior choirs of the First Methodist church of Irving Park will participate. The Rev. Mr. Minion will be the speaker.

OCTOBER SETS BUILDING MARK FOR 12 MONTHS

Latest reports on new building in Chicago show that October values were the highest in 12 months. A substantial gain was made despite the fact that September had $3,600,000 of war building as against only $500,000 in October. Last month's total was $4,466,893, as compared with September's $2,646,163. Last year the October total was $1,612,293.

Suburban towns show little change compared with last year, but higher than September. Figures for October, 1944, show $3,336,821 as compared with $1,474,000 for September, 1944. Last year's October figures were $3,663,067.

Northwest Side SPARS Join Mates the Nation Over in Anniversary Celebration

SPARS from the northwest side will join their more than 10,000 mates all over the country in a celebration of the second anniversary of the women's reserve of the United States Coast Guard Thursday. Among the celebrating SPARS will be Mary J. Bogacz, storekeeper 2d class, who is attached to the pay and disbursing office of the Coast Guard at St. Louis, Mo. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bogacz, 3303 N. Drake av.

Lt. (j. g.) Mariette M. Murphy, senior SPAR officer and head duty officer at the Coast Guard base in Charleston, S. C., resided in Franklin Park before entering the Coast Guard. From 1936 to 1943, she was head of the English department of Leyden Township High school. Now her duties include receiving messages regarding ship movements in Charleston, and relaying the information by way of a public address system to Coast Guard skippers at the base dock.

SPARS do the equivalent of 76 civilian jobs and hold 26 different ratings. Most are yeomen and storekeepers, busy at desks, but hundreds work as pharmacist's mates, motion picture operators, radio technicians, parachute riggers. Evelyn Rapps, radioman 3d class, formerly of 1706 N. Kedzie av., is a radio operator at Coast Guard 6th naval district headquarters in Charleston, S. C.

[Coast Guard Photos.]

An upswing of enlistments since early summer has brought the Coast Guard women's reserve near its authorized strength of 11,000. Applications will be received, and qualified women will be sworn in as openings occur. Many will do such jobs as that handled by Carol M. White, yeoman 3d class, attached to the merchant marine hearing unit. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos J. White, 3114 Franklin blvd.

JITTERBUGGING IS A DEAD DOG! (IT SAYS HERE)

Tuley High Dances to Tango, Samba.

Jitterbugging is out! It's passe with the high school crowd. To be really smooth and in the know, Jane and Joe must dance the rumba, the tango, and the samba.

How to do it? Tuley High school students are finding out. On Wednesday, a group of boys and girls working under the direction of Miss Berneice Crimmins of the board of education social center bureau will present an assembly program for the entire student body. The basic steps of the waltz and fox trot, as well as the more intricate routines of the rumba, tango, and samba will be demonstrated.

To Teach Dance Etiquet.

The students will have an opportunity to observe proper ballroom etiquet, how to ask a girl to dance, how to introduce your partner to a friend, and what to wear to a dance.

All Tuley students may learn these dances at the classes conducted by the social center bureau each Friday at Tuley. The waltz and fox trot will be taught in the beginners' class from 7 to 7:45 p. m., and the rumba, tango, and samba in the more advanced class from 7:45 to 8:30 p. m.

Many to Take Part.

The following Tuley students will take part in the dance assembly program: Vivian Amundsen, Marilyn Cohn, Rita Hitzman, Virginia Janiak, Loretta Kaczor, Toni Karsmbines, Ruth Knitter, LaVerne Kubitz, Phyllis Light, Alice Pajak, Rae Picharsky, Dorothy Piha, Lorraine Nelson, Audre Olson, Amelia Sobezak, Dorothy Topper, Lorraine Topper, Elean Trollo, Joan Truschke, Joyce Turner, Irene Wargaski, Ethel Weiner.

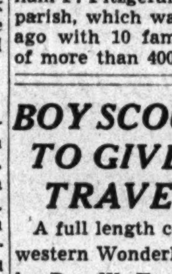
ALL SAINTS PARISH AUTUMN PARTY WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

Queen of All Saints church, 6229 Keene av., will hold its annual fall party Saturday evening at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The Rev. Francis J. Dolan, pastor, will greet parishioners and friends of the church. Proceeds of the party will be placed in the church building fund. E. Thomas McBreen, Lincolnwood, is general chairman of the party, Mrs. Edward Augustin, 5816 Kilbourn av., is general chairlady, and William F. Fitzgerald is secretary. The parish, which was founded 12 years ago with 10 families, now consists of more than 400 families.



The Rev. Francis J. Dolan.

BOY SCOUT TROOP TO GIVE BENEFIT TRAVEL MOVIES

A full length color movie, "Southwestern Wonderland," will be given by Ray W. Eggerstedt at 8 p. m. Friday in St. Mary's Episcopal church, Park Ridge.

In the movie Eggerstedt takes his audience to Bryce and Zion National parks in Utah, and the Grand Canyon National park in Arizona.

Eggerstedt's appearance will be sponsored by Boy Scout troop 11. Proceeds will be used to purchase new equipment.

Swedish Film Scheduled for Tuesday at N. Park

The motion picture, "Swedish Interlude," will be presented by Russell Wright Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the auditorium at North Park college, Foster and Kedzie avs. This film was the last documentary picture to be brought out of Scandinavia. It portrays the culture, land, and adjustments to World War II. of the Swedish people.

WOUNDED G. I. WINS 2 AWARDS WHEN HE WON'T LEAVE BATTLE

The bronze star and the Purple Heart have been awarded Pvt. Louis F. Capuzi, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Capuzi, of 710 N. Rockwell st., for heroism during an enemy bombing attack on Sept. 22 in France. A citation, received recently by his parents, revealed that Pvt. Capuzi, with an armored unit medical detachment, aided in caring for other wounded men despite his own leg wounds during the bombing of a medical convoy. The citation also reported that the private refused evacuation because of the shortage of medical men. He entered service in October, 1943, and went overseas last June.

Louis Capuzi.

Mrs. Seederberg to Get Prisoner Son's Medals

Presentation of the silver star and distinguished unit badge will be made to Mrs. Ray S. Seederberg, 5505 Forest Glen av., at 9 p. m. Wednesday in Trowel Legion post headquarters, 4731 N. Western av. An army air corps officer will present the awards to Mrs. Seederberg for her son, Lt. Robert S. Seederberg, who is a prisoner of war in Germany.

10,000 HELPERS READY TO OPEN WARBOND DRIVE

Cook County Goal Is 836 Million.

With the 6th war loan drive scheduled to start tomorrow, residents of the northwest side were ready to do their part in selling the national quota of 14 billion dollars in selling the national quota of 14 billion dollars in war bonds and stamps. War bond wardens of OCD division 5, numbering approximately 10,000, will participate in a house to house canvass, Roy I. Levinson, division director, said.

At Steinmetz High school, 3030 N. Mobile av., students are striving to sell $125,000 in bonds and stamps. This amount has been marked for the purchase of a hospital plane. Matthew Fitzgerald, school principal, said the drive will open simultaneously with the 6th war loan drive, but will continue until June, 1945.

Merchants Asked to Help.

Most of the sales will be made among students, but community merchants also are urged to aid in the drive by making purchases at school. Stimulating interest in the campaign were visits last week from Marjorie Riordan, movie starlet, and Pat Rush of the treasury department, who spoke before student assemblies. Guiding the drive at Steinmetz is Miss M. Lois Bergh, war coördinator of the school.

In Chicago and Cook county an estimated army of more than 200,000 volunteer salesmen will see that every citizen is given an opportunity to purchase bonds. The quota for Chicago and Cook county is $836,160,000. Of this the individual bond quota is $235,596,000, with $106,666,000 marked for "E" bonds. The quota for corporations is $600,564,000.

Quota Is 7 Million.

The quota for division 5, of which Charles F. Scully is chief and Roy I. Levinson director, is 7 million dollars. To be contacted during the drive are 268,000 families scattered thruout 4,319 blocks. Each of the 21 communities comprising division 5 will be given individual quotas.

Northwest side communities, and the chairmen named for each, are:

Albany-North Park, Leo R. Cohen, 3603 Lawrence av.

Northwesttown and Humboldt park, A. C. Lauterbach, 758 Ogden av.

Belmont-Cragin and Hanson Park, Bernard C. Fromm, 4337 Parker av.

D. F. C. AWARDED TO TEN FIGHTERS FROM N. W. SIDE

Cite 5 at A. A. F. Bases in England.

Ten men from the northwest side were honored recently on various fighting fronts with the distinguished flying cross. Five of the men are stationed at English bases, two in Italy, two in India, and one in the Central Pacific.

Sgt. Joseph J. Zarecki, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jarecki, 849 N. Wood st., was awarded the D. F. C. at an 8th air force bomber station in England for extraordinary achievement in aerial combat. He has participated in 31 daylight bombing assaults against the Nazi war machine. He also wears the air medal with three oak leaf clusters.

Capt. O'Hare. Lt. Lings. Sgt. Shal.

Sgt. Shal Earns D. F. C.

Participation in heavy bombing attacks on German military and industrial targets won the D. F. C. for Sgt. Edward A. Shal, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Shal, Elmwood Park. Sgt. Shal's bomber group has been cited by the President for its bombing of the Muhlembau aircraft assembly works at Brunswick, Germany. Sgt. Shal also holds the air medal with three oak leaf clusters.

Lt. Fred A. Hendricks, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Hendricks, 2841 N. Albany av., won the D. F. C. for extraordinary achievement and superior airmanship during many 8th air force attacks on Germany and German occupied Europe. Lt. Hendricks served with the R. C. A. F. and was transferred to the A. A. F. in May, 1942. He is the holder of an air medal with three oak leaf clusters.

B-24 Navigator Honored.

Navigator on a Liberator, Lt. George P. Lings, 4831 Byron st., has been awarded the D. F. C. for his 30 missions over Germany and enemy occupied Europe, including high altitude precision attacks on Berlin, Hamburg, Munich, Saarbrucken, and Merseburg. He also wears the air medal and three oak leaf clusters.

For extraordinary achievement during bombing attacks on Nazi war plants and military targets, Sgt. Donald W. Meikle, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Meikle, 5042 Irving Park rd., has been awarded the D. F. C. He has flown in attacks on Berlin, Zeitz, Merseburg, and Magdeburg. He has helped drop supplies to Free French forces in southern France and was in action over Normandy on D-day. He also holds the air medal with three oak leaf clusters.

Cite Vet of 50 Missions.

A veteran of 50 missions, Lt. Walter S. Rogal, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rogal, 1224 Augusta blvd., was awarded the D. F. C. for his part in raids over Germany, France, Austria, Hungary, Romania, and Italy. He also has the air medal and three oak leaf clusters.

Based with the 15th air force in Italy, Sgt. Walter S. Iwanski, son of Mrs. Catherine Iwanski, 2739 N. Avers av., has been awarded the D. F. C. for his part in raids against German targets, including a production center in Linz, Austria. He is an engineer-gunner.

Honor Two in India.

From India comes the announcement of the winning of the distinguished flying cross by two northwest side men. Lt. Robert F. Brown, 1639 Oakley blvd., received the award for more than 300 operational hours on Assam-China air routes. Pvt. Joseph T. Wala, 1532 N. Talman av., was honored for completing the same number of hours of operational flight.

In the Central Pacific Capt. John M. O'Hare Jr., 24, pilot of a P-47, won the D. F. C. for his work as flight leader in the Barflies fighter squadron. A veteran of aerial action over the Marianas Islands, Capt. O'Hare also holds the air medal with oak leaf cluster. His father resides at 5748 N. Kerbs av.

North Shore Medical Society Unit Will Meet

The North Shore Women's auxiliary to the Chicago Medical society will hold a meeting and luncheon at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the home of Mrs. L. E. Day, 6142 Kirkwood av. Mrs. Henry Cambridge, Cook county hygeia chairman, will speak. Mrs. V. R. Van Stane, 6528 Lakewood av., is president of the group.

Artist's Note on Jungle Artistry

Pvt. Nathan Roman, stationed on New Britain did this pencil sketch of the tangled roots of a huge jungle tree. The Chicago artist formerly concentrated on portrait and character studies, but his sketch book of "notes" sent home from overseas shows his interest has changed, temporarily at least, to drawing jungle growth and vegetation. The tangled confusion of roots might be a subconscious reflection of world affairs today.

YOUNG ARTIST SWAPS BRUSH FOR WAR GEAR

Nathan Roman has gone to war. Scholarship student at the Art institute for 10 years, the 20 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Roman, 1214 N. Hoyne av., has exchanged his palette and paints for combat equipment.

Pvt. Nathan Roman.

As an infantry private in a jungle fighting division stationed on New Britain, Nathan has little time to pursue his art. To help satisfy his craving he often takes "notes"—hasty sketches in pencil or pen and ink. Several notebooks of them have been sent home for safekeeping until he is able to paint again.

Awarded Scholarship at 10.

Pvt. Roman began drawing at the age of 10. His child's sketches showed such promise that he was awarded a Junior league scholarship that was to be continued until he was called for military service. He was 17 and a student at Tuley High school when he was awarded second place in nation-wide competition sponsored by Scholastic, national high school weekly.

At 18 he was invited to contribute to the 21st International Exhibit of Water Colors at the Art institute. According to Lloyd Cowan, registrar, this is an honor seldom accorded a student. "However," he said, "Nathan's work is adult in quality and he is unusually modest, so we felt the honor would do him no harm."

Show Painting in Capital.

In 1943 one of Nathan's paintings hung at the 47th annual exhibition by artists in Chicago and vicinity. One was selected by the judges to be shown at the Illinois State museum at Springfield.

Pvt. Roman's last work, titled "Uprising," was painted while he was stationed in Hawaii.

Greetings

Over 300 years ago, American Indians and the Pilgrims, in a joint celebration of feasting and fellowship, founded our tradition of THANKSGIVING DAY. The Red Man and his White Brother, each in his own way, together expressed their Gratitude to the ONE GREAT SPIRIT . . . the Giver of all good gifts.

As this THANKSGIVING SEASON approaches, how much more cause have we Americans to be deeply and devoutly grateful. Our country's foes are faltering . . . our granaries and storehouses are bursting with bumper crops . . . our ships are hurrying overseas with food and goods from our superabundance to cheer the oppressed and desolate.

How richly has our land been blessed! How great before us lies the opportunity to assist our brothers abroad! How better can we show our Thankfulness to Almighty God than by unselfish service to the poor and needy nations!

Your tolerance and considerate patience with our prevailing service is one of many reasons at this Thanksgiving Season for us to be very thankful.

Furthermore, we feel very grateful in knowing that when the conflict ends, our department heads and most of all our employees in our Country's Service will return to us, which again will make possible our past high-grade service.

Gratefully Yours

Don't Let OPPORTUNITY Pass You By... Start Your POST-WAR FUTURE Today!

Read this message carefully..because it means opportunity. It may mean a profitable lifetime career for you. But you must act at once if this opportunity is not to be wasted.

After the war, aviation will be one of the major industries in the Chicago area. Airlines, aircargo carriers, maintenance and operations shops, and aircraft plants will have good jobs for workers who are properly trained. Prepare for your career in aviation NOW by working in the Chicago plant of Douglas Aircraft Company. No "cutbacks" or "layoffs" in sight here. Douglas employes will work at full capacity building vitally needed military transport planes until Japan is defeated. Then they will build planes for the airlines on orders already booked this far ahead.

You can get expert training here in aircraft skills that could well qualify you for profitable employment building peacetime airplanes or in the huge maintenance and operations plants which the airlines and aircargo enterprises will set up all over the country after the war. And you can be trained in working with the lighter metals such as aluminum and magnesium which will be used in the manufacture of so many postwar consumer goods.

Meanwhile you will be well paid for enjoyable work. Experienced or inexperienced . . . we train you so that you are bound to make good in fabrication, shop, assembly and installation work . . . what we term "beating on the airplanes." As interesting work as you'll ever find.

If you want to serve your country, learn a new business, make good money and really enjoy your job, don't delay. If not already engaged in essential industry, come to

SPECIAL SHOWS TO BOOST 6TH WAR LOAN DRIVE

Bob Hope to Be Guest of Quiz Kids.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Special broadcasts featuring celebrities of the world of entertainment who will be boosting the sixth war loan drive will highlight radio schedules this week. W-G-N-Mutual will cancel its Steel Horizons show at 8 tonight to make way for a special war bond show, featuring Gabriel Heatter as master of ceremonies; Sgt. Joe Louis, Walter Hampden, who will read Norman Corwin's "We Hold These Truths," Actress Jane Cowl, and John Baker, Metropolitan Opera tenor, and Frederick Dvonch's orchestra.

Bob Hope will be a guest on the Quiz Kids war bond show at 6:30 tonight over WENR.

Solute Fighting Men.

A tribute to fighting men overseas and their families at home will be presented over WBBM-CBS at 8:30 tonight under the title "American Pilgrimage." The program will feature pickups and interviews from five homes across the country, families of men in the army ground and air forces, navy, marines, and merchant marines. William Robson is in charge of this program.

As its part in opening the war loan drive WMAQ-NBC will present a half hour drama titled "Now Let's Talk Turkey to Japan" by Robert E. Sherwood. This show will be aired at 7:30 tonight. The Blue network contribution will be aired over WLS at 7 tonight. It's a play by Ben Hecht titled "Miracle on the Pullman."

Top Shows from Chicago.

Numerous top radio shows will be broadcast from the drill hall of Navy pier as a feature of the Pacific theater navy exhibit, a phase of the war loan drive. This navy lineup includes: 11 tonight; We the People, CBS; 7 p. m. tomorrow, Vox Pop, WBBM; 9:00 p. m., Contented hour, WMAQ; 9 p. m. Tuesday, Bob Hope, WMAQ; 9 p. m. Wednesday, Kay Kyser's Kollege of Musical Knowledge, WMAQ; 6:30 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. Thanksgiving day, Bob Burns on NBC, rebroadcast over WBBM at 6:30 p. m., Monday, Nov. 27.

Kate Smith Coming.

Kate Smith will bring her show to Chicago for airing at Navy pier at 6 p. m. next Sunday over WBBM. At 7:30 p. m. Monday, Nov. 27, Blind Date, WLS, and 8:30 p. m. The Human Adventure W-G-N; 8:30 p. m. Tuesday, Nov. 28, Fibber McGee and Molly, WMAQ.

Major Bowes, First Line, Truth or Consequences, and the Great Gildersleeve are other shows to be aired from Navy pier next week.

Admission to these shows will be by bond purchase only. The bonds must be bought at the war bond booths in 11 State street department stores, a treasury department spokesman announced.

Jitterbugging Passe! It's Rumba Now

Northwest side women are continuing their house-to-house drive for the Community and War fund. Campaign effort is now being concentrated on raising the last 15 per cent of the goal of $12,980,000, according to Mrs. George E. Olson, 4333 N. Kedvale av., regional chairman of the Fund's women's division.

The women's division, Mrs. Olson stated, has raised $408,610 or 68 per cent of its quota of $600,000. She disclosed that the clubs and organizations group has brought in $19,560; the special gifts committee has reported $259,080, and the residential solicitation so far has been responsible for $129,969.

District Nears Quota.

Mrs. Olson said that the section which includes the Avondale, Greater Logan square, Wrightwood, Milwaukee-Armitage-Wilson, Humboldt park, and Northwest town districts, under chairmanship of Miss Adele Lagodzinski, 2736 N. Troy av., has reported the highest percentage of solicitations, with $6,580 or 65 per cent of quota already raised.

Mrs. Samuel Temple, 2017 N. Kedvale av., chairman of the Wrightwood district, reported contributions of $2,068. Three leading captains in the district are Mrs. Ed Gordon, 1737 N. Humboldt blvd., $650; Mrs. Jack Klein, 2003 N. Kedzie av., $350, and Mrs. Joseph Goldstein, 2257 N. Kedvale av., $300.

For the section which includes the North park, Albany park, Portage park, and Irving park districts, under chairmanship of Mrs. E. J. Kuntzman, 5312 Belmont av., contributions amounting to $4,399 have been reported.

Area Continues Lead.

The Northwest town section continued to lead in the regional city division campaign, with $14,356 or 42 per cent of quota, R. E. Emanuel, 1279 Milwaukee av., chairman of the northwest side, said.

The Community and War fund, which has headquarters at 111 W. Washington st., represents the National War fund thruout Cook, Lake, and Du Page counties, raising money for the U. S. O., U. S. O. camp shows, War Prisoners' aid, United Seamen's service, American Field service, and 17 allied relief and refugee rescue agencies.

In Chicago, funds are also collected for the 188 health and welfare agencies of the Community fund, and for the 11 overseas rescue and relief programs of the Jewish Welfare fund. Money subscribed in the suburbs goes only to the war related agencies, and to suburban chests and charities.

CHURCHES JOIN COMMON MOVE TO GIVE THANKS

39 Groups to Hold Six Services.

Congregations of 39 southwest side churches will unite in six neighborhood Thanksgiving services this week, carrying out the tradition established by the Pilgrims for community worship and giving thanks. The services—two in Englewood and one each in Normal-Auburn Park, Ogden Hill, Chicago Lawn and Gage Park-Garfield blvd. communities—are under auspices of the Southtown church-Y. M. C. A. program for the 17th year. The Rev. W. Greer McCrory, pastor of Garfield Boulevard United Presbyterian church and president of the Southtown Ministers' association, is in charge. Each service will include the reading of the President's Thanksgiving proclamation.

The Rev. James H. Bryars, pastor of Englewood United Presbyterian church, will speak at the first Englewood service at 8 p. m. Wednesday at Englewood Presbyterian church, 6400 Yale av. The Rev. Horace A. Larsen, pastor, is in charge. Coöperating churches include Covenant Baptist, Englewood Baptist, Englewood Christian, Englewood First Methodist, North Congregational, Reformed Presbyterian, and the First Nazarene church.

Second Group Meets Thursday.

Another group of Englewood congregations will have its community gathering at 9 a. m. Thanksgiving at the Salem Evangelical church, 6820 Emerald av., with the Rev. Hermann E. Koenig, pastor, in charge. Speakers will include the Rev. William T. Jones, pastor of Emerald Avenue Presbyterian church, and Leon Thomson, program secretary of the Englewood Y. M. C. A. coöperation program.

Participating churches include Christ Methodist, Englewood Evangelical, Normal Park Methodist, Chandler Methodist, Grace Lutheran, People's Liberal, and the Englewood Salvation army.

Chicago Lawn Service.

The Chicago Lawn neighborhood service will be held at 8 p. m. Thanksgiving eve at the Chicago Lawn Presbyterian church, 62d st. and St. Louis av., with the Rev. Rolland C. Stone, pastor, in charge. The Rev. Karl Meyer, pastor of Grace Evangelical church, will speak. Congregations uniting for the service will be Thomas Memorial Congregational, Chicago Lawn Methodist, Elsdon Methodist, Clearing Methodist, and Marquette Park Presbyterian.

Also on Wednesday evening will be the Gage Park-Garfield blvd. community meeting at the Garfield Boulevard United Presbyterian church, 55th and Throop sts. The Rev. Earle W. Locke, pastor of the Julia Gay Methodist church, chairman of the service, also will be the speaker. Churches participating include Garfield Boulevard Methodist, Green Street Congregational, and Bethlehem Presbyterian.

List Other Services.

The two other community Thanksgiving programs will be held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday. The Normal-Auburn Park service will be at Normal Park Baptist church, 70th st. and Stewart av., and the Ogden Hill service at Ogden Park Methodist church, 68th st. and Loomis av.

The Rev. Ivan J. Obenshain of Auburn Park Methodist church will speak at the Normal-Auburn Park service, which is under direction of the Rev. James C. O'Flaherty, pastor of the host church. Coöperating are the Bishop Cheney Memorial church and the Normal Park Presbyterian church.

Speaker at the Ogden Hill service is the Rev. Stewart L. Rodgers, pastor of the Ashland Church of Christ. The Rev. William O. McGill Jr., pastor of the Marlboro Presbyterian church, is chairman, and other churches participating include the Drexel Park Presbyterian and the Thoburn Methodist.

Ogden Hill OCD Sponsors Canteen for Bobby Socks

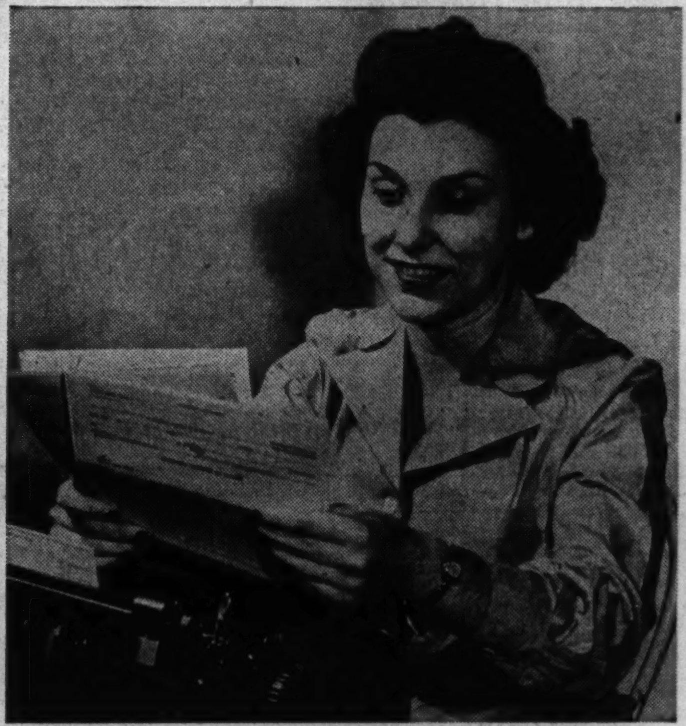
S. W. Siders Among 10,000 Marking Second Anniversary of SPARS

SPAR Mary G. McLeroy, 6753 Justine st., will join 10,000 mates stationed thruout the country in the celebration of the second anniversary of the women's reserve of the Coast Guard on Thanksgiving. She is at the controls of the radio direction finder at a post in Cape May, N. J. She is a radioman 2d class and is filling a job which formerly kept a man from active sea duty. Altho its authorized strength of 11,000 enlistments is nearly reached, the SPARS are enlisting women between 20 and 36 years.

Seaman Virginia Alice Gade, 5719 S. Albany av., meets another Chicagoan while serving as dispatcher of Coast Guard transportation at Norfolk, Va. Coast Guardsman William O. Neisch is the driver. Like all members of the Coast Guard her motto is "Semper Paratus—Always Ready" from which the SPARS get their name. Early in 1945 many SPARS who have completed a year's service will be sent overseas.



Now working as a pharmacist's mate 3d class at the Marine hospital, New York, N. Y., is Margery Pulliam, 5833 S. Trumbull av. She enlisted last December. Hers is one of the 26 different ratings held by SPARS. They do the equivalent of 76 civilian jobs.

[Coast Guard Photos.]

CHICAGO LAWN 1ST METHODIST READY TO BUILD

Start Work in March at Old Site.

Next year a new church building will rise from the ashes of the old First Methodist of Chicago Lawn, 63d pl. and St. Louis av., which was destroyed by fire last Thanksgiving morning. In less than a year members have raised $80,000 to construct and equip their new home.

Of Gothic architecture, the church will include basement rooms for Sunday school classes, a parish hall housing other Sunday school departments and classrooms, and a social hall seating about 300 persons.

Sanctuary to Seat 400.

Seating capacity of the sanctuary will be 400. The narthex and church parlor will be arranged to be opened into the sanctuary to provide room for 170 more persons.

Building of the new church will begin about March 15. Priorities have been granted for the sanctuary and enough of the parish hall to provide for the church parlor and the rooms above and below it. Construction of this portion will cost approximately $60,000.

Built First Church in 1895.

First meetings of the church were held in the old Grand Trunk railway station at Chicago Lawn in the fall of 1883. The Rev. Uriah Eberhart, who came to Chicago from Iowa, was the founder. Building of the first church began in 1890 and was completed in 1895 during the pastorate of the late Rev. Claude S. Moore. Additions were built during the pastorates of the Reverends John O. Crawford and Samuel H. Wirsching.

Under the Rev. Stockton M. Swaney, present pastor, the church property was freed of debt and newly painted and decorated in May, 1943. The event was celebrated with a mortgage burning ceremony, shortly after which the fire occurred.

Will Buy Pipe Organ.

Within a few months members working under the direction of Dr. Charles Wentworth of the department of home missions of the Methodist church had raised $63,000. Funds have been raised by entertainments, sales, and by direct donations. Church groups active in the campaign are the Boy Scout troop, cub pack, Girl Scouts, Chicago Lawn Red Cross chapter, Woman's Society of Christian Service, Beta Phi class, Wesley Weds class, the choirs, and Sunday school. The adult choir has adopted as its project the purchase of a new pipe organ.

Members of the fund committee are C. T. Richardson, C. M. Seybold, Dale Keneipp, Joseph W. Cameron, Truman E. Knibbs, Mrs. Henry Reinsch, and Mrs. Keith Swartz.

9 MODEL PLANE FANS SOAR OFF TO NEW HONORS

Nine young southwest side model plane builders have been awarded ribbons as winners of the annual model airplane contest of the Chicago Lawn library.

Campbell av.; Kenneth Kornbeck, 5724 S. Troy st.; Norman Halstead, 3543 W. 61st pl.; Marshall Balke, 4312 W. 62d pl., and Joseph Janulis, 6539 S. California av.

Judges were Wayne Waller, traffic representative of the United Air Lines, and Capt. Richard L. Barner, pilot for American Airlines.

FIGHTS BLAZING PLANE AND WINS SOLDIER'S MEDAL

For fighting a blaze which ignited several planes at an army air forces depot in Italy amid exploding bullets, gasoline tanks, and flares, Pvt. Raymond Caffrey, 7406 S. May st., was awarded the soldier's medal.

The fire started when a British Ventura aircraft broke into flames. Its depth charges exploded, spraying burning fragments and debris over the area. Caffrey and other firemen fought the blaze nearly four hours until it was extinguished.

He is a graduate of Parker High school and has served in Africa, Sicily, and Italy. He has been awarded the defense, good conduct, and middle eastern service ribbons with one bronze star for participation in the African campaign. He is also a graduate of an army air forces fire fighting and rescue crew school. His brother, William, is with the signal corps in Corsica.

40,000 TO COMB S. W. AREAS FOR 6TH WAR LOAN

Canvass the District House by House.

Forty thousand southwest side volunteer workers will take part in the 6th war loan campaign, which begins tomorrow. The Cook county quota has been set at $836,160,000.

In the Auburn-Gresham-Brainerd communities a rally attended by 800 workers and sponsored by local business men was held last week in Calumet High school. Harry A. Fisher, vice president of the Mutual National bank, spoke.

Plan House Canvass.

Local war finance committees in 64 Chicago communities will direct the bond solicitation, aided by a house to house campaign under the direction of OCD commanders. Sales will be made thru banks, trade unions, pay roll savings plans, retail stores, national groups, women's clubs and organizations, and employes of the city, county, state, and federal government.

Tickets to the navy's 6th war loan exhibit, which may be viewed at Navy pier until Dec. 3, will be given every 6th war loan bond purchaser by the house to house canvassers, pay roll savings minute men, and booth sales persons.

Will Chart Progress.

Progress of the drive in each block will be reflected thru red, white, and blue thermometers placed on the block bulletin boards. One thermometer will register the percentage of family coverage, the other the percentage of dollar quotas attained.

Southwest side communities and their chairmen are:

HIS GUNS ROLL NAZI PLANE INTO A BALL OF FIRE

Staff Sgt. Richard K. Thormahlen, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Thormahlen, 6604 Blackstone av., tail gunner of a Flying Fortress, recently turned a Focke-Wulf 190 into a ball of fire during an air battle at Ruhland, Germany.

He told this story of the battle: "I opened fire with my tail guns at 900 yards when two Focke-Wulfs came in. One peeled off at 400 yards while the other continued on in, passing under our low squadron. I stopped firing when the low squadron plane obscured by view, but opened up again when the enemy appeared from under the squadron. Just as the enemy passed underneath, red and yellow flames broke out from the cowling and base of his right wing. Flames spread all along the fuselage and he went into a shallow dive into clouds, 6,000 feet below."

Sgt. Thormahlen attended Hyde Park High school. He is a member of an 8th air force squadron, cited by the President for the England-Africa shuttle bombing of the Messerschmitt plants at Regensburg, Germany.

KELLY PUTS WAR FIRST IN PLANS FOR CONGRESS

He's Freshman Despite Previous Service.

Edward A. Kelly, congressman-elect from the 3d district, said last week his plans for the next two years come under two headings.

First, he said, is "anything and everything which might tend to help us win the war quicker."

The other concerns the post-war period and what must be done then, and what should be done to prepare for that time.

Kelly served for 12 years as the representative of the district, but was beaten for reëlection in 1942. Consequently, he explained, when he returns to Washington in January he will have no seniority rights. Kelly, a Democrat, defeated Rep. Fred E. Busby [Rep.].

He's Freshman Again.

"I'll have to start all over again in working my way up on committee assignments and towards chairmanships," the congressman-elect said. "I'll be a freshman once more. But in view of my previous service I believe I may be able to get better assignments than if I had not been a member of congress previously."

Kelly said he hopes to be put on the appropriations committee. He said he is confident he can get back on the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, on which he previously served, if he does not get on the appropriations committee.

At the time of his defeat he was chairman of two sub-committees of the commerce committee. He was also chairman of a select committee on oil and petroleum.

Puts Soldiers First.

"Regardless of committee assignments I'll be in there fighting for the welfare of the soldiers, during and after the war," he said.

"We must win the war first and anything we can do toward that end must come first, and must be done. Then, when time for reconversion comes, we must be ready to give any aid necessary to private industry."

Congressman-elect Kelly is the proud father of Bob Kelly, star half back of the Notre Dame football team. He went to New York for the Army-Notre Dame game which the Army won 59 to 0, and Kelly said he had not yet recovered from the shock. Bob, his father explained, had been injured in the Navy game, but his injury was kept secret and he was in the Army game only as a decoy.

Wins Motor Club Safety Award

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, presents a certificate for safety achievement to Charles Kapischke, 15, 3043 Throop st., of the Immaculate Conception school at a safety rally of 100 southwest side public and parochial schools. ECHOES OF WAR INFLUENCE S. W. SIDE PARK PLANS

Look to Health of Home Front Workers.

World War II. and its repercussions are major factors in the formation of fall and winter programs now in progress in 15 of the 17 southwest side parks.

The health and efficiency of home front workers will be stimulated with athletic activities. Social contacts and relaxation are encouraged with dances, dramatics, and other forms of social gatherings. Rationing is reflected by the many groups being formed for instruction in handicraft, the repair or reconditioning of household articles, and the altering or making of new clothes.

Variety at Davis Square.

Davis Square park activities for men and boys include gymnastics, basketball, volleyball, boxing, wrestling, tumbling, apparatus exercises, and weight lifting. The girls' gymnasium program includes volleyball, basketball, tap dancing, ballet and folk dancing, marching drills, and conditioning classes.

At Foster park there are craft classes, a quilting club, camera club, pinochle club, a leadership institute, and social gatherings for high school groups.

Program for All Ages.

Recreational projects at Fuller park include programs for southwest siders from 3 years upward. Women and girls' activities consist of calisthenics, tumbling, basketball-volleyball, and advanced tap and ballet dancing. The program for boys and men includes gymnastics and wrestling, badminton, and team competition. At fieldhouse dances table and floor games, craft classes, infant welfare work, and citizenship classes will be offered.

Marquette park will hold athletic tournaments, gymnastic programs, a play school for young children, dancing instruction, a chorus for women, and tennis. Among the organizations utilizing park facilities will be Boy Scouts, the civil air patrol, church groups, and the West Communities Y. M. C. A.

Girls' and women's activities at Sherman park include acrobatics, apparatus work, calisthenics, volleyball, and baton twirling.

Offer Rules of Sports.

The men's program at Cornell Square park includes instruction in the fundamentals and rules of sports, weight lifting, tournaments, and general gymnastics.

Drawing classes, artcraft, social dance instruction, and outdoor volleyball are scheduled at Brainerd park.

Games offered for boys and girls at Ada park include chess, checkers, dominoes, Chinese checkers, and carrom pool. Classes for boys include calisthenics, tumbling, drills, basketball, and wrestling. Craft classes for boys and girls also will be held. Gymnasium classes for girls are marching, calisthenics, square, folk, and tap dancing, singing, games, dramatics, volleyball, and basketball.

Forms of Dancing Offered.

Artcrafts for adults and children are scheduled at Ridge park as well as calisthenics and volleyball for businessmen, basketball, dramatics, dancing instruction, tap and ballet dancing, gymnastics, and badminton.

The Palmer park program for men and boys includes a touch football league, gymnastics, weight lifting, wrestling, and boxing. Activities to be carried on in the women's gymnasium will be junior dramatics, baton twirling, volleyball, ballroom dancing instruction, and gymnastics.

The fall program at the 102d Street fieldhouse will consist of junior dramatics, adult artcraft, woodworking, a rhythm band, junior artcraft, dramatics for high school groups, dancing instruction for youths and married persons, and junior dramatics.

Schedule Drama Classes.

Ogden park has scheduled junior and senior dramatic classes, beginner's and advanced public speaking classes, and artcraft and woodcraft classes. The womens and children's gymnasium activities include a rhythm band, gymnastics, tap, folk and ballet dancing, apparatus work, tumbling, marching and normalizing exercises.

Mark White Square park will conduct a volleyball league, women's reducing classes, handicraft classes, gymnastics, basketball competition, softball, baseball, and badminton.

Plan Tumbling and Games.

The gymnasium at Hamilton park will be a community center for soccer, apparatus work, tumbling, ballroom dancing, basketball competition, and volleyball.

At McKinley and Gage parks the men's program includes tumbling, calisthenics, boxing, track, a basketball league, volleyball, baseball, and conditioning exercises. The girls' schedule at McKinley includes tap and ballet dancing instruction, tennis, physical fitness, volleyball, instruction in making and operating puppet shows, and acrobatics.

MRS. LE ROY A. DEKE AND BONNIE SUE.

Corp. Le Roy A. Deke's Bonnie lies over the ocean and he is anxious to see her. She is Bonnie Sue, his 9 month old baby, and this Tribune V-mail picture, supplied as a service of the metropolitan department, will soon reach his 4th armored division post in France. Bonnie Sue probably will be an athletically inclined young lady, for her grandfather, George H. Johnson, was dean of umpires in the American association baseball league and his brother is Ernie Johnson, a scout for the Boston Red Sox. Don Johnson, Bonnie's cousin, is a second baseman with the Cubs.

Y NEXT-OF-KIN CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Newest group to be organized by the 111th Street Y. M. C. A. is the Next-of-Kin club which will meet at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Y.

According to Thomas F. Waller, chairman of the 111th Street Y board of directors and chairman of the club, the meetings serve as a clearing house for information received from prisoners of war.

Prisoners from this community held by the Japanese are R. G. Krass, who is confined to the camp at Moulmien, Burma, and John Kavalcik, 10513 Edbrooke av., a prisoner in the Philippines.

Men from this area held by the Nazis at camps in Germany or in occupied countries, are Lieutenants Albert Gumulauskas, John A. Luckey, Lawrence A. Groot, Alvin W. Long, Cornelius G. Rogers, and Edwin L. Feld; Flight Officer John J. Perino; Sergeants Robert T. Peterson, Joe Zukauskas, Jim Wiersema, Robert E. Johnson, Arthur W. Watt, James E. Smith, Joseph R. Markus, Alex P. Lugosi Jr., Frank F. De Luca, Roy D. Bucholz, and Bernard F. Geschke, and Privates Walter J. Kwoka, Le Roy A. Bauman, John Jansen, Frank Mundo, John A. Broccardo, Albert O. Goettler, Robert F. Schultz, John Pott, William Korodi, and Steven J. Bosniak.

SERVICE, SAFETY FOR OTHERS HIS CHIEF CONCERN

For two decades Jerry Spinka, 5841 S. St. Louis av., has dedicated his time, on and off the job, to the service and safety of fellow citizens. He recently was awarded the 20 year service bar of the American Red Cross, latest of a drawer full of awards, medals, and citations presented to him for voluntary service as a first aid and life saving instructor, first aid attendant at many public gatherings, member of the Red Cross mobile unit instruction program, community captain of emergency first aid, and first aid chairman of Gage Park community.

Jerry Spinka.

Service and safety is the basis of his job as a lineman for the Commonwealth Edison company. He is a member of a crew of "trouble shooters" whose responsibility is to restore disrupted electrical service.

Calls Work Not Dangerous.

Altho he works with high voltages Spinka does not consider his work dangerous, declaring "the accident rate for linemen is lower than for those of many occupations on the ground." He credits safety training and safety equipment such as rubber gloves, safety belts, straps, rubber blankets, and hoods. Use of such equipment is now compulsory but was considered "sissy stuff" by early linemen, according to Spinka.

Only about 10 per cent of the calls the crew answers result from trouble on company lines. Retrieving of stray cats with a yen to get up in the world is a common task. The men usually carry a bag to cope with such cats, for the rescuers usually are greeted with scratching and spitting.

Birds' Nests One Problem.

Birds often build nests on transformer platforms high above alleys. Linemen usually transfer them to another location, disturbing the tiny occupants as little as possible. Once Spinka and his partner found a squirrel's nest snuggled against a transformer. The offspring were only a few days old, so the men decided to leave them. A few weeks later they found the squirrel family had vacated.

Altho Spinka has worked as a lineman at many fires and accidents, he has never had an occasion to use the prone pressure method of artificial respiration. He is an expert in this method and has taught it to hundreds, including policemen, firemen, and Boy Scouts.

He was on duty twice a week at this summer's Grant park concerts with an ambulance and first aid tent. Spinka also has served as a judge and referee for first aid competitions conducted by the Boy Scouts.

Wife Active in Red Cross.

Born 43 years ago on the southwest side, Spinka attended Fulton school and Harrison High school. He is married and has a daughter, Dorothy, the wife of a soldier. Mrs. Spinka organized the Gage Park Red Cross production unit and is a past president of the Fulton P.-T. A.

Spinka was a member of the National Guard from 1930 to 1934 and is a first aid instructor and auxiliary policeman in the defense corps organized shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor by the Commonwealth Edison post of the American Legion to help protect the city's power supply.

Will Wed Veteran

MISS MARILYN M'GUIRE.

Miss Marilyn McGuire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McGuire, 7331 S. May st., will be married to Walter P. Mullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mullen, 7844 Throop st., at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in St. Sabina's church, 1210 W. 78th st. Miss McGuire is a graduate of St. Thomas the Apostle High school and the bridegroom attended Marquette university, Milwaukee, Wis. He was honorably discharged by the marine corps.

Crescendo Club.

The Crescendo Musical club will hold its November candlelight program at 4 p. m. today in the home of Mrs. Arthur Haigh, 9049 Hoyne av.

Kellogg PTA Will Give Playlet, Book Reviews

Book reviews and a playlet by PTA members and students of the Kellogg school will be on the program of the PTA at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the school, 92d and Leavitt sts. Mrs. R. N. Houseman, president of the association, will preside.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Special broadcasts featuring celebrities of the world of entertainment who will be boosting the sixth war loan drive will highlight radio schedules this week. W-G-N-Mutual will cancel its Steel Horizons show at 8 tonight to make way for a special war bond show, featuring Gabriel Heatter as master of ceremonies; Sgt. Joe Louis, Walter Hampden, who will read Norman Corwin's "We Hold These Truths," Actress Jane Cowl, and John Baker, Metropolitan Opera tenor, and Frederick Dvonch's orchestra.

Bob Hope will be a guest on the Quiz Kids war bond show at 6:30 tonight over WENR.

Solute Fighting Men.

A tribute to fighting men overseas and their families at home will be presented over WBBM-CBS at 8:30 tonight under the title "American Pilgrimage." The program will feature pickups and interviews from five homes across the country, families of men in the army ground and air forces, navy, marines, and merchant marines. William Robson is in charge of this program.

As its part in opening the war loan drive WMAQ-NBC will present a half hour drama titled "Now Let's Talk Turkey to Japan" by Robert E. Sherwood. This show will be aired at 7:30 tonight. The Blue network contribution will be aired over WLS at 7 tonight. It's a play by Ben Hecht titled "Miracle on the Pullman."

CITIZENS SHOW TO GIVE TALENT OF MORGAN PARK

Students to Broadcast Saturday on W-G-N.

Morgan Park High school, 1744 Pryor av., will be honored on the 148th Citizens of Tomorrow program sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to be heard on W-G-N at 10 a. m. Saturday.

The recording will be made at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday in the school auditorium following the presentation of the school and national colors by Donald Atkinson, William Harper, John Herriot, John Menees, Robert Rossen, and William Rushton, all members of the school's reserve officers' training corps. Three students who will lead cheers are Jayne Parker, Lorea De Vore, and Shirley Wheeler.

A Cappella Chorus to Sing.

Eston V. Tubbs, principal, will act as host during the show and will introduce Philip Maxwell, the master of ceremonies.

The a cappella chorus directed by Bernice Hartle will sing "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," by Noble Cain, and "Hymnus," by Fielitz-Harley. Alex Munro, 15 year old saxophonist, will play "Body and Soul," by Jerry Greene.

News items from Chicagoland high schools will be read by Ray Weber, 16 year old junior. Students who will take part in the quiz portion of the show will be Russell Fantucci, Edward Lenon, Edgar Swanson, Marcia Goodman, Gloria Hunter, and Delores Rada. If they correctly answer questions put to them each will win a $5 war savings stamp.

Name Honor Students.

Maxwell will add two names to the honor roll. They are Norman Boettcher, 17, Benton Harbor, Mich., and Marjorie Anne Nevin, also 17, a Morgan Park student. Miss Nevin is class vice president, sings with the a cappella chorus, and is editor in chief of the school newspaper.

Wayne Dickinson and Beryl Vaughan, radio actors, portray the rôles of Jimmy and Jerry. Harry Creighton will be the announcer and Jane Anderson the piano accompanist. Morrison Wood is in charge of production.

On Citizens' Show

To be heard on W-G-N's Citizens of Tomorrow broadcast at 10 a. m. Saturday are these three students at Morgan Park High school, where the program will be recorded Wednesday afternoon. They are, top to bottom, Ray Weber, Al Munro, and Margie Nevin.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, Nov. 20.

Cold frames should be ventilated on sunny days, especially when perennials and semi-hardy plants are stored in them. Too little fresh air may cause heating with subsequent rotting of the plants. There are a great number of gardeners who have the space to install a coldframe, and a hotbed too, if they only will realize how valuable the coldframe is and what fun may be had when conducting experiments. It is a miniature greenhouse and when its value is known the gardener always will have one.

Tuesday, Nov. 21.

Fill all depressions that are likely to hold water. Grub out all poison ivy plants now that the foliage has fallen. Pile and allow to dry out; then burn. Place a windbreak around rhododendrons before the ground freezes. Burlap frames will be sufficient protection, or corn stalks will suffice. A mulch of leaves will offer considerable ground protection.

Wednesday, Nov. 22.

The value of a compost heap is often mentioned in these notes because such a heap, properly made, provides much valuable humus for the garden and for pot plants. A 10 by 10 foot area is sufficient and if a fence can be erected around it so much the better.

The materials used in a compost are leaves, preferably from hard wood trees, strawy manure, especially cow manure, and waste garden matter. First, pile one layer about 10 inches thick and tamp it down firmly, sprinkle about five ounces of superphosphate over it, then wet it down. A little soil over the surface may be of value. Repeat with additional layers until the heap is about four feet high leaving the top concave to catch rain water. Water down during dry weather to hasten decomposition.

Thursday, Nov. 23.

Much work can be done during winter months in preparation for spring gardening. Seed flats may be constructed to have on hand when the first sowings should be made. Any firm box can be cut down to about three inches deep. A few holes should be bored in the bottom of each box or flat to allow for drainage. Lay in a supply of suitable soil for the seed flats; this soil may be half sand and compost or a well drained vegetable soil.

No fertilizer is necessary for the seed flat for the seedlings will be transplanted as soon as they are large enough to handle.

Friday, Nov. 24.

Be careful to keep all labels on outdoor plants firmly fixed in the ground or varieties may become mixed. The terrarium is one of the most interesting forms of gardening for a large number of persons, and especially for apartment house gardeners. It may consist of only a glass covered dish, a large bowl, or an elaborate glass garden.

The practices incident to the care are the same in all cases. When planting has been completed the soil should be moist thruout but not saturated and it should not be watered again until the soil is dry. In some cases, watering is not necessary for several months.

Saturday, Nov. 25.

There are many kinds of plants that may be used in the terrarium, such as tiny plants from woodlands, the African violet, small begonias, holly and other ferns, partridge berry, trailing arbutus, wintergreen, and many others.

A soil mixture consisting of half peat and sand is suitable for many kinds of plants, but if a layer of gravel is placed on the bottom it will provide drainage and thus avoid a perpetually saturated soil, which often is fatal. A mixture of about two parts garden loam, one part leaf mold, and one part sand is excellent for general use.

Boxes of different flowering begonias, such as the small flowered semperflorens types, President Carnot, argentea guttata, and others never fail to appeal. Begonias do not like too much water. Boxes of cacti are interesting the year 'round and with plenty of sunshine some will send out colorful flowers.

NUT AND SLACK FIRING METHOD IS FUEL SAVER

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

If you are burning soft coal in your home there is a simple method of hand firing which has been developed and tested at the University of Illinois.

This method is called the nut and slack firing method and it is being advocated by fuel merchants' associations, coal dealers, and furnace men. It is claimed the method will save as high as one-fifth of a home owner's fuel pile and also reduce smoke.

Glowing coals are kept at one side of the firepot and fresh fuel on the other side, with a cap of slack on top of the fresh fuel so that smoke from it will go sideways into the glowing coals instead of straight up and out the chimney. This arrangement also makes the fire easier to control.

Poker a Useful Tool.

Prof. Fellows of the university advises converting the furnace poker into a more useful tool. Take a hammer and straighten the present right angle bend at the end of the poker and then bend the last foot of the tool to an angle of about 30 degrees.

Then with this improved tool move live coals to one side of the firepot and poke into the cleared area to work fine ash thru the grate. Next place fresh nut coal into the cleared part of the firepot and cover it well with slack so the draft is deflected into the burning coal.

"Don't fire fresh coals on top of hot coals," advises Prof. Fellows. "If hot coals remain over all the grate, probe the thinnest section and if practicable wait until this has burned out before refiring.

Check Fire Early.

"If a flame does not start immediately after firing, use a few crumpled papers to start a blaze. Failure to establish a flame may cause an explosion.

Check as soon as the fire gets a good start. Don't wait until the house is thoroly warm or it will become overheated. Another common error is to fire too often. With the nut and slack system the fire will start from only a handful of glowing coals."

In a Second He must Choose BETWEEN Honor and Love

THE young and handsome officer of the Royal Navy was deeply loved by two sisters. He loved the beautiful, blue-eyed, laughing Marguerite, but, because of a foolish mistake, sent half-way round the world for the iron-willed, dominating, possessive Marianne. When she arrived, his surprise, disappointment and anger gave way to honor—and he lived the secret lie for years. Haunted, tortured, by the thought of living with a Wife By Mistake, still loving the girl he left behind, he fought against a fate that would have crushed a less stalwart soul. And what of the wife who didn't know? And the sweetheart across the seas? And how does this magnificent story end?

"Green Dolphin Street", winner of the $125,000 M-G-M Prize Novel Contest—the largest literary award ever offered—will be read and enjoyed by millions in the coming months and years, for it is a literary gem of the rarest brilliance, in a setting of such charm and beauty that every book lover will want to wear it in his memory forever. The saga of the sea in Clipper ship days, the story of the beautiful, half-white Chinese girl, the portrait of gallant Captain O'Hara, the quaint life on the Channel island, and finally the struggle for existence in a primitive land, all intertwined in the never-to-be-forgotten love story, make "Green Dolphin Street" a book you cannot afford to miss.

The regular price of "Green Dolphin Street" in the publisher's edition, is $3.00. But now you may obtain a copy absolutely FREE with membership in the Literary Guild Book Club as explained here.

THE Literary Guild NOW OFFERS TO NEW MEMBERS THIS GREAT NEW ROMANTIC BEST SELLER Free

Winner of the $125,000 Prize Novel Contest

Almost overnight, "Green Dolphin Street" by Elizabeth Goudge, reached the very top of national Best-Seller lists! "Another whirlwind has struck the literary horizon" said the Saturday Review of Literature. "Told with . . . rock bottom understanding of human nature" reported the New York Times. "A right romantic tale, set in strange places, not without violence, crowded with real people" said the New York Herald Tribune. No wonder "Green Dolphin Street" was declared winner of the $125,000 M-G-M Prize Novel Contest! No wonder tens of thousands of readers are eagerly paying $3.00 per copy for the publisher's edition! Now you can obtain a copy absolutely FREE by joining the Literary Guild Book Club.

LITERARY GUILD MEMBERSHIP COSTS NOTHING

Literary Guild membership is free—there are no dues or fees. Each month you will receive your copy of "Wings", the Guild's illustrated book-review magazine, which contains articles about the Literary Guild selection to be published the following month. From these articles you decide whether or not you care to receive the Guild book described. If not, you simply return the form supplied and no book will be sent to you that month. If, however, the Guild selection is one you don't want to miss, it will be sent to you on approval.

Save Up To 50% On New Books

Literary Guild books are selected by our Editorial Staff from proofs submitted by leading publishers long in advance of their publication date. Because the Literary Guild is the largest book club in the world, a huge special edition is printed at a tremendous saving in cost. This saving is passed on to members. The Literary Guild edition is manufactured at the same time as the publisher's edition, yet Guild members pay a flat price of only $2.00 for each Guild book accepted, instead of $2.50 to $4.00 for the same book sold at retail in the publisher's edition, to non-members! In addition, Guild members receive a $2.50 to $4.00 popular new book as a bonus for every four Guild books purchased! To be a "member in good standing" merely requires that you accept a minimum of only four Guild books a year out of the 12 or more new and important fiction and non-fiction Guild books submitted for your approval.

Send No Money—Mail Coupon NOW

The convenience, the enjoyment, and the saving of about 50% of your book money will, we hope, prompt you to become a member of the Literary Guild at once. As a special inducement for joining now instead of "later" you will be sent—FREE—a copy of "Green Dolphin Street" which is being sold currently in the publisher's edition at $3.00. As a new member you can now buy any of the following recent Guild selections for only $2.00 each. See coupon.

"Leave Her to Heaven", By Ben Ames Williams. (Publisher's Price, $2.50)
"The Razor's Edge", By W. Somerset Maugham. (Publisher's Price, $2.75)
"Anna and the King of Siam", By Margaret Landon. (Publisher's Price, $3.75)
"Earth and High Heaven", By Gwethalyn Graham. (Publisher's Price, $2.50)

All publishers are operating under restricted paper quotas, thereby limiting the number of new members the Guild can service. By joining now your membership can be accepted at once, and you will be guaranteed against any increase on Guild selections for a year. Mail coupon NOW.

By Claudia Cassidy.

Altho the Chicago Opera season ended last night, 20 Wacker dr. will be a busy place between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Ballet Theater takes the Civic Opera house for 14 performances starting Friday night, with a week of "Porgy and Bess" opening Dec. 4, and five weeks of Moss Hart's "Winged Victory" starting Dec. 12. Numerous concerts fill in the Sunday afternoons and there will be performances of Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel" the afternoons of Dec. 24 and 25, with Eunice Lamont as Gretel, Maria Matyas as Hansel, and Dorothee Manski as Rosina Daintymouth, the witch who cooks gingerbread brown in her own oven.

Nor is the little Civic theater next door left desolate. Taylor Holmes plans to stay at least one more week in "Sleep No More," and Eddie Dowling has interesting plans for what he hopes will be a repertory season starting Christmas night with "The Glass Menagerie," a play by Tennessee Williams in which Mr. Dowling appears with Laurette Taylor and Julie Haydon. Meanwhile more theater than music people are likely to attend Libby Holman's American concert debut, scheduled for the Civic the night of Dec. 3, when she sings early American blues and other songs to Josh White's guitar. Yes, the same Libby Holman who sang "Body and Soul" in that smouldering voice, standing statue still in that magenta gown, her hands like talons gripping the audience.

Chicago has been waiting a long time for "Winged Victory," the army air forces show staged to aid army charities. Moss Hart wrote and directed it at the suggestion of Gen. Henry H. Arnold, who sent him on a tour of American air bases to gather material, then let him choose his cast of 300 from 17,000 men in service. The big show ran six months on Broadway, then was whisked to Hollywood and filmed for later release. However, men in uniform don't quit for better offers, so the cast still holds Sgt. Edmond O'Brien of stage and screen, last in pictures with Deanna Durbin in "The Amazing Mrs. Halliday"; Sgt. George Reeves, last with Claudette Colbert in "So Proudly We Hail"; Sgt. Barry Nelson, of "A Guy Named Joe," and Corp. Don Taylor, of "The Human Comedy." Leading feminine roles are played by Phyllis Avery, Elisabeth Fraser, and Olive Deering, and the cast also holds 30 wives of soldier players, chosen by Mr. Hart whenever possible, so they can be with their husbands.

PHONE VOICE

Betty Lawford, the girl of the telephone conversation in "The Voice of the Turtle," at the Selwyn.

Sgt. David Rose, of "Holiday for Strings" and other fame, wrote the music, played by a 50 piece orchestra recruited with the help of Capt. Glenn Miller, now overseas, and directed by Sgt. Joe Bushkin, formerly with Tommy [Battling] Dorsey. When I saw the show last spring Sidney Baker, formerly first trumpet of the Chicago Symphony, was in the orchestra and no doubt still is. There is a chorus of 50 voices directed by Lt. Leonard De Paur, and the settings are by Sgt. Harry Horner, who designed Mr. Hart's "Lady in the Dark." "Winged Victory" twirls on five revolving stages, which is why opening night was delayed until Dec. 12. It takes time to get a show like that, ready to run like silk from the A. A. F.'s best spool.

"Porgy and Bess" is called a folk opera, but it tackles the grand opera scale of dynamics when it moves into the Civic Opera house, where a one week engagement can, with luck, pile up the grosses of a month's stay elsewhere. Alexander Smallens has remained faithful to George Gershwin's tale of Charleston's Catfish Row and is back as conductor, but William Franklin has replaced Todd Duncan as Porgy, now that Mr. Duncan has decided not to remain a one role man. Mr. Franklin will find the opera house stage familiar, as he has sung there several times with Negro opera companies. He was the Amonasro less than a year ago when the Chicago Negro Opera Guild staged "Aida" with La Julia Rhea in the title role and with Napoleon Reed of "Carmen Jones" as Rhadames.

Aside from Mr. Franklin, the cast of "Porgy and Bess" is little changed since its visit to the Studebaker two seasons ago. Etta Moten sings Bess, Avon Long is Sportin' Life, Edward Matthews the alternate Porgy. Georgette Harvey will be back, along with the Eva Jessye choir. Opening night, Dec. 4, has been taken over as a benefit by the National College of Education in Evanston.

If Eddie Dowling's ideas prosper, the Civic theater may have a happy 1945. The charming little theater has had more than its share of bad booking luck and all of us would be glad to see it get a break. "The

THE HIDDEN TOWN

By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT

(Copyright: 1944: By F. R. Bechdolt.)

INSTALMENT XIII.

SHE would have remained here all that night, for she was certain that he would stay in the neighborhood to hunt her down, and the light of the fire was growing brighter every moment. But the flames drove her out a few minutes later. The gulch took a sharp turn a little farther down. The draft below the curve set in toward this flank. The fire had already climbed it and topped the ridge. The first knowledge of the new danger reached her when she saw a line of red flames marching along the hillside straight toward her hiding place. She ran up the road before them, and after she had gone two hundred yards she reached the lower edge of the woods which surrounded Ursula's adobe house.

The fork of the canyon ascended steeply to this spot and the road edged off from the side hill into it. From here on to the amphitheater near its head, where the house stood in the little clearing, the ravine climbed by an easier grade, widening as it went. Tall digger pines and scattered live oaks with huge clumps of mistletoe hanging from their boughs grew thick on both sides of the road. The red light of the fire sifted among them, leaving streaks of pulsating radiance between deep shadows. Nell darted into a patch of gloom beneath the nearest tree and leaned against its shaggy trunk. The fight for breath eased off gradually, strength returned to her limbs, and for the first time since she had leaped from her car she was able to think coherently. Her mind went straight to Harvey Little then.

Perhaps the sheriff had caught Harvey and Beulah. She hoped he had. For it came to her that, if that was the case, Harvey would be in no immediate danger from Yardley, and it would be a simple matter for her to get in touch with him—if only she could reach Escondido.

That was it. Reach Escondido. She was thankful for the money which she had brought with her. She had followed Eddie's instructions early in the afternoon and driven to Queensburg. She had waited there for a half hour while the cashier of the bank had telephoned to verify her check, and she had concealed the roll of bills on her person before setting forth on this errand. That last was because she had a bad habit of mislaying her handbag. She hadn't a premonition of danger when she had done it.

She must reach Escondido. And Escondido, as nearly as she could judge, was nearly 30 miles away. That would have appalled her once, but after what she had been thru it didn't seem at all impossible to walk until she reached some ranch-house. The only thing she feared was running afoul of Eddie Morton.

The road lay under a red sky and every pine needle on it cast its own black shadow. She started on, keeping within the shelter of the trees, halting in every patch of darkness, darting across the bright spaces between them. She was nearing the upper end of the woods and the low ridges were drawing apart here, the light from the fire was growing stronger when she caught sight of Eddie. He was standing in the middle of the road, peering into the thicket of young pines in search of her. She saw the blackjack dangling from his wrist, and panic seized her again.

She was running into the depths of the grove without a thought of where she was going, intent only on getting as far as possible from him, when she saw another man less than 20 feet ahead of her. He must have heard her for he was turning around when she caught sight of him. She would have been lost then if it had not been for an enormous live oak, and while she stood there hardly daring to breathe, the stranger came into sight again. But his back was toward her as it had been before, and he was leaning forward, as a man does when he is listening for some one. A moment later Eddie appeared. He was walking fast, his legs were jerking like the legs of a marionette. And as she watched, he halted. The stranger dodged behind a pine and she caught a gleam of burnished metal. She wasn't sure and she did not wait to confirm her suspicion, but she thought that gleam came from the naked blade of a knife in his hand.

She stole away among the trees and a few moments later she was out in the open. A shaft of lamplight flowed from the open doorway of Ursula's house in pallid contrast to the fiery glow which bathed the narrow clearing and the adobe walls.

The topless old car was standing before the house. It was loaded high with mattress and bedding rolls and odds and ends of household possessions. Excepting for the car, there was no sign of life about the place. She hesitated for a moment before the threshold, she called:

"Is any one here?" There was no answer. She whipped a look over her shoulder. The clearing remained empty but Eddie might appear at any moment. She had only caught two glimpses of the other man and his back was toward her both times, but there was something about him — something catlike and furtive — and that knife had frightened her. She crossed the threshold with a sigh of relief.

A little glass handlamp was giving the room what light there was. The lamp was smoking badly and the flames wavered with the vagaries of the draft from the outside. The shadows which hovered in the corners shrank and swelled to its movements. Objects came into sight: a shabby pair of high heeled boots, a heap of dirty cooking utensils on a greasy table, a broken chair. One by one the shadows swallowed them.

She called again. "Is any one here?"

A hideously emaciated cat emerged out of the darkness; it came toward her, regarding her fixedly with blank green eyes. It halted with arched back and distended tail, and sprang into the shadows as silently as it had appeared.

Her eyes were becoming more accustomed to the dimness and she saw the old bar. The unclean odor of stale grease and dead woodsmoke was in her nostrils. She heard a swift footstep outside approaching the open door. She did not wait to see who was coming. She was crouching behind the old bar when a man entered. She thrust her head out. He halted for a moment on the threshold with the red light of the fire behind him, and she recognized the stranger who had been watching Eddie in the road.

The lank cat reappeared. Nell's ears had caught a sound in the blackness at the other end of the room where the animal had been lurking. Then a voice said, "Andreas," and Ursula came into sight.

"I saw him," Andreas said. "He is coming now."

Ursula passed into the lighted space before the doorway. The glow of the fire was on her face, her eyes reflected its redness. The network of lines was twisting with mirth. She said something in Spanish and pointed toward the bar. Nell caught one word which she understood.

The word was dos, and Andreas was staring at the darkness where Nell was crouching. Then he threw back his head and the woman clapped her hand over his mouth to silence his laughter. He nodded, and the two of them stepped away from the doorway. Eddie Morton walked into the room almost as soon as they had vanished.

To Nell, watching the brief scene which followed Eddie Morton's entrance to the adobe house, was like witnessing a pantomime. The voices of two of the actors were merely an accompaniment to their gestures, for she had no knowledge of the vernacular Spanish, and the only times they spoke English were the few occasions when they addressed Eddie.

He was standing in a pool of red light just inside the doorway and his shadow lay before him. The blackjack was not in sight now. His shoulders were bent, his head sagged forward and there was an indescribable limpness in his whole body. He could have been posing for a picture of complete despair, but the eloquence of his attitude was more convincing than any pose. Andreas and Ursula were a pace or two behind him, beside the open doorway. They stood there motionless. The man was crouching slightly and his right arm was flexed. The woman was rigid, her broad back hugging the smoke stained wall.

Then Andreas' right arm rose, the knife blade flashed; his lips drew back so that the white teeth showed between them. Ursula's arm swept sidewise, she gripped his brown wrist and shook her head. He lowered the knife and thrust it beneath his waistband. All of this took place in absolute silence.

This walk could not be true . . . she was not going to her death.

The cat materialized out of the shadows and spat at Eddie. The sight of the unpleasant little creature seemed to do something to him, for he straightened his shoulders and demanded,

"Where's every one?"

"You want something?" Ursula asked in English. As she spoke she swung the heavy door shut, and took her stand with her back against it. Andreas glided away from the wall and halted before Eddie. They did these things without a sound and with a swift grace which would have been beautiful, but its beauty was lost in its suggestion of deadly intent.

"I am looking for a man." Eddie spoke wearily. It was the weariness that goes with utter hopelessness. "A man who was to come here after me."

"What man?" Ursula asked, and her voice was as smooth as oil. Eddie turned his head to look at her. The right arm of Andreas was bending his hand was sweeping toward his waistband.

"Not now, Andreas," Ursula said.

Eddie turned his eyes back to the man in front of him and repeated the command as she had uttered it. "I am," he added, "a friend of the Alcalde."

Andreas smiled, there was no friendship in that smile.

"That is nice," Ursula said. "You come to find him here?"

"What difference does it make who I came to find?" Eddie demanded. His jaw was no longer slack, his lips were tight. Andreas should have noticed this, but Andreas was too sure, for the ugly business which he had in hand was an old story with him and he saw nothing formidable in the victim. It was going to be a poor sport, worth no man's while if it weren't for that $500.

As he asked his question Eddie turned his head again, and only Ursula saw the change which had come into his face. She was opening her mouth to call a warning to her man when Eddie acted. It came with incredible suddenness; one of those swift flashes to which men far gone in liquor sometimes muster their befuddled senses. He whirled toward Andreas, his hand plunged into his coat pocket and came forth gripping the small, leaden loaded bludgeon. Andreas was quick, but he had been too confident. The movement had caught him unaware, and he was drawing his knife when the blackjack descended. It was a glancing blow, there was not much strength behind it, and it caught him on the forehead. His skull was thick but he went down on his hands and knees.

Eddie spun on his heels and started for the door just as Ursula leaped at him. Her big fists were swinging; he ducked beneath them, jerked the door open and leaped across the threshold while she was recovering her balance.

Andreas got to his feet, he was shaking his head like a bewildered young bull. Ursula laughed.

"He is the smart one," she cried. She stood in the doorway watching the fugitive. "Look now. He runs like a scared dog."

Andreas seized her by the shoulder and flung her aside. He sprang out thru the doorway. It was the wall that saved her from falling.

Andreas returned a few moments later. He was wiping the knife blade on his trousers leg. He thrust the weapon back beneath his waistband and he shook his head.

"But the money," he said in Spanish. "I do not understand."

"So you do not find the money." Ursula nodded. "And why? Because it is here in this room now. Something it did not go right down there on the canyon road and the girl she ran away. So the lawyer man did not get the money. But we will get it and we will run away."

Andreas took a step toward Nell's hiding place.

"No," Ursula said. "Not yet. You take the body to the pines and leave it where the fire will come. And you cover the blood out there with some loose dirt. When we leave this place, we do not want the reward out for us."

She remained in the doorway after he had departed. Now and again she glanced toward the old bar where Nell was hiding; and when he returned at last she said, "This girl. I wonder why the Alcalde wants her killed?" Andreas said:

"What do we care? Now we will get the money."

"Yes. We will get it now." Ursula started for the bar.

Nell had been listening to every word they spoke and understanding none of them, but occasionally she caught a gesture which told her something, for the hands of these two were as eloquent as their voices. She had no chance to flee, and the look in the woman's face assured her that no pleading would bring mercy. Yet she did not give up hope, and when Ursula confronted her in the shadows she rose silently, determined that somehow the opportunity to save her life was going to show itself, and that when it did she would be ready for it. And as she stepped forth into the light she remembered how Harvey had come to her yesterday afternoon, just in time to dash the gourd from her lips. Perhaps he was coming to her in time again.

"Where is it, my pretty?" Ursula was smiling, but the smile was mocking and there was mockery in her voice.

Nell said, "I do not know what you want."

"You know, little one," Ursula said. "And I theenk you talk like this to make the time go by, because maybe you theenk somebody comes to help you. Bot nobody ees come here any more tonight." She let her eyes go over the girl from head to foot. She shook her head. She said:

"No, it is not in the stocking, for she wears a man's clothes. It will be here." She plunged her hand beneath the low cut blouse and drew forth a roll of bills.

Andreas was stroking the bare blade of his knife across the palm of his left hand with a caressing gesture. He said something in Spanish and the woman answered in the same tongue.

"Put it up. And stand by the door." And then in English. "We wait. We talk it over what we will do weeth you."

She turned her back on Nell and addressed her man again.

"How does that fire run now?"

"To the head of the main canyon," he told her. "And it is spreading up the fork toward the pines."

"Then it is across the road and we cannot drive to the San Joaquin tonight?"

"No," he shook his head. "We cannot go that way." He turned and threw the door open, he looked out for a few moments. He said:

"The wind drives it fast, and in a few minutes it will be in the pines. Why do we stay here talking?"

"She is little," Ursula seemed to be addressing herself as much as him; it was as tho she were thinking aloud. "And she is young. But it is not because I am sorry for her. She has had the good time and the easy life and I do not care if she dies now.

"And I think that the Alcalde did not come here for fun this afternoon. He did not tell us those things just because he want us to go away. He wanted other things, too. He wanted that lawyer man to die. He will not like it if he learns that this girl got away. You will take her to the pines, Andreas, but you will not cut her throat. You will leave her, and the fire will come soon after we have gone."

"I do not like that," Andreas said. "It is not a nice way."

"Maybe so," Ursula murmured. "But it is the way the Alcalde wanted it. I do not know why, but he did. And we must drive down thru Escondido. And if we tell him how the girl died, then he must help us get out of this country."

"We waste too much time," Andreas growled. "Who knows what the Alcalde would do? Maybe he gives me to the sheriff."

"No." Ursula shook her head emphatically. "He will not do that. It is not because he likes me, Andreas. He would feel pretty nice if I was to die, that man would. But he does not want the sheriff to talk to me. For why? It is the secret of the wool from the dead sheep. It was something I did for him. And if I was to tell the sheriff about that, I think they would take the Alcalde away to the prison. And I think that is one reason why he came here this afternoon, because he would like it very much if I went away from this place and did not come back."

She nodded to her man. She said: "You do the work, Andreas, I do the thinking. And you will do what I say now. There is some tarred rope in the corner by the bed. The fire will burn it quickly and no one will ever know that she was tied. Do not hurt her unless she tries to make the fight."

Andreas was holding two pieces of tarred rope in one hand and the other hand gripped Nell's arm. His fingers were sinking into the soft flesh as he shoved her before him thru the doorway which she had entered, seeking sanctuary only a few minutes ago. She was conscious of nothing excepting the pain of that iron grip.

She never did understand why she was not afraid. She should have been half dead with fear, but her one sensation was of unreality. This walk, which was to be her last, could not be true. She was not going to her death, that was impossible, and yet she knew that she would stand as much chance of getting a reprieve from a mountain lion as from this ragged creature who strode along, pushing her on ahead of him.

What Has Gone Before

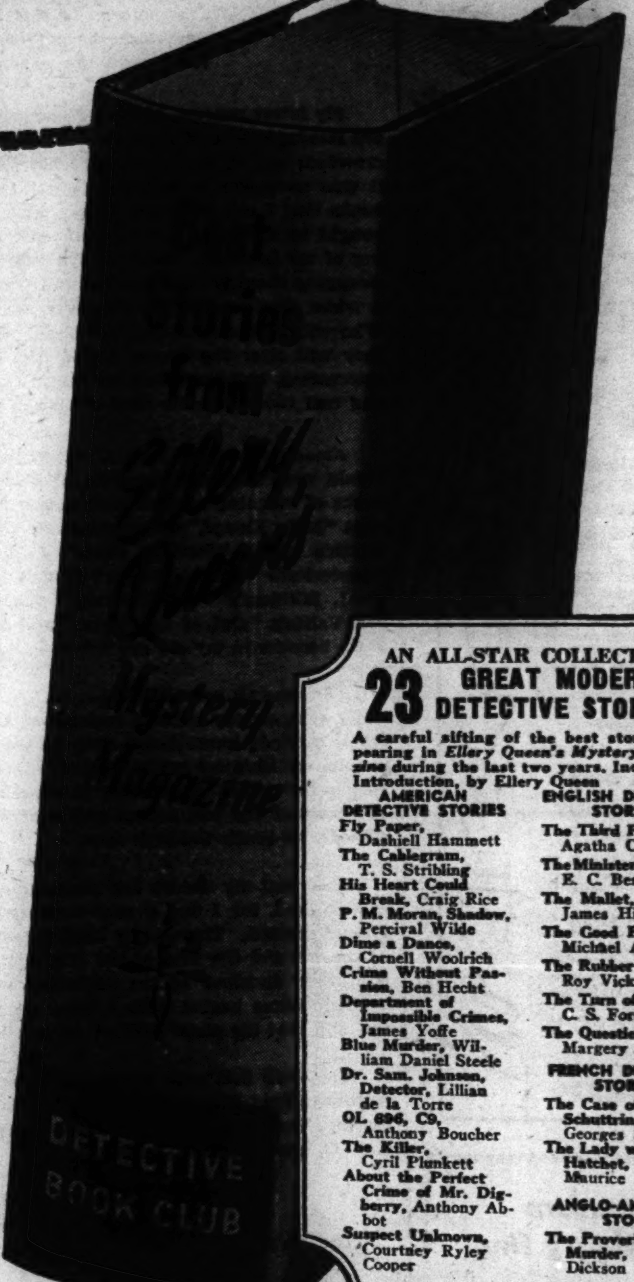
Nell Huntoon writes to Edward Morton Jr. to review a murder charge against her dead father. Eddie is in financial difficulties and decides if he can incriminate Yardley, a banker known as the Alcalde, it will mean ready money. Yardley has a fear the past will catch up with him. Anthrax is prevalent in the hills. Yardley forces Ursula to get him wool from a dead sheep. At a service station Nell meets Beulah Smith; Harvey Little, son of the man her father was accused of killing, and Anastasia Rodriguez. The service station man is killed by a hit-and-run driver. Anastasia picks up something from the road. Anastasia demands $500 from Eddie for the metal hub cap from his car. Nell is prevented from drinking the poisoned spring water by Harvey. Nell and Beulah see a prospector, with two burros, whom Beulah had grubstaked 20 years ago. After killing the Mexican with Yardley's hammer Eddie meets Nell. Eddie ties the body to one of the burros with a rope taken from Harvey's car. From his window Yardley sees Eddie and the burro pass by. Arming himself, he follows, watches Eddie stow the body in the trunk of Harvey's car. He demands the hub cap and car keys and orders Eddie to bring the hammer to him. At daybreak, after reopening the trunk and placing the keys in Harvey's car, Yardley notifies the sheriff. Pete Escobar, up in the hills, sees Yardley's strange actions. Pete Escobar warns Harvey and tells him there is one man who can send Yardley to the gas chamber. Harvey takes Pete's horse and heads into the hills to find the man. Yardley overhears Nell telling Eddie of the Alcalde's attempt to poison her. Yardley realizes Eddie knows too much and arranges with Ursula and Andreas for the murder of Eddie after Eddie has disposed of Nell, but plans miscarry.

CHILLS... THRILLS... KILLS...!

FREE – This Big 400-Page Book of MYSTERY STORIES

To new Members of the Detective Book Club

Selected by Ellery Queen



Rascals, Murderers, Spies—All in This One Magnificent Detective Volume!

YES, YOURS FREE—a glorious feast of reading for detective story fans. Twenty-three of the most devilishly clever stories ever written, by twenty-three great writers—SELECTED FOR YOU BY ELLERY QUEEN!

Sit in on these breath-taking contests between hot criminal passion and cold police logic. Match wits with fiends, cutthroats, blackguards, rapscallions, butchers—trying to outguess relentless police inspectors, tough special agents, suave private detectives, subtle amateur sleuths! Each of these 23 great stories selected by Ellery Queen is a knock-out that will hold you as tense as a runner at the starting line.

Why These Stories Are So Outstanding

These 23 stories were especially selected by Ellery Queen for publication in permanent book form. They were all taken from issues of the famous Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine. Therefore, the book represents a DOUBLE sifting job—because every story printed in the magazine itself was also first selected by Ellery Queen as an outstanding story. And you can imagine what this means when you realize that the Ellery Queen library of detective stories is the largest and finest collection in the world!

No wonder the stories in this great book—"Best Stories from Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine"—are the cream of the cream. Masterpieces by Dashiell Hammett, Craig Rice, Agatha Christie—and twenty others, each a master of the gentle art of making your brain burn with curiosity and your blood run cold with fear!

This book is brand new, just published. But we want to give you a copy of it FREE, to show you the kind of top-notch detective fiction you can get every month from the Detective Book Club.

How This Club Brings You The Best Mysteries

Each month this Club offers to its members an attractive triple volume containing THREE modern detective books—for the usual price of only ONE! And EACH of the three is a complete, full-length novel.

Do you realize that about 300 new detective books are published every year? You can't read them all. It's hard to find the best. But if a mystery is by an author like Agatha Christie, Erle Stanley Gardner, Dorothy B. Hughes, William Irish, Frances Crane, or Anthony Abbott, it's sure to be good! All of these and many other famous writers have had their books selected by the Detective Book Club. Many are members of the Club themselves.

The selections of the Club are ALL books that sell everywhere for $2.00 each. Yet, as a member of the Club, you get three of them (a $6.00 value) for only $1.89! You do not have to take a volume a month—you may accept as few as four during the whole year and still save two-thirds the usual price on those you purchase.

Hans Lange Conducts Chicago Symphony This Week

on the Aisle
by Claudia Cassidy

AND the sound of the ballet was heard again in the land. Which reminds me of my gratitude that John Van Druten has been in town for a few days, just in time to answer the latest batch of letters wanting to know the full Biblical significance of "The Voice of the Turtle," if any. Also, Mr. Van Druten has settled another moot point. At a lecture where he was being his most charming, a knightly gesture, indeed, a lady got up to heckle him, asking if he thought young people should see his play. "Certainly not," said Mr. Van Druten, and the voice of the heckler was heard no more in the hall.

Things About the Ballet Theater and Mr. Van Druten

Altogether, Mr. Van Druten found it a gratifying, tho expensive, visit. He likes our "Turtle," as do we, and what he says about his three actors I hesitate to repeat, as they would want more money on Monday. But what he said about a new dress for K. T. Stevens was "yes," an affirmative sound echoed in New York by Alfred de Liagre Jr. the instant he saw the material, a kind of pale golden lamé so fragile it may last six weeks if they are lucky. But Mr. Van Druten insists that dress be made of moonbeams, and he still trembles from the time he had to talk Margaret Sullavan out of wearing black satin with a bustle. Moonbeams in material cost money, but they have quite a lot in common with that candle burnt at both ends—they make up in lovely light for not lasting the night.

Many Changes in Ballet Cast.

But it was the sound of ballet we started to talk about, the soft sound of ballet slippers, of whirling tarlatan, of gay little steps and sad little steps and the sound of the audience picking up its cue for applause. Ballet Theater comes back again, and in orthodox ballet style it has some outstanding cast changes. Alicia Markova, who missed the troupe's last trip because of an injury, is now a minion of Billy Rose, about to dance in "Seven Lively Arts" with Anton Dolin, also on leave. Tamara Toumanova was snatched from Hollywood as guest star, and my favorite ballet gossip of the moment concerns what Markova is supposed to have said after the New York "Giselle" when Toumanova danced Markova's greatest role with her special partner, Dolin. Markova, whose net weight would counterbalance about a heaping tablespoon of gossamer, said [they tell me] to Dolin of the lissome Toumanova, "Don't you find her just a little scrawny?" Dolin, English born but Slavic by nature, turns Russian in moments of stress. With a marked Romanoff accent he stated that it was the first time in years he had had anything to hold on to.

Tamara Toumanova.

With Dolin gone Broadway, the business of casting Toumanova's partners has had the management in a huddle. She is co-starred with Leonide Massine in the world première of his "Moonlight Sonata," danced to Beethoven orchestration with scenery and costumes by Serge Soudeikine, and these two also appear in revival of Massine's "Tricorne," the brilliant Spanish ballet to de Falla music and Picasso décor. In the Grand Pas de Deux, which may be either from "Swan Lake," "Nutcracker," or "Don Quichotte," Toumanova will dance with John Kriza, and in "Aurora's Wedding" her partner will be Paul Petroff.

Robbins to Dance Here After All.

Jerome Robbins will be here, after all, to dance opening night in his popular ballet, "Fancy Free." Such cries of anguish went up at his possible absence that Ballet Theater managed to snatch him bodily from supervising rehearsals of the new musical, "On the Town," in which Sono Osato returns to the stage after a brief vacation. John Kriza, the Berwyn boy, is getting better roles by the season. In addition to dancing with Toumanova, he has been featured in the Bluebird variation of "Aurora's Wedding" and has one of the leading roles in "Fancy Free." Romanoff has taken Dolin's role in "Bluebeard," Fokine's gay jest with Offenbach, and Nana Gollner will have the part created by Baronova.

Jerome Robbins.

Both Georges Balanchine and Agnes de Mille have created new ballets for the season. Balanchine's is a lighthearted piece called "Waltz Academy," in an Oliver Smith setting showing the rehearsal room under the glass rotunda of the Paris Opera. Vittorio Rieti wrote the score, and Alvin Colt has done the costumes in the spirit of Dégas. Miss de Mille's "Tally Ho" is a far chuckle from "Rodeo," being in the mood of Fragonard to music by Gluck and décor by Motley. David Lichine's Straussian skirmish, "Graduation Ball," has been acquired by Ballet Theater, as has Catherine Littlefield's "Barn Dance," often seen at the Civic Opera house when Littlefield's ballet appeared with the opera.

There is nothing new by Antony Tudor this season, but he can rest on such laurels as "Pillar of Fire," "Dim Lustre," "Lilac Garden," "Gala Performance," and others, tho "Romeo and Juliet" is not coming this trip. Mr. Tudor, by the way, is working on something new from an idea suggested by John Van Druten, who is mum. But Van Druten's name is going to be in the ballet credits when its première arrives, and he admires Tudor's work so much he probably will be more pleased with that than with having written "The Voice of the Turtle" and "I Remember Mama." Of course, the royalties won't be quite the same.

Facts About Martial Singher.

Notes on Martial Singher, opera's idol since "Pelléas and Mélisande." He had always sung Golaud [Tibbett's superb role] until Edward Johnson persuaded him to tackle the other role. Johnson, in turn, loaned him his Pelléas costumes, from the collection the famous tenor gave to the Metropolitan when he turned from singing to managing. Singher started out to be an engineer, turned to teaching French literature when the family money ran low, and became a singer almost by popular demand. He made his début with Pierre Monteux in "Iphigénie en Tauride." His repertory in opera and recital is extraordinarily large, and just now he is working on some songs even he admits are difficult, because "they have no bones." An agreeable, amusing man, he would like to sing his favorite "Marouf" for us to offset any chance of being typed as Pelléas. "I do not like the label," he declares, "I am not a trunk." Say that, please, with a French accent.

Appears Here 3 Times, Once in Milwaukee

Hans Lange, associate conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, makes his first appearances of the season this week, conducting both the Thursday-Friday concerts and Saturday night "Pop" program in Chicago, as well as the Monday night concert in Milwaukee.

Always an eclectic in program making, Mr. Lange will open his Thursday-Friday program with a symphony in E-flat major by Johann Wenzel Anton Stamitz, a composer of great historical importance but whose music has never been heard before at these concerts. Stamitz was a Bohemian by birth, and while his life [1717-1757] was, except for his final two years, contemporaneous with that of Johann Sebastian Bach, he was far in advance of the elder master in his musical ideas. Stamitz was the most noted virtuoso conductor of his day and directed the Mannheim orchestra, whose performances were famous thruout 18th century Europe.

As a composer Stamitz contributed much to the early development of the symphony, introducing the classical sonata form into orchestral music. Both Haydn and Mozart were influenced by the innovations of Stamitz. The symphony which Mr. Lange will play, written for strings, two oboes and two horns, is one of 50 written by the Mannheim master. Other orchestra numbers on the program will be Delius' fantasy, "In a Summer Garden," and Strauss' "Don Juan."

Soloist on the Thursday-Friday program will be the young American pianist, William Kapell, who will play Rachmaninoff's Second Concerto in C minor. This will be Mr. Kapell's first appearance at these concerts, tho he was heard two summers ago at Ravinia, where he played the Khachatourian concerto with the orchestra. Young Kapell, who is now 22, is one of the most successful of the younger generation of native pianists. He has already appeared as soloist with four major symphony orchestras, and before he was 20 had won the Philadelphia Orchestra's Youth contest, the Naumburg Foundation award, and the Town Hall Endowment Series award.

For the Saturday night "Pop" concert, Mr. Lange has programmed the overture to Weber's "Oberon," Brahms' Third Symphony, Mozart's "Short Serenade," a suite from Bizet's "Carmen," and the overture to Wagner's "Rienzi."

U. of Dubuque Planning Centennial Celebration

Hope to Raise $1,500,000 in Next 8 Years

By The Rev. John Evans.

The Rev. Dr. Dale D. Welch, president of the University of Dubuque, has announced details of the Centennial Development program. Responsible to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, the University of Dubuque will observe its centenary in 1952. Between now and that date it is planned to raise $1,500,000.

The major allocations contemplated are $750,000 for endowment, which sum includes half a million additional endowment for the theological seminary, the endowing of professorships both in the liberal arts college and the seminary, the creation of a Rural Life and Church foundation, and an extensive building program. This last includes gymnasium, science hall, dormitory for girls and married students, library, and a university church.

"We need money for these developments," said Dr. Welch, "so that the university can do the best possible job in training for Christian leadership; to keep our top ranking among other liberal arts colleges, to strengthen the seminary by expanding its field, and to realize the aims expressed in the words of our seal, 'Dubuque university serves the whole church and the world.'"

De Paul university has established a department of health and physical education to train qualified teachers in a field recently created by the physical education law passed by the Illinois legislature, which requires that "all pupils in public schools shall engage daily in courses of physical education for an instructional period equal in length to the regular periods of the school day."

The Rev. Dr. Joseph G. Phoenix, head of De Paul's education department, explained that the selective service medical examinations had revealed a low status in national health, and that this department of the university has been designed to develop organic vigor, correct postural defects, promote social and moral qualities, and to secure scientific supervision of playgrounds and athletic fields thru a staff of competently trained men and women. Lt. Col. Thomas Haggerty, U. S. A. [retired] is in charge of the department.

Figures released by the University of Illinois library show that it retains its position as the fifth largest university library in the nation, with a total of 1,364,906 volumes, of which 58,455 volumes were added during the last academic year. The report discloses that $164,362 was spent during 1942-'43 for books, periodicals, and binding. The library staff comprises 148 individuals and the operating budget for the current year is $137,000.

President Grover C. Dillman of Michigan College of Mining and Technology has been appointed chairman of the advisory committee to the Michigan planning commission by Gov. Harry F. Kelly. This commission has been voted $25,000 by the legislature for research on forest products. It will survey present timber assets and determine which of known chemical processes can be most advantageously used in the upper peninsula for the extraction of wood derived products.

"Books—lighthouses erected in the great sea of time." —WHIPPLE.

Some Famous Ships of World War II.

"BRAVE SHIPS OF WORLD WAR TWO," by Joseph Leeming. [Nelson, $3.]

This is a superb companion volume to the author's "Brave Ships of England and America." It tells with dramatic force the stirring story of all the major naval engagements of the present war from the scuttling of the Graf Spee in 1939 to the sinking of the Scharnhorst in 1943. These vivid portraits of British and American ships and battles are greatly enhanced by the splendid illustrations of Grattan Condon, famous marine artist.

BOOKMAN'S HOLIDAY

By Delos Avery.

TO A VOLUME OF HAKLUYT'S VOYAGES.

Come live with me and be my book,
And from this lamplit inglenook
We'll sail a story-haunted sea
In a ghostly Ship-that-used-to-be.

All night we'll point a steady prow
Thru lanes that lead away from Now;
Dead centuries shall live again—
We'll travel to the shores of Then!
And when the steering stars are gone
We'll cast an anchor in the dawn.

Come live with me and be my book
Till morning in this inglenook;
And when the gold sun lifts his head
We'll mark the page and go to bed.

My latest renewal of an old companionship with the writings of Richard Hakluyt resulted from a bit of library surgery. My shelves were overcrowded; and to make way for what Vincent Starrett calls "books alive" it was necessary to operate—to get rid of "books dead." Some of the books that I call dead are books which [for me] never really lived, books bought by mistake. Others were once alive to me, but died from a shifting of my interest. These I eliminate once in a year or two, usually by wrapping them in neat bundles and "forgetting" them on trains or buses, a whim that amuses me and lets me speculate playfully on their fate. Who will be the next to read them? Surely some one will, and perhaps they will alter the course of his life, for better or worse. It would be interesting, but too much trouble, to put some of them in huge bottles and cast them into the Gulf stream.

Among my latest jetsam, which becomes flotsam when it leaves my hands, were Thurman Arnold's "Folklore of Capitalism," four pre-Munich books of warning against Hitler, two predicting his harmlessness [but I kept "Mein Kampf," which some day will be worth gloating over], Lillian Smith's novel, "Strange Fruit" [which is a once-but-not-twice book], Chesterton's "Father Brown" stories [because I have it in a better edition], Millikan's "The Electron" [because I never can understand it], Jan Valtin's "Out of the Night," and three thick sex books by Havelock Ellis, because in my old age I feel he has nothing practical to suggest.

They are all yours, Mr. Lost-and-Found Department, and you are lucky they were on my shelves instead of those of Dr. Charles Collins, who, when he finds himself chin-deep in books and about to drown, sends his surplus to libraries which already have too many. You are lucky, too, they were not on the shelves of Vincent Starrett, who hoards them. He had 5,000 at the last census and now needs a new house for them, with a ladder to reach the high ones.

Now that my library has undergone its operation it feels much better and so do I, for I find a vast comfort in contemplating the open spaces I have created. There is at least a foot of elbow room between the last of the A's and the first of the B's, and a similar hospitality gap between the other divisions of the alphabet, so that no matter what letter an author's name begins with I have a guestroom waiting for him and he can slip into his place without perceptibly disturbing the architecture.

• • •

They will find good company among my H's—Hazlitt, Lafcadio Hearn, Anthony Hope, Aldous Huxley, Ben Hecht, O. Henry, Hergesheimer, Hemingway, Homer, Dashiell Hammett, Oliver Herford's rhymes and pictures, and—O, yes—dear Mr. Schickelgruber.

THE MURDER CHART

By Drexel Drake.

ENTRY.	PERFORMANCE.	PAYOFF.
"EPITAPH FOR LEMMINGS," by Simon Harvester. [Macmillan, $2.50.]	Poison balks British agents on trail of Nazi saboteurs who are destroying England's food supply. First, an agent who has made discoveries; then, a key suspect, die mysteriously. But the hunt goes on, complicated by clever and beautiful women, and hindered by more deaths, to a melodramatic climax.	Well filled plot that involves unusually large number of principal actors, for a sabotage melodrama. Ingenious device used by conspirators. Story weaves thru exciting episodes, but is talky in spots.
"DARKNESS OF SLUMBER," by Rosemary Kutak. [Lippincott, $2.]	Psychiatric experiment to restore sanity to Phil Minary's first wife, after he had divorced her and married his secretary, halted by murder. Psychiatrist turns detective and solves crime, along with another murder that figured in background of case.	Author stirs up a hash of poorly blended ingredients, with thick portions of political reform, Freudian complexes, therapy, family prejudices, and irrelevant chatter. Otherwise unique plot badly tangled in deluge of words.
"TOO MUCH POISON," by Anne Rowe. [Mill, $2.]	Marital and social entanglements provided suspects in poisoning of woman patient at party staged for belated announcement of doctor's marriage to his nurse-secretary. There was another victim before murderer was exposed.	Unique family relationship set up in preparing background for murder. Bickerings of cafe society add color to novel puzzle and lightly diverting tale.

AMONG THE AUTHORS

By Frederic Babcock.

OPENING Children's Book week a week ago, the Hobby Horse book shop held open house in the Carson Pirie Scott store. . . . Authors and illustrators present to do the autographing honors included Frederic Nelson Litten, Laura Bannan, Rowena Bennett, Fiore Mastri, Sam Campbell, Genevieve Foster, Elizabeth Orton Jones, Gladys Adshead, Josephine Pease, Esther Friend, Marguerite Friskey, Josephine Blackstock, Marjorie Barrows, and Bernice Bryant.

In honor of Catherine Lawrence, author of the prize winning novel, "The Narrowing Wind," and Naoma Zimmerman, author of "The Party Dress," "Sleepy Forest," and "Timothy Tick-Tock," Max Siegel, author and bookseller, gave a reception Wednesday afternoon in the Pittsfield building. . . . The guests got a good look, not only at the two young and glamorous writers, but also at Mr. Siegel's newly enlarged, modernized, and air-conditioned shop.

The Children's Reading Round Table's annual dinner, arranged by Harriet Holsman, is discussed by Fanny Butcher in this section. . . . So is Jan Struther's appearance before the Rotary club. . . . Next Sunday, we hope, Miss Butcher will tell how Bennett Cerf, the pin-up boy of the book publishing business, yesterday afternoon autographed copies of his new book, "Try and Stop Me," at a party at the Marshall Field store.

Some weeks ago it was announced that Sgt. Nina M. Ryan, then stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., had won the $200 cash prize offered by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for the best account of a war time experience by a man or woman in uniform. . . . Now Miss Ryan has notified Alice Manning Dickey, director of the Midwestern Writers' conference, that she has gone overseas. . . . A note from Elizabeth Sale to this department: "Greetings from my 'home town' [San Pedro, Cal.], where I am now autographing copies of my new novel, 'My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair' [Dodd, Mead]. Your reviewer [Kenneth Horan] gave my book of last year, 'Recitation from Memory,' a very kindly review, and I am hoping she will like its sequel."

Chicagoan Named President of Old Reprint Company

John O'Connor of Chicago and Winnetka has been elected president of Grosset & Dunlap and will assume charge Dec. 1. This was announced last week.

John O'Connor.

Mr. O'Connor is now vice president of the Quarrie corporation, publisher of the World Book Encyclopedia and of Childcraft. He is a member of the WPB industry advisory committee for book publishing and manufacturing.

"Grosset & Dunlap is the oldest and best known reprint house in this country," he said following his election. "Its new ownership and board of directors add to this fine old house some of the best brains in the industry. I believe that the future mass market for inexpensive books is virtually unlimited. I can't imagine anything more challenging than having a hand in the development of that market."

The big reprint company recently passed into the hands of the Book of the Month Club, Harper & Brothers, Little, Brown & Co., Random House, and Charles Scribner's Sons.

Steinbeck Shortage.

Altho John Steinbeck's new novel, "Cannery Row," will be published Jan. 2, copies in excess of the first printing of 75,000 will not be available until the end of January, warns the Viking Press.

"Jalna" Readers Now Learn How It All Started

"THE BUILDING OF JALNA," by Mazo de la Roche. [Little, Brown, $2.50.]

Reviewed by Polly Goodwin.

Those who have faithfully followed the adventures of the Whiteoak family thru the eight Jalna novels which preceded this one must often have wished to know more of the early life of that dynamic old lady "Gran" Whiteoak, whose imperious personality dominated her entire family until she died at the age of 102.

Mazo de la Roche.

A brief glimpse of her youth is given in the opening chapters of "Jalna," but here in "The Building of Jalna" the story is told in full. The years are rolled back to 1850, and we find Adeline, now 25 years old, the beautiful, spirited wife of her beloved Philip Whiteoak. This dashing captain of hussars in India has sold his army commission and transplanted himself, his wife, and baby Augusta, her ayah, the famous parrot Boney and all their worldly goods to Canada to make a new home.

After a year in Quebec their venturous natures led them to the northern shores of Lake Ontario. There in the virgin forests bordering the lake, in that country Miss de la Roche knows so intimately and writes of with such loving warmth, the Whiteoaks buy a thousand acres of land and build upon it a sturdy house to shelter them and their heirs for years to come.

Readers may miss the clashes of strong and conflicting Whiteoak temperaments which flourished in the later novels and gave those books their vigorous vitality. But they should enjoy this account of the young founders of that family, who had their share of stormy passages, but who were so well suited to each other that they succeeded in building a good life together.

Music News

An attempt to solve the managerial problem which prevents many gifted young artists from attaining a public career has been made by the Alumni Association of the Curtis Institute of Music, which has formed a concert bureau for its own members. The new organization is headed by Schima Kaufman and has 23 young artists on its list, many of whom have appeared with major musical organizations, but have been unable to follow thru their early advantages because of the lack of satisfactory management.

The National Music Council has issued its annual survey of the repertoire of the 17 major symphony orchestras of the country, i. e., orchestras with an annual budget of $100,000 or over. The actual number of American compositions played was the largest of any season since the survey began—147, by 56 native born Americans. The National Symphony of Washington, D. C., led in the number of works by native born composers performed. The Chicago Symphony is sixth on this list, tieing with Cincinnati in performing nine such compositions. But in the estimate of percentages, the local orchestra is next to the last, with only 5.9 per cent of its entire subscription series repertoire devoted to music by American born composers.

Serge Koussevitzky, who recently celebrated his 70th birthday, has proposed that an international musical festival be held during the coming peace conference. Such an influence, he believes, might help to avert the fruitless bickerings of Versailles. "If our nation would send its greatest singers, players, and a leading symphony orchestra to the peace conference," he said, "and if other nations would do likewise, we should have an international music event of the highest spiritual value and one that would inspire and facilitate the work of the peace delegates."

Drama Notes

Maurice Schwartz.

Maurice Schwartz, star of the Yiddish Art theater, now celebrating its silver jubilee, opens an eight week season of repertory at the Douglas Park theater, Ogden and Kedzie, Friday evening with "The Three Generations," by Benjamin Resler. Mr. Schwartz will play Rabbi David Horowitz, with Charlotte Goldstein, Anatole Vinogradoff, and J. Dubinsky also in the cast. This is the first of four plays to be presented by the company, each for two weeks, with matinées on Saturday and Sunday.

"Wallflower" will play a Thanksgiving day matinée Thursday in addition to its regular Great Northern schedule of Saturday and Sunday afternoon shows.

Because New Year's Eve falls on Sunday, "The Voice of the Turtle" will make an exception to its Selwyn rule of no Sunday night performances, and tickets for Dec. 31 are now on sale by mail order, with the box office line for them forming Nov. 27. Prices, including tax, for this performance only will be $6, $4.80, $4.20, $3.60, and $3. This week's Selwyn schedule holds a special Thanksgiving day matinée. Starting Monday, tickets go on sale thru Dec. 23 at the box office, with mail orders accepted thru Jan. 13.

There will be a change of "Oklahoma!" cast Tuesday night at the Erlanger when Ruth Clayton succeeds Dorothea Freed as Ado Annie. Miss Clayton has been playing Giggling Gertie in the New York troupe, and acting as alternate to Edna Skinner as the girl who cain't say no.

According to Lewis Nichols of the New York Times, Ilka Chase's "In Bed We Cry" is a pretty bad play. Not caring much for the writing or acting, Mr. Nichols fell back on admiring Joseph Platt's luxurious settings and the Adrian gowns worn by the starring author.

Mike Todd, who insists that "Up in Central Park," the Sigmund Romberg musical up his producing sleeve for Christmas in Boston, is the best show of his career, present and probably future, is pleased with himself as a landlord, too. His 48th Street theater in New York houses "Harvey," the new comedy about the rabbit six feet, one and one-half inches tall, which appears to Frank Fay and others in the cast of an apparently irresistible comedy. Mr. Todd's associates thought he was mad, letting the house to a show like that, but he said, "If the audience sees Harvey, it's a hit." It's a hit.

Charles Boyer is reported to have taken a New York apartment with the avowed intention of appearing in a play.

BOOKS ALIVE

by Vincent Starrett

HISTORIANS are ingenious fellows. To few of Chicago's citizens, probably, has it ever occurred that their city owes its existence—and thus they themselves perhaps owe their identity—to the discoveries of Marco Polo at the court of Khublai Khan. Yet the story of Chicago really begins with that 13th century Venetian adventurer, according to Dr. Milo M. Quaife, the Michigan librarian and scholar, who has written extensively about the early history of our region. In "Chicagou: From Indian Wigwam to Modern City," published by the University of Chicago Press in 1935, he traces the long trail that winds down the years from "Marco of the Millions" to Jolliet and Marquette—and, by extension, to you and me.

After his wonderful experiences in the mysterious east, old inhabitants will remember Marco returned to Venice and was taken prisoner in a great naval battle between Venice and Genoa, in 1298. It was during his captivity that he wrote, or rather dictated, the account of his adventures that has come down to us as the "Travels of Marco Polo," probably the greatest travel book ever written. In it he gave such a picture of the fabulous orient that others were moved to share in its luxuries, and one of the book's more earnest readers, in time, was a 15th century Genoese navigator named Christopher Columbus, who, seeking an easy all-water route to the Indies, discovered America.

Coming of Explorers.

Thereafter came other explorers seeking a water passageway thru or around the American obstacle, still questing the goal of Columbus—Capt. John Smith, Henry Hudson, Jacques Cartier, Champlain, Jean Nicolet; then Jolliet and Marquette, who placed Chicago "within the ken of civilization" in 1673. And thus it is, skipping nimbly down the centuries, that we reach Kate O'Leary, Heinie Zimmerman, Big Bill Thompson, Clarence Darrow, Ben Hecht, the St. Valentine's day massacre, and yesterday's headlines. All this is perhaps an oversimplification of history and of Dr. Quaife, but you will understand that I am only hitting the high spots. I conclude with the historian's own summation:

"Deep buried in the past lie the roots of history. Altho Marco Polo never heard of Chicago, more than 600 years ago he set in motion the chain of influences which was to result in the discovery of the spot. Surely it is quite time for Chicagoans to become acquainted with him. They will not find the acquaintance irksome, for in many ways Marco exemplified the spirit of modern Chicago. He was a man of action, and his deeds did not suffer thru lack of self-advertisment. . . . He would be quite at home in modern Chicago. His statue ought long since to have adorned the lake front."

I agree with enthusiasm. A statue of Marco Polo on the lake front is the first item in this department's program for a new Chicago.

A Dumas Discovery.

Another post-war plan that merits applause is that of Sgt. Frederick W. Góngora, a Dumas enthusiast, who proposes to finance the publication of a favorite book, not for profit but for the satisfaction it will give him as a booklover and collector.

"Some years ago," he writes from camp, "I ran across a small volume in an obscure niche in an out of the way bookshop. My heart skipped a beat when I read the title; it was 'The Son of Porthos,' and the author was clearly stated to be Alexandre Dumas, altho whether pére or fils I don't now remember. The subtitle, 'The Death of Aramis,' completed my downfall, for as far as I knew the D'Artagnan series had ended with the unhappy passing of Porthos in the last of the Bragelonne volumes. I bought the book, of course, and enjoyed it; it was an engaging story, lightly written, and I accepted it with pleasure as part of the canon. But to this day I have been unable to find any reference to the work in any book I have examined. Librarians and collectors appear never to have heard of it. What can you tell me of its history?

"When the war is over, and I have some time of my own, I should like to sire the publication of a small edition of 'The Son of Porthos,' nicely illustrated and decently printed and bound. There must be enough interest even now in the immortal 'Four' to justify such a venture. I know nothing about the copyright aspect of the situation, however; perhaps I am blocked from the start. What do you think?"

Some Research Necessary.

I think the sergeant has involved himself in an interesting and necessary job of research. The book is not by either of the Alexandres, in my opinion, but is one of a number of spurious "sequels" that appeared in France after the close of the D'Artagnan series, because readers were unwilling to give up Dumas' popular musketeers. I believe there is at least one other such "continuation," and I wish I could recall the title. I used to see the books 30 and more years ago in inexpensive cloth and paperback editions, and of course in English translation. They may have been published in one of Street & Smith's numerous popular "libraries," and probably that is where the research should begin. Authorship, I predict, will be difficult to establish.

Incidentally, somebody—before it is too late, before all the oldtimers are gone—should write the history of the publishing firm of Street & Smith, now principally engaged [I think] in the magazine business. As publishers of the "Nick Carter" and "Frank Merriwell" stories, to say nothing of the books of Horatio Alger and Bertha M. Clay, it holds a unique place in the affections of thousands of American citizens now crowding 60.

Good Will Series Ends.

On Sept. 27, in Mexico City, where he has been working for some time past, Jules Romains wrote "Fin" to the 27th volume of his "Men of Good Will" series, thus bringing to a close what André Maurois once described as the "boldest attempt to describe completely his own time that any French novelist has made since Balzac." Conceived more than 30 years ago, the first volume of "Men of Good Will" was published by Alfred A. Knopf in 1933. The narrative opened on Oct. 6, 1908. The action of the final book takes place entirely within the framework of one day, Oct. 7, 1933, and the entire series spans exactly 25 years, plus one day. All the important characters who have appeared in the preceding volumes make their final bow in this last volume, which is titled "October 7." No announcement has yet been made by Mr. Knopf as to the date of publication.

All Football Fans Will Relish Story of Fighting Irish

"FRANK LEAHY AND THE FIGHTING IRISH," by Arch Ward. [Putnam's, $2.75.]

Reviewed by Rev. Eugene Burke.

This is a book the fans will relish. Not because it is a life of Coach Leahy [a story which must be comparatively brief—a backdrop for the few intensely dramatic years of a young head coach] but because it is so full of football; of games that have been replayed wherever sport fans foregather; of characters who have made history on the gridiron—Gipp, the "Four Horsemen," Christie Flanagan, "Jumping Joe" Savoldi, and that long list of "Fighting Irish" that sounds like a roster of Balkan generals.

And it is so full of statistics that can settle the argument. Arch Ward knows what the fans ask about, and he has the answers. But there is, too, the story of Frank Leahy which explains much of his success.

In one of his Dooley sketches Finley P. Dunne tells of a card player who learned "45" in Tipperary, where they play it on stone, and every time he led trumps, you'd think he would smash the table into smithereens.

The Leahys came from Tipperary, and the years Frank spent in Nebraska and Montana did nothing to soften his inherited toughness. One of his coaching fundamentals is to form a conditioned team that can play 60 minutes of tough football, and like it. And, like his master, Rockne, Leahy is a perfectionist. He has little patience with "pretty good" play or "good enough" play. It must be perfect—tackling and blocking that definitely put the opponent out of the play, and timing by the backs to a split second. And when he has achieved this, the result is victories, which are a large part of a coach's business.

The Gentlemen Talk of Peace

By William B. Ziff

Author of
The Coming Battle of Germany

This boldly realistic book will be widely read and vigorously discussed for many years.

The Coming Battle of Germany* had an important bearing on the course of the war. The Gentlemen Talk of Peace, with its sound approach to the current problems of world organization, will have as far-reaching an effect on the post-war world. Mr. Ziff presents a powerfully written analysis of the real underlying forces which are directing the future course of events and gives a reasoned plan for perhaps the only action possible if the world is to be saved from disaster.

Do you know what physical type you are and what ailments you should guard against?

➧ If you are short, thick-necked, and inclined to be stout, do you know that you must beware of illnesses that might not affect you if you are tall and thin?

➧ How many of the vitamin pills you swallow are wasted and useless, and what are the facts behind vitamins?

➧ How can you cure heart trouble and how can you live with it?

➧ What are the up-to-date, tested and tried cures and knowledge about diabetes, high blood pressure, anemia and all other diseases of modern civilization?

THE
YOU CAN CURE THEM

BY BORIS SOKOLOFF, M.D., PH.D.

Dr. Boris Sokoloff, author, research scientist, associated with the Pasteur Institute and Rockefeller Foundation.

The nervous strains of today expose you to many diseases which primitive men never knew. Most of these dread killers are familiar names to you. Heart disease, pneumonia, influenza, meningitis, diabetes, pernicious anemia, and cancer claim their victims by the million. Yet do you know how modern medicine is meeting their challenge with knowledge . . . much of it only recently discovered?

In this fascinating book by the eminent Dr. Sokoloff, you will learn many facts about health, disease, and the early symptoms that so often spell the difference between life and despair.

How stomach ulcers are being cured by corrective diet . . . and the perils of antacids.

How pernicious anemia, which once spelled certain death, is being cured by liver extract.

Of the acidopholous cure for constipation and the ills which laxatives and medicinal fakes bring on.

How modern medicine is increasing longevity and what simple rules of living lead to an active old age.

Here, too, you will learn about the sulfa drugs and just what they do to reduce the death rate from pneumonia, influenza, and meningitis . . . the last word about penicillin, vivicillin, and the other miracle drugs of the past few years.

Read the fascinating true story of vitamins, the functions of each, and how to recognize false claims for them.

Up-to-date, fully documented, this valuable reference volume and guide fills the gap between layman's information and the vast body of knowledge of modern medicine.

Miss Barton Offers Hope to Disabled

"AND NOW TO LIVE AGAIN," by Betsey Barton. [Appleton-Century, $1.75.]

Reviewed by John Frederick Nims.

This is a book which I began to read with apathy and even reluctance, for it seemed merely another one of those inspirational little volumes which, tho gobbled up by the worried and the maladjusted, are of little interest to the callous rest of us. But I had read very few pages before I found myself apologizing to Miss Barton, whose "And Now to Live Again" is a deeper and more moving book than even any current novel I can think of.

Betsy Barton.

It is a study not only of what Aldous Huxley calls "the psychology of disablement," but also of the psychology of rehabilitation and of the meaning of human suffering. These are weighty considerations, such as one might expect from the bent and bearded, but hardly from the young and pretty girl whose picture [on the jacket of her book] might be that of a well groomed model in a glossy ad.

But Miss Barton's knowledge of pain and disablement has been cruelly and profoundly earned: she has been paralyzed since her back was broken in an automobile accident 10 years ago—an accident followed not only by months of fever, operations, infection, and despair, but by the brutal irony of a similar auto wreck three years after the first one.

That out of experiences so bitter could come a book so rugged, serene, and generous is a testimony of Miss Barton's achievement [which it is hard not to feel is the greatest of human triumphs], the conquest of pain and personal catastrophe.

This is a book not only for the injured, but for all of us. In a time when many of the young are likely to be disabled, some such guide is imperative for friends and lovers of the afflicted. Few writers are better equipped with knowledge, sense, and sympathy than Miss Barton is; and few can speak with more conviction and courage about the meaning, even the necessity, of suffering.

Exhibits Show Jewish Gift to Human Culture

Special literary programs, together with exhibits depicting the Jewish contribution to human culture, are being held in Chicago these days. They are a part of the observance of Jewish Book month, Nov. 10 to Dec. 10. The celebration will be climaxed with a public event [the details of which are to be announced later] in the course of Jewish Book week, Dec. 3 to 10.

Dr. Samuel M. Blumenfield.

Among the institutions taking part are the Central, Albany Park, and Douglas Park branches of the Chicago public library; Anshe Emet synagog, the Jewish People's institute, and the Covenant club. An exhibit of books and manuscripts, including rare Jewish books from China, has been arranged at the main library under the direction of Dr. Fritz Bamberger. There are also displays in the libraries of the College of Jewish Studies and the Hebrew Theological college. Harry A. Lipsky is in charge of a collection of books, in different parts of the city, for U. S. O. libraries.

Albena Kasper Ruther, soprano, will give a song recital in Curtiss hall, this afternoon at 3:30. Her program includes "Ritorna vincitor" from "Aida," a group of songs by Lithuanian composers, as well as a varied selection of other music. The Alice Stephens Singers will contribute a group to the program.

Lola Rand, soprano, will give a song recital in Kimball hall tonight at 8. Her program includes "Vissi d'arte" from Puccini's "Tosca" and Elizabeth's Prayer from "Tannhäuser." Fritzi Siebach will be at the piano.

The choir of the Fourth Presbyterian church, under the direction of Barrett Spach, will present a memorial choral service dedicated to the men and women in the armed forces, tonight at 8. The program includes Bairstow's "Lord Thou Hast Been Our Refuge," a setting of Whitman's "Hushed Be the Camps," by a young soldier, Robert Ward, Willan's "How They So Softly Rest," and Randall Thompson's "Alleluia." As a prefatory organ solo Mr. Spach will play Leo Sowerby's "Requiescat in Pace."

The Mid-West Opera company will present two performances of Verdi's "A Masked Ball" tonight and tomorrow night at 8, at the Eighth Street theater. There will be a ballet, in addition to an orchestra and chorus, with William Fantozzi as musical director, and Charles La Berge as artistic director. Tonight's cast will consist of Virginia Parker, Robert Fitzgerald, Stefan Kozakevich, Vera Jeske, Dorothy Froelich, Lee Whitezel, Pieter Van Zanten, Arlo Tatum, William Vincent St. James, and Luella Utke. Tomorrow night the leading roles will be sung by Ilma Bayle, Josef Cristea, Alycia Helminiak, and Dorothy Linden.

The Chicago Business Men's orchestra will present its first concert of the season under the direction of George Dasch at Orchestra hall tomorrow night at 8:15. The soloist will be Harry Sturm, cellist of the NBC orchestra of the Chicago studios, and former first cellist of the Kansas City Philharmonic and the Portland Symphony orchestra. Mr. Sturm will play the Lalo concerto in D minor and orchestral numbers will be the overture to "Der Improvisator" by D'Albert, Goldmark's "Rustic Wedding" symphony, and Johann Strauss' waltz, "Roses from the South."

Marjorie Burgess, an Evanston soprano who has spent the last several years in New York, will give a recital at Kimball hall on Tuesday at 8:20. An unusual program lists four songs by the Washington, D. C., composer, Mary Howe, two each by the English composers Lord Berners and Arthur Bliss, a group by the Finnish composers, Kuula, Kilpinen and Sibelius, Spanish songs by Granados and De Falla, and songs in German by Wagner, Brahms, and Strauss. André Skalski will be the accompanist.

The North Side Symphony orchestra will give the first concert of its fifth season at Thorne hall this afternoon at 3:30, under the direction of Rudolph Reiners.

Four more attractions are announced by Harry Zelzer for his season of concerts. Argentinita and her entire company of Spanish dancers, including Pilar Lopez, will appear at Orchestra hall on Sunday, Jan. 28, at 3:30. Libby Holman, former night club and revue singer, will make her American concert debut in a program of early American "blues" and other songs, with Josh White, guitarist, at the Civic theater, Sunday, Dec. 3, at 8:30. Devi Dja and her Balinese dancers will appear in the exotic dances of Bali, Java, and Sumatra at the Civic theater on Sunday, Dec. 10, at 8:30. And Sigmund Romberg, with an orchestra and soloists, will present a program of his own music at the Civic Opera house on Sunday, April 29. Other attractions under the Zelzer management will be announced as dates are set and theaters become available.

The Northwestern University Symphony orchestra will give a concert in Cahn auditorium this afternoon at 4. George Dasch will conduct works by Frescobaldi, Sinigaglia, Grieg and Enesco, and Stefan Bardas will play the second piano concerto by Brahms.

Helen Levine will give a piano recital in Kimball hall on Wednesday, Nov. 29, at 8:15.

Polyna Stoska, dramatic-lyric soprano, will be presented in a debut recital at Orchestra hall next Sunday afternoon, Nov. 26, at 3, by the Lithuanian Daily Draugas, in commemoration of its 35th anniversary. Miss Stoska graduated from the Juilliard School of Music, studied in Italy and Germany, and sang opera and concerts abroad before returning to the United States. The program will be shared by the St. Casimir Academy girls' a cappella choir of 60 voices.

Jan Smeterlin.

The Musical Arts Piano series of low priced piano recitals by distinguished artists will open its ninth season at Orchestra hall on Tuesday at 8:15, with Jan Smeterlin, Polish pianist, substituting for the originally announced Josef Lhevinne. Mr. Smeterlin will play an all-Chopin program, consisting of the Scherzo in E major, Mazurka in B minor, Scherzo in B minor, Mazurka in B flat minor, Sonata in B flat minor, Scherzo in B flat minor, three Etudes, and the Scherzo in C sharp minor. The next concert in the Musical Arts series will be given on Dec. 5 by Witold Malcuzynski.

Dorothy Lane will give a harpsichord recital at Kimball hall next Sunday afternoon, Nov. 26, at the unusual hour of 5:30. She will play Sonatas in A major and D major by Scarlatti, Mozart's Sonata in A minor, and the Air with 30 Variations by J. S. Bach, known as the Goldberg variations.

A remarkable collection of American sheet music of the mid-nineteenth century was recently presented to Newberry library by Henry C. Friedman and is now on exhibit at the library from 9 a. m. to 9:45 p. m., except Sundays. The collection includes various Chicago items, first editions of Stephen Foster songs and songs of the minstrel show period of Dan Emmett and E. P. Christy, post-Civil war comic songs, songs of the industrial era, and political songs.

Eddie Oliver, Ex-Marine, to Aragon Nov. 28

By Will Davidson.

Eddie Oliver, the handsome and likable bandsman, is out of the marines and back in the music making business, and he'll do his big comeback Nov. 28 at the Aragon ballroom. He is one of two "new" bandleaders to open that night in the Karzas realm. Billy Bishop, who did a good one night stand at the Trianon several months ago, will take over that stand again, this time for a month.

Eddie originally was very popular with his smaller band. He was one of those musicianly gents who could play a perfect show and also turn out excellent dance music. Then he ventured into the big band field, and made a crashing success of it at the Edgewater Beach hotel. When he left for the marines his band stayed on, and part of it is there now, under the guidance of Emil Vandas. Eddie has reorganized and reports from those who have heard him are all to the good.

Billy Bishop calls his tunes "Music from Mayfair," an allusion to London's smart section where Bishop and his boys played from 1934 to 1939. Like Eddie Oliver he features his wife as vocalist. She is beautiful Alice Mann. Mrs. Oliver is the famous Ann Judson Jr.

Looking a little farther ahead, the Chez Paree is bringing back Joe E. Lewis and Rose Marie on Dec. 7—not Dec. 3, as I inadvertently reported last week. With them will be D'Angelo and Vanya, the handsome dance team that proved so effective in the Mayfair room not long ago; and Carol King, toe dancer.

On Dec. 9, Sammy Kaye's famous band plays a one nighter at the Trianon; on Dec. 1, Tommy Dorsey comes into the College Inn for two weeks, and on Nov. 30, Carmen Cavallaro takes over the starring role in the Empire room's Holiday Revue at the Palmer House. His piano and orchestral specialties will be augmented by the antics of the Minnevitch Harmonica rascals; G. Ray Terrel, magician; Dorr Stuart, baritone; the exquisite dancing Digatanos; and Merriel Abbott's line in some new numbers.

This week, of course, is headlined by the arrival of Charlie Agnew at the La Salle hotel on Tuesday, and of The Ritz Brothers, with Frankie Masters' band, at the Latin Quarter Friday. The Quarter is going all out on this show, and will offer as supporting acts Estelle Sloan, the spectacular dancer; the Maxellos; Jerry Scott; and Frank Cook.

If you hear big news some of these days about George Tapps, don't be surprised, because the Rio Cabana's dancing star is determined to fulfill some very exciting and praiseworthy ambitions. It is that determination, plus an enormous talent that makes him one of our great dancers today. George still is a hit in the Rio show—but today it is Sammy Walsh's turn. Sammy has come back to civilian life after 21 months as an indefatigable U. S. O. entertainer, and welcome he is.

Sammy is an amiable little guy. He even pillories heckless in a friendly way. His humor is delicious and warming. That Benny Goodman impersonation with its silent swing is a gem. His "Old Man River" should put an end to all baritones. And when he goes into something like "He Never Let His Failure Go to His Head," or "Thanks For a Lovely Evening, Mr. Ickes," you are listening to very funny material made even funnier by a keen talent. Sammy has that lovely sense of the utterly ridiculous that can make comedy such entirely satisfactory entertainment. It's no wonder the G. I.s love him.

There are two other new acts in the Rio show. Virginia Carroll is a gifted singer whose cafe savvy does not yet quite match the excellence of her voice. That is something she can achieve easily enough. Enrico and Novello specialize in Mexican and Latin dance routines, and altho at times their work appears studied instead of spontaneous they are an attractive pair, and pleasant to watch.

Dorothy Dorben's oriental number, starring the beautiful and fast developing Inez Clavijo, is an exquisitely gowned, tremendously effective line routine. It has that inescapable Dorben touch. So do all the line numbers. It is a touch that is proving a valuable asset to this club.

Boswelling the Bistros:

Lt. Comdr. Harry B. Miller [yes, there's a new half stripe since you last saw him] will be back in town on leave soon, ready to renew acquaintanceships in the bistro belt where he once ranged so effectively as a p. a. . . . Charlie Wright and his band, with beautiful and elfin Dawn Roland, open in the Bellerieve hotel, Kansas City, Dec. 15. . . . The Palmer House's Al Fuller reports he's playing a leading role in a new extractaganza at the Mayo clinic. . . . The Shadow Lounge of the Sarong room is open again for cocktails. . . . Little Joe Poretta, who used to play sax for Griff Williams, has his own band now at the Santa Rita hotel, Tucson.

John Hoysradt is writing a play for Paul and Grace Hartman, and just the thought of the combination makes you chuckle. Which is what I'm doing, too, over the mental picture of Frank Faye in his smash hit role as the gentle friend of Harvey, the invisible six foot rabbit. . . . There'll be Thanksgiving parties at the Aragon and Trianon both Wednesday and Thursday evenings. . . . Don McGregor's on his own now as a p. a.

TEN INDIANS IN POETRY?

"Ten Little Indians" ring up the curtain,
'Twas then the cartoonist saw them, 'tis certain,
For when Agatha Christie, the author, gets thru,
The right title is, "And then there were two."
We'll not tell the fate of the vanishing eight, or
You might stay away from the Harris theater.

Glass Menagerie" is a brand new four character play and perhaps that fourth role is added just to make "The Voice of the Turtle" look stingy about hiring actors. Gossip about the extra gentleman has bounced from William Gargan to Dana Andrews, but whoever he turns out to be, he will join Mr. Dowling, Miss Taylor, and the slender Miss Haydon, who is ethereal or anemic, depending on the point of view.

Along with his partners, Louis J. Singer and Alex Yokel, Mr. Dowling, as you probably know by now, would like to follow "The Glass Menagerie" with other new plays and revivals. He would like to reappear with Miss Haydon in the brilliant Saroyan play, "The Time of Your Life," and to stage a new Saroyan piece if the author just gets it finished. He also has a play for Ethel Waters, written by Lee Falk and called "The Brass Ring." He might revive "Little Women" here as in New York. He plans special matinees of "Outward Bound"—you remember Miss Taylor played Mrs. Midget here in a 1939 revival. He would like to get Barry Fitzgerald out of Hollywood for "The Plough and the Stars"—remember that wonderful line, "You can't flutther a feather of Fluther"?—and there is a hope that Sir Cedric Hardwicke might again play "Shadow and Substance."

Mr. Dowling has wanted to play Chicago repertory ever since Chicago discovered and was enchanted by the symphonic quality of "The Time of Your Life." No actor forgets a good audience. I hope no audience has less lasting regard for a good actor.

BOOK NEWS AND REVIEWS

Overseas Bases Are Urged as Insurance Against War

"BASES OVERSEAS," by George Weller. [Harcourt, Brace, $3.50.]

Reviewed by George J. Scharschug.

With the days of peace-making now in the offing, Mr. Weller's book is most provocative. It is worth close reading by every American who hopes for the day when it will no longer be necessary to send the cream of our manhood and womanhood to all parts of the world to fight and die for those principles which we hold dear and to rescue those whom we consider our friends.

Mr. Weller urges that the United States come out of this war with a string of strategic bases—military and political—which will encircle the world. Most of these bases we have already built at vast cost in American engineering, labor, and materials. For many of them, such as Tarawa in the Gilbert Islands of the Pacific, those in North Africa, Italy, and other points in the Mediterranean, on the Burma road, in British and French possessions, north of Australia and New Zealand, the United States has paid a much heavier price in the blood of American men.

He also insists on our holding bases in the islands we are taking from the Japanese and on establishing others on the coast of China as well as in Greenland, Iceland, and the Skagerrak.

George Weller.

To Americans, who have never been empire-minded, this may seem a tremendous undertaking. However, unless one is an Utopian, who believes wars will end with the current global war, careful study of Mr. Weller's arguments may bring agreement with him that possession and maintenance of a worldwide string of bases is perhaps the most effective insurance which the American people can buy against paying, in future conflicts, the price in lives and resources which we are paying in this war.

Mr. Weller is a realist. He is a newspaperman who has seen Americans fight and die on many battle fronts. The plan which he has set down in his book is based on hard facts an dclear thinking.

While the United States has millions of soldiers fighting on land, Mr. Weller—rightly, we believe—sees this country emerging from this war as the leading air and naval power. After fighting this war to save several empires as well as to wreck the empire ambitions of three other nations, he maintains that America will have become so involved in world affairs that we can never draw back into a shell of isolation.

He puts little faith in internationalism. He does not believe there is any such thing as mass friendships. As to internationalized bases, he says: "Between thee and me it is always more thine than mine."

He deals without gloves on the lack of action by the President and the state department to protect American rights to bases all over the world, which we have won with American blood, sweat, and resources.

The costs will be higher now than when our allies were begging for our help and before we had given away a vast part of our resources thru lend-lease. However, he urges that when peace terms are written our diplomats insist on America's retention of strategic bases circling the world because "he who holds the external bases holds the peace."

Like Gags? Bennett'll Cerf 'Em Up

"TRY AND STOP ME," edited by Bennett Cerf. [Simon & Schuster, $3.]

Reviewed by Marcia Winn.

Mr. Cerf rapidly is becoming America's perennial anthologist. This time it is anecdotes and stories, identified as "mostly humorous." Not even Mr. Cerf pretends that all of them are new. He wisely admits in his preface that, for every new anecdote he has used, he has collected two that are hoary with age. One's luck as a reader depends on how often one has heard them before.

The bulk of the anecdotes hinge on that curious fringe of America's intelligentsia, ranging from Schnozzle Durante to the late Heywood Broun, who substituted the art of the wisecrack for the art of conversation. Dorothy Parker and Voltaire, who developed the art of riposte into an undertaking as skilled as it was deadly, also are included, but the majority of the anecdotes must be classified as puns, wisecracks, or bathroom humor.

Maybe there is little or nothing new in humor. This book would seem to bear that out. A so-called pearl of wit drops from a tongue. Soon it is accredited to Gypsy Rose Lee, Somerset Maugham, and Mr. Cerf, as well as to 60 others. Who first said it few ever know. Mr. Cerf boldly and bravely puts the bon mots into the mouths of definite personages.

Some are certainly funny and as certainly properly attributed, such as Dorothy Parker's reply when a drunken shipmate said, "I simply can't bear fools." Retorted Miss Parker: "Apparently your mother did not have the same difficulty." And perhaps Wolcott Gibbs, when Moss Hart cried, "Look, I've moved this oak to shade my library," actually did say, "It just goes to show you what God could do if he only had money," but certainly the same remark had come out in untold guises.

Markers thruout the book show Mr. Cerf dressed as a ragpicker spearing up pieces of paper from the gutter, and some of his anecdotes seem to have come from that very area. You couldn't, and wouldn't, publish them in a daily newspaper, and you would hear them only in a bathroom or at a gathering of our more uninhibited intelligentsia, but here they are.

In general, this should be a good compendium for all who like this sort of thing. Put it beside your bed, read a page or two, and giggle yourself to sleep. Or look at the illustrations by Carl Rose, which have the additional merit of being new. However, the dedication is nice: "To all the people whose wit, or lack of it, made this volume possible."

And, of course, one reading of this volume will make you a sure fire thing at dinner parties unless, as could happen, all of your fellow diners have heard the stories before.

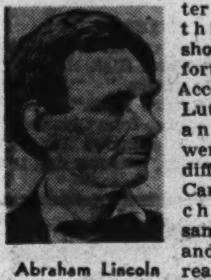
Education and Politics of Lincoln Shown in 2 Books

"THE FIRST LINCOLN CAMPAIGN," by Reinhard H. Luthin. [Harvard University Press, $3.50.]

Reviewed by Avery Craven.

Having just come thru a Presidential campaign, and a rather bitter one at that, this volume should give comfort to readers. According to Mr. Luthin, times and methods were not much different in 1860. Candidates were chosen by the same methods and for the same reasons that they were chosen in 1944. Interests and prejudices largely determined the way men voted. Winning was the chef object with both parties. Fears, threats, personal gains, and undercover bargains all had a part and the fact that an Abraham Lincoln came out of the fog and dust to be President was only incidental.



Abraham Lincoln in 1860.

There is little new in the story here told, but there is a wealth of interesting detail about each of the possible Republican candidates and the ways in which friends brought them to the fore: Chase, the Free Democrat; Gates, the Conservative; Seward, the anti-slavery Whig; Lincoln, the spokesman of the anti-Nebraska Northwest, and Cameron, the hope of the high tariff industrial belt.

Again we hear how Lincoln's friends packed the convention hall by the use of duplicate tickets and thus kept out the Seward men who had paraded the streets too long. We go behind the scenes where bargains were being made and offices promised. We find out how the doubtful states were carried and how groups which differed on every fundamental issue were led to vote the same ticket.

We feel much at home when Douglas is "smeared" and more at home when the campaign speakers promise perpetual peace and prosperity beyond all doubt if the election goes the right way.

Luthin has done a good job in pointing out the conservative trends in the Republican party in 1860 and the part which economic interests played in men's thinking and voting. He misses the very significant fact that the campaign in the north was primarily one to defeat Douglas while in the south two local factions battled each other with scarcely a reference to Abraham Lincoln. He has, however, produced a scholarly study of an important campaign which should be of particular interest to the people of Chicago and Illinois.

"MENTOR GRAHAM, the Man Who Taught Lincoln," by Kunigunde Duncan and D. F. Nickols. [University of Chicago Press, $3.75.]

Reviewed by Edw. Wagenknecht.

Once in a blue moon one encounters a book which can only be described as a miraculous achievement. "Mentor Graham" is such a book.

It would still deserve classification as a first rate biography even if it had been written in the ordinary way. There is no book in our libraries that will give you a more vivid picture of the way men lived in Illinois a hundred years ago, or a better chance to live your way back into that life. In these pages a bygone civilization lives again.

But it was not written like other books. Tho Mentor Graham kept his records meticulously, fire destroyed them long ago. Not more than 20 statements about him had ever found their way into print. Miss Duncan and Mr. Nickols traveled 7,000 miles to gather the stuff of this book from the lips of men and women to whom it had been handed down as oral tradition. And only Miss Duncan's discovery that she herself was related to the tight mouthed Graham clan made it possible for them to finish the job.

How little life has changed, after all, since the days of the English and Scottish popular ballads! And how much we scholars miss when we confine ourselves to libraries!

The thing that will surprise you most, I think, is the kind of schooling Mentor Graham gave his pupils in their log schoolhouses. Of course we do much better today. Or do we?

"How many Americans today have read—and discussed, digested, and memorized high spots from—narratives by Dr. Johnson, Blair, Cicero? Arguments of Pliny and Addison? Descriptions by Goldsmith and Fénélon? The pathos of Goldsmith and the earl of Stratford? The dialog of Heraclitus, Pythias, Damon, Locke?" And so on; the passage is too long to quote in its entirety.

Perhaps you think you are not interested to read the life of an obscure schoolmaster of a century ago, even when his were the powerful hands that molded Abraham Lincoln. Open the book, and you will find that you were mistaken.

This Tells Us How Politicos Function

"IT'S ALL POLITICS," by Lewis Abrahams. [Samuel Curl, Inc., $2.50.]

The recent election campaign created what probably was the most widespread general interest in politics of any campaign in history. The candidates, the factors involved, the war, the problems of peace, the new political position of labor unions, all contributed to the awakening of the electorate—what has been called the "sleeping giant." Regardless of what the reader may feel about the outcome of the election, one fact remains clear. If our democracy is to work every individual must work at it. Abrahams attempts in his book to demonstrate the workings of politics—how machines flourish, how crooked leaders can win honest votes, how money can affect legislation, and finally, how the public pays for it all. To a large extent the author is effective, but he frequently sacrifices impressive objectivity in order to plead a cause that is open to honest disapproval.

TITLE.	SUBJECT.	VERDICT.
"THE BOOK OF BOOKS," edited by Wilbur Owen Sypherd. [Knopf, $3.]	An abridged edition of the King James version of the Bible with explanatory comments for young readers. Dr. Sypherd, who is a Bible scholar of note, has succeeded thru his selections and interpretations in presenting the Bible as living literature.	An excellent edition for young people which should promote study and understanding of the Scriptures both as the Word of God, and as the world's greatest literary classic. Attractive format with line drawings and maps designed by W. A. Dwiggins. For the middle grade level and up.
"THE CHRISTMAS ANNA ANGEL," by Ruth Sawyer. [Viking, $2.]	A tender little Christmas story about a small girl in Hungary who never lost her faith that her own particular angel could bring her the cherished holiday cakes on Christmas morning.	An appealing picture book based on the story of a real little girl in a bygone Christmas time. Lovely, colorful pictures by Kate Seredy.

The Book that Answers All Your Questions About the Arts

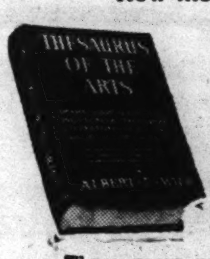
ONCE OWNED — NEVER PARTED WITH

The Story of this Book

We are All Lovers of the Arts

Everyone is interested in various forms of art in leisure hours—we like fine drama, good motion pictures, beautiful music, exquisite paintings or sculptures, outstanding architecture, graceful ballets, literature of various kinds, radio and television features—all of which are decidedly manifestations of art. But when we desire information regarding the personalities, subjects, and terms connected with our favorite arts, we frequently find it difficult to obtain.

How the THESAURUS Came To Be



The THESAURUS OF THE ARTS was conceived by its author, Albert E. Wier, in 1938 after an intensive search revealed the fact that there was no single or multi-volume work published devoted exclusively to the arts in which lovers of painting, music, architecture, sculpture, literature, ballet, drama, motion pictures, radio, and television could obtain accurate information interestingly presented on the particular subjects or personalties in which they had interest.

Three years were spent in assembling more than 10,000 cards containing data on the important personalities, subjects, and terms connected with the ten arts represented in the volume: more than two hundred works of reference were consulted, and two years more were spent in the preparation of the 650,000-word manuscript, written entirely in longhand and comprising more than 8500 interesting references arranged in alphabetical order so that any personality, subject or term can be readily found.

Some Interesting Information on the Author

Albert E. Wier, author of the THESAURUS OF THE ARTS, was born near Boston, Massachusetts, in 1879, and educated at Harvard University under John K. Paine, and at the New England Conservatory of Music under George W. Chadwick. He has edited more than two hundred collections of music; he is also the inventor of the Arrow System of Score Reading, and author of The Piano (Longmans, Green & Co.). Eugene Stinson, distinguished critic of the Chicago "Daily News", characterized him as "an experienced editor and encyclopedist; a master of inclusiveness and condensation: there is an inviolable scholarliness and also a certain charm in the production as it finally emerges from his hands".

Dedicated to the Average Art Lover

The author has written the THESAURUS OF THE ARTS for millions of people who love art for art's sake: that is why it will speedily find a place in every American home where there is keen interest in the fine arts. In his own words: "The THESAURUS is not designed for the professional, but rather for all true lovers of art who look for concise, factual information, in easily accessible form, on all the distinguished personalities, subjects, and terms connected with the arts".

THE LITERARY SPOTLIGHT

by Fanny Butcher

LAST week was Children's Book week, and once again the observance brought out the fact that Chicago is the home of many creators of juvenile books. . . . At the annual Juvenile Artists' and Authors' dinner almost 200 persons gathered to meet this year's stars. . . . Lucile Pannell, co-author with Ralph Henry of "Chuggety Chug," was the mistress of ceremonies. . . . She charmingly introduced 17 authors and artists, each of whom replied with a brief description of his or her new books.

The evening's most prolific writer proved to be Margaret Friskey, who has seven new books this year: "Tad Lincoln and the Green Umbrella," a book with the Lincoln spirit; "Randy and the Crimson Rocket," a story about a train; "Scuttlebutt and the Carrier Kitten," a sequel to "Scuttlebutt Goes to War"; "Corporal Crow"; "Sandy and the Indians," about Rock Island and Black Hawk, and two books illustrated by Katherine Evans, who was also present at the dinner; "Adventure for Beginners," an ABC book, and "Who Lives at My House," a book printed on linen [published Dec. 1]—one way of overcoming the paper shortage. . . . Mrs. Evans was very busy this year with the illustrations to "Chuggety Chug" also.

Other Celebrities.

There were also present Laura Bannon, who both wrote and illustrated "Gregorio and the White Llama," a story of Peru; Jene Barr, author of "Conrad the Clock"; Marjorie Barrows, whose "Jo-Jo," the story of a little koala bear, gleams with phosphorescent eyes. . . . Rowena Bennett, author of "Runners for the King," a tale of the Incas, and her illustrator, Fiore Mastri, were there, as were Josephine Blackstock, whose latest book is "Island on the Beam," a tale of heroic Malta. . . . Another island is the scene of "Sinister Island Squadron," a tale of mystery and adventure for older boys, by another honored guest, Frederic Nelson Litten. . . . Charles Lee Bryson, who wrote "Double Trouble," another adventure story for boys, and Paul Gilbert, author of "Egbert," a hilarious lad—Egbert, not his creator, who is as dignified as a deacon.

Bernice Bryant, whose book of etiquet for younger girls bears the perfect title of "Future Perfect"; Marguerite Henry, author of "A Boy and a Dog" [with a circus for good measure]; Connie Moran, who with Diana Thorne wrote and illustrated "Chips," the tale of a cocker spaniel; Josephine van Dolzen Pease, author of the excellent "This Is Our World," and its illustrator, Esther Friend, and Alta Seymour, author of "On the Edge of the Fjord," a book about modern Norway, completed the roster of distinguished juvenile writers and illustrators. . . . Frederic Babcock of THE TRIBUNE, A. C. Spectorsky and Phyllis Whitney of the Sun and David Appel of the Daily News also addressed the gathering.

So Much of So Little.

The audience which the Rotary club of Chicago provided for "Mrs. Miniver" Jan Struther on election day was vast. . . . She spoke for her allotted 30 minutes and never has an audience heard so much made of so little with such charm. . . . She admitted that her intent was merely to take the anxious voters' minds "off things." . . . And she did just that, with the whimsy and the subtle twist of phrase which characterized "Mrs. Miniver," that collection of fragile, charming pictures of life in England during its crisis . . . made into a magnificent and unforgettable motion picture by—did you know?—James Hilton.

Jan Struther compared awaiting the results of the national election to the anxiety in a maternity case and gave her listeners a final laugh with the comforting assurance that no matter what happened, "it can't possibly turn out to be twins."

A Corrective for Style.

Her discourse was concerned with the mechanics of writing. . . . She dismissed the creation of writing with the cogent if not original phrase that "no one likes writing, every one likes having written." . . . She discussed the rival charms of the pen, the pencil, and the typewriter [not giving that estimable mechanical aid to literature its due]. . . . A pencil is a "diminishing asset," she declared. . . . A pen [the favorite pipe line between her thoughts and the paper] gushes and spouts only when it is nearly empty, which, she declared, sounds like a paradox, but is true also of human beings. . . . She suggested that writers, as an exercise in style, be made to carve on tree trunks. . . . She provided a gentle anodyne to the day's anxieties, and if the Rotary club members didn't have a pocketful of wisdom to carry home, they had a pocketful of posies [in happy applause] to present to their attractive speaker, who looks much younger and prettier than they had expected of the mother of three children, the eldest old enough to be working on a farm in Scotland. . . . Her husband, Anthony Maxtone-Graham, is a prisoner of the Germans from the Libyan campaign.

The Soul of Amber.

The most fabulously successful book of the moment is "Forever Amber"—so successful that the supply was exhausted a few days after publication and orders are now piled like Ossa on Pelion. . . . There recently came to my attention a book called "The Soul of Amber" . . . a serious tome about "The Background of Electrical Science" . . . but the blurb on its sedate jacket might explain Kathleen Winsor's caloric tale. . . . It reads: "The soul of Amber is of course the electrical property which makes it attract other materials. Men knew about it in ancient times; they thought it was magical. But other men . . . commenced to tinker with magnetism and electric sparks. They began to speculate. Their tinkering turned into deliberate experiment; their speculations fathered the scientific method." . . . Did Kathleen Winsor have the properties of its "soul" in mind when she named her heroine Amber, and not because of the color of her eyes?

P. S.: Hendrik Willem Van Loon, who died last March, must have written more, and more interesting, letters than many of his day. . . . He took pen in hand as naturally and often as devastatingly as the Lord in "The Green Pastures" picked up a lightning bolt. . . . There is clamor that his letters be collected. . . . His wife has been commissioned to do it. . . . She is asking Hendrik's old friends and his other correspondents to help by sending his letters [or copies of them] to her at her home: Nieuw Veere, Old Greenwich, Conn.

When Morals Were Solemn and Severe

"BUFFALO COAT," by Carol Brink. [Macmillan, $2.75.]

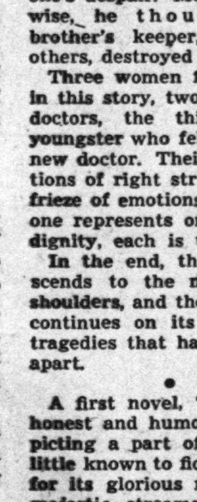
Reviewed by Kenneth Horan.

In André Gide's "Imaginary Interviews" he explains that it is not the depiction of loose morals or evil surroundings to which he objects in a novel, but the carelessness with which so many books of that material are written. "Buffalo Coat" is a stanch defender of the school of good story, good writing, a likable tale of the 1890s when the line between right and wrong was so heavily drawn as to cause many a mistake.



Carol Brink.

The wearing of a buffalo coat was the symbol of success in the medical profession in Opportunity, Idaho. Doc Hawkins, who had come there from New Hampshire and practically owned the town, wore one, and told people what they must do, and how to live their lives, in his gruff, hearty way, and was beloved.

Then a new doctor came to Opportunity, and he fell in love with the minister's daughter, and Doc Hawkins saw that here was a chance to draw that heavy line between right and wrong, and he did it, to every one's despair. More righteous than wise, he thought himself his brother's keeper, and, destroying others, destroyed himself.

Three women figure prominently in this story, two of them wives of doctors, the third the innocent youngster who fell in love with the new doctor. Their different conceptions of right struggle in a kind of frieze of emotions and because each one represents one kind of human dignity, each is understandable.

In the end, the buffalo coat descends to the most unlikely shoulders, and the little Idaho town continues on its way, despite the tragedies that have torn its people apart.

A first novel, "Buffalo Coat" is honest and humorous and real, depicting a part of the country, but little known to fiction, which except for its glorious mountains and its majestic streams, does not differ essentially from all the rest.

WHEN GAS BUGGIES FIRST CAME TO MUNCIE

Sentimental Pictures of Things Past

"HOW DEAR TO MY HEART," by Emily Kimbrough. [Dodd, Mead, $2.50.]

Reviewed by Fanny Butcher.

Half of that irresistible writing team, Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough, who wrote "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," has done another book to put on the shelf beside her memories of the trip when "We Followed Our Hearts to Hollywood." This one starts where memory begins, with little Emily's pre-school days. It opens chronologically with the time that Grandfather Kimbrough brought the first horseless carriage into town. Its first chapter is entirely concerned with the haps and mishaps of that momentous induction.

Muncie, Ind., is the scene of this "Remembrance of Things Past." I do not mean to convey for one moment that "How Dear to My Heart" is a novel after the matchless pattern of the Marcel Proust series. It is neither a novel nor, like the Proust books, great literature. But if the movies can buy a title and then do with it what they will, I see no reason why a hard pressed reviewer cannot lift a title, especially one so universally apt as "Remembrance of Things Past," a perfect fit to the contents of this little book. Its remembrance, not of events but of things, is what gives it its greatest attractiveness: things like the glass beaded shades on the gas light on the hall newel post; grandmother's bustle and mother's bust ruffles, both designed to do what nature hadn't; the honeysuckled front porch, designed for sitting on, the ice cream scooped out by the tablespoons held in eager little hands when the ice cream man came around of a hot summer afternoon; the wooden sidewalks that held, according to their next door neighbor who envied the smooth cement of the Kimbrough's winding path, peril to life and limb; the firecrackers which little children shot off and the fireworks which older children [called grown-ups] always managed to get into trouble with.

Muncie was the "Middletown" of the famous research which Robert S. Lynd and his wife Helen Merrell Lynd did in trying to discover the body and the soul of the typical American town, publishing their findings in "Middletown" and "Middletown in Transition." They knew Muncie more all-inclusively and more dispassionately than Emily Kimbrough knew it, but they could not know what a happy place it was for one little girl, at least, to grow up in.

Emily Kimbrough's childhood might have been the childhood of any little girl whose parents were comfortably fixed and whose grandparents were the town leaders, in any prosperous small town in the midwest. It is the quality of usualness, of common experience, which will win "How Dear to My Heart" its appreciative audience, rather than any unusualness, any "Peck's Bad Boy" quality, or the quality which added the always unexpected to the common experience of every one on a first trip abroad in "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Emily was older than the years recorded in "How Dear to My Heart" before fantastic things began happening to her—the kind of things that happen on almost every page of her earlier books.

P. S.: Did I remember to tell you that "How Dear to My Heart" is not literature? But a great many readers won't care.

Biographer Shows Calhoun as He Was in Younger Days

"JOHN C. CALHOUN, NATIONALIST, 1782-1828," by Charles M. Wiltse. [Bobbs-Merrill, $3.75.]

Reviewed by Avery Craven.

Andrew Jackson always regretted that he had not hanged John C. Calhoun. Historians like Von Holst who view him only as a defender of slavery and a leader in nullification and secession seem to think that it would have been a good idea. They credit him with having contributed most toward causing the Civil war and starting the Confederate States of America on their tragic career.

Yet there was another and a neglected Calhoun—the young man who represented South Carolina in congress and then served as secretary of war and as Vice President. He was an ardent nationalist. Neither Clay nor Webster equalled him in devotion to the union nor in the promotion of measures beneficial to all the people of the United States.

In a day when sectional interests crowded forward and partisan politicians sought only selfish ends, he favored tariffs for the development of American manufacturing, a great system of roads to bind the nation together, and a strong series of fortifications to protect it from foreign attacks. Not until majority rule threatened to become interest and sectional rule did he shift his position. Then he became "the supreme champion of minority rights and interests everywhere."

Charles Wiltse's biography of Calhoun, which ends abruptly in 1828 when the young Vice President was offering his famous "Exposition" for the protection of South Carolina against the tariff, may seem like a fragmentary work. His story, however, is complete at that point. A new Calhoun emerges after that and the whole course of his life changes.

Every one knows the later Calhoun. He is the one whom John Quincy Adams hates so magnificently in his diary. He is in all the school books. The nationalist, on the other hand, is almost a stranger. Wiltse has recreated him in full and scholarly detail. He has told the story of politics in the Era of Good Feeling better than it is usually told and thrown a better light on William H. Crawford and John Quincy Adams than their biographers have done. He has produced what will be one of the good biographies of this year.

Here's Help for Those Who Want to Write Fiction

"THE BASIC FORMULAS OF FICTION," by Foster-Harris. [University of Oklahoma Press, $2.50.]

With Shavian self assurance, the colorful Foster-Harris spreads on paper the utterly undraped soul of the short story—or any fiction—and asserts that every other book on the mechanics of fiction which he has read confuses the spark itself with the wrappings. Also Shawlike, he makes his point stick. His formula is simple, 1 plus 1 equals 2, or 1 minus 1 equals 0. His "ones" always are moral and emotional values, which reinforce each other [1 plus 1] to bring success to our hero and a happy ending, or which cancel each other [1 minus 1] to produce defeat and a tragic finale. His other chief point is that fiction should be—must be—subjective and future-looking with respect to the viewpoint of character.

Foster-Harris' students at the University of Oklahoma sold 700,000 words last year. But he and his blurb writer make one mistake, addressing "beginners in fiction." To be sure, his book is for them, but many a seasoned writer, trained in objective journalism, can learn from this volume why he got all those rejection slips.

Mr. Krutch Dares to Tread Ground Where Boswell Trod

"SAMUEL JOHNSON," by Joseph Wood Krutch. [Holt, $3.75]

Reviewed by Kelsey Guilfoil.

"Samuel Johnson? O, wasn't he the man that wrote the dictionary—the one who compared a preaching woman to a dog walking on its hind legs?"

Such remarks are typical of people who have every right to call themselves educated, even literary, when confronted with the great name of Dr. Johnson. They know, in the aggregate, a great deal about the 18th century colossus of literature, but most of what they know is fragmentary and based on the Johnson anecdotes which are worth repeating after being bandied about for nearly two centuries.

Except for the Johnsonians, that hardy tribe of fanatical devotees who devour every smidgen of writing about the doctor and even nose around for trifles yet uncovered, few readers of the present day have the time or the inclination to wade thru Boswell's "Life of Johnson," and his "Journal of a Tour to the Hebrides," Mrs. Thrale's "Thraliana," Johnson's own massive works, and the many other volumes necessary to a good understanding of Johnson's fame.

Mr. Krutch explains in the foreword to his book that "to read with delight over a considerable span of years both Johnson and the Johnsonians is almost inevitably to be tempted to write something about him. Possibly many have resisted the temptation to write the kind of thing I have written."

That Mr. Krutch did not resist is a great gain to readers and students who want what this biography will give them: an accurate portrait of Johnson, served in an entertaining fashion.

Mr. Krutch attempts, in his foreword, to disarm the Johnson scholars by a declaration that his biography is not addressed to them. We must conclude, then, that it is meant for the general reader, the benighted soul I have just described as meeching along with a few scraps of Johnsoniana in his cranium. If that is so, why should Mr. Krutch compare different versions of certain anecdotes and Johnson witticisms—not only compare them, but repeat some of them? He explains the repetitions, but, considering that many well known anecdotes are omitted, it seems that the result is a lessened interest for the general reader.

Nevertheless, I would not leave with the reader of this review the idea that Mr. Krutch's biography falls short of being an admirable work, within its limitations. It is no substitute for Boswell's "Life." It is rather too long, and at times labored. It is at its best when the author permits himself to write straightforward narrative. It is at its worst when the author writes, as he frequently does, as tho fearful that the Johnson scholars were reading over his shoulder.

But he has succeeded in telling the story of Johnson, and telling it rather completely. He has caught the spirit of 18th century literature, and presented it to us in a modern form. Best of all, he does make it clear that Johnson's reputation was solid and well founded, and not, as many people today may think, the result of Boswell's advertising and the immense weight of a unique personality.

We may be thankful that Mr. Krutch succumbed to the temptation to write something about Dr. Johnson, and we may be even more thankful that he has done much to give Johnson his rightful place in literature.

Never idolizing, never ridiculing, never overstating nor cutting down, "Samuel Johnson" comes as close as any biography can to being an honest, readable, entertaining, and complete picture of the man and his times.

Book Speaks Plain Truth About India

"VERDICT ON INDIA," by Beverley Nichols. [Harcourt, Brace, $2.50.]

Reviewed by Philo M. Buck Jr.

Beverley Nichols.

This book recalls Katherine Mayo's "Mother India;" they have the same effect on the reader. It may have a similar effect on Indian public opinion. I was in India not long after the first appeared, and never have I heard a book so roundly abused. But it was followed, and quickly, by some sound social reform. For it shouted from the house tops some unpleasant truths, that were sentimentally hush hush. It was frank, but missed the fact that there were in India thousands of social reformers. Miss Mayo's book hurt, but it strengthened their hands.

This book should have something of the same effect. It may sweep away a lot of the rubbish breeding sentimental germs spread by Romain Rolland and Pearl Buck—not to mention a lot of Indian expatriates who now see their country only in a sentimental dream. It is a pity it was written by an Englishman—any neutral would have served better. But many of our soldiers returning from India will add their corroboration.

To check a few of the themes: Gandhi and his congress are as fascist as fascism, the Gandhi khaddar and cap not unlike the Nazi shirt and swastika. Indian journalism is venal. There is no such thing as an "Indian," only Indians of a multitude of traditions. There is a gap between the classes and the masses as nowhere else on earth. Hinduism is unhygienic and ugly. All this—there is much more—is as true as truth.

But—Mr. Nichols has never got far below the surface of India and Indian life. The surface is not pretty, but the heart is sound—and affectionate. India will solve her own problems, in spite of the waywardness of many of her leaders, and the obliquity of many of her institutions.

New York Literary Circle Is Busy Place These Days

By Harry Hansen.

NEW YORK.

THERE were nearly 600 people present at the luncheon at the Astor, where New York opened Children's Book week and with it the whole holiday season for children's books. Frederic G. Melcher, editor of Publishers' Weekly, who had the gavel, said the idea of the week had been urged as long ago as 1915 by Franklin Mathiews of the Boy Scouts, while Mary Gould Davis of the story telling division of the New York Public library was also responsible for bringing it about. Some idea of the coöperation aroused can be gained from the coöperating organizations, which included the Child Study association, the Junior league, the Women's Council for Post-War Europe, the National Council of American Soviet Friendship, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Campfire Girls, and the Association of Children's Book Editors. Laura Harris, director of Book week, planned the program.

There were many good talks—Esther Forbes, who has won both the Pulitzer prize and the Newberry medal, argued for realism in writing children's books; Louis Slobodkin, author and illustrator of "Magic Michael," discussed the universality of picture books. John Mason Brown said we have "such a high genius for remaining young that it amounts to arrested development," and declared we ought to face reality. The awards furnished a highlight to the program and the speakers seemed to come in relays; for instance, when the Child Study association gave its 1944 award for "the best book for young people that faces honestly and courageously problems of today" Mrs. Hugh Grant Straus of its book committee introduced John Tunis, winner of the first award, and Mr. Tunis presented the new award to Marjorie Hill Allee for "The House." But Mrs. Allee was absent on account of illness, so Esther Forbes accepted the award. A presentation of books from the children of America to the children of the soviet union was made by Muriel Draper and Dorothy Parker [one introducing the other] to the wife of the soviet consul general, while the Treasure Chest of books from the children of America to the children of devastated Europe, collected by the Women's Council for Post-War Europe, was presented by Mme. Ninon Tallon.

Guests of Honor.

Mr. Melcher introduced the guests of honor: Helen Dean Fish, chairman of the book week committee and editor of the juvenile book department of J. B. Lippincott; Anne Carroll Moore, former head of children's work at the New York Public library, and Frances Clark Sayres, present head; Mary Douglas, head of the school libraries of North Carolina; Nora Beust of the department of education; Mary Steel, just arrived from London with a new type of color film; May Lamberton Becker, chairman of the executive committee of Books Across the Sea, who made a record that was played in many schools and libraries during Book week; Alice Dalgliesh, author and editor of the juvenile book department of Charles Scribner's Sons. Mr. Melcher read telegrams from Beatrice Warde, in London, and Eleanor Roosevelt.

This Is Busy Season.

This is the peak of the season for social and publicity activities that make the literary world of New York a busy and sometimes nerve racking place. I don't suppose any one can attend all the events, altho it is surprising how many faces reappear endlessly, like the recurring characters of Balzac. Take, for instance, all the various activities surrounding publication of new books and giving authors a warm welcome. The National Arts club began its 39th annual book show with a luncheon for war correspondents at which Frank Chapin Bray presided and John Mason Brown, of "Many a Watchful Night"; Foster Hailey, of "Pacific Battle Front," and Samuel Duff McCoy, of "Nor Death Dismay," spoke. The exhibit continues for a month, with weekly book nights.

A real penthouse party at the St. Regis hotel celebrated the appearance of Vera Bloom's "There's No Place Like Washington," at which Miss Bloom and her father, Rep. Sol Bloom, were the guests of honor.

One Guest Can't Come.

The committee in charge of the Nobel prize dinner, which will be held at Hotel Astor Dec. 10, won't need to set a place for the 1944 winner of the prize for literature, Johannes V. Jensen. The prize winner is in Denmark and can't get out. The committee had a meeting in the Little theater Tuesday to plan for the annual dinner, which is usually attended by a dozen or more Nobel prize winners in the fields of science and literature. At this meeting a short film, "The Spirit of Nobel," was shown, and Waldemar Kaempffert spoke. When word came that Jensen had won the Nobel prize, several New York distributors, who have to supply the retail demand, asked, "Who's Jensen?"

The two publishers who had issued translations of Jensen's books were out of stock. Alfred A. Knopf published Jensen's major work, "The Long Journey," a trilogy of the earth's and man's beginnings like unto nothing in history, or legend, or holy writ, in 1923, and again in 1933; Henry Holt & Co. published a novel about a Danish tyrant, "The Fall of the King," in 1933. They will not be able to reprint this fall, which may make reprinting unlikely altogether. But altho Jensen was never widely read in the United States, he was the most active interpreter of American writers to Denmark of any living Dane.

Interested in Americans.

He has been visiting the United States regularly since 1902, when, coming from the orient, he arrived in San Francisco the day Frank Norris died—Oct. 25. This interested him in Norris and he translated "The Octopus," and induced other Danes to translate other Norris books. He also translated Jack London and wrote stories with American backgrounds. [Who reads "The Pit" now—that story of the Leiter corner in wheat in Chicago, once a national sensation?] Jensen and his wife were in the United States when war broke out in 1939, having come for the World's Fair. They were apprehensive about the safety of a son and returned to Denmark. Since then nothing has been heard from them.

Jensen has translated Walt Whitman and interested himself in Hemingway, and the range of his interests is extraordinary. He has encouraged outdoor life in Denmark and has worked as a smith, a mason, a woodworker, a sculptor, and has built a timbered house, with the help of his sons, and made violins. His chief interest is in making myths and in 1939 he tried to get Walt Disney to use one of them, but without success.

Whether You Like James or Not, These Should Be Read

"STORIES OF WRITERS AND ARTISTS," by Henry James. [New Directions, $3.50.]

"THE GREAT SHORT NOVELS OF HENRY JAMES," edited by Philip Rahv. [Dial, $4.]

Reviewed by Paul Engle.

I recommend both these books to two opposite kinds of people: To those who don't like Henry James, because these collections of short things will be the best possible introduction, and to those who do like Henry James, because these are new and complete groupings of his work.

It has always seemed to me a just comment on Henry James to remark that it was not by chance that he called his novel "Portrait of a Lady" and not "Portrait of a Woman." It would probably not have occurred to him to write a book which might be called by such a bold title. And certainly the heroine of that novel seems more like a lady than a woman. Not that one [or, at least, not that some one feminine] can't be both, but it was the James manner to write in the subtle area of society, of personality, of polite relationship.

The reasons for this manner were deep in his own nature and in that nature's lacks. But among those lacks, certainly, was not any absence of literary art. He was probably the most skilful writer we have ever had. He speaks in that urbane and ironical short novel, "The Siege of London," of women at dinner who had said nothing for a long time, and describes them as "supporting silence as if it were as becoming as candlelight."

The collection of short novels includes "Daisy Miller," that daring American girl who outraged "society," and nine other examples of the prolonged short story type. The stories of writers and artists are remarkable for being dramatizations of James' theory of literary composition.

In a superb story called "The Real Thing," he shows an artist commissioned to do some drawings for a novel of a dignified and handsome couple. Just such a couple comes to him for work as models, but he cannot use them because they are exactly the kind of picture he wants, they are "the real thing." They leave him nothing to do as an artist, no freedom or force. So he uses a Cockney girl and an Italian orange seller, because they do not interfere with the artistic production. It is a very shrewd attack on pure realism in writing.

After so many novels which are simple transcriptions of misery, it is almost exhilarating to read these cunningly conceived and gracefully written stories. And they are a fine revelation of American character as it was in the time of Henry James.

Grimm Brothers' Tales Are Given a Fresh Beauty

"GRIMM'S FAIRY TALES," revised, corrected, and completed by James Stern. [Pantheon Books, $7.50.]

Reviewed by Marcia Winn.

Here, in one of the most beautiful books to come off the presses this year, are 210 stories of the Brothers Grimm. If ever there were a book to charm an entire household, from grandmother to parents to child, this is it. It comes with a foreword by Padraic Colum, a folkloristic commentary by Joseph Campbell, and 212 illustrations by Josef Scharl that are as strong and imaginative as the stories.

Many so-called progressives will contend, probably do contend, that the Grimm fairy tales are too grim, too realistic, too sadistic for children. They are all of these things. They are filled with stern retribution, where justice triumphs and the thief, the liar, and the wicked stepmother in turn receive the evil they attempted to wreak on others. If this is strong fare, why not?

Never before, however, have readers of English read Grimm recounted as beautifully and as faithfully as here. The stories of Cinderella, or of Snow-White, or of Little Red-Cap [precursor of Little Red Riding Hood]—to name a few familiars—take on new beauty and truth and rhythm, and what could be more poetic than the words of the prince in one tale: "My love for her is so great that if all the leaves on all the trees were tongues, they could not declare it."

The book cannot be recommended too strongly. Padraic Colum's introduction alone is something to treasure.

How Basque Leader Got His Liberty

"ESCAPE VIA BERLIN," by Jose Antonio de Aguirre. [Macmillan, $3.]

Reviewed by Kenneth C. Kaufman.

The four tiny Basque provinces of northern Spain have had a sort of autonomy for centuries; the civil wars of the past century destroyed most of their ancient rights, and the revolution of 1931 found them on the side of the republic, in spite of the fact that they were and are intensely Catholic. In 1936, they declared for an independent republic, fighting side by side with the Spanish and Catalonian republics against Franco. Dr. de Aguirre was elected president, and remained so until the Franquistas, seconded by Italian aviation and ground troops, crushed their resistance and began a series of executions and other intolerable persecutions.

Jose Antonio de Aguirre.

Dr. de Aguirre then [1937] went to Paris and reorganized his government in exile. In 1940 he with his wife and two small children went to Belgium to visit his mother and mother-in-law, and was caught with other members of his family in the encirclement of Dunkirk. He knew that the Gestapo would send him back to Spain to one of Franco's firing squads, so, with the connivance of a number of Latin American consuls and even ministers, he became Dr. Alvarez, a Panamanian.

Then, leaving his wife in Belgium, he went to Germany, where for half a year he pled, cajoled, and intrigued to be allowed to leave for Panama, and to leave via Sweden, instead of the more obvious route thru Lisbon. Eventually the good offices of friends prevailed, and his wife [disguised as a Venezuelan widow] joined him with their children. Shortly after he landed in Rio de Janeiro, Columbia university offered him a visiting professorship.

The book is full of courage and pathos, with glimpses of people and personalities of many nations, and with an unbounded optimism for the future of the author's own country and the rest of the world. The English is a bit quaint, and the style prolix. The last 80 pages, mostly written before the entrance of America into the war, are a statement of his religious-political faith, and, except for certain details about the Basques, might well have been omitted.

Some Pleasant Stories of Life in Quiet Places

"COUNTRY NEIGHBORHOOD," by Elizabeth Coatsworth. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

This little volume of reminiscence and interpretation has a warm humanness about it that commends it to people who like people. The author, wife of another author, Henry Beston, writes delightfully of old folks, old houses, old ways in the Maine locale where her family spends its pleasant years on a farm by a lake.

"So I have gathered together these stories which were all told me by neighbors. I cannot vouch for them, but I wrote them down exactly as I heard them because it seemed to me that a gathering of many stories from one focus has a certain value in giving the emotional background of a locality," explains Miss Coatsworth. "And if Americans are to become really at home in America it must be thru the devotion of many people for many small, deeply loved places."

So, we have here a warmly sympathetic account of a "deeply loved place" which adds up to a bit of Americana to tuck away on the shelf.

Last Tuesday Busy Day for Chicagoans

By Thalia.

Chicago women busy with their work for the war and for their pet charities, but also eager not to miss the educational and cultural [as well as Christmas gift] offerings of the season, found Tuesday as full of comings and goings as a railroad station. Many of them were up with the sparrows, eager themselves to be the early birds at the Woman's Exchange Christmas sale at the Ambassador East. Never have lovelier articles been assembled for a charity sale and never, in my memory at least, has one been more successful. The day's sales amounted to $16,625, which topped every one's expectations.

The Woman's Exchange is a pet charity of many of Chicago's most generous women. It provides a means of livelihood or a supplemental income for many women who are unable to do regular work outside their own homes. Mrs. James Ward Thorne has worked harder for the success of this year's Exchange sale than any other member of the hardworking board, for she herself made a great many of the lovely items, among them the exquisite shadow box pictures, which have the feeling of the beautiful miniature rooms for which she is famous thruout the country.

When your Thalia arrived in the midmorning, the three salesrooms were so crowded with purchasers that she could scarcely thread her way thru. Almost every one was patriotically carrying her bundles home. One well known Chicagoan had bought an enchanting hurdy gurdy for her grandnephew and carried it slung over her shoulder because her arms were so full of parcels that she could not manage it otherwise.

From the Woman's Exchange sale members of the Woman's Athletic club went to one of the few morning lectures in their popular series which was open only to the members of the club, a wise precaution, for the big hall was crowded with women eager to hear Pierre Clemenceau, the grandson of Georges Clemenceau, the premier of France during the first World war. "The Tiger of France" visited America in 1926 when he was 86 years old and, his grandson reminded his audience, was received with the greatest honors, but was not listened to when he pleaded with Americans to put their faith in his country rather than in Germany. Young Pierre Clemenceau was in the French army during the battle of France but managed to escape to Dakar, where he was when the American forces arrived and was a great help to them and was offered a captaincy in the United States army.

He is now attached to the French national committee in Washington. He has an American wife and his grandmother was also an American, but his English is still a shade on the hazy side. He made it plain to his audience, however, how tragically France had suffered physically during the war and from the necessary bombings of her liberation, but how even in the chaos of wrecked homes, transportation, and communication France is organized to rebuild its life and determined to work, as a rallying point for the small nations of Europe, for permanent peace.

The Friday afternoon before, the members of the English Speaking union had heard a moving plea by Carl August Berendsen, minister from New Zealand, for a peace pact founded on moral principle. A forceful and evangelical speech.

Your Thalia dashed from M. Clemenceau's lecture to a luncheon at the Art institute and a preview of highly dramatic Art of the United Nations show which opened on Wednesday evening with a mammoth reception from 8 to 10 p. m. Representatives of the united nations were special guests of honor and a

Fashions and Fancy

The Christmas sale of the Woman's exchange held last Tuesday at the Ambassador East was like a page torn out of the Arabian Nights. The whole appearance of the Polo and Wedgwood rooms was lavish and luxurious, with mammoth bouquets of huge golden yellow chrysanthemums and Sally roses dramatically highlighting the display tables. On one side exquisite boudoir pillows frothing with lace spilled off a long couch. Banked up against one paneled wall was a couch throw of leopard skin cloth, with a matching tailored pillow. Scattered over adjoining tables were "shadow box" pictures of the most ravishing cut-out prints, and others filled with artistic shell arrangements and growing vines, backed on all three sides with mirrors. In another room, hanging from long racks, were dainty negligees of all pastel colors and weights. Catercornered were other racks filled with airy-fairy little girl dresses and dressing gowns. A doll's bassinet done up in pink dotted swiss, lace, and ribbons and covered with a satin comforter would suit the taste [and the purse] of the most royal little princess, and loading the tables were white woolly toys under cellophane, dolls of all descriptions, baby blankets and other garments, now to be found back in the Exchange's N. Michigan av. shop. In the midst of such a spectacular display the gowns worn by the women assisting and the busy shoppers went practically unnoticed, but in any other surroundings most of them would be remarked by fashion wise women. Mrs. James Ward Thorne, to whom the exchange owes increasingly from year to year a debt of gratitude for providing the major portion of its fascinating and unusual decorative gifts, was wearing a distinguished gown of black with a large splash of gold embroidery in the form of flowers and leaves which ran vertically from one side of the bodice well down on the skirt.

Mrs. John Stuart arrived in a black suit made with a short, boxy coat. The blouse of gold satin with a fitted waistband buttoned down the front with tiny pearl buttons, and on her head was an enchanting hat of pastel green and orange matchstick feathers, slightly stiffer than marabou, some of which were tipped in black sequins. Also distinguished was the purple wool two piece frock worn by Mrs. Stanley Keith. Its elongated overblouse was trimmed at the side front of one hip with two huge globules of amethyst colored stones and small bows of the material.

Famous Names Dot Programs of Clubwomen

By Irene Steyskal.

Rome is remote—it's to Chicago that all roads seem to lead for a procession of artists, travelers, scholars, and philosophers whose presence promises a week of intellectual feasting for the clubs of the town. Leafing thru notes on forthcoming programs gives the pleasurable surprise of dipping into treasure-trove.

Here to snare the imagination is the Chicago Drama league's announcement inscribed with the name of a young Indian reader, Te Ata, a brief poem in its English translation that evokes the music, color, and drama of ancient Indian legend. In the tongue of the Chickasaw, Te Ata means Bearer of the Morning. Among civic groups, the Woman's City club is characteristically the busy Martha, occupied with myriad tasks of metropolitan housekeeping, but this week it assumes the role of a Mary who has chosen the better part of scholarly interest.

En route from their Connecticut farm to winter in Florida are Mr. and Mrs. George B. Utley, and they plan to swing their trip this way to visit the club—in which Mrs. Utley was active for many years. It will be the golden opportunity for the members to hear the learned Mr. Utley, Newberry library's emeritus librarian, on one of his favorite subjects—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Enrique de Lozada is a name indicative of an afternoon of inter-American information for the Chicago Woman's club, and Betty Barazin, as guest speaker, means a graphic picture of Belgium for Chicago branch of the American Association of University Women. Dr. Henry S. Block is an authoritative name in the field of international political and economic study which the Chicago Woman's Aid has scheduled, and that group also promises its members interested in art a lecture by Dean Hubert Ropp.

Among the literary groups, the Chicago chapter of the Catholic Poetry society is bringing the distinguished poet, Sister Therese, to its lecture platform, and the Friends of American Writers will have an afternoon of friendly philosophical discourse with Howard Vincent O'Brien.

Because of the large attendance anticipated at Te Ata's recital tomorrow, the Drama league is moving the program from the Arts club, its customary meeting place, to Curtiss hall, and later a reception and tea will be held for the gifted young Indian reader in the Cordon.

Particularly pleasing to the group here is the fact that Te Ata, recognized as an outstanding interpreter of Indian song, tribal ritual and legend, has included on her program a poem written by Northwestern university's Lew Sarett. It is his Ojibway chant, "The Blue Duck." She will read H. B. Alexander's "Let It Be Beautiful," which encompasses Iroquois, Seneca, and Blackfoot legends of creation, romance, and death. From the writings of Mary Austin, remembered especially for her "Land of Little Rain," Te Ata selects "The Song of the Newborn," of the Grande pueblo, and the Dakotas' "Song of Greatness." The recital is set for 2 o'clock tomorrow.

Also on tomorrow's calendar, and scheduled for the same hour, is the Woman's City club meeting at which Mr. Utley will give his "Robert Louis Stevenson" talk. Mr. Utley is a collector of first editions of Stevenson's works and books written about the author of "Treasure Island."

The Chicago Woman's club will hear Enrique de Lozada at its president's day program at 2 o'clock Nov. 29, in Curtiss hall. When

Fresh from the Hills . . . By Marge of Sunrise Mountain Farm . . . Rural School

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ATTENDANCE at the Oakland rural school was light one day recently. The teacher, Mrs. Neva Whiting, was terribly embarrassed. Ordinarily the school has 25 boys and 17 girls as pupils. Twelve of the older ones were out for cotton picking, but somehow on this day a third of the remainder had stayed home. After some quizzing, the teacher learned why. The children had heard that a visitor would be at the school. Of course the visitor was only your correspondent, but word had gotten 'round that I was coming to vaccinate all the pupils. Only the bravest of them showed up.

The Oakland school stands on a rise midway between the ferry and Mountain Home, Ark., overlooking miles of wooded hills, now turning gold and scarlet and amber beneath the autumn sky. Across from the schoolhouse a broad pasture, a little church and country church yard with tilting gravestones divide the view. The schoolhouse is of native stone in warm ivory and pastel rose shades, with a tall shade tree casting long shadows on the little porch. Formerly, this was a two room schoolhouse, but after defense work took many families away the partition was removed and only one teacher hired. But two woodburning stoves, one with the left side propped up on piles of stone, stand back to back, sharing the chimney.

When it was time for school to take up, the teacher stepped out to the nearest tree and grasped the looped end of a wire dangling from the leafy heights. Then the unforgettable mellow clang of the school bell caused the big red heifer across the road to switch her tail and go snorting thru the pasture. Before the day ended, I was convinced that the teacher would have taken it in her stride if she had been obliged to climb the tree and strike the bell with a hammer. This is Mrs. Whiting's 14th term as school teacher. Thin as a rail, with dark hair and merry blue eyes, she looks little older than her daughter, who is in high school at Mountain Home, or her son who is in her own school. She drives out from Mountain Home each morning, bringing her boy and their lunches, and gets $125 a month. She earns it. After ringing the school bell, she presided at the outdoor flag raising, when the children stood, hand on heart, to repeat allegiance to the flag. From that minute until school closing time, she was on her feet, hearing little groups recite, writing things on the blackboard, cutting squares of cloth for the Red Cross project, hunting pencils, answering such questions as where is Mesopotamia and what color are an owl's eyes, and tearing clean rags for wiping grimy little hands. Her cold lunch was eaten in a rush. She had to carry out a big pail of waste water and mop the floor where the clean hands project had slopped over a bit.

In this single room, with blackboards at each end, Mrs. Whiting teaches all the grades from preprimer to 8th. All the children have the same hours. Arrival at 9, recess at 10:30, noon hour 12 to 1, recess 2:30, and freedom at 4. It seemed like terribly long hours for little Ray Bob Cox, who is only 5, but he didn't seem to mind. With his little overalled legs dangling, one bare foot scrubbing against the other, he really studied. When it was time for him to go to the blackboard, he could print I CAN HOP in letters perfectly legible from any point in the room. He could read, too. But the soft voices of Ray Bob and his slightly older classmates couldn't reach me, across the room.

The 2d graders, 6 year olds who went to the blackboard in their turn and wrote about a little bird singing to you and to me, had stronger voices. Their reading lesson concerned some repulsive people who put air in their tires and gas in their cars and went for a picnic. Dear old Mr. McGuffy must turn over in his grave at such trivialities in a reader. In the afternoon, when the reading classes had another bout, we learned what the gas wasters had at their picnic. They cooked potatoes in a fire which they probably left burning when they went home. Plump little Marvine Henderson, 6, with titian red hair, wide blue eyes, a red pinafore and bare feet, might have stepped from a frame on the Art institute walls when she stood up in a beam of mote laden afternoon sunshine to read about those picnickers.

The bulk of the 3d graders were vaccination evaders, but the others were on hand, studying, I think, to be accountants. Mrs. Whiting had prepared cards giving problems in subtraction and the three little boys in the class asked for the "hard ones." These they solved at sight. And I mean at sight.

In addition to the three Rs, which all the children studied, the older ones had history, geography, English, and something called True and False which sounded like a party game.

Mrs. Whiting was not a strict disciplinarian. When rashes of pencil sharpening, drink getting, and room leaving broke out, she was quite undisturbed. The children often talked together in soft whispers. And if teacher was busy, the little ones would go to a larger pupil, or come to me, to ask about a word. When the youngsters had been convinced that I wouldn't whip out a vaccination needle, they often came to my desk to bring me something they had written or drawn. The wide double doors stood open all day, letting in floods of warm autumn sunshine, and three dogs, of various breeds, napped on the small porch, waking only at noon to share the children's lunches and to peer into the room occasionally as if seeing that all was well.

Once Mrs. Whiting said mildly: "One of the 2d graders is reading aloud. If you do that, we'll know your lesson before you do." And another time she said severely: "Billy, if there is any more of that unnecessary noise, you'll find yourself after school with a history lesson on your hands." It seemed a bit tough on history, being ladled out as punishment, but Billy [age 12] will help make history. He will be one of the doers of the world for he wrote in his Friday composition:

"I would like to be a cowboy and work on a ranch. I love horses and cattle and like to live in the open country. There's nothing I like better than to ride a horse and drive cattle. I like to camp out in the open and sleep under the stars. People may think I'm silly, but that's my heart's desire."

• • •

Somehow, each child had an opportunity to express his individuality or creative ability. One boy was allowed to take a book from the little library [bought by the proceeds of a pie supper] when his lessons were learned. Another with bright alert face and quick wit, traced pictures and colored them with surprising neatness and skill. For one lesson, each of the older children was required to copy a poem [poetry books were available] and illustrate it according to his own idea. Some traced the pictures, others drew them freehand. Not bad, either. They preferred poems with a bit of humor in them. The younger children folded houses of heavy green paper and drew figures of men. Little Ray Bob drew a four square figure, without a neck. One of his older classmates drew a man with chicken feet . . . or maybe they were just long toes. I can't draw, either.

Like their teacher, the older girls [age 12 and 13] knew no idle moment. After lessons were learned, they went to a big box full of clean woolen cast-offs and balls of crinkled yarn from raveled sweaters. With a paper pattern as guide, they cut 4 inch squares from the fabrics. Then using yarn of contrasting color, they crocheted a border about each square. Later, these squares will be sewed together to form afghans 6 by 4 feet in size. This is a Red Cross project for veterans' hospitals. The girls crocheted at recess, at noon time, and at every available moment thruout the day. The afghan, I learned, had been at a standstill until a small boy had brought in an old green coat and a blue wool dress. Woolen cast-offs are scarce in the hills, for such garments are handed down until they become shreds. The small boy was terribly embarrassed at the gratitude of the teacher and the big girls. They wanted to hug him.

[I'm not hinting, but the school's address is Oakland School, Mountain Home, Ark. If you haven't time to wash the woolens, we have soap and rainwater here.]

It was my good fortune to be present when the clean hands project was started. Each child received a sample of a red soap, smelling of disinfectant, which a generous soap manufacturer sends to schools returning a mysterious coupon. I wish he could have seen the pleasure with which his soap was received and sniffed. The children could hardly wait until noon to try it on hands and faces. Then the tiny bars were carefully replaced in their red and yellow packages and put into pockets to be taken home.

Lunches were brought from home in sacks and lard pails, apparently bottomless. Sandwiches, mainly of store boughten bread and prepared meat that smelled like bologna, were fished out at every recess. At noon, the children ate outside in groups, sitting in shaded spots about the big school ground. The question of hot lunches split the district right in two, say Mrs. Whiting. Last year the school had hot lunches, but some of the parents were so "agin" them they forbade their children eating the food, even tho it was free. Mrs. Whiting doesn't know why this feeling exists, and can't find out. The school board members who are not in favor of hot lunches won't discuss the matter when she brings it up.

At closing time one of the directors, a near-by farmer, came to the schoolhouse, probably to check up on those vaccinations. He beamed with pride when I praised the school building with its 10 broad windows.

"Yep, it's nice," he said. "But it ort to be. It cost a pile o' money. I wrote the warrants f'r every penny that went into it, so I know. Not countin' the old box buildin' that we tore down and used f'r lumber, what we could, this schoolhouse cost $850."

Last Tuesday Busy Day for Chicagoans

large share of the 14,000 members and 4,000 other invited guests arrived. We were welcomed by Chauncey McCormick, president of the institute, who has just returned from Virginia, where he completely recuperated from his recent bout with pneumonia, every one was delighted to see.

A big roast of beef, labeled by a wag "the masterpiece of the month exhibit," had been cached for the luncheon. Bulwarked by it, Daniel Catton Rich, director of fine arts of the institute, explained the background of the magnificent exhibit which has been a year and a half in the making and which is made up of one masterpiece from the art of each of the 37 united nations. It was no easy matter. The war, of course, made transportation difficult and in many cases impossible. Some museums had ironclad rules about lending. The Boston museum has always refused to allow the matchless Chinese landscape, painted on silk, to travel, and the National gallery had never before loaned a painting until Mr. Rich was able to get the magnificent Gilbert Stuart portrait of Mrs. Richard Yates.

The first work of art ever to come to a Chicago museum by air was flown up from Bogota, Colombia. Every expert agreed that the Art institute's famous Birch-Bartlett collection contained the finest example extant of the great 19th century French painting, the Seurat "Le Grand Jatte." Seurat's original wide white frame was duplicated for the exhibit and the picture seems to have taken on a new luminance. Chronologically, the exhibit spans much of history's recorded time from a magnificent and lifelike alabaster portrait made in 2200 B. C. in Iraq to a modern Cuban artist's work of 1943.

After luncheon we looked at the dramatically installed exhibit, which proved to be, as Mr. Rich had told us it would be, an absolutely new and fresh presentation. It was done by Gyorgy Kepes.

More Gallic flavor was added to the day when in the late afternoon the Chicago chapter of France Forever had a meeting at the Stevens hotel in celebration of the liberation of France and recognition of the provisional government of the French republic under Gen. De Gaulle. The audience was vocally excited over a film which showed the guerrilla warfare in the streets of Paris during the five days before the arrival of the allies, and the great day when they rolled and marched in.

Brief talks were made by Wilfred Gallienne, British consul general in Chicago; Lionel Vasse, the new representative here of the French provisional government, preceding a long address by Robert Valeur, director of French press and information service, which carried many of the audience past their dinner engagements so that they had to leave and missed the talk by Max Hymans, chairman of the French delegation to the international civil aviation conference. The speakers all paid tribute to the indefatigable work of Mrs. Walter Brewster, president of the Chicago chapter of France Forever. I noticed in the audience Raoul Aglion, counselor of the provisional government in Washington.

Before the France Forever meeting many of the busy Chicagoans on this Tuesday had spent the afternoon, after party luncheons, at Orchestra hall, where Mischa Elman was the popular soloist with the symphony. During the intermission many discussed, with regret, missing young Janet Fairbank's concert at Carnegie Chamber hall this week.

Among the lectures which are luring the discriminating these days is the series on houses and home decoration, which was inaugurated at the Arts club last week by the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Decorators, of which Miss Cornelia Conger is president and which continued with a lecture this Wednesday by Roger Van der Straeten on "How to Judge Antique Furniture" and will carry on with Louis Bromfield talking on Nov. 25 on "The Loveliest Houses I Have Ever Seen." And he probably has seen more fabulous and lovely houses all over the world than any articulate person alive. The series closes on Nov. 29 with a talk by T. H. Robsjohn-Gibbings, author of that superbly titled little book, "Good-Bye, Mr. Chippendale." In the audience at the first lecture were the chatelaines of some of the most beautiful homes in Chicago, but none, so far as I could see, who had a home which would qualify as functional under the provisions of the speaker of the day, Prof. Walter Bogner of the department of architecture at Harvard university, who spoke on "Post-war Interiors." They should, he said, answer the demands of the future for greater ease of living to fulfil its emotional and economic needs. Slides of his own very modern home in Lincoln, Mass., showed his envious audience how housekeeping could be really simplified.

The Illinois chapter of the A. I. D. is using the profits from its series of lectures for its war work, which has been spectacularly successful and to which its members have contributed their skill, their time, and their devotion. After their own busy business days have been lived, they have generously put the best of their artistic skill to work for men in service stationed in Illinois in making homes out of the mere bare walls which the army and the navy provide. They have, as one delighted young sailor observed, taken the "shun" out of "institution."

TO BE MARRIED

Miss Betty Dunne Hill's engagement to Pvt. Arthur Eugene Hopkins Jr. of the army is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold David Hill of N. Wolcott av. Pvt. Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins of Fargo av., is stationed in the South Pacific.

Dorthee D. Gnehm and Ensign Robert Mahin Wed

The marriage of Miss Dorthee Darlene Gnehm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto R. Gnehm of 2933 N. Seeley av., to Ensign Robert L. Mahin of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mahin of Arvin, Cal., took place yesterday in the Bethany church. The bride attended North Park college. Ensign Mahin was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and received his commission from the naval reserve midshipman's school at Northwestern, at which he temporarily serves as an instructor. When he is detached from his assignment in Chicago, he and his bride will go to Miami, Fla., to live.

there are five Wednesdays in a month, the fifth program is selected by the club president, so Mrs. Henry Barrett Chamberlin will, accordingly, have the privilege of introducing the Bolivian diplomat and political scientist, who appears before the club under her auspices.

Tho he was born in Bolivia and is an internationally known figure in Latin American affairs, Dr. de Lozada was educated in Switzerland and France, and has represented his country in Bolivian legations in European capitals as well as in South American countries and in Washington. Drawing upon his wide experience in international diplomacy, Dr. de Lozada will discuss at the club "The Western Hemisphere in the Post-War." After his lecture, the club will reassemble in the north lounge of its suite in the same building for a tea.

Betty Barzin, whom the Chicago group of the American Association of University Women is to hear Monday evening, Nov. 27, is the wife of Prof. Marcel Barzin of the Brussels university. She was the first woman graduated from the Brussels Academy of Journalism, where she continued her studies after attending the City of London college. She was correspondent for several of the leading news magazines of this country. After the second invasion of Belgium the Barzins escaped to France and finally to the United States. "Victory Is Not Enough—the Belgian Point of View," is the title under which her lecture for the university women is scheduled.

Dr. Henry S. Block, who is to speak at a noon current events breakfast Friday at the Chicago Woman's Aid, has lectured in the United States at Harvard university, Wellesley college, and the Institute of Social Progress. He is now a lecturer at the University of Chicago's institute of military studies, and is a frequent participant in the university's radio round table. A specialist in government finance and war economy, Dr. Block was educated in the universities of Strasbourg, Nancy, and Paris. He will discuss "International Political and Economic Trends" at the Aid breakfast. Dean Hubert Ropp of the Art institute will be the club's guest speaker at an art breakfast Tuesday. In his talk on "Color," he will analyze several old masters and works of the moderns from the viewpoint of color content.

The Catholic Poetry society will gather at 3 o'clock next Sunday in the Alliance Francaise in the Fine Arts building to hear Sister Therese. Sister Therese is a member of the Congregation of the Divine Word, whose provincial house is in Milwaukee, Wis., and she is president of the Catholic Poetry society there.

Perhaps the most widely read of Sister Therese's books is her "Give Joan a Sword." Her poetry has been widely published in Catholic periodicals and literary magazines and has appeared on library pages of secular papers. The poetry group has planned its meeting as a tea gathering. Miss Betty Jane Bridges will contribute a group of songs to the program, which was arranged by Miss Marie Fleming of The Tribune.

Miss Nora Cauley will preside, and on the hostess committee that afternoon will be Miss Josephine Meers, Miss Katherine Kiely, Miss Mary R. Ryan, Mrs. Mary Guerault, Miss Mary Agnes Ryan, and Mrs. Daniel B. Hayden.

The Friends of American Writers are gathering at noon Wednesday in the Wedgewood room at Marshall Field's for their luncheon program, at which Chicago-born Howard Vincent O'Brien is to speak. A veteran newspaper columnist in this city, Mr. O'Brien is also the author of several books, the most recent of which is the slim volume of poignant beauty, "So Long, Son," written for his boy, Donel, killed in a bombing raid over Germany.

WED TO ENSIGN

Mrs. Stanley A. Nyberg, who is the former Elsie Newberg, daughter of John Newberg of Crandon av. Ensign Nyberg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nyberg of N. Mason av., and is stationed in the east.

Zonta Club Is Active in Yank Rehabilitation

Many of the sweethearts, mothers, and wives of hospitalized veterans at the United States naval hospital at Great Lakes are likely to be surprised this Christmas when they open packages containing handbags, scarves, luncheon sets, mats, and other items fashioned by the service men themselves, and with a bit of a professional flourish—thanks to the Loop Zonta club and its gift of 10 table looms last week to the hospital.

It was to assist in relieving the tedium of convalescence that the loop organization this fall decided to adopt as its major war service project a service man's rehabilitation program worked out in coöperation with the arts and skills corps of Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross. A definite milepost in the new program was marked last week when Mrs. Kate Certa, president of the club for business executive women, went to Great Lakes with a few Zontians to give the weaving equipment to Capt. Frederick Ceres, the hospital's commanding officer.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hibbard first introduced the idea of the rehabilitation project to her fellow club members. A sculptor, she has been volunteering her services with the Red Cross arts and skills unit to teach clay modeling and carving at the Gardiner hospital.

Originally organized under the supervision of the Art Institute of Chicago as a part of the gray lady recreation division and later established as a corps of the Red Cross, the arts and skills corps provides convalescing service men at the Gardiner, Vaughan, and Great Lakes hospitals with instruction in such arts and crafts as modeling, weaving, carving, and toy making. Qualified volunteer instructors are selected thru an admissions committee, which meets semi-monthly at the Art institute. Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence is chairman of the corps, and Charles Faben Kelley of the institute staff, its technical director.

Much equipment for the work is donated by individuals and groups, and it is in the role of a donor to the program that the Loop Zonta club has entered the picture.

In addition to purchase of the looms at an average cost of $15 each, the club also has raised money for purchase of a $65 potter's "kickwheel," a mechanical device to assist in the making of pottery, for patients at Gardiner. The looms were assembled in the shop of the Art institute by a student, Arne Vertanen, whose decided interest in the work was occasioned by the fact that he is a medically discharged soldier only recently returned from overseas, and eager to please his former buddies.

Mrs. James Hull, chairman on motion pictures, will have charge of the morning session and Mrs. William C. Bryan, American home chairman, of the afternoon program for an all-day meeting Friday of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's organizations. Mrs. L. V. Foley, the president, will convene the assembly at 10:30 o'clock in room 1907 of the Republic building.

Mrs. Hull will present John W. Dickman, who will talk on "Educational Motion Pictures," and Mrs. Charles Elson, who will give commentary on new films. Mrs. Bryan has planned a hobby show for her program and also will present a speaker.

With Mrs. Fred W. Waterman presiding, board members of the Protestant Woman's Protectorate will confer at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow in Dixon chapel of the Chicago temple. A general meeting will follow at 1:30 o'clock, at which the women will hear a talk by the Rev. Harper S. Will, minister of the First Church of the Brethren in Oak Park.

• • •

Members attending a meeting of the Native Daughters of Illinois Tuesday afternoon will bring gifts of books and games for the veterans at Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital. The program planned for the afternoon draws special interest, for it is highlighted by a one-act play written by a former president, Mrs. Franklin M. Miller. Arlene Ross, lyric soprano, will sing, with Elizabeth Michell at the piano. A preliminary history study hour at 1 o'clock will focus upon a paper by Mrs. Charles C. Lively on the early history of Washington county. Mrs. S. S. Pearson will preside at the history study session, and Miss Eva Young at the meeting proper. Mrs. Ernest D. Bishop has arranged the program. The N. D. I. meet in room 500 of the Fine Arts building.

• • •

Ann Birk Kuper will give a dramatic recital for the Dorothy Kahn Club for Crippled Children and friends of members tomorrow in the Standard club. Her reading will be from Franz Werfel's current Broadway comedy, "Jacobowsky and the Colonel." The group, a service club affiliated with Michael Reese hospital, will gather at 1:30 o'clock, with Mrs. B. J. Cohn presiding.

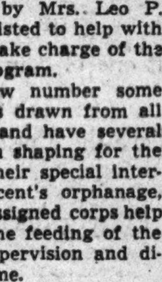
Big Sisters' Benefit to Be Held Dec. 10

With plans for the Big Sisters' large December benefit well under way, Mrs. Charles E. Caestecker will entertain at the Drake hotel at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow for the ways and means committee, of which she is chairman.



Mrs. Leo P. Finn. [Johnson Photo.]

It is a cocktail and supper party that the women are giving this season to raise money for their extensive welfare services to girls and women. Sunday, Dec. 10, is the date set for the annual benefit, which is to be held in the Crystal ballroom of the Edgewater Beach hotel. The energetic new auxiliary of Junior Aides, recently organized by Mrs. Leo P. Finn, has been enlisted to help with the party, and to take charge of the entertainment program.

The Juniors now number some 150, with members drawn from all parts of the city, and have several plans of their own shaping for the holiday season. Their special interest is in St. Vincent's orphanage, where regularly assigned corps help the nurses with the feeding of the babies and the supervision and direction of play time.

A baby party at the orphanage is one of the Christmas projects being planned, and the girls are sewing rompers, pajamas, and other clothing for gifts to be placed under the tree. Many of the aides are away in eastern schools now, but will be home for the midyear vacation, and Miss Bette Mae Nash and Miss Joan Nelson, who worked with Mrs. Finn in organizing the auxiliary, are completing arrangements for a breakfast at the Edgewater Beach on Dec. 28 for the girls and their mothers.

The senior organization is sending 50 girls to high schools on scholarships, and the students are to be given a luncheon and theater party Sunday, Dec. 16. After a Christmas lunch in the Art institute, the scholarship girls will attend a matinee at the Goodman theater. Mrs. James J. O'Sullivan is the chairman in charge of arrangements, and she and other members of the scholarship committee will give a day this week to the wrapping of gifts for their young guests.

Success mounting thru eight previous entertainments assure the customary large attendance of members and friends at the Illinois Club for Catholic Women's ninth "All-American Night" party Saturday at the Drake. Stage, screen and radio stars will participate in a patriotic pageant, and after the program there will be dancing and games.

The club supports the Mrs. Frank J. Lewis milk fund for the tuberculous poor [Mrs. Lewis is the club president], which operates on a nonsectarian basis for patients being treated in their homes. Milk and cod liver oil are provided for patients whose names are submitted by the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium. Last year the club gave 40,000 quarts of milk and 1,000 pints of cod liver oil.

Altrusa Plans an Interclub Meet Monday

Much time of late has been devoted by women's organizations of the middle west to conscientious study of post-war peace proposals, and from the study has grown the firm conviction that qualified women should be permitted to serve as members of post-war policy making bodies, including a world peace table. Accordingly, names of women adjudged by these groups as qualified for such posts have been submitted in Washington.

Miss Charl Ormond Williams.

Lest these names be shelved and forgotten, the Altrusa club of Chicago, a service group of executive and professional women, in coöperation with Altrusa units of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana will sponsor a large interclub planning meeting at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Cordon club, 410 S. Michigan av. Heads of scores of women's organizations have been invited to confer with the Altrusans on methods of getting action on lists already submitted.

Keynote speaker at the assembly will be Miss Charl Ormond Williams of Washington, D. C., chairman of the continuation committee assigned to compile a roster of qualified women for national and international commissions and to present this roster to the President of the United States, the state department, and other high government officials. Miss Williams, who has had a varied experience in local, state, and national legislation, is director of field service with the National Education association at Washington. She presided last June at a White House conference devoted to "How Women May Share in Post-war Policy Making."

At tomorrow's conference, the women expect to draft a committee to guide and direct activities in the midwest looking toward assurance that qualified women actually are permitted to serve on post-war policy planning boards. It also is expected that plans will be put in motion for a future regional conference based on the White House conference, to which will be invited representatives of city, county, state, and national government.

"This is not a movement to substitute woman power for man power," explains Mrs. Stella Ford Walker, president of Chicago Altrusa. "It is a serious and patriotic endeavor to assure having woman power at its best, by the side of man power, brought squarely and effectively to bear upon the peace time problems."

Among those invited to tomorrow's assembly and to a preliminary 6 o'clock dinner are representatives of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, the Illinois League of Women Voters, Business and Professional Women's club, Chicago Dietetic association, Chicago Office Supervisors' club, American Association of University Women, Pilot club, Medical Technologists, Quota, Soroptimist, Women's Advertising club, and Women's Bar Association of Illinois.

Among local women leaders invited are Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, Miss Bernice T. Van der Vries, and Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch. Assisting with the program will be Mrs. Elizabeth Conkey, member of the board of Cook county commissioners and the only woman from this district who attended the June conference at the White House.

Women's Club Meetings to Stress Talks on Public Affairs

Public affairs ranging from legislation affecting the family larder to world trade and post-war planning are posted for lecture and discussion this week by several women's organizations. Tomorrow the legislation department of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, which is headed by Mrs. Harry W. Raymond, will gather at 1:30 o'clock in federation headquarters, 30 W. Washington st., to hear Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde discuss the state constitution and recent movements to amend it. Mrs. Lunde, a leader in various civic groups, is secretary of the Illinois Women's Conference on Legislation.

Mrs. Harry W. Raymond.

Another speaker at the department meeting will be Mrs. Robert O. Bright of Evanston, 9th district legislative chairman of the I. F. W. C., who will discuss "Legislation for Oleomargarine." This was the subject that two years ago in San Antonio, Tex., threw a general federation convention into as stormy a controversy as ever locked a national meeting of club women. Mrs. Raymond has announced that tomorrow's legislative program will be open to all members of federated clubs.

The comparatively mild verbal sniping of the Illinois League of Women Voters at the state constitution in earlier years has developed, since last convention of the organization, into a veritable bombardment. To a chorus of unflattering epithets such as "dated as a bustle" and "broken down one-hoss shay," the delegates at that meeting voted to start a concentrated campaign for a constitutional convention. A new phase of that project is undertaken this week with the opening of weekly radio broadcast dubbed the "Illinois One-Horse Shay Constitution" series.

Dr. Louis Wirt, University of Chicago sociologist who formerly was director of planning on the Illinois post-war planning commission, will be the first speaker. He will be presented at 2 o'clock Wednesday on station WJJD in a talk entitled "The Citizen's Stake in His State Constitution." Dr. Wirt will share the program with Mrs. Ralph Brady of the league. The series has been arranged by Mrs. George G. Bogert, chairman of the league's special constitutional convention committee.

The Lake Shore League of Women Voters keys its meeting tomorrow to the international problems involved in establishing world peace. Mrs. Frank Smothers will talk to the group on "Dumbarton Oaks—What Do We Know About It?" Set for 2:30 o'clock, the meeting will be held in Town school, 1106 Lake Shore dr. There will be a tea after the program.

Tuesday evening, the Women's Advertising Club of Chicago will hear a discussion of "World Trade and Its Relationship to World Peace" by W. O. Maxwell. Mr. Maxwell is manager of merchandising services in the foreign operations organization of the International Harvester company. Before entering advertising, he studied at the School of International Relations in Geneva, observed the league of nations, world court, and international labor office in action, and did a year's graduate work in economic geography at Columbia university. The advertising women will hold their dinner session in Huyler's restaurant.

The women's division of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago will gather for a general session at 2 o'clock Friday in the 18th floor assembly hall of the Stevens building to hear Dr. Albert Buckner Coe on "Post-War Planning." Dr. Coe, minister at the First Congregational church in Oak Park, is a member of the commission to study the basis of a just and durable peace created by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. He also is associated with the Congregational-Christian Committee for War Victims and Services, for which he has just completed a three weeks' lecture tour of the middle west.

Mrs. Holland Flagler will have charge of the program and Mrs. H. S. Bechtoit will preside at the meeting. Preceding the general session, a delegates' conference will be held at 1 o'clock.

The Immaculata Alumnae to Give Benefit Nov. 28

The Immaculata Alumnae association will present an original "Minstrel Review" at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night, Nov. 28, in the Immaculata High school auditorium at 640 Irving Park rd. Miss Ann Helen Reuter is director of the show, script for which was authored by Miss Mary Jean Ward and Miss Mary Gould. Included in the cast are the Misses Lorraine Hill, interlocutor, Alice Pinter, Veronica Campbell, Edwina Hearn, Dominica Sunseri, Regina Maloney, Pat Gaffney, Helen Horan, Audrey McLaughlin, and Jane Evans. Miss Dorsey Weber will direct dance sequences, and Miss Winifred Giebel is in charge of the orchestra.

Proceeds will go into the alumnae's jubilee fund for 1946, when the Immaculata will celebrate its silver anniversary.

Arizona Ruins Yield Store of Historic Data

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

The belief that American civilization was organized 324 years ago next Thursday is not widely held in these parts.

For here are the Casa Grande ruins and the Canyon tenements of Hopis long gone. Here were the seven storied cities of Cibola. Archeologists say a flourishing culture may have existed here before the pyramids were built in Egypt, before letters were learned on the plains of Chaldea.

Certainly it is true that science has learned a lot about prehistoric times in Arizona's mountains and on her arid acres. Dr. Emil Haury, top flight archaeologist at the University of Arizona, has recently received additional grants from learned societies to carry on his research at the Ventana Cave on the Papago Indian reservation.

Other caves and excavations, says the scientist, reveal chapters from pre-history. Ventana is a whole book. No stratums have been washed away. At Ventana the aeons are in order.

There they have discovered, for example, when dogs first became domesticated. Fossilized canine and human skeletons lay side by side with primitive pottery. Master, dog, and utensil went down together before a cosmic deluge thousands of decades ago.

The geological book is here, but it has not all been read. Footnotes chronicle progress in hand crafts, medicine, art, and in government long before our ancestors set sail from Plymouth to Plymouth.

Yet the Puritan tradition is strong here. Circumstances rendered austere Arizona pioneers. The colonizers may have been grandees and monks from old Spain, but the settlers and builders were Protestant, English and Irish, the colonel, his lady, the outcast and his brood—yes, and Phoebe Titus, the tradeswoman Clarence Budington Kelland dreamed up out of a host of her kind who furnished him inspiration.

Valley of the Sun resorts observe Thanksgiving in the same spirit as did the pioneers. They take it in their stride and move on to the next event. The manner, of course, is different, for the resorts have all of the comforts of home plus freedom from its concerns.

At the Camelback inn on Thursday the Thanksgiving celebration will include an outdoor eggnog party beside the swimming pool before dinner. The latter is the one occasion during the year when all guests dine at a long festive table. Local turkey, sleek and fat from not being obliged to combat the rigors of eastern climate, will top the menu.

Arriving at the Camelback on Tuesday for the Thanksgiving celebration will be Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Baumann and Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Galvin of Chicago. Both couples are friends of the Herbert J. Lorbers of Glen View, regular Camelback habitues, who will be back again later in the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Crosby of Chicago are also at the Camelback this week, as are also Mrs. Elizabeth Herring and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Mills, both of Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Lea and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Adams of Chicago are among yesterday's arrivals at the Camelback, and brought with them a full complement of tennis and golf clothing in preparation for an active vacation.

Dress at the resorts in the Sun country is notably informal; this is traditionally a country in which to essay outlandish color combinations. Perhaps it is the Vaquero influence, for cowboys, like 18th century fops, vie with one another in attempting gay and preferably clashing color combinations. Resort men wear slacks, sport shirts, moccasins, boots. There was once a vacationer who wore a suit and necktie at noon; he turned out to be a padre on furlough.

Women wear cotton dresses, sweaters, skirts, play clothes, walking, and spectator shoes. Only on New Year's eve are evening clothes worn, and then only by women. Men are never attired more rigorously than in a business suit, even for afternoon weddings and funerals, in the southwest.

Of course new city attire often is brought on a vacation, and ladies at the Camelback, the Biltmore, and the Jokake of evenings look just like the movies, but nobody was ever thrown out of any place in Arizona for appearing in blue jeans and yesterday's shirt.

In short, the sartorial motto in the land where the sun spends the winter is "come as you are; and if it doesn't fit, Phoenix will fix you up with clothes that will."

Dr. and Mrs. Chester R. Zeiss of the south side are arriving at the Camelback within the week, to start the trek of South Shore Country club folk booked for the resort during the winter.

Capt. and Mrs. Thomas E. Hogg have returned to their home, "Bright Valley," located a mile or two down the road from the Camelback. Mrs. Hogg is the former Margaret Wells of Quincy, and spent a part of this last summer at her home there. The Hoggs raise Tennessee walking horses, and their ranch home and stables are regularly frequented by valley people for Sunday horse shows.

The Charles Z. Hinkles of Highland Park have just left the Jokake inn after a brief autumn vacation there. Mr. and Mrs. Clay Judson of Lake Forest will be winding up their vacation there within the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fenton of Lake Forest are due at the Paradise inn, new and luxurious resort being opened under the management of Bob Evans, next month. Dr. and Mrs. Henry D. Lloyd of Chicago and Saunders Jones of Chicago will also be among early arrivals at the Paradise inn.

When Chicago Was Young

By Herma Clark

Letters from Martha Freeman Esmond to her friend Julia Boyd of New York.

Chicago, Nov. 18, 1896.

Dear Julia: We have had dinner this evening with Sandy and Martha and some young married people they invited in for the evening. I fear the talk wasn't too edifying, but it was lively. One of the young men was telling about seeing the Cherry sisters, who gave a sort of variety show and are so very poor in their acting that they draw full houses, mostly people of a rough class, who hoot at them and even throw overripe vegetables at them in derision. I had never heard of them before, but the rest were quite familiar with their reputation.

Effie Cherry.

They were born on a farm near Marion, Ia., and as they enjoyed singing and reciting they began to give entertainments for money. Their egotism in overestimating their dramatic and musical ability affords their audiences the greatest delight and catcalls and other derisive shouts greet them as they try to do their acts. They sing, with appropriate gestures, "The Gypsy's Warning," in which a fair young girl is advised of the fate which will be hers if she accepts the attention of the handsome stranger.

There are five Cherrys, and four of them are on the stage, while the fifth works behind the scenes. I was horrified to hear of the indignities that have been heaped on them by the rough crowds. For instance, once a wash boiler was thrown down on the stage from the gallery. Another time a fire extinguisher was turned on them. On more than one occasion the indignant actresses have rushed out of the wings with a rifle to quell the disturbance.

One of Martha's guests—a young fellow who has seen them—read us a newspaper column written by a funny man on the Quincy [Ill.] Herald, in which he referred to Addie Cherry as "a good girl with a heart as large as a ham." Of Jessie Cherry's acting he says that aside from Henry Irving's portrayal of Simon Legree, her acting of "Trilby" is the grandest thing known to the stage since Edwin Forrest sang "Fra Diavolo." Her headdress is described as something from the "feather foundry" and her ruby complexion is likened to a sunset in a haystack.

I was shocked at this treatment of four girls who are at least respectable and who, like the piano player of the frontier, are "doing the best they can!" Martha's guests say, however, they would not have any audiences at all if such heckling weren't permitted. A wire screen in front of the stage protects them from physical harm.

Have you seen James Whitcomb Riley's new book, "A Child World"? I like it, tho I can't say it is my favorite of all he has done. It is a long narrative poem of child life in the pioneer town of Greenfield, Ind., and Riley has adopted Chaucer's plan of stringing together various poems and songs. Most amusing, I think, is Cousin Rufus' story of the little boy who ran away and stayed a whole day, returning at night to find the home circle quite unconcerned about his absence and curiously silent when he was around. He finally summoned courage to break the tomblike silence by remarking: "I see you've got the same old cat." The hired man is one of the delightful characters in the book, the family's treatment of him reflecting the democratic spirit of the locality. He has as much respect accorded him as the town banker has, and no shudder runs down the spines of the family when he balances a piece of fried mush on his knife and conveys it to his mouth.

Isn't it wonderful that McKinley won the election by so large a majority? I hope Mrs. McKinley's health will be equal to the responsibilities of her position. Ever with love,

MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND.

FOOT NOTES.

Effie Cherry, last of the famous Cherry sisters, died last August. Her sister Addie had died in 1942. In their heyday they had received as much as $1,000 a week for their show.

Beg Your Pardon.

Lewis E. Myers of Chicago corrects the spelling of the name of the writer of "Ole Shady." It should be B. R. Hanby. . . . Arthur W. O'Neill, veteran newspaper man, calls attention to the fact that the Coliseum, where this old song was sung in 1896, was on 63d st., a little west of Stony Island av., instead of Cottage Grove av.

From Our Readers.

Otis W. Moore, Champaign, Ill., remembers "Dr. David Swing and Central Music hall; Old Cap Anson and his White Stockings, ancestors of our present Cubs." Writes Mr. Moore: "That was a long time back, when I rode a 54 inch high bicycle down State and Madison sts. The 'When Chicago Was Young' letters bring those days back again, and I thank you for them." . . . A reader who loves Eugene Field's poems asks if any members of his family now live here. We shall be glad to pass this information on, if any one can answer this query.

Farm Sayings.

We are anxious to get genuine country sayings, but have received few that are noteworthy. Can't you remember one that is really unique—the sort of country "wisecrack" or maxim that you never heard in any family circle but your own? We offer the Victorian Keepsake as a prize for the best saying of this kind sent in before Dec. 5.

Helen Artus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Artus, 1707 W. 100th pl., to Lt. Bruce L. Bennett of the naval reserve, son of Mrs. Milton Bennett of Detroit, Mich. The ceremony took place Oct. 28 in St. Paul's Union church. They are at home in Norman, Okla., where he is stationed.

Jewish Club Women Plan Nov. 27 Meet

Members of the Conference of Jewish Women's organizations will gather at 11 o'clock Monday, Nov. 27, in their club rooms, 220 S. State st., to hear Dr. Louis L. Mann give the second in a series of four informal talks on "Jewish Education in America." Dr. Mann, who is professor of Oriental languages at the University of Chicago and rabbi of Chicago Sinai congregation, will have for his subtopic, "The Jewish Child and the Family."

Mrs. Louis Binstock.

Following a luncheon recess, Mrs. Louis Binstock and Mrs. Ralph Reis will report on post-war plans of the more than 100 constituent member groups of the conference, and tell how these plans affect Jewish people here and abroad. Another speaker at the afternoon session will be Willard Shelton, newspaper writer, who will discuss "Our Problem in a Post-War World."

Activities at headquarters of Chicago section of the National Council of Jewish Women will be comparatively quiet this week awaiting return of the president, Mrs. William H. Sahud, who left for New York last week to attend the annual meeting of the council's national board of directors. Mrs. Sahud, who is serving her third year as head of Chicago section, was elected to the national board last year.

Chicago section's camp committee will meet at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow; The Red Cross surgical dressings unit is scheduled to work from 10:30 until 4 o'clock Tuesday; and the knapsack library committee will be in session at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday. At 10:30 o'clock Friday, the newly organized drama group will meet under the direction of Viola Roth Mandel.

When the national convention of Junior Hadassah opens in three day session Thursday in Atlantic City, N. J., Chicago chapter will be represented by 20 delegates, headed by the president, Miss Pearl Podorowsky. Among the Chicagoans will be Misses Lillian Hoffing, Layle Eidenstein, Sarah Sosewitz, Selma Feldschreiber and Adeline Friedman.

Miss Pearl Podorowsky. [Seymour Photo.]

A Thanksgiving dinner is scheduled the opening night of the convention, with Maurice Samuel, author, as keynote speaker. The following evening there will be a celebration of the 20th anniversary of the founding of the Junior Hadassah children's village of Meier Shfeyah in Palestine, where underprivileged and refugee children are cared for and trained.

The Jewish Big Sisters will have a dessert luncheon and meeting at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday at the Standard club, which will bring as guest speaker Dr. W. W. Bauer, director of the American Medical association. His topic will be "Stop Annoying Your Children."

At 7:30 o'clock that night, the Standard club will be the meeting place for the Chicago Business and Professional Women's auxiliary of B'nai B'rith. This group will hear a talk by Mrs. Benjamin Morrison and a program of music.

Hematology Group to Hear Blood Plasma Talk

The story of blood plasma will be told by Dr. Sidney Levinson, head of the Samuel Deutch serum center of the Michael Reese hospital, when he speaks Tuesday night before members of the Hematology Research Foundation. The program, to be presented in the Crystal room of the Palmer House, also will include a group of songs by Lilyan Sacks, soprano. The foundation, whose headquarters are at 2920 Commonwealth av., provides funds for scientific research in blood diseases. Mrs. Phillip Marcus is the president and Dr. Raphael Isaacs, medical research director.

International Exhibit at Art Institute

By Eleanor Jewett.

An atmosphere which is a combination of the Field museum and of the Art institute pervades the east wing galleries of the institute where the exciting Art of the United Nations exhibition is installed. The influence of the Museum of Modern Art is another distinct part of the present flavor of these galleries. The atmosphere results from the clever setting designed for the exhibit by Gyorgy Kepes, a setting that blends the classical with the modern and is at times almost mathematical in its purity of pattern.

If the truth were really told, the background of the exhibit bids fair to outweigh in interest some of the items in the exhibit. It is as startling in its novelty as the finding of ethnological entries when one might have expected wall paintings or crude carvings as representative of the art of a nation. Probably the most surprising object present is the contribution from Ethiopia, for, sheltered in its little compartment, is the Zir-Ganela Codex of the Gospels, an illuminated manuscript made for an Ethiopian princess. If that illuminated missal had been sent by Persia one might not be quite so amazed at its presence.

The arrangement of the galleries leaves one in a little doubt as to how the crowds which should and probably will throng the exhibition will be taken care of. There are obstacles to a clear pursuit of art in the interpolation by Mr. Kepes of a windowed wall in the first large gallery, another lower wall in another gallery, and a little plot of laid-out garden [over which the wings of Japan faintly brush until one is told it is not a garden but a reflection of the colors used in the stunning French painting opposite] ending in a trough of goggle-eyed fishes. If the visitor surmounts the dangers of the road, and is not too deflected by its interest to reap the full value of the various installations, there is much to dazzle and stimulate the imagination.

In the first gallery is a superlatively beautiful piece of sculpture, a bas-relief in marble, of a Greek horseman. Beyond it hangs a magnificent Chinese painting, "A Fisherman's Abode After the Rain," sensitive in color and exquisite in feeling, as significant today as it was that distant day 700 years ago when it was painted. The third glory of the first gallery is the brilliant Medallion Carpet from the Mosque of Ardebil in Iran, a carpet so rich of weave and color it looks as tho it had been spun of beaten gold.

An ancient Aztec god from Mexico is an interesting item, and the more familiar works: from France, the Seurat "Sunday Afternoon on the Grande Jatte"; from Belgium, the glorious "Wedding Dance," by Pieter Bruegel the Elder; and, from Holland, the exquisite little "Milkmaid," by Vermeer [seen before in the Dutch Masterpieces exhibit] bring the exhibition up sharply into the more rarified air attributed to the usual museum show. The outstanding "Portrait of Mrs. Richard Yates," by Gilbert Stuart, chosen to represent the United States of America, closes the exhibition on a fine note. It is a dignified and reticent portrait, an amazing piece of craftsmanship tho not, because of its subject matter, as beautiful a Stuart as the head of George Washington in the Corcoran at Washington.

The exhibition will continue to Jan. 1 in one of the events of the season not to be missed.

The Chicago Galleries association, 215 N. Michigan av., has a splendid exhibit of the work of three artists. The water colors by Richard Chase are brilliant. They are among the finest we have seen in some time, delicate in color, pungent in design, and beautifully expressed.

Arnold Turtle and John Nolf share the large gallery and the two men give an excellent contrasting show. Turtle has a romantic brush; his paintings drip the colors of the rainbow in slow, sweet streams of blended hues that are like nothing so much as the golden mystery of a Persian miniature. His paintings are lush; they warm the eye and feed the fancy. His smaller works are as beautiful as the larger canvases, and it is hard to choose among them. Boat scenes and street scenes, all are exquisite in design, in detail, and in color.

John Nolf tells a more homely story, but his work is strong and has many points of interest. His paintings are chiefly studies of various characters one might meet in the village or on the farm. They are sturdy, honest, and often amusing.

The Cordon club, Fine Arts building, has a most attractive exhibit at present with the showing of paintings by Ethel Crouch Brown. A number of these were painted at Santa Fe. There are some delightful flower still lifes as well as views of Illinois farmland, running the New Mexico countryside a close race in beauty and charm. One of the loveliest of the paintings is of the landscape seen from Mrs. Brown's studio at Santa Fe and another is the studio patio.

Hospital Woman's Board Plans Series of Benefit Teas

A series of pleasant gatherings to swell the Thanksgiving offering to the Presbyterian hospital has been arranged by the woman's board, following a custom of many years. Two of the largest teas will be given Nov. 27, one in the Winnetka home of Mrs. Edward Hall Taylor, the other at the Fourth Presbyterian church on N. Michigan av.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Butler and Mrs. John K. Notz are co-chairmen of the Winnetka event, at which Dr. N. Sproat Heaney of the hospital staff will speak. He will be introduced by Mrs. Clyde E. Shorey, president of the board. Andre Aerne, 12 year old coloratura soprano, will sing at the Fourth church tea, which will be given in the chapel with Mrs. Woodruff J. Parker and Mrs. Kenneth Hildebrand as co-chairmen. Andre, who was born in Switzerland, sang at the Chicago Symphony orchestra's children's concert Wednesday afternoon.

The offerings received at these teas, and at several others, will be used to purchase linens for the recently remodeled maternity department of the hospital, which also will be aided by the $25,000 endowment fund established by the women's board in observance of its 60th anniversary.

Science asserts: faces may be more youthful again

What would you give for a younger, more attractive skin of face and throat? Well, science asserts that, for most women, this is possible with ENDOCREME. This is because scientific ENDOCREME acts to improve the skin itself, not merely its superficial "look" . . . . improve it to a degree hitherto thought impossible. ENDOCREME, with its 7-year record of success, contains that great discovery, ACTIVOL. This ACTIVOL is the laboratory counterpart to Mother Nature's own skin-vitalizing substance. This natural substance grows less with age and ENDOCREME, absorbed under the skin's surface to rebuild cells and tissue, compensates for this loss. Thus, coarse, dry, seamy, ageing skins tend to become fresher, firmer, smoother, lovelier, more youthful again. How better can you spend your cosmetic dollars? Try ENDOCREME. Many report big improvement in only 30 days. Toiletries . . 1st . . State

Patterns by Clotilde

Two more of the $50 prize-winning entries in the recent 1944 American Fashions competition, sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, have been selected for adaptation to the role of Clotilde patterns. These two designs, No. 2571 by Elise Evans Harris, 6543 St. Lawrence av., Chicago, and 2570, by Patricia Spaulding of New York, both employ the bias line for figure flattery.

The original of No. 2571 was executed in wine colored velvet, trimmed with satin of the same shade. The exhibit model of No. 2570 was made in gray wool, the diagonal seaming hand picked with stitching.

You can have these forward looking, new-as-tomorrow fashions for your own wardrobe, in color and fabric selections of your own choosing. The patterns have been designed for easy sewing.

Style No. 2571 is designed for sizes 10 to 40; size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 54 inch material with 3 yards of binding.

Style No. 2570 is designed for sizes 12 to 40. Size 16 requires 2¼ yards of 54 inch material.

Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

The winter edition of the Chicago Tribune Book of Clotilde Fashions now is available over the counter of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and Tribune Tower lobby, for 15 cents. Twelve cents buys the book if it is ordered with a pattern from the address in the coupon.

These Items Save Silver from Tarnish

By Edith Weigle.

Every woman enjoys the beauty of gleaming silver on her dining table, and every woman knows, too, that to keep it looking its best requires fairly constant care! Once polished, the problem is how to make it retain that state as long as possible.

There's a specially treated flannel cloth that is a great aid. It is large enough to wrap around a number of pieces of flat silver, or one large coffee pot or bowl, and its makers insist that it prevents tarnish, as it draws to itself the tarnishing elements in the air so that they can't reach the silver tucked inside. This tarnish accumulates on the cloth and in time may cause some discoloration, but the cloth should not be washed, for this destroys its effectiveness.

A good way to use this protector is to line a drawer in a sideboard with half of it, place the silver on it, and fold the remaining flannel over it, tucking it in around the sides. In the case of a partitioned silver drawer the cloth should be cut up into smaller pieces and wrapped around each group of silver separately, or make a pocketed wrap by folding a part of the flannel up over itself and stitching it on each side.

The effectiveness of the cloth lasts for years, depending on the amount of sulphur gases in the air. And it costs only a dollar.

If you prefer something larger, to protect all your flat silver, there are several types of chests available varying in price from $5.50 to $15. They're lined with the tarnishproof cloth.

One chest holds 96 pieces, has a plain walnut exterior, and costs around $4. Not so good looking, being much more utilitarian in appearance, but holding 108 pieces, is a case that is priced at $7.

Larger chests are equipped with a lower drawer for extra pieces and have artistically decorated lids, the whole being painted a soft green, or black. These are nice enough to be placed on your sideboard, or a serving table or console.

For large silver objects such as tea or coffee services that you like to keep on the sideboard there's a transparent liquid, like lacquer, which you apply immediately after polishing the various pieces. Of course, this keeps the air from them, thereby preventing tarnish. It's harmless and odorless and can be removed simply by washing the silver in warm soap suds. It keeps them looking spic and span for a long time. A bottle of this lacquer costs a dollar.

Fashions

By Angela

The gathering of holiday clans is an occasion to dress up with one's newest and gayest clothes. There are some new lightweight wools and wool crepes that are designed for just such festive affairs.

A particularly striking outfit is a combination of lightweight black wool with black and white checked material. This suit dress has a checked jacket with a black, slightly flared wool peplum. Collarless, it has a flattering vee neckline, black material buttons, and long, tight sleeves. A detachable black belt ties smartly at one side. The four gored skirt is pencil slim. This same outfit is available in brown brown and white checks, and is moderately priced.

Another holiday dress is a one piecer of lightweight purple wool. It is perfectly straight with no trimming other than a soft bow at the base of a low cut vee neckline.

[For further information call Angela, Superior 0200. Mail requests should be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.]

3 Early American Societies Planning Meetings This Week

The 48th annual banquet session of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, at 7 o'clock Tuesday night in the Blackstone, will bring as guest speaker Dr. Clark G. Kuebler, president of Ripon college. "What Is Man?" will be his topic.

Another patriotic group—the Fort Checaugou chapter of the Daughters of the American Colonists — will have a Thanksgiving program at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning in the Republic building, at which the speakers will be Mrs. Ernest R. Charlton and Mrs. J. O. Hendry. Mrs. Harry Tillotson will preside.

At a luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Cordon club, Illinois chapter of the United States Daughters of 1812 will hear Miss Zaidee E. Mitchell discuss "Dr. James Yen and Mass Education in China."

In line with a recently adopted war service project, Henry Purcell chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution voted at its last meeting to plant a tree on the grounds at the Vaughan General hospital in memory of a former regent, Mrs. Mary Abbie Pierce Evans. Another tree is to be donated by a member, Mrs. Thomas R. Hemmens, in tribute to her son-in-law, Lt. Harold F. Schultz, who is on duty in the Pacific.

This FREE offer lasts just one week from today . . . so send in your coupon NOW. Address requests to Nancy Sasser, 271 Madison Avenue, New York 16, N. Y.!

When you set that Thanksgiving table, make sure you add the goodness of fresh orange and fresh grape "sweet" to the "gooderies" you set forth! WELCH Orange Marmalade and Grapelade both have something to add to your turkey . . . fresh fruit flavor in marmalade and in jam form. Ask your dealer,—or send me 25c together with his name, and a jar of Orange Marmalade or Grapelade will be sent you by the makers of WELCH Grape Juice. Address requests to Nancy Sasser, 271 Madison Avenue, New York 16, N. Y.

Who wants to droop and gloom when Thanksgiving is just around the corner? Certainly not YOU . . . when the rest of the crowd is up and doing! So rid yourself of a frequent cause of lassitude — faulty elimination. If you're a victim, by all means try LD-LAX, that unique combination of bland vegetable ingredients, lactose and dextrins that is endorsed by the famous Battle Creek Sanitarium. LD-LAX forms a soothing, lubricating bulkage needed for satisfactory elimination . . . is non-habit forming. You can get Battle Creek LD-LAX at Kramer's Health Food Shoppe, or send a dime to Nancy Sasser, 271 Madison Ave., New York 16, New York, for a liberal trial sample and name of nearest dealer.

Eyes are on hands these days . . . especially women's hands as they do the fine precision tasks that war industry requires, the extra household chores, the innumerable volunteer jobs. But even the loveliest hands lose their patrician grace when red, rough and chapped. So why not enlist a luxury-help for these unsightly conditions? Choose pale-pink YARDLEY Hand Cream . . . so soothing to work-worn hands. Women swear by its effective action, smooth consistency, and flower-fresh scent. Find it at your finer shops everywhere at only 65c! A "luxury" in quality, but not in price!

Hide Those Blemishes!

A talking mirror might not be so good,—for few of us want the world to know every complexion secret that's reflected in glass! These secrets CAN be hidden,—for Angelus Make-Up from the House of LOUIS PHILIPPE gives a "glamour-covering" that's wonderful at helping to conceal tiny blemishes, wrinkles, freckles and tired lines! Just wet a sponge or the tips of your fingers and rub across the Angelus Make-Up Cake. Spread over face and throat and SEE how evenly it spreads a radiantly smooth beauty film WITHOUT streaking! Cost is just 49c.

Only the BEST for Baby!

If you're the kind of mother who thinks anything is good enough for your baby . . . don't read this! Because here we talk of the BEST lubrication you can give your baby's skin . . . the BEST baby oil protection against chap, diaper rash and chafing! It's ALBOLENE BABY OIL, which is the ONLY baby oil with pure, Liquid Albolene as a base. ALBOLENE BABY OIL gives soothing, protective lubrication—and it's mildly antiseptic, too. Use it after every diaper change, after every bath. Try it on your own skin, too, if wintry blasts have chapped or roughened your hands or legs. Ask your Druggist for ALBOLENE BABY OIL in its big 6-oz. bottle!

If you're counting calories, lady, beware the groaning board Thanksgiving Day! But here's good news . . . you can forfeit the mince and pumpkin with nary a pang,—by following the AYDS Vitamin Candy Reducing Plan. Just eat AYDS Vitamin Candy before your meals and see how they dull your appetite for rich, high-caloried foods. In this way you can lose weight safely! You see, AYDS are fortified with important vitamins and minerals that provide certain nutrient and vitamin values lacking in many reducing diets. A month's supply will cost you only $2.25. Ask for AYDS at The Fair, Boston Store, Mandel's and leading Drug Counters.

Here's a Beauty Cream based on the age-old help given by the therapeutic effects of sulphur . . . sulphur reduced to atom-fineness so that it is suspended in Princess GOURIELLI'S Sulfo-Collodio Cream to thoroughly cover and aid oily-disturbed areas to which it is applied. SULFO-COLLODIO CREAM is a wonderful and quick check for spotty oiliness on nose, chin or forehead . . . a help in loosening blackheads and in controlling surface-clogged pores, scaliness and externally caused pimples. Recommend it to your children and your husband, too. Because of its vanishing base, it won't show on their skin. Cost is $1.50 at Marshall Field's or Carson Pirie, Scott's.

The Answer's . . . GORDON!

Quiz your kids on their favorite play suits, socks, polo shirts . . . then read the label on the ones they like best. More than likely it reads GORDON! Children like the clever designs, the bright colors of GORDON products . . . and YOU will like the durability, fast dyes and practicality! Commended by PARENTS' MAGAZINE for fine workmanship and style, there are numerous GORDON products for youngsters that should be on your Christmas list right NOW! GORDON socks, polo shirts, and playsuits withstand the hardest wear, most frequent washings . . . require no ironing! It's a wise child . . . and a wise mother who specifies GORDON! Ask for them at your favorite Department Store.

Chap Stick

If it's been nip and tuck between you and the winter wind and cold,—look out for sore, chapped lip-troubles! But don't wait . . . run for Fleet's CHAP STICK! The special medication of this colorless lip-salve is specially planned to KEEP lips fit . . . so use it after any exposure to extremes of weather, cold, wind, heat or dryness. Pass on the news to your husband, for he'll appreciate the soothing comfort of CHAP STICK if he suffers from dry, chapped, cracked lips or occasional cold sores. Cost is just 25c at Drug Stores . . . so how about getting a personal CHAP STICK for EVERY member of the family!

Regarding Velvet Grip Girdles!

Many BUY-LINES readers ask just where they can find the VELVET GRIP GIRDLES and GARTER BELTS I've been raving about . . . the kind with REAL elastic and high-quality fabrics. Sorry,—I can't tell you . . . for the war has curtailed the manufacture of vast quantities of these garments, and only a limited number are in circulation in your shops. Yet, keep a-looking . . . the quality and sleek fit of a VELVET GRIP Girdle or Garter Belt is worth your continued searching! IF and WHEN you find a VELVET GRIP . . . treasure it! Older Child's Firebug Habit Is Dangerous

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.
[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In spite of the fact that fire is a peril in the hands of small children, I do not consider it a difficult problem to handle. Aside from the fact, which we mentioned recently, that intelligence and vigilance are needed to deal with it, it need never attain serious proportions at that period.

One reason is that little children always are under the eye of an adult; they should never be turned loose for any length of time, because they are not old enough to take care of themselves and to distinguish between what is hazardous and what is not.

Today I want to go on to another and a less simple angle of the subject—the fascination which fire has for some older children. Here you have a much more difficult thing to cope with, and greater ingenuity on your part is required to do so. For you must work out something which reduces the danger to life, limb, and property, and also try in a measure to satisfy the longing that some children feel to start those beautiful leaping flames.

Here and there a boy of 10 or 11 will seem to be obsessed with the idea, making fires in cellars, garages, open lots, or roadways, with small children often gathering around the conflagration. Boys around 8 perhaps also may show a tendency to start fires anywhere and everywhere. In these cases there is a different sort of interest operating from the one which actuates a small boy or girl.

Several motives may be at work around the ages of 9, 10, and 11. Adventure, camping, being cast on a desert isle, Indian warfare—all these imaginary experiences absolutely require a fire! If parents don't permit them to be built, children are apt to build them surreptitiously. So it's wise to arrange, as we suggested with the small boys and girls, for them to have some legitimate way of gratifying this longing.

If they achieve that satisfaction occasionally, then you can make rules against fires that will be obeyed. An outdoor fireplace if you live out of town, trips to the beach or country if you're a city dweller, are suggestions toward this aim.

Where the habit of playing with fire seems to have become chronic, or even seem somewhat abnormal and a source of danger, two other sorts of remedy might be resorted to. One is to drive home the destructiveness that results by some graphic means, such as witnessing a fire and seeing the charred and gutted building afterward. The other is to look for a psychological origin for this compensation [or perhaps revenge] which a child seeks—some unhappiness in his life, a hurt, a failure, a jealousy—the sort of cause we seek to uncover in the case of lying or stealing in an older child.

We've prepared a free leaflet on how to heat with less coal. . . . This leaflet has been compiled from data sent us by the University of Illinois and explains in detail how to use the nut and slack firing system, to save coal and reduce smoke. . . . This leaflet gives instructions on how to start a fire with this system, how to operate your furnace in mild weather and how to operate it in cold weather. . . . The information is particularly timely for home owners who may be burning soft coal for the first time, or who cannot get coal sizes they previously used. . . . With this method soft coal of any grade can be used, with two sizes of coal which are available anywhere. . . . The method has been developed and tested at the University of Illinois. . . . It was used successfully last year by thousands of home owners and with the fuel situation even more stringent this year it should be even more widely adopted.

Startle your skin to fresher loveliness with SAXOLITE ASTRINGENT. Temporarily contracts loose surface skin, reduces prominence of premature fine lines and wrinkles.

Designs for Needlework

By Ellen Bruce

This attractive crocheted Cossack hat is created in two colors by means of a simple crochet stitch. The high hat is becoming to all types and adds glamor to both suits and coats. It is inexpensively made of soft knitting worsted.

This huge semi-circular crocheted bag is the type which may serve for dress or play, depending upon materials and color scheme. It is simple to create, and directions contain detailed information for lining.

For instructions in crocheting the hat, No. 1243, and for the bag, No. 933, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents for mailing cost, FOR EACH PATTERN, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York City.

The Fort Dearborn Hiking Club Plans a Holiday Outing

The Fort Dearborn Hiking club is planning a Thanksgiving day outing and hike and is extending a special invitation to visitors or residents of Chicago who may be away from families and close friends. On Thursday morning, participants will board the 11:10 o'clock train for Aurora at the station at 314 S. Wells st., returning that night on a train due in the loop at 9:42. Should the Aurora Elgin line still be tied up because of the transportation strike, the group will take the 11:25 Burlington.

A spot in northeastern Illinois where four counties, Kendall, Will, Kane, and Du Page, converge will be the objective of a six mile walk, and Phillips park will be site for a picnic luncheon.

The group plans to have dinner at 5 o'clock in an Aurora cafeteria, and afterward the hikers will attend a movie. Interested persons may contact headquarters of the club at 6306 S. Western av.

Chicago Chapter of Arts and Letters Society Organized

A new organization making its bow in Chicago is the National Society of Arts and Letters, whose purpose it is to promote and stimulate literary, musical, and artistic activities among women engaged in these creative pursuits.

The society has cards out for a tea at 3 o'clock today in the home of Mrs. Franklin Miller, 1500 Lake Shore dr., and included on the special guest list are Mrs. Jacob Baur, Miss Herma Clark, Mrs. Alma K. Anderson, Mrs. Charles S. Clark, Mrs. Albion Headburg, Mrs. J. De Forest Richards, and Miss Alice Gerstenburg of Chicago, Mrs. May West Owen of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Marguerite Rosebery of Louisville, Ky. There will be a program of songs by Katherine Ames, soprano, with Alice Brown Stout at the piano. Adele Jordan Tarr and Minne Starr Goodwin will preside at the tea table.

Chartered in Washington, D. C., the society's headquarters are in Chevy Chase, Md., and chapters already have been established in seven states. The first national convention is to be held next April in Chicago.

Keep Nov. 23d Fare Simple, but Traditional

By Mary Meade.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The old-time Thanksgiving table was a cluttered one, with every square foot of space filled with food. There was everything—turkey and dressing, giblet gravy, always two kinds of potatoes, probably two vegetables, cottage cheese, cranberry sauce, home made pickles and jellies, hot biscuits dripping with real butter, and when every one was uncomfortably stuffed, along came mince pie or steamed suet pudding to induce stupor and stomach-ache.

Aside from the fact that lavish display of food is not in good taste in war time, a cluttered table is confusing and unattractive. Nowadays we enjoy wide expanses of tablecloth or polished bare table, and we like less food in smaller portions, carefully prepared, and arranged attractively.

Relishes and garnishes aren't necessary, but when carefully chosen they may make the meal much more appetizing. Cranberries deserve a place for tradition's sake, and because their bright color and tart flavor contrast with the appearance and taste of the turkey, chicken, or duck.

Cranberry juice may be served at the start of the meal, or the cranberries may appear as a relish, a ring mold, whole cranberry sauce, or merely as a garnish. Mashed squash or sweet potato served in hollowed orange half shells frequently appears on the Thanksgiving table. A bit of cranberry sauce or a whole cooked cranberry on the top of each serving makes this neat dish much prettier.

Whole raw cranberries may be ground with a whole orange and a cored apple, then sweetened with honey or corn sirup for a delicious relish to accompany the holiday fowl. The same combination may be served on lettuce with dressing, as salad.

Cranberries are rather scarce this year, so if you have none for your table it will be well to provide tart flavor contrast in another way. Grapefruit or orange sections on watercress or salad chicory makes a perfect salad for a turkey dinner. When convenient it is well to serve the salad as a course by itself following the Thanksgiving bird, to avoid crowding the table and to give the salad the attention it deserves.

If the dessert is to be fruit, it would be better to serve a salad of greens with perhaps tomato and avocado. Nothing could be more appropriate following a hearty meal than the lightest of feathery desserts. Chances are that ice cream or a sherbet will be welcomed, as a heavy pie or pudding would bring on stifled groans.

A combination of diced fresh pear, seeded white grapes, orange segments freed of membrane, and any other fresh fruit one pleases to use, chilled almost until it starts to freeze, and served with a garnish of grated fresh coconut or slivered walnuts or almonds, is a really delectable Thanksgiving dessert. Wine could be added for flavoring.

Fashions and Fancy

By Judith Cass

Her hat was a tiny one of black satin. Mrs. A. Thomas Taylor, slenderer than she has been in years, was wearing a svelte black silk frock with a slim but rippling skirt. Its bodice was fastened with two giant tortoise shell buttons which harmonized with the short sable jacket she tossed over her shoulders. Her hat was a beanie of black crocheted work, brightened by a handsome jeweled clip. The neckline of Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley's black crepe frock was a sort of double exposure one at the front. The material was joined together high at the throat, and then cut out in a triangular shaped design. She pinned sparkling diamond clips at the sides of the opening, and added a tiny black hat swathed in delicate veiling for a smart town costume. Mrs. Sangston Hettler, also in black, brightened her gown with a large gold clip from which dangled her "committee" ribbon of white satin. Her hat was a head hugging one of gold sequins. Decidedly new looking was the chic gray wool frock worn by Mrs. Philip D. Block Jr. Its high neckline was wrapped about like an ascot, and the ends fastened in place with a diamond pin. Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins was busy making out sales tickets in a trim dress of black with green moire ribbon outlining the armholes and continuing down the side seams. Mrs. Robert C. Wheeler shopped in a handsome green wool suit and a pretty hat of pale beige felt trimmed with green feathers. Mrs. Charles S. Davis removed her brown caracul coat and sable furs, revealing a tailored brown skirt topped by a green blouse with an all over decorative pattern of gold sequin circles.

Fine Handwork Adds Glitter to Evening Gowns

By Rea Seeger.

Fine handwork, beading, and embroidery, the equal of any pre-war efforts, distinguish the newest evening clothes for this winter season. Much of it is worked by experienced women refugees from war torn Europe, women who have spent a life time with a needle, silken embroidery thread, tiny sequins, paillettes, and beads, elaborating fine silks and satins with exquisite motifs worked in lovely colors.

It takes skilled needlewomen to achieve such beautiful designs. This winter, gowns of gleaming materials reflect a revived interest in fine needlework, recognition of deft fingerwork with multicolored beads or with the flash of gold and silver thread.

Each dress, whether lavishly embroidered or boasting just a single motif, attains a definite gold quality. Such costumes are especially made for gala dinners and the more formal holiday parties. Or you may choose discreetly beaded afternoon dresses, short in length, with just enough twinkling design around necklines, along short or long sleeves, in small designs around the peplums, or in bands defining a vertical panel or sash.

Suits, too, of glistening satins, dull sheened crepes, and tissue thin wool, flash with embroidered or beading motifs. The glamor evening jackets also flaunt vivid linings and a winking, all-over pattern of sequins or bugle beads. Gilets, vestees, blouses, ascots, hats, and matching gloves also are marvels of the needleworker's art and workmanship. This is all done with controled limit of color, with the best possible creative genius, so that garish glaring colors are taboo. The delicate pastels, or the high tones are worked deftly to achieve the best results.

This is the handwork of the skilled, for it takes years of patient effort to reproduce the pictorial quality of a sheaf of wheat in gold beads with grace and charm, or to reproduce the water color loveliness of flowers and foliage worked in pastels against white or delicate backgrounds.

All of this superb craftmanship is featured on the evening gowns of this year's collections. The color range is virtually unlimited; you can ask for gowns of any hue and discover them exquisitely designed, not only in graceful silhouette, but with elaborate or simple motifs in beadwork or embroidery.

All attest the new interest in the revival of meticulous and imaginative handwork in discreet colors or in vivid shades to dramatize dark beauty of dull crepes in black, deep blues, and dark crimsons.

Sketched are four new evening gowns, representative of the art of fine handwork. They are from a collection of formal models for the coming winter season, flashing with golden embroidery or with delicate beading in subdued tints. All are available in a Chicago boulevard shop. The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 heart	1 spade	2 hearts
Pass	3 clubs	3 diamonds	4 clubs
Pass	5 hearts	Pass	6 hearts
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of diamonds.

Early in one's experience as a bridge player, the management of certain combinations of cards is learned in stereotyped form. These lessons, however, do not take into consideration any unforseen development that might actually take place at the table.

It is wise to play not only with your eyes, but with your ears as well. The textbook may advise you not to finesse against the queen if you hold nine of the suit, including the ace, king, jack; but where one of the players at the table has stubbornly contested the auction with two suits, it is reasonable to suppose that he is short in the suit you are looking for; therefore the textbook guides should not be observed in this instance. Remember that the author of the book was not present during the bidding. The behavior of the opponents during the auction should constantly influence the manner in which you play certain cards.

One of the standard elementary principles of play is that when you have two high honors in one hand and one in the other, you lead first a high card from the hand that contains two honors. Nine times out of 10 that would be correct, but some clue that you have picked up may affect the soundness of this advice.

Witness today's hand. West became the declarer at a contract of six hearts, tho six clubs would have been much more of a cinch. North, without hearing his partner's voice, bid spades and diamonds in vast quantities and subsequently doubled the slam contract. The opening lead was the king of diamonds. The declarer ruffed and, following the textbook principle, led the king of hearts. When North showed out, he paid off.

Declarer's play was very unsound. The proper procedure would have been to lead a low heart to the ace, and this is not hind sight. Declarer had only one contingency to fear, and that was that all four hearts were in one hand. But he should know to a certainty that North cannot possibly have four hearts because the legal limit of cards in one player's hand is 13, and the bidding makes it clear that North surely has at least five spades and five diamonds. His double was obviously based not on trump strength but on the ace and king of diamonds and the ace of spades.

In any one has four hearts, it will be south. After the ace of hearts wins, the ten is led. South will cover with the jack, North will win with the queen and subsequently enter dummy and lead the deuce of hearts, finessing against South's nine.

It will be noted that a club opening by North would have defeated the contract; but only a crystal gazer could have foreseen it.

Lady of the House

Along the little roads that dip and soar and dip again, and wind themselves about the rolling hills, fields have been stripped of their yield and plowed deep, ready for the new planting after the winter's snow and cold have mellowed the good earth.

Everywhere sleek farm animals range about in search of last bits of fresh forage. Herds of well tended cattle roam over the pastures or lie sleepily chewing their cud. Droves of swine root about and, by their very number, make us wonder where are the lucious hams and side meat of other times.

Great gray geese and fat white ducks waddle about, looking as comically pompous as short, over-plump dowagers affecting an imposing stride. Myriads of hens and roosters and pullets dot the brown fields and door yards, and now, quite unexpectedly, we come upon a long slope swarming with turkeys—white, bronze, and mottled in lovely iridescent colors. My thoughts irrelevantly fly, not to the roasting oven but to gorgeous feather hats and old turkey wing hearth brushes.

Something attracts them to a far corner and there is dignified trek in that direction. Then they spy us and, no doubt with the thought of supper, they move toward us, but strutting gobblers, their red wattles fiery in the sun, turn them away up the slope just as the farm tractor pulling a load of feed comes in sight.

The dignified strut turns into a rout, and, if you've never had a rear view of a plump turkey hen in a hurry for her supper, you've missed something. Joe Pete says they look like fat women in tight skirts running uphill.

As we turn homeward we think of Charlotte Ewing's challenge:

Nothing to be thankful for?
How can you dare to say it!
Put all your blessings on the scale,
Add health to the lot and weigh it.

Then store them in your safety chest,
For they are treasures rare,
While I place on the scale your troubles,
Your sorrow and your care.

Now which outweighs the other,
And which is the largest pile?
The first, of course, admit it.
So now give thanks—and smile!

Alma Paschall, making her new home in Ohio all cozy for the winter, indites a sonnet to her:

Furnace.

When nights are long and biting frosts occur
And naked trees are shaking in their bones
Because a winter wind is muttering moans,
It's time for furnace cats to start to purr.
Within a nest of slender shavings dry
With care insert your most obliging match.
To spite the wind that rattles at your latch,
Pile wood on top till sparks begin to fly.

Stand back and listen to your furnace roar
Just like a jungle tiger in a cage.
Then pile some chunks of coal on top
Until your judgment orders you to stop.
And if you long to hear a purring cat,
Hatch down the drafts until you have just that.

Dream of Peace.

The water, earth and sky are quiet made;
The tumult lulls; once more a world is free,
As if a soothing hand on each was laid;
This hoped for calmness comes to you and me.
So long we waited; now war's cares are stilled;
An unrequited future lies ahead;
Our hearts and souls with new found hope are filled
To overflowing;; in our trouble's stead
Is happiness because today we are,
Since flags of peace have finally unfurled,
Recapturing plans that once seemed so far
Away; wrapped is this everchanging world
In peace again; the bitter siege is past;
We pray this time that it will longer last.

But on many a restless night we keep watch with Lydia Fisher for our—

Planes.

Planes in the night,
Like shooting star across the sky,
Fade from our sight
Where only thoughts can follow them.
Thoughts in their flight
That pray that God will always watch
Planes in the night.

Aunt Ella says now is the time for all of us to eat corn mush. Glorify it if we must, but, if our pioneering ancestors got along on mush and molasses, why can't we?

Well, why can't we? [I hope we don't have to.] M. M.

Thru the Looking Glass

Hand preparations are in the foreground once more, and even the women who have been sliding along, neglecting to use the protective and healing helps to pretty hands, have been made conscious of the need for them thru the combined efforts of weather and hard work. And let's not try to hide our unsightly hands in the skirts of hard work.

Lots of women have always done and probably always will do their own washing and scrubbing and plenty of rough tasks, whether or not there is a shortage of household help. And those among them who care about having soft, white hands have learned that they can have them despite their labors if they'll take the trouble to care for them.

If you don't know where to begin in selecting a hand cream, you might like to try one that we have found more than satisfactory, and which, for all its excellence, is quite inexpensive. It's a fine, white cream that goes on in a jiffy and disappears without any coaxing.

The cream has a special healing ingredient that soothes skin prone to roughness and unsightly chapping, and has proven itself helpful in more than one such instance. It will bring quick relief if you've been foolish enough to let your hands get into a bad state, and once you get the habit of using it regularly, you'll find that it will keep them presentable at all times.

There's nothing particularly fancy about the cream, but for a good, all around preparation to keep hands soft and white and comfortable, it's hard to beat.

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

Travel After War Is Topic of Conference

By Mildred Peterson.

Problems pertaining to travel in the post-war period were discussed by state and regional travel officials in a war time planning conference at the Sherman hotel last Wednesday and Thursday.

Some 50 or 60 members of the National Association of Travel officials spent two days in serious consideration of such topical questions as when new automobiles and tires will be available for pleasure travel; what changes can be expected in common carriers on land, sea, and in the air; when travel competition from Europe, South America, and the countries of the Pacific will become a major factor; what effect the war will have upon travel and vacation trends, and travel by auto, railroad, bus, steamship, and plane, and how best the traveler can finance his post-war trips.

President Don Thomas of the All Year club of Southern California, Los Angeles, as well as some 20 speakers from various parts of the United States, and Leo Dolan of the Canadian Tourist bureau, Ottawa, stressed the fact that travel promotion will not be resumed until the war is won. All the deliberations of the conference concerned post-war problems of the travel industry, which is one of the largest industries of the country.

Miss Valerie Kuhn, manager of the Redwood Empire association, San Francisco, was the only woman speaker of this annual conference. She discussed "Post-War Competition from the Pacific Area."

In discussing the financing of post-war trips, a new trend in travel, Joseph A. Bursey, director of the New Mexico State Tourist bureau, Santa Fe, stated that travel is the only great industry that has never developed a comprehensive system of financing on the instalment plan. "Consideration," he said, "should be given to the inauguration of a simple financing system which will extend to travel, the same right to purchase on the easy payment plan that is now enjoyed by such basic commodities as automobiles, radios, refrigerators, furniture, and clothing."

Among the others taking part in the conference were Bert Vanderwarf, travel bureau of the Chicago Motor club; William G. Ferguson, Montanans, Inc., Helena; S. Valentine Saxby, Minnesota Arrowhead association, Duluth; George E. Bishop, Upper Peninsula Development bureau, Marquette, Mich.; Rex Laney, department of commerce and industry of Louisiana, Baton Rouge; Frank Ridgway, State Resources and Development department of Missouri, Jefferson City; B. A. Lawrence, Southern Highlands association, Knoxville, formerly of Chicago; Carl G. Sedan, S. E. Michigan Tourist and Resort association, Detroit; Robert E. Warren, state of Colorado, Denver, and Everett Greaton, Maine development commission, Augusta.

Newly elected officers of the association are: President, Mr. Thomas; vice presidents, Mr. Bishop, Mr. Bursey, C. E. Johns, Olympia, Wash., and J. Herbert Walker, Harrisburg, Pa.; secretary, Mr. Saxby; treasurer, Harold Keller, Albany, N. Y., and members of the executive committee, George P. Arnold, Richmond, Va.; Everett Greaton, Augusta, Me., and Mr. Laney and Mr. Warren.

Santa Fe Holiday Trains to Depart One Day Earlier

Due to the Christmas and New Year's holidays changes in the departure dates from Chicago of the westbound Super Chief and El Capitan have been announced by the Santa Fe railway.

These trains will leave Chicago on Fridays, Dec. 22 and 29, instead of Saturdays, Dec. 23 and 30. No change will be made in the departure dates of these trains eastbound, the Super Chief departing from Los Angeles at 6 p. m., Fridays, Dec. 22 and 29, and El Capitan departing from Los Angeles at 11:30 a. m. on the same dates.
